This was agreed to, and a pack of cards was produced. The "Yank" got the first deal and made a point. The "Reb" took the second and made a march. At the next deal the score was even, and pretty soon they stood four to four. The play was careful, but the Confederacy had the winning cards, and as the Johnny took the last trick with an ace, he jumped up and yelled:

"I knew it—I knew it! Now, Yank, are ye squar'?"

"I am."

"Then go back and stop this 'ere war according to agreement, and mount yer critter and go home. Whoop! 'Rah for me! I knew there must be some way to settle this doggone war if I could only get beyond the pickets!"—Detroit Free Press.

DR. SEXTON, a leading osteologist of New York, thinks he has discovered a connection between near-sightedness, impaired hearing, and defective teeth: the teeth furnish the starting point for the disorder affecting the othsr two organs. The "fifth pair" of nerves supplies at once the teeth, the tissues of the nose, those of the eye and the ear, the integuments of the frontal and temporal region, &c. A defective tooth produces irritation of the whole region thus supplied, and in fact, often causes severe cases of neuralgia. Even when there is no pain felt in a tooth it may yet be the cause of grave disorder in the eye, ear or temple. Dementia, it is claimed, is sometimes due to a tooth having all the appearance of soundness to the unprofessional eye.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

ONE of the most remarkable petitions on record has just been presented to the Police Commissioners of St. Louis, signed, it is said, by many prominent business men. It asks plainly that "square gambling" may be allowed. The petitioners say they are oppossd to the offensive and disreputable features of gambling, but not to "square gambling," operated under proper auspices, as it has been by certain citizens of good character and reputation, who are interested in the prosperity and welfare of the city.

AT a meeting of the Young Men's Christian Association, of San Francisco, prayers were offered for the Michigan sufferers; whereupon it was suggested that if they expected God to hear prayers of that sort, not backed up with coin, they were badly mistaken. He did not do business that way. Collections were made.

JAMFULL is the name of a Colorado town. It is also probably descriptive of the chronic condition of the Pioneer who bestowed it on the new camp.

THE wooden toothpicks in such common use are made from the wood of the Linden. A scientist has discovered that the gum which exudes from the Linden tree produces a deadly poison known as lindoline and three drops of lindoline will kill a cat in a minute and a half. This discovery places the wooden toothpick in the list of deadly articles that enter into daily consumption by mankind. Newspaper men all use gold toothpicks and are in no danger of poison from lindoline, but other people are cautioned against wooden toothpicks; though, it is just possible that the lindoline story was gotten up by the man who runs the quill toothpick factory.

THAT was financiering worthy of a bank president on the part of the Illinois girl whose father declared she didn't earn her salt. She retorted that she would be glad to stand on the same footing as his hired help. He consented, signed an agreement, and soon forgot all about it. This happened five years ago. Now the girl sues for wages, and gets a verdict of $500.

SINCE its founding, Washington University, of Virginia, has received donations to the amount of $431,500, Washington being the first, having given $60,000 in 1796. It is now in steady receipt of liberal donations, principally from New York and Philadelphia.

PROBATE NOTICE.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE State of California, in and for the County of Inyo. In the matter of the estate of John Ryar Westervelt, deceased. Order to Show Cause Why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should not Be Made.

It appearing to the Judge of said Superior Court, by the petition this day presented and filed by James Jones and S. P. Moffat, the Executors of the Estate of John R. Westervelt, deceased, praying for an order of sale of real estate; that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate, to pay the debts outstanding against the deceased and the debts, expenses and charges of administration.

It is therefore ordered by the Judge of said Court, that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Superior Court on MONDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Court Room of said Superior Court, at the Court House, in the town of Independence, in the County of Inyo, to show cause why an order should not be granted to said Executors to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of this order be published at least four successive weeks in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated September 19, 1881.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Superior Judge.

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK, County of Inyo.

I, John Crough, County Clerk of the County of Inyo, State of California, and ex officio Clerk of the Superior Court in and for said County, do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true, full and correct copy of an order duly made and entered upon the minutes of said Superior Court.

WITNESS, my hand and the seal of said Superior Court, this Nineteenth day of September, A. D. 1881.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE County of Inyo, State of California.

In the Matter of John P. Brown, an Insolvent Debtor.

John P. Brown, having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said John P. Brown is hereby declared to be insolvent. The Sheriff of Inyo County is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said John P. Brown, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution, and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of account and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him, or to any person, firm or corporation, or association for his use. The said debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered. It is further ordered that all the creditors of said debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court Room of said Court, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, on the TWENTY-SEVENTH day of OCTOBER, 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said debtor.

It is further ordered that this order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper of general circulation published at Independence, in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors. And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated September 20, 1881.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Judge of the Superior Court.

MUMMY MINING.

The recent discovery near Thebes of a bonanza of ancient Egyptians is one of the most important discoveries of the century. Surface indications of mummies and other objects of archæological interest had been known to exist for some time in a mountain gorge about four miles east of the Nile, and Herr Brugsch, of the Boulak Museum, made a prospecting tour in that region last June. On exploring a pit thirty-five feet deep he struck a vein of enormous richness, which has since been worked for a distance of 200 feet. The vein consists principally of Egyptian kings, queens and princes, of whom thirty-six have already been taken out. With these dead Egyptians are also found a large quantity of manuscripts, jewels, gods and other interesting and useful objects. A careful assay shows that the vein yields about seven mummies to the ton, together with thirty per cent., by weight, of gods and manuscripts. In point of richness this vein—or rather pocket—has hitherto never been equalled in the annals of archæological mining. Had the kings found by Herr Brugsch been merely the cheaper variety of the late Egyptian monarch, the discovery would still have been of great importance. Among them is the identical king who erected the obelisk now in Central Park, and we may now expect the World to devote itself as ardently to the project of bringing this king to America as it did to the project of supplying the Central Park with an obelisk. Still more valuable is the body of Pharoah, who would not let the Children of Israel go, and who was finally drowned in the Red Sea. It is to be hoped that some rich Hebrew will buy Pharoah—no matter at what price—and exhibit him at twenty-five cents a head, to the curiosity and scorn of the Jewish race. In this way the dead king would, after a lapse of three thousand years, receive proper punishment for his oppressive treatment of the Israelites, while at the same time some descendant of that once despised race would make an easy fortune as Pharoah's exhibitor. Hopes are entertained that among the mummies of Egyptian matrons not yet identified there will be found the too-famous Mrs. Potiphar. Could she be exhibited in the Sunday schools as an illustration of the story of Joseph there would be no longer any need of picnics, fairs and strawberry festivals, for the attraction presented by the real original Mrs. Potiphar would be simply irresistible. Even more important than the mummies of Pharoah and Mrs. Potiphar are the papyri which form part of the recent discoveries. Or, rather, it is believed that when these papyri are read they will prove to be of the utmost importance. It is supposed that among them will be found the Egyptian version of the trouble with the Israelites which resulted in the Exodus, and it will be extremely interesting to compare it with the Israelitish version of the affair. It is hardly probable that an official Egyptian history will agree in all things with the Mosaic record, and we shall probably find Pharoah represented as voluntarily driving out the Israelits because of their tendency to monopolize all the offices and all the wealth of the kingdom, and as having accidentally perished in the Red Sea in consequence of having been seized with cramps while bathing. Orthodox people need not expect to find in any Egyptian papyrus a full confirmation of the Jewish account of the Exodus, for Egyptian historians had advanced sufficiently in civilization to write history to meet the views of the fellow citizens. The discovery of this great Egyptian bonanza ought to attract the attention of those ingenius persons who are constantly forming silver mining companies to the richness of the Egyptian deposit. Royal mummies and ancient papyri are of more value than their weight in silver, provided they are judiciously put on the market, and the valley of the Nile is probably rich in sphinxes, obelisks, temples and other archæological treasures. Mining is inexpensive in Egypt, since there are no rocks to blast and nothing to dig through but sand. It would pay to work a vein yielding only one mummy to the ton, but, as a matter of fact, mummies are always found in jewelry-bearing strata, so that, after the mummies are taken out, the sand can be profitably worked over for gold and silver ornaments and small gods. Any mummy mining company that can make a satisfactory arrangement with the Khedive, and begins work almost anywhere in Egypt, will be reasonably sure to strike mummies and papyri in paying quantities, and to make a dividend in six months after driving the first spade into the ground. As a field for mining speculation Egypt is vastly superior to Colorado, and a man who could not write a convincing prospectus for a mummy mining company would be utterly lacking in imagination. According to the best Egyptologists, the Egyptian monaachy came into existence about eight thousand years ago, so that there is little fear that the mines of mummied kings can be exhausted in one day. No time, however, should be lost in organizing mining companies and selling stock, for if England and France jointly occupy Egypt free mining will not be tolerated.—N. Y. Times.

The Grandest Waterfall.

Arizona, first in mines and second in nothing except in lawlessness, now comes to the front as possessor of the grandest waterfall yet discovered, and like all great things, this grest wonder is located in Pinal county. To Thomas McLellan belongs the glory of discovering this fall and from him we obtain the particulars. It is at Box Cañon, about fifteen miles from Florence. The wall on one side of the cañon is solid rock, perpendicular to a height of 800 feet. Over the top of this wall pours a sheet of water, at least 60 feet wide, and pure and clean as an angel's record. It comes with a rush, and curving gracefully downward, breaks against the bottom of the cañon with the roar and clash of thunder. Clouds of spray float up from the deep, dark depth of the gorge, and drifting out into the sunlight, are touched with the tints of the rainbow and envelop the surrounding hills in a veil of dazzling prismatic hues. It is transcendently beautiful and indescribably grand. The little water drop at Niagara sinks into insignificance, by a two-thirds majority, in comparison. Tom was so enraptured by the sight that he watched it for five hours without intermission and would have been there yet if his grub stake had not become exhausted. At least, so says the Florence, Arizona, Enterprise.

PROF. BEAL, of Michigan, says: "If you have money to throw away, seed down your young orchard to clover or timothy, or sow a crop of wheat or oats. If you want the trees to thrive, cultivate well till they are seven to ten years old. Spread ashes, manure or salt broadcast. Stop cultivating in August, weeds or no weeds. This allows the trees to ripen for Winter. The question whether we should cultivate old orchards or not must be answered by manuring the trees. If the color of the leaves is good and they grow well and bear any fruit, they are doing well enough even in grass. But if the leaves are pale, the the annual growth less than a foot on 12-inch trees, and the fruit small and poor, something is the matter and they are suffering for the want of cultivation or manure or both. To judge the condition of an apple tree is like judging the condition of a sheep in a pasture. Look at the sheep; if they are plump and fat they are all right."

THE second locomotive of the Fontaine patent has just been turned out of the Grant Locomotive Works at Paterson, and is now being tested on the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad. The machinery of this engine is all above the boiler. A big pair of driving wheels rest on a smaller set below, moving them by friction, so that when the upper pair is going at the rate of sixty miles an hour the lower pair is carrying the locomotive at the rate of ninety miles. The first locomotive of the kind turned out, it said, made ninety miles an hour with ease on a Canadian Railroad. The inventor enthusiastically predicts that this one will be driven at the rate of one hundred miles an hour.

TEXARKANA lies partly within Arkansas and partly within Texas, with a broad street marking the boundary. It has two Mayors, and the State laws governing on one side have no binding force on the other Arkansas made a severe enactment against the free sale of firearms, whereupon the hardware merchants moved their stores on the other side of the street, thus going into Texas, where the sale of revolvers, like their use, is free. The Arkansas Mayor issued a proclamation against the sale of liquor on Sunday, greatly to the advantage of the saloon men in Texas, until the vendors on the other side moved over and regained their customers.

INTELLIGENCE received from the Warner Observatory, Rochester, N. Y., announces the discovery of a new comet located in the constellation of Virgo. It is a striking coincidence that this new and bright comet appeared at the same time President Garfield was breathing his last. It was first seen by E. E. Barnard in Nashville, Tenn., who has made claim through Prof. Swift for the Warner prize of $200 in gold. This makes the fifth comet seen since May 1st, and of this number four have appeared from almost the same spot in the heavens.

IT is estimated that over 1,000 square miles of territory have been burned over by the Michigan fires, and 10,000 people made homeless.

ON the night of Monday, the 19th of last month, the safe of the County Treasurer of Tuolumne county, in the town of Sonora, was robbed of $6,349. The total amount in the safe was $16,178 21. The balance of the money—that could just as easily have been taken—was undisturbed. The office of the Treasurer, it seems, was kept in a livery stable. The theory of the robbery is that he neglected, on retiring for the night, to lock or even close the safe door, and that the money was taken by some tramps who had been given permission to sleep in the hay, and had noted the oversight. The Board of Supervisors immediately convened and officially ascertained the amount of the loss, which the bondsmen promptly assessed to themselves in proportion to the individual liability of each, the Treasurer having assigned them his property. No suspicion whatever attaches to the unfortunate custodian of the funds, and the county will not lose a dollar.

A MINER named Piantone has just made a rich strike in Eureka district, having found a splendid body of high-grade ore in the "Deadbroke" mine, on Prospect mountain. The Sentinel says: "No man is better deserving of the greatest success. Mr. Piantone has always been imbued with the strongest faith in the value of Prospect mountain mines and has demonstrated this faith by his works. He has been sticking to the old mountain for the past eight years. He discovered and developed the Matamoras mine, for which he received $50,000. He now thinks that the Deadbroke is even more valuable than the Matamoras."

TIME must be allowed for changes in all things and business. In mining this is particularly the case. Delving through walls of solid rock is about as slow work as can be imagined, even under the most favorable circumstances. When floods of water pour in and heat stifles, one wonders that anything worthy of the name of progress is seen.

NEW MEXICO will probably ask to be admitted as a State next Winter, Senator Saunders thinks, and an attempt will probably be made to divide Dacota, in order that the southern part may become a State.

TOMBSTONE is to have a supply of water from Huachuca Mountains, a distance of twenty-two miles, to be carried there through a seven-inch main, and expects to have it completed in January next.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8.....1881

ELECTIONS will be held this Autumn in thirteen States, and in seven of them, viz., Iowa, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, Ohio, Virginia and Wisconsin, the contest will be for choice of Governor. The other States in which voting will take place are Colorado, Maryland, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York and Pennsylvania. The legislature to be elected in Iowa, Minnesota and New Jersey will choose United States Senators. In Colorado a vote is to be taken on the question of the location of the State Capital; in Minnesota amendments prohibiting special legislation, providing for equal taxation, and fixing the pay of legislators at $5 per day, not to exceed $420 for any regular session, or $200 for any special session, are to be voted on; Nebraska will pass upon a proposed woman's suffrage amendment, and Wisconsin upon one providing for biennial instead of annual sessions of her Legislature. The only States in which the canvass is, or promises to be very active are Virginia. Mississippi, Ohio and New York. In Virginia the politicians have already so warmed up that a number of fights and feuds are reported.

As much is being said about the part Roscoe Conkling is to play in New York politics, consequently those of the Union, the following, dated New York, October 5th, is of interest: "The Sun says: Conkling telegraphed to his friends again last night that he would not attend the State Convention and would not be in the city. The stalwarts and Halfbreeds, alike, talk of peace and harmony, and all the political prophets about the Fifth Avenue Hotel in the evening predicted a short and quiet convention. Even the staunchest Stalwarts conceded that the Halfbreeds would have a majority in the convention, ranging anywhere from forty to eighty, the latter figure being the Halfbreeds claim. The impression prevailed that the movement for harmony was really the work of Arthur."

R. B. BLOWERS, of Yolo county, an extensive raisin-maker, is said to have so far perfected his irrigating machinery, that from a single load of straw used as fuel he can raise and send over his land over 1,000,000 gallons of water. From a single well tapping one of the blind or ancient channels of Cache Creek he can flood 300 acres of land at any time in the Summer season. With the machinery and water he keeps he keeps the phylloxera from his vineyard, and simply illustrates what can be done by enterprise, intelligence and perseverance.

AT Washington, October 5th, the Grand Jury, having examined several witnesses, concluded Guiteau's case by voting unanimously for a true bill, but did not report at once to the Court. About 1 o'clock Foreman Churchman placed in the hands of District Attorney Corkhill a presentment against Guiteau for the murder of James A. Garfield, by wounding him by a bullet, fired from a pistol in the hands of Charles J. Guiteau, at the Baltimore and Potomac Depot, on the 2d of July, 1881.

SOME time since, says the Livermore Herald, we advanced the idea of pressing straw, for fuel, and now comes Daniel Whitmore, of Ceres, this State, with a press for that purpose, and with which he claims he can make, from straw, a better fuel than wood and equal to bituminous coal. The straw is pressed in moulds of various sizes by air pressure.

ALL the Presidents who have died in office expired in the early part of the term. Harrison died just one month after his inauguration. Taylor served sixteen months. Lincoln lived one month and eleven days after his second inauguration. Garfield lived six mooths and fifteen days after his accession to the Presidency.

A SINGULAR religious frenzy has broben out in Michigan. The people affected believe themselves receivers of Divine communications. Whenever a person feels the inspiration of a communication he rushes to the church and rings the bell, when the whole population assembles to hear the message from on High.

THE Sacramento Bee is authorized to say that the Hon. Henry Edgerton will be a candidate for Congress in that district, and adds that men of his mental caliber and legislative experience are scarce just now in the House of Representatives.

IT is said that a mica mine has been discovered about 50 miles west of Cheyenne. Large sheets 18x24 inches, have been taken from it. The mica is as clear as glass.

JERSEY JUSTICE.

New Jersey has been somewhat celebrated for a long time past for a peculiar brand of whisky known as "Jersey Lightning"—so named, we suppose, because it puts the victim out of his misery with lightning-like rapidity and precision, in contradistinction to the more lingering, consequently, more generally distressing effects of ordinary brands. But now the same little State comes forward with another claim for popular regard; this is that Jersey justice is just as dead a shot as its Jersey Lightning. If this claim is sustained then may New Jersey well plume herself on being immeasureably better than any of her sister States, in all of which quibbles and technicalities, even of the most flimsy and most contemptible type, are too often able to crowd Justice out of sight in the slime. All this comes up in reference to the case of that wretch, Guiteau—a name to be loathed in its very pronunciation.

A District of Columbia Grand Jury has doubtless, ere this, formally indicted the wretch for murder, and in a very short time he will be arraigned and put on trial in that District. But it is said to be a very serious question whether, under the laws of the District, he can be held for murder, since his victim died when not within its borders. In that case New Jersey statutes and "Jersey Justice," give the only hope that legal punishment will follow. A statute of that State so defines the crime of murder that, where the deadly wound is given beyond its borders and death occurs within them, the murderer may be tried, and, if convicted, be sentenced to death and executed in the State. Now, as to whether a New Jersey Grand Jury will also indict Guiteau, and its Governor demand him for trial under the extradition laws, are questions lawyers can best answer. But should the District Grand Jury fail to indict for murder by virtue of the limitation of the District law above referred to, New Jersey will then certainly assert jurisdiction.

A number of people in the East, appreciating Jersey Justice as well as Jersey Lightning, have been hoping that the murderer would be brought to trial in that State. They would have no fear that the assassin might escape through any legal loophole or cunning plea. They would expect an early trial, a prompt conviction, and an execution without delay. So we read; and also that all these things are probable in the District of Columbia. But, on the other hand, what can you expect in the way of common sense justice in a district but ten miles square within which, according to one of its silly statutes, the victim of a murderous assault must die of his wounds and speedily, else the murderer can't be convicted of murder, though ever so much a murderer in fact? Knowing this, people can't have much faith in District of Columbia justice.

But in New Jersey there is a common sense law touching blood cases; there is in that State little or none of the maudlin sympathy with assassins that comes to their rescue in every other State. The insanity dodge is not a conspicuous success there. Here is what a New York journal has to say about it:

"Jersey Justice is fittest for Guiteau. For justice, across the river, is old fashioned. She stands on the Bible and common law, and the common sense of mankind. She does not change with every passing whim of popular caprice which has modified the murder laws of other States to suit the murderers. New Jersey juries convict upon sufficient evidence, and New Jersey Governors do not stay executions through fear or favor. These are very good reasons why Jersey justice is so highly respected and praised everywhere just now."

FOR the sixth time in the history of the nation, the President of the United States is without a wife to adorn the White House. Jefferson was a widower, Mrs. Andrew Jackson died just before her husband was inaugurated, Martin Van Buren was a widower, John Tylor was a widower for two years during his term, James Buchanan was a bachelor, and now comes Arthur, whose wife died over a year ago.

A NEW and highly successful swindle in Philadelphia is the sale of tea in cans containing prizes. The tea is wretched stuff, and the prizes really given away are worthless trash and brass jewelry. A pretense is made of distributing watches, but they are merely handed to confederates. A large store is crowded constantly with purchasers.

THE Hawthorne Oasis, after a meteor-like existence of a month, has gone out into obscurity, at least far as the late editor and manager—"Dan" Jones—is concerned. If the town of Hawthorne couldn't stand up to the support of a paper working for its general interests the place had better shut up on the county seat question.

THE Board of Supervisors of Yuba crunty passed a resolution, by a vote of four to one, instructing the District Attorney to commence legal proceedings against all persons emptying or distributing debris into the Yuba river or any of its tributaries by hydraulic mining.

Lively Times in Arizona.

The following is a special from Dragoon Summit to the Tucson Star, of the 5th instant:

The Indians, about 100 strong, crossed the track here about 5:30 this morning, the trail leading directly to Chachise's stronghold, which is about 14 miles westerly from Tombstone. The cavalry were in close pursuit, and late this evening were in less than a mile of the hostiles. It is feared that if they are not overtaken to-day they will escape into Mexico. There are about 100 Mexican troops on the line, which, if notified in time, can easily intercept them.

A Tombstone dispatch says: Two men came in from the Navy mine, on the summit of Dragoon Mountain, about 16 miles northeast of Tombstone, and report a battle being fought at 5 o'clock. From where they were they saw it plain. They could also hear the voices of officers giving commands and the firing distinctly. They watched the battle for half an hour, but could not see either side getting the better of the other. There were two companies of soldiers, but they could not tell how many Indians. Some soldiers and some Indians were mounted. Couriers have been dispatched to the mining and hay camps east of Tombstone to notify the men of their danger.

Mayor Clemenceau and Chief of Police Carp are at this hour—11:45 P. M.—raising a company of men to go out and intercept the savages if they go south.

Previous to this, on the morning of the 2d, this same band massacred a party of six teamsters, near Cedar Springs, and also a telegraph operator and four soldiers who were assisting in repairing the line. Just as the Indians had completed their bloody work, Major Stanford came up with a troop of cavalry and had a brush with them, but, it seems, without marked results, the Indians getting off and committing other murders between that point and where seen on the 5th.

WHAT a terrorized existence those people have, back yonder in the tornado States anywhere east of the Rockies. For instance: On the 3d instant a tornado demolished almost if not quite every building in Madison, a town of a thousand inhabitants in Nebraska. Stanton, in the same State, suffered nearly as badly. Empire, in Kansas, experienced a like visitation. A num- of persons were killed, and still a larger number seriously hurt, in each of these places and throughout the country, and the destruction of live stock and other stock can only be approximated in value within $100,000 or so. Wautonia, Wisconsin, had just as sad an experience on the same day, and in Iowa the wind overturned a passenger train, killing and wounding several persons. The potato crop is an utter failure in Iowa, and fire has rendered 10,000 people homeless in Michigan. California, with her earthquakes, and even the New Constitution superadded, is far to be preferred.

THE Eureka Leader, one of the brightest dailies in Nevada, has been purchased by James E. Anderson, from Messrs. Hobart & Morden. Under the new management the paper comes out in a very handsome and entire change of style. The retiring party include in their valedictory the following most sensible remarks:

"A dry goods merchant here thinks he has just cause for complaint if a lady residing here sends below for a dress pattern of such goods as he has for sale. A grocer would seriously object if a family man sent East for a car-load of assorted groceries; our hardware dealers would think that they had a good ground for grievance if a citizen should send elsewhere for stoves such as they have to sell. Yet it is a fact that a majority of our business men send elsewhere to get their letter and bill-heads because thereby they can save a few dollars. This is not written in a complaining mood, for without this business the Leader, under the outgoing management, has done fairly well. It is simply to call attention to a practice that would be "more honored in the breach than the observance."

AT Rochester, New York, twenty thousand people collected, October 3d, to witness a 20-mile race between Belle Cook, of California, and Emma Jewett, of Minnesota, for a purse of $2,000. The California girl led for the first five miles, then the hateful fright from Minnesota took the lead and kept it to the end, which she reached in 45 minutes and 5 seconds—the fastest time ever made. Cook's horse, on changing at the 18th mile, bolted the track and threw her off, injuring her but slightly, however. It was a most exciting contest. California's only comfort in this defeat is that she has not the "fastest" girl in the world after all.

THE recent discovery of a rich silver mine 10 miles from Deadwood was followed in 48 hours by the creation of West Virginia City, the election of a recorder, the settlement of 1,000 persons, and the opening of nine saloons and two faro banks. On the fourth day a daily newspaper appeared, and now a stranger entering the town would suppose it was established five years ago.

THE demand for miners, says the Salt Lake Tribune, is becoming quite active in nearly all the mining districts of Utah. The rise in the price of lead is causing many dormant properties to start up, and will materially increase the product of the Territory.

Treating Complex Ores in Europe.

The following communication from Mr. C. W. Bryant, of the Deer Isle mining company, addressed to the Maine Mining Journal, is valuable:

It is known to the readers of the Journal and many gentlemen who are interested in Maine, that I have recently returned from Europe, where I obtained some information in regard to the treatment there of ores similar to the varieties which are found and being mined in this State. Some of the general details and results of my observations will, I think, be not only interesting to people here, but will, I trust, tend to do away with the feeling prevalent that Maine ores cannot be profitably treated.

The process by which complex ores are being treated at Swansea, at one establishment where about 250 tons per week are worked is as follows:

1. The ore is ground to a coarse powder.

2. The ore is then calcined in muffled furnaces at a moderate heat, to drive off the sulphur, the sulphurous fumes being collected in leaden chambers and towers for the manufacture of sulphuric acid in the usual way.

3. The ore is then placed in a revolving pan (somewhat similar to the mortar mill) containing sulphuric acid diluted with hot water. The diluted sulphuric acid at once takes into solution nearly all the zinc and copper, leaving all the lead and silver undissolved in the ore. The latter is now in a suitable condition for smelting in the usual manner in cupolas or reverberating furnaces.

4. The solution of zinc and copper is then drawn off into tanks, where any fine particles of the ore settle as a mud, which latter contains lead and silver (being in fact the finer portions of the ore) and is suitable for smelting as above.

5. The copper in solution is then precipitated in the customary way, by iron, forming a copper precipitate, at once suitable for the copper smelters.

6. The remaining liquor, which contains the sulphate of zinc, is then drawn off into pans, and evaporated until it becomes a thick mud, when a certain quantity of raw or uncalcined blende (zinc ore) is added. The dessication is carried still further until a dry mixture is obtained of sulphate of zinc and raw blende. The blende is added to decompose the sulphate of zinc in the next operation.

7. The mixture is placed in close ovens and there heated to redness. The sulphate of zinc is disengaged (derived from the sulphate of zinc and blende added) and conveyed to leaden chambers for production of sulphuric acid, while the zinc remains in the state of oxide, suited for the production of metallic zinc in the usual manner.

Thus, from this brief description it will be seen that all the metals contained in the ore are utilized, and that the agent used for the purpose (viz., sulphuric acid) is obtained from the ore itself.

Technical Esthetes

A couple of cattle thieves at San Jose were convicted in 1879 and sentenced to five years imprisonment in San Quentin. In writing out the verdict a juryman improperly spelled the word defendants. The document read: "We find the defendances guilty." On this quibble the case of one of the thieves was appealed to the Supreme Court. After long pondering on the weighty subject this august tribunal has just decided in the thief's favor. The case is not one of striking importance, save that it illustrates what is constantly occurring in the Courts. The law no longer inquires: "Is this man a thief? Is he a swindler? Is he a murderer? Did he actually commit the crime he is charged with?" On the contrary it turns its large magnifying glass on the case and practically says: "Is there any possible technicality by means of which this worthless scoundrel can be shielded from punishment? If there is, we want to find it." The law seeks to exclude from the jury-box men who read the daily papers and who are wide awake and intelligent, and, in the case under consideration, nullifies a verdict because, naturally enough, a juryman is too ignorant to spell correctly. A thief is turned loose, not because he is innocent, but because a juryman proves to be ignorant. The juryman was really on trial, at great expense to the public, instead of the thief. The investigation was one concerning orthography and not cattle-stealing, as was erroneously supposed. And this is what they call law in California—an article that costs tax payers and litigants vast sums of money annually. Our Courts have become arenas in which technical esthetes assemble to split hairs, strain at legal gnats and save the guilty from punishment.—S. F. Chronicle.

THE New York Herald's Washington special says the details of the conspiracy to kill Guiteau which existed among the soldiers, and which was prevented by Sergeant Mason's precipitancy, are stated by a soldier as follows: The plan was that some morning or evening when we were relieved from guard duty, for the whole party to march as near the jail as we could get, and then go through with some kind of a drill so as to attract the attention of Guiteau to us. We were to go through the form of loading and unloading several times, and then on the signal the whole party were to let go at Guiteau. The whole crowd firing all together, we would be equally guilty, and none of us would know which of us fired the ball that took effect. Mason heard of it in some way, and so as to steal the credit from us, fired at him alone.

A VIRGINIA farmer says: "About twenty-five years ago I commenced to pick out a small quantity of the best ears of corn when husking. The corn thus selected was planted by itself, and had a better yield than the rest of the field. Every year since I have been saving more each year, picking out when the corn was husked, and spreading it in a loft until Spring. When I first commenced saving seed, it took 600 ears to make a barrel, while the last few years it has taken but 285 ears to make a barrel. The corn is white, flinty, and weighs over 56 pounds to the bushel."

ROGER A. PRYOR throws out a hint to a New York Sun correspondent which the Democrats may seek to profit by. The hint is, that the Democrats in the Senate may elect a man as President who is not a member of the Senate. By so doing they will gain the casting vote without sacrificing a vote in the ranks, as they would if a Senator were placed in the President's chair. A clear vote is thus gained. If, for instance, ex-Senator Thurman should be elected President of the Senate, he would have a vote whenever Senator Bayard would have one, and Senator Bayard would remain in his seat to help the Democrats in close votes. When the New York and Rhode Island chairs are filled, the Senate will stand as it did when it met in March, except the change in presiding officers, in case Thurman or any other Democrat not a Senator should be elected President of the Senate.

AT sunset last Monday began the most important holy day in the Jewish calender, known as the Day of Atonement. Its importance is of such moment to the Israelites that those who do not make at least a semblance of observance incur odium from their co-religionists. The ten penitential days end with this day, and the strictest fast must be observed by members of the Hebrew faith from sunset till sunset. The services, which continue among the orthodox Jews throughout the whole day without intermission, are specially impressive. The closing prayer ends with the one sentence, which is the base of the Jewish faith, "Hear, O Israel, the Lord our God is one God." Reconciliation between enemies, renewed friendship, and general congratulations are marked features of the day.

AN extraordinary, and almost incredible story of cruelty comes from Jersey City, where a mother is charged with deliberately starving her child to death, and announcing its death, providing a coffin and actually arranging the body as if for burial before it had breathed its last. When its condition was discovered, starvation was so advanced that life could not be saved. This remarkable parent is charged by her own sister with having lost three children in the same way. Is there no law in New Jersey for such crimes?

OF the fertility of the Fish Lake country in Esmeralda county, Nevada, the Candelaria True Fissure says: L. L. McAfee came into town this week, bringing a stalk of sugar cane which measured ten feet and six inches. This cane, of which there is an acre, was raised by Robt. Stewart, and is only an average one in length. Mr. Stewart has manufactured a mill for crushing, and has succeeded in making twenty gallons of an excellent quality of sorghum sgrup. Can any county of Nevada make a better showing of sugar cane?

A PERMIT for burial in consecrated ground was refused to a native Protestant at Xouhiago, Mexico, and the corpse lay decomposing for three days. The civil authorities could offer no relief, and when the Protestants organized a funeral procession, a mob stoned it and threatened further violence, so that a secret burial took place. A demand has been made that Congress investigate this violation of the law guaranteeing freedom of religion.

THE five convicted Mussel Slough settlers, having served out their eight months imprisonment, returned to Hanford, and on the 5th were the subjects of an ovation tendered by about 2,000 persons from various parts of the State. October 5th was declared a holiday, to be known as the "Son's of Liberty Day." Hon. Ed. Marshall was one of the speakers on the occasion.

THE men who tried to rob the overland express train near Colfax, some weeks ago, have all been caught, and one of them has turned State's evidence. He says the reason they ran after throwing the train off, was the job was "too big."

THE Irish Bishops indorse the new Land law as a decided reform, and the Scottish Chamber of Agriculture is moving to secure a somewhat similar law in that quarter of the Empire. England will arouse next. The land system must be amended all around.

ABOUT 2,000 wild goats have been killed on Santa Catalina Island, off the coast of Santa Barbara, this season. They are hunted for their pelts, which sell for twenty-seven cents a pound. It is estimated that there are still about 4,000 on the Island.

PHYLLOXERA is credited with the destruction of over a million and a quarter acres of vineyards in France, and yet, thanks to science, nobody has heard of a drouth of wine.

THE Aurora Herald, one of Esmeralda county's livest representatives, entered upon its ninth volume last Saturday, in good shape and trim.

WILSON W. ALDRIDGE has been elected U. S. Senator to succeed Burnside.

BRIEF BLOOD STORIES.

At Los Angeles, September 30, Juan Tapia shot Julian Owasco, who is likely to die of his wound.

A shooting affair took place in Mason Valley, Nevada, one night last week, in which Pat Birmingham and Eli Martinez, a Mexican, were on one side, and Gus. Horton on the other. Horton and Birmingham were both fatally wounded. It was about a game of cards.

Scoville, one of the men shot at the meeting of the Directors of the Reno and Oregon railroad on Tuesday of last week, died at Reno on the 3d.

Two sewing machine agents had a fight at Tacoma, W. T., last week, and one of them was fatally shot.

Last Saturday. at Charleston, Arizona, William Clayborn killed James Hickey.

At Bloomington, Illinois, a prisoner in the county jail, last Friday, shot and killed his guard, whereupon a mob immediately took him out and appropriately hung him.

At Philadelphia, October 3d, Wm. McGinniss shot and killed his wife and mother-in-law.

Friday, last week, an affray took place in a Georgia court-room, during which two men were killed and one wounded.

A. P. Rodgers killed his wife in Aurora, Illinois, and then committed suicide.

And other stories of like nature "passed for the term."

Direct to Bakersfield.

Parties recently arrived from San Francisco who have had special facilities for obtaining correct information, inform us that the railroad referred to in our last issue, upon which work had been commenced at Alameda, and is now being pushed with extraordinary vigor, is really the Atlantic and Pacific, and is coming direct to Bakersfield. It will take the east side of the San Joaquin valley, and be laid with three rails as far as Merced county, so that it may be used by narrow-gauge rolling stock to that point, whence a narrow-guage track will be run to Yosemite. It is well understood that the Atlantic and Pacific company have purchased the South Pacific Narrow-Guage, and in that way take advantage of the road-bed of the broad-guage for a considerable part of the way. Its termini will be respectively at the two greatest pleasure resorts on the Pacific coast, passing intermediately through the grandest and most beautiful mountain scenery in the world. This road, extended as proposed, will carry more pleasure seekers and tourists than any other road in the United States. The broad-guage, or western end of the Atlantic, will reach here within a year.—Kern Californian.

TRACKING STORMS ACROSS THE ATLANTIC.—The Nautical Magazine, of London, has been tracking American storms across the Atlantic, and finds that 63 per cent of those starting in this country reach Great Britain. As it takes them several days to make the voyage across the ocean, the proposed international exchange of meteorological reports by cable ought to enable the inhabitants of England to know pretty nearly what sort of weather they are going to have. As storms seldom cross from Europe to this country, we are not as much benefitted by this interchange. It will be, however, of great advantage to us, as well as the whole world. Meteorology is a science but slightly developed. In time, the guesses of "Old Probabilities" will be reduced almost to certainties, and our farmers be enabled to know exactly what kind of weather we are going to have a week ahead.

REGARDING the extension of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad westward, it is stated that $15,000,000 will be called for, of which $5,000,000 will be used for the construction of the line westward from Vinita through Indian Territory. The other $10,000,000 will push the work through California toward San Francisco. Two hundred and thirty-six miles of the line from Albuquerque, New Mexico, into Arizona, are already steel-railed. Indians and floods have of late impeded the work.

THE first vessel of a fast line of steamers that the great Boston railroad company proposes to put on between San Diego and San Francisco is now being constructed.

THE TAX LEVY.

Proceedings of the Board of Supervisors.

MONDAY, Oct. 3, 1881.

The Board of Supervisors of Inyo county, California, met pursuant to law for the purpose of levying the rate of taxation for the present fiscal year—1881. Present, C. Meysan, Chairman, and D. Olds.

It was ordered that a tax of Three 50-100 Dollars on each $100 of the taxable property of Inyo county assessed be levied and collected, and that said tax so levied be collected and apportioned to the several funds as follows:

TO THE

State Fund	$ .65½
Interest and Building Fund, (Inyo Bonds)	.50
Expense Fund	1.10
School Fund	20
Sinking Eund	12
General Fund	52½
Special Bridge Fund	10
Hospital Fund	20
Road Fund	10
Total	$3.50

BILLS ALLOWED.

C. Meysan	$12 40
David Olds	30 00

Adjourned.

WHERE THE MONEY WENT.—A few instances can be called to mind which go show where a good deal of wild "outside capital" was absorbed in this country in early days, when freghts were enormous, Indians obstreperous and quartz mining in its infancy. On the other side of the river thousands of dollars lie in the sand, run off in tailings and amalgam. An illustration lately occurred at the old Chrysopolis mill, where the slum tanks are covered with four feet of accumulated debris. Out of the black earth near the mill a boxfull was taken in which to raise flowers. Seed were duly planted, but they failed to come up. Dumping out the earth, nearly an ounce of gold amalgam was discovered scattered through it. In the sand-covered tailings also of the San Carlos, Ida and Union mills there are small mines of amalgam and naturally oxidized sulphurets. Doubtless the old Union, Eclipse and present Brown Monster mills have equally valuable deposits, waiting a clean-up of former loss and waste. One would now-a-days like to have a small percentage of the precious metals lost at the old Olancha mill at the foot of the Lake, and the Josephine, at Old Coso. The loss, through incomplete amalgation at the Pioneer, Kearsarge and "Greaser" (afterwards the Silver Sprout, now the Rex Montis) mills in Kearsarge District, lies irrecoverable in the floods of the creek, as does most of the rich tailings from the old arastras at Fish Springs. The enormous slag piles at Cerro Gordo contain $9 per ton silver, as ascertained by recent assays. But the most notable instance is that of the Owens Lake Silver-Lead Company's furnace at Swansea, which operated from 1870 until '74. There is left there a slag pile of 8,000 tons. After breaking it up and separating the particles of clear lead, the black slag assays $76 per ton.

A NEW MILL.—A party of Lone Piners, Messrs. Edwards, Tatner and others, are perfecting arrangements to put a four-stamp gold mill on their mines in Craig's Cañon (we believe that is where they are situated), in Beveridge District. Their ore is just as rich in free gold as any, while so far as opened the mines look equally well. This matter of home enterprise and co-operation hits the nail square on the head, and the local community that supports legitimate operations of the kind is bound to win in the race for wealth and population, as against a place where business men lack enterprise or refuse help or credit. There is fortunately no waiting for outside "capital" about such an operation, and what is better the benefits and profits stay at home. It was simply the "sand" of one man at Lone Pine that enabled Keynot to stand as now does, and we are glad that he not only made a fortune out of it, but that, as things go, the yield of gold does not go to outside "capitalists." Our local residents know, or ought to know, as much about mining in this country as foreigners, and had the co-operation policy obtained sufficiently to get any one enterprise fairly started we might now have bullion-producing plants at Russ District, Mazourka Cañon, Chrysopolis, Deep Springs, Fish Springs and in old Kearsarge District—at these points at least, out of the many. And that's what's the matter.

ORE AHEAD.—On account of a breakdown in the Taylor & McEvoy mill, involving a stoppage of a number of days for repairs, the Keynot mine managers have been compelled to discharge a lot of miners for lack of dump room. Some 250 tons of ore lie on the dumps at the mine and mill, of an even grade of from $100 to $118 per ton. The mill has been straightened up and is now running steadily.

GAY.—Ben. Williams, of the Northern Stage Line, now spins into town with a light, brand new, thoroughbrace "jerky" stage-wagon—pretty as a bright red one with yellow wheels. With such neat and comfortable affairs in place of those infernal buckboards the line ought to do a greatly increased business, considering the reduced rates of fare.

ON THEIR DIGNITY.—A lady reports that mahalas about town are geting up on their dignity—emulating Kearney, in the matter of refusing to work for anyone who has been guilty of employing a Chinese washerman.

SCHOOL.—Mr. Hampton, a Sonora, Tuolumne county boy, has engaged to take charge of the Big Pine school, commencing next Monday.

THE MULE.—Various essayist have in many ages descanted upon the general, vicious and virtuous attributes of the mule, it even being noted that he would patiently wear out an ordinary life-time of docile service in order to finally get in some fatal work with his heels. According to that eminent philosopher, Josh Billings, "the mewl is burd with two wings and four legs—two legs to walk on and two to kik with." Next to his kinship, the jackass, he is the prospector's indispensible adjunct and right bower generally—his packtotum, in fact. He shares the joys and hardships of camp life, and brays with equal regularity whether he is petted or kicked and cursed. There are instances, however, where the veteran prospector and owner of the mule does not belong to the cursing class. One in particular, who has for years occupied a lonely cabin in a gold field on the east slope of the Sierra, offers up nightly his long and fervent devotions to the Giver of All. One night not long since he is said to have been unusually devotional in giving expression of his prayerful, grateful thanks. The sluice-box had failed to "pan out" lately; the supply of grub had re-olved itself down to bacon grease and bread. A lone, fat sheep—a stray from the numerous bands crossing the mountains—hove in sight, and presented visions of a glorious feast and continued work if it could only be caught or killed. But the buck was wild, and our prospector without fire-arms. He made a long and desperate chase over the rocks on foot, in a vain effort to capture the sheep by hand. Compelled to finally give it up he returned exhausted and more hungry than ever to camp, where he found his gentle mule dreamily chewing sage brush. Presently he turned about and saw that sheep approaching; he was a lonesome sheep, and wanted to make the mule's acquaintance. He did. He came close up, and in the twinkling of an eye that mule's heels had knocked him dead! Hence, sheep meat and prayers were in order in that miner's cabin that night. The incident is an absolute fact, and the public is requested to tally one more for the mule.

A NEW ROAD.—Parties at Bishop Creek and Big Pine are agitating an important wagon road enterprise—one ascending Soldiers' Cañon southeast of Big Pine, crossing the summit, down Marble Cañon to Waucoba and Saline Valley. This would bring wagons to a point about about four miles below the Beveridge mines and the mill. With an expenditure of about $2,000 a road could be built from the summit at the end of the Mazurka Cañon road to the head of another equally natural route down to Saline, and unless this particular locality takes hold of the matter in earnest it will get very badly left again. The ultimate benefits of a good central road crossing the Inyos would be almost incalculable.

LOOKING AROUND.—Mr. J. H. Cameron, formerly of Colorado, has been paying a visit of inspection to the mines of Swansea District and those intervening between it and Mazourka, with the intention of putting up smelting works....Mr. Taylor, a mining man lately from Montezuma, has been down looking at the Slate Range country and started out for Beveridge today.

HOME.—Mr. Thompson, of the Blaney House, got home from his exploring trip a night or two ago, and pretends to say that this is a pretty good country after all. Geo. K. Phillips, who has been an accommodating "mine host" in the meanwhile, has now gone over to the Chrysopolis mines.

SHORT.—A break-down of one of THE INDEPENDENT'S job presses this week, necessitating a day or so's repairs, together with the illness of our compositor-in-chief, causes this issue to appear without the usual amount of reading matter.

LETTER LIST.—Following is the list of letters remaining unclaimed October 1st, at the Independence Postoffice: John Adler, L. Fromm, James H. Goyan, F. M. Howard, Tom McIlduff, Sylvester McCartey, Mrs. F. M. Brown.

A NEW ONE.—O. G. Fuentes, of the Keynot, is prospecting a new gold discovery on this side of the summit of the Inyos, near the trail to Beveridge. It assays well so far, and the discover is highly pleased.

A POINT.—Save perhaps on the high mines of the Rex Montis and Shawmut regions, there is no mining district in the county in which operations can not be prosecuted every day in the year.

FINE.—The weather is glorious—comfortable days and cool nights. We have heard of no damages to the crops, and corn everywhere is probably out of danger.

GOOD.—General reports are to the effect that the Poleta and Red Cloud mines are looking better as each day's work progresses, but we have no details.

DISCONTINUED. — The Postoffice at Tecopa, or Resting Springs, in this county, has been discontinued by order of the Department.

WANTED.—All parties indebted to this institution to come up with their money, as the same is needed forthwithly if not sooner.

PROSPECTING. — A party of Cerro Gordoites, including John Ely, is fixing up for an extended prospecting tour in Death Valley.

LAST AND WORST.—The Los Angeles Herald has an on dit that it is not unlikely that Gen. E. F. Beale, of this State, will turn up as a member of the incoming cabinet. It reminds us of the Irishman's letter advising his father to come to this country, in which he said "awful mean men get office in this country, and praties are only four bits a bushel!"—San Diego News.

THE receipts at the Los Angeles pavilion during the fair week amounted to $3,300.

CHANGE OF BASE.—Rev. F. M. Willis announced after his sermon last Sunday evening, that he expected soon to remove his family to Bishop to reside there during the remaining year of the three allowed any Methodist preacher on any one work or circuit. We shall at this time merely say in regret that Independence will, in this, suffer a very marked loss in more ways than one. Saying nothing of the moral or social aspects of the case, though of far the greater moment, there is a matter of dollars and cents connected that ought to be worth a thought with every person in the least interested in the business welfare of the place. Giving figures from memory only, therefore subject to correction, the total amount received by Mr. Willis for the support of himself and family (his old buggy horse included) during the past year was about $700. Of this meagre sum, a considerable portion consisted of various articles of use, but credited as cash. The total cash valuation of what this place and vicinity contributed toward this $700 amounted, all told, to $124! All the remainder came from elsewhere in the county and the Missionary Fund—other States in fact. Of this total of $700, every dollar but about $100, was paid out for necessaries—including feed for the old horse—procured exclusively in this place. In other words, the place made a net gain in trade of not less than $525, and actual gain of say $200, since, a few staples excepted, nearly every article of family use sells at an advance of from 50 to 100 per cent. Yet for a fact there are those whose businesses are intimately associated with the outcome or business welfare of the place who will stand up on their hind legs and refuse flat-footed to donate as much as one dollar toward maintaining a circuit preacher —or any other sort—in their midst. This is on business considerattons only. If a place should be so unfortunate as to be largely made up of that type of short-sighted "business" men, it is only a question of a little time when it will dwindle awey and die and be heard of no more. And as it is a business and not a moral sermon we are preaching, we will take occasion to point out a certain analogy between a circuit preacher and a newspaper in their resepective relations to their immediate localities or homes: A preacher collects, so to speak, a few hundred dollars every year during his rounds in outside localities, and of necessity expends nearly every dollar in his place of residence. No man in proportion to his receipts, does half as much to add in this way to the business capital of his locality. Same with a newspaper, after multiplying all the figures and extent of field of operations by at least six—for every dollar paid it by immediate patrons, five are received from more distant ones—and in some form, the whole of the five if no more goes first to enhance, to widen the trade of ite immediate locality. This is not all but it will do now. May be you think neither a preacher or a newspaper are of any material local benefit? That neither would be missed?—other than morally, of course.

How to Buy Mines.

During the past five years the country, with the exception, perhaps, of the Pacific coast, has made wonderful progress in material prosperity, and such has been the accumulation of wealth at all the great business centers of the Eastern States that several of the more enterprising merchants and daring speculative operators have amassed colossal fortunes, while the condition of the great majority of the people have been largely ameliorated, and many have secured a comfortable competence. The effect of this vast aggregation of wealth has been to foster a speculative spirit, and such has been the eager demands for the stocks of all incorporated companies that the properties have gone up to figures that threaten an early and disastrous collapse for all such whose property is not built on a solid foundation. Speculation is rampant, and the great gains secured by fortunate speculators are a constant temptation to awaken the avarice of those who are anxious to clutch the glittering prize of wealth. In the investments of this eager throng of wealth-seekers, mining shares have held a secondary place, railroad stocks being the favorites in New York, and speculation in the rise and fall of grain tempting the cupidity of operators in the great Western cities. The reason why mining ventures, though dabbled in to a considerable extent, have not proven favorite investments, is to be found in the questionable methods pursued by those unscrupulous operators who have monopolized the business of "promoting" mining properties. It seems to be impossible for an honest miner to sell his mine in the Eastern market, however good the property may be, or however low the figure he may offer it at. A modest and comparatively obscure individual will not be listened to, even though he have the deed to an exceedingly valuable mine in his pocket. Tricky speculators, who have some high-sounding military title, or possess political or social influence, can sell a wildcat mine for ten times the amount the actual miner asks for his far more valuable mine. The fact is so well known, that the prospector or miner whose mine is yet but partially developed sticks to his camp, and awaits, almost hopelessly, the influx of "capital," which by the development of other mines in the vicinity may possibly at last secure a market for his own.

If outside capitalists who wish to secure good mines at a low figure would send a trusty agent or expert into the mining fields to inspect properties and deal directly with the owners, they would avoid the payment of an enormous profit to the middle-man or promoter, who now secures the lion's share of the amount realized on sales. Such agents would find in every camp in Arizona plenty of promising prospects, owned by men who are unable to develop them, which could be secured for a mere trifle, and many of which would open up into splendidly paying properties. The wealthy purchaser can better afford to run the risk of prospecting work than the poor locator; and as a large number of such prospects could be secured for the amount that would have to be paid for a single fairly developed property, we maintain that it would pay investors far better to take a few small risks of that kind than to pay a fancy price for a property bought from a speculator, who offers it to them under the glittering inducement of an extravagantly worded prospectus.—Tombstone Epitaph.

The Atlantic and Pacific.

According to the Press and Horticulturist of Riverside, Gen. J. A. Williamson, General Land Agent of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, was recently interviewed at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. The most interesting of his statements in regard to the operations, intentions, etc., of the company are the following: A much better route than that of the Southern Pacific has been found through Tehachipa Pass. He thinks the engineering difficulties of the coast route are such that it will be impossible for the road to be built by that route. It will probably be built along the east side of the San Joaquin Valley. It is now built sixty or seventy miles into Arizona, is approaching California ot the rate of two miles a day, and, taking accidents and set-backs into consideration, it will reach this State some time in July next. Then it will be pushed forward to San Francisco as rapidly as possible. So far as money is concerned, the completion of the road is a matter of absolute certainty. The company has all the money it wants, as its bonds sold above par. Their land grant amounts to 44-,000,000 acres, commencing at Springfield, Missouri. It extends forty miles on either side of the track, with an indemnity of ten miles.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, OCTOBER 8.....1881

A SICK person wanting nourishment, and having no appetite, can often be sustained by the following: Make a cup of strong coffee, adding boiling milk as usual, sweetening it rather more; take an egg, beat yolk and white together; boil the coffee, milk and sugar and pour it over the beaten egg in the cup you are going to serve it in. This simple recipe is frequently used in hospital practice.

DESPONDENCY is the last of evils—it is the abandonment of good—the giving up the battle of life with dead nothingness. Come what may, happen what will, with a cheerful, hopeful, sunny nature, persist on looking on the bright side of life's picture—anticipating, while striving after—the successful, the desirable and the pleasureable.

DURING a fire at St. Joseph, Mo., a woman was so absorbed in saving furniture that she forgot her baby until it was cut off by the flames. Then she frantically tried to rescue it, but in vain, and has been insane ever since.

IT is understood that Postmaster-General James will, in his report to Congress, strongly urge the adoption of a system of postal savings banks, on the general but lately improved plan of the English Government.

A YOUNG woman has painted the picture of a dog and tree so lifelike that a person can't distinguish the bark of the dog from the bark of the tree.

SENATOR FAIR, of Nevada, has paired off with Platt, of Connecticut, therefore it will not be necessary for him to leave the Comstock at present.

THE
PUBLISHED WEEKLY.

DEVOTED TO
Mining, Metallurgy, Engineering and Science.

RICHARD P. ROTHWELL, C.E., M.E., ROSSITER W. RAYMOND, Ph.D., } Editors.
WILLIAM H. WAHL, Ph.D., Department of Progress in Science and the Arts.

IT IS AN ACCEPTED AUTHORITY ON ALL questions relating to the great mining industries of the country. It is the oldest publication of its class in America, thoroughly independent; being of the trade and not in it, occupies a just and impartial position, which enables it to advise and teach without fear or favor. It devotes much space to questions bearing upon economical management of mines, and from time to time illustrates the more important improvements in mining machinery and engineering methods. Special attention is given to reliable mining news from all parts of the country, which is gathered by an efficient corps of correspondents in every section, and from an extended exchange list. The metal and ore markets, and gold, silver and miscellaneous stocks are reported and commented upon weekly by experienced financiers, who are unbiased by private interests, and upon these matters it is accepted as a reliable guide and unfailing instructor. Gives statistics of production of coal and iron, and of our great gold, silver and other mines. Its scientific notes are an epitome of the latest researches, its trade reports full, and its editorials sagacious and comprehensive. It enjoys the widest circulation and greatest influence of any journal of its class in the world; its patrons and readers comprising the most select and intelligent men in every quarter.

Subscription, $4 per year, in advance; 10c., single copy.

PROBATE NOTICE.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE State of California, in and for the County of Inyo. In the matter of the estate of John Ryar Westervelt, deceased. Order to Show Cause Why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should not be Made.

It appearing to the Judge of said Superior Court, by the petition this day presented and filed by James Jones and S. P. Moffat, the Executors of the Estate of John R. Westervelt, deceased, praying for an order of sale of real estate; that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate, to pay the debts outstanding against the deceased and the debts, expenses and charges of administration.

It is therefore ordered by the Judge of said Court, that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Superior Court on MONDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Court Room of said Superior Court, at the Court House, in the town of Independence, in the County of Inyo, to show cause why an order should not be granted to said Executors to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of this order be published at least four successive weeks in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated September 19, 1881.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Superior Judge.

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK, County of Inyo.

I, John Crough, County Clerk of the County of Inyo, State of California, and ex-officio Clerk of the Superior Court in and for said County, do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true, full and correct copy of an order duly made and entered upon the minutes of said Superior Court.

WITNESS, my hand and the seal of said Superior Court, this Nineteenth day of September, A. D. 1881. [SEAL]

JOHN CROUGH, Clerk.

In the Matter of John P. Brown, an Insolvent Debtor.

John P. Brown, having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said John P. Brown is hereby declared to be insolvent. The Sheriff of Inyo County is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said John P. Brown, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution, and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of account and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him, or to any person, firm or corporation, or association for his use. The said debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered. It is further ordered that all the creditors of said debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court Room of said Court, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, on the TWENTY-SEVENTH day of OCTOBER, 1881 at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said debtor.

It is further ordered that this order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper of general circulation published at Independence, in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors. And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated September 20, 1881.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Judge of the Superior Court.
JOHN W. P. LAIRD, Atty for Petitioner.

The Great Danger from Placing Lucifers in Letters.

A short time ago an event came under my observation which excited my surprise and alarm. A person with whom I am acquainted, whose parents are living in England, came to see me, when he casually observed: "I have just sent off a letter to my folks. They will be surprised to see the difference between English and American matches." He added: "I have sent two letters, and put four matches in each." Not comprehending for a moment the gravity of the situation and pondering over the oddness of the thing, I merely remarked: "What a strange thing to do!" He innocently asked why it was strange. I asked: "Did the man at the Post Office know there were matches in the letters?" He answered, "No." It was then the serious nature of the case began to dawn on me, because I am only a slow thinker, if you will allow me to coin a term to suit myself. Then I said:

"Do you know that matches are explosives, intended to light by friction, and that as such they are not allowed in the mails, and, if they are detected, you will be amenable to the law? It seems to me," said I, "that no man can stamp those letters without detecting them; and if they are detected, they will be detained, and you will be sent for." Then, becoming alarmed, he exclaimed:

"Good heavens! You make it appear as bad as a case of manslaughter."

I said: "My boy, I do not wish to alarm you, nor should I like to see you take any harm on account of the mistake you made, because I know that you did it innocently." But it was dawning on me slowly, but surely, so I said, "It appears to me much worse than manslaughter. You must remember that your dangerous letters must pass through the mail bags along with hundreds of others, many of them of intrinsic value, perhaps containing large bills, deeds, wills, etc." He now began to realize his position. I said, "You cannot help it now. It is not your fault, but misfortune," because I perceived that he was trying to stifle his fears. I went on to say:

"The case seems bad enough to you, no doubt, but it appears to me ten times worse." Darkening his eyebrows as if he would not tolerate my remarks any longer, he angrily asked why. I did not consider him a very thin-skinned person, so I said:

"You do not seem to be aware that those matches will have to cross the Atlantic in costly steamships with a whole cargo of mail matter and hundreds of lives at stake." As the color left his face he bent down his head and said, "I hope nothing will happen."

My landlady, kind hearted creature as she is, shook her head at me to say no more on the subject, observing at the same time, "It may not be as bad as all that. Let us hope all will come out right."

"True," I said, "It may not be so bad as I have depicted and I hardly hope that it will not; but, on the other hand, st might, and one might have as good a chance as another. We all know that various disasters, the cause of which have never been known, have often been brought about in some such way. People sailing by the Arizona, the boat that carried those matches, will little know what a slender thread their lives hang on." He said, "Do you think there is so much danger in that?" I answered, "Now, to be a Yankee once in my lite, let me answer by asking you a question. If you had to go to Europe would you prefer to sail on the boat with those matches?" He made no reply, but another person answered for him. He said:

"If my passage was paid on that boat I would lose my money before I would sail in it on that voyage, knowing what I do now."

Getting more alarmed, he said, "Perhaps my letters are not sent away yet. Could I not recall them?" I answered, "Yes." He asked me to go with him to the Post Office. We went, but it was too late—they were gone. He remarked, if they land all right my father will give me a reprimand. I said, "No doubt." But we were both disappointed in this respect. His father acknowledged the receipt of the letters containing the matches, but not a word of reprimand. He only asked what they were for. My friend afterwards spoke to a friend in my presence, telling him what a foolish act he had been guilty of. The other one casually observed, "That is nothing; I have done that many a time." Hearing this remark, I began to think that the postal regulations were violated to a great extent, and life and property exposed to much more danger than the public are aware of. One thing remarkable about these letters is that they were not detected either in America or England.—New York Herald.

Some Incidents During the Conflagration in Michigan.

[Letter to the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.]

The scene was more terrible than anything often known. The wind increased so as in many places to destroy buildings and actually take people off their feet, and those who saw it describe the rush of the conflagration as a hurricane of flame, and say that the very air seemed to be on fire. At the village of Bad Ax, where the Huron County buillings were, it began to grow dark in the forenoon from smoke, and in a few hours the pitchy blackness was like that of a close cellar, so that it was imposssible to see a foot. It was known that there were fires three miles south, bat there was no thought of danger until there suddenly came a lurid glare, the flame and wind immediately followed, and in thirty minutes, fifty-three of the fifty-five buildings in the place were in ashes. The Court House was of brick covered with slate, and there people went for protection. The building escaped destruction, and those within it were saved, although they suffered badly from heat. There were no lives lost here, but this was exceptional good fortune.

Reports from some places are too horrible to read. Numbers of people flying from danger were overtaken and died in the roads, some perished miserably in wells and other places where they had sought safety, and in the terrible time a few women were taken with the pains of childbirth. Everywhere it is a sickening story of suffering and of roasted human flesh in every conceivable way. In some places the heat was almost incredibly intense, and the smoke was everywhere unendurable, and caused many deaths by suffocation. The work of destruction was very uneven. Some towns in the dis rict escaped with a loss which seems trifling, while in others apparantly no more exposed there are but a few scattering buildings left. The same was true of the villages, some strangely escaping, while others were strangely destroyed. In some fields the grass roots and it is said the soil itself are burned so that it is impossible to tell whether the land was ploughed or not, while in others near at hand crops of grain are left in the shock untouched.

A remarkable thing in the story of the calamity is the presence of mind everywhere shown. The people were accustomed to danger from fire—many of them had been through the similar experience of 1872—ane there were fewer lives lost than might have been expected. There seems to have been but little panic, and few threw their lives away. Nearly all sought to preserve themselves and property intelligently, to have done about all that was possible, and very much better than could have been expected. Domestic animals and fowls nearly all perished, and it is noticed that they died in groups each with his kind—rarely did cows, horses or chickens die alone, but all sought the companionship of their kind. Great numbers of birds and insects took their way to the lakes, and overcome by the smoke, no doubt, died and were found floating on the surface.

Railroad Change of Route.

We are informed that the owners of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad have concluded to diverge from its survey, and instead of crossing ihe Colorado River near the Needles, will, in the vicinity of Hackberry, Mohave county, turn northward and cross the Colorado river near or at Callville, the head of navigation, and thence on to San Francisco through Southern Nevada, via Bakersfield, etc. Just why this change we cannot say, but suppose that Jay Gould has suggested a connection with the Utah Southern. The branch is to be continued to San Diego, as we understand it, hence the road will have to cross at the Needles; or perhaps the Utah Southern will constitute said branch from the point where it intersects the Atlantic and Pacific trunk line. There is no accounting for the various changes made by railroad corporations while building roads of great magnitude. The northern route proposed is not very inviting and certainly cannot supply any considerable amount of local patronage.

One thing is certain, that the road will be built to the Pacific Ocean and Northern Arizona supplied with an outlet; therefore it is of very little difference to us whether the road crosses the river one hundred miles higher up or lower down on the Colorado of the West. With a branch from Prescott to the line anywhere north it will make us a live city, and the prospects for such a branch are very good indeed.—Prescott Miner.

LIFE is a pack of cards. Childhood's best cards are hearts; youth is captured by diamonds; middle age is conquered by a club; while old age is raked in by a spade.

The State Bag Factory.

The State enterprise looking toward the cheap production of grain bags by the labor of convicts at San Quentin is progressing, and Gov. Perkins' proposition to cheapen burlaps, employ convicts, and still not come into competition with legitimate local manufacturing enterprises, will soon be put to a practical test. Those who have the enterprise in hand are quite sure tnat the convicts can be made self-supporting, and at the same time bagging material cheapened, which will be a merited boon to our grain growers. If everything succeeds as now anticipated, we may ere long, be growing jute, and then the great drain for bags and burlaps paid to the manufactories at Dundee and Calcutta will be stopped.

For the jute-making effort it was necessary to build new buildings, and the main part of the work was done by the convicts. A reporter for the Chronicle, who lately visited the prison, gives a description of the new jute factory, from which we shall take the leading points: The building is of enormous proportions, and is designed from the latest approved plans submitted as best adapted for heavy machinery running with a strong vibratory motion. Its ground plan is a parallelogram for the main building, which is 265 feet long, extreme length, and 153 feet wide, extreme width. The floor in preparation is solidly packed and tamped with the best quality of gravel and sand, between closely laid heavy timbers of redwood, and then cemented into a smooth, heavy concrete with Portland cement, making it as solid as if of stone foundation. The building is of one story, with 16 ft. in the clear; from the floor to the bottom of the joists above is a succession of eight-gable roofs, each of the same width and running laterally the full width of the building.

Each roof is covered with tin, and has on top a gable line of ventilators 3 feet high by 5 feet wide throughout the entire length of the roof. The building to begin with is framed from selected pine and redwood, and so braced and trussed according to the latest accepted plans from Dundee, Scotland, as to destroy the tendency of the machinery to vibratory motion. There are within the building as supports 126 massive pieces of pine, each properly fitted to cross pieces, besides being fastened within the concrete, and all to be covered with tin to guard against fire.

The machines — manufactured in Leeds, England, and embracing a complete system of 100 looms, with softening, breaking, damping, twisting, warp and cop winding, spinning, dressing, measuring, sack-cutting and calendar machines, total 148—are all at San Quentin, in perfect order, even to minute details of extras belonging to such thorough and complicated machinery. Although the building, as just described, is independent in itself, constructed with a view to its being entirely free from vibration, it is inclosed by massive brick walls, 25 feet in hight, and with piers at each fifteen feet supporting lateral heavy timbers holding the line shafting, thus adding to the solid character of the structure. A belt chamber, to regulate the revolutions of the various lines of shafting from which the different machines are run, starts from the fly wheel on the west side and runs the full length of the building, having a full width of 7½ feet within the building.

In addition to the main building an engine and boiler-room is being erected adjoining, with a length of 60 feet by 40 feet wide. The ground for the same has been excavated to the depth of 12 feet, and is being filled in with solid masonry to form a thorough support for the engine and boilers, which are of massive pattern. The motive power for this vast structure consists of four steel boilers, each 16 feet long by 53 inches wide; a low pressure engine of 480 horse power, having a 30-inch cylinder with a 60-inch stroke. The fly wheel drives the main belt, which has a width of 42 inches. The wheel itself is 18 feet in diameter and has a full weight of 20 tons. The factory is expected to be in complete working order by January 1, 1882.

SURGEON BRADLEY says, in the British Medical Journal, that being tormented by one of the most distressing symptoms ef hay fever, incessant sneezing, and having tried all remedies suggested, in sheer desperation, he plugged his nostrils with raw cotton. The effect was instantaneous; sneezing ceased, and after repeatedly testing the remedy, he concludes that it is worth knowing and recommending.

Now is the winter of impecunious discontent made summer sun of obvious repose by the new postal regulation about nuisant mail matter. No more can tailors and bakers dun an inoffensive debtor by postal card, for the said inoff. d. can just tell the p. m. to destroy all such agitating nuisances.

THE Superintendent of the mint at Philadelphia has been authorized to strike off memorial medals having heads of Lincoln and Garfield on opposite sides. Similar medals are also authorized, containing the head of Garfield on one side and a wreath on the other.

SAID one fellow to another: "If I was as flatfooted as you are, I would not be afraid of slipping on the sidewalk." "Yes," was the response, "some people are flat on one end, and some on another." The first chap looked thoughtful and went down the street.

THE interesting question in the neighborhood of the Stock Exchange is: "Who was swindled in the Sierra Nevada deal?" There is a general conviction that "Slippery Jim" is not a loser by the infamous transaction.—S. F. Chronicle.

THE ELECTIONS.

The results of the elections held in Ohio and Iowa last Monday are reported as follows: Ohio elects Foster (Rep.) Governor by some 15,000 plurality. The complexion of the Assembly is by one account stated to be doubtful; by another that the Republicans have a clean majority in both Houses. Iowa, as usual, goes Republican by from 50,000 to 55,000 majority for Governor and about 90 majority in the Legislature.

WATER is getting uncomfortably scarce in New York. The Sun says: Unless copious rains fall in Westchester and Putnam counties between now and the 1st of November, this city will find itself entirely destitute of croton water. The city is now and has been for some weeks drawing its supply of water, not from the natural flow of the Croton river, but from the storage reservoir in Putnam county, and we learn from the Chief Engineer of the aqueduct Department that the supply will last barely twenty days longer, and no more. The Herald says: The actual fact is that water is being carried to the homes of many of the residents of this city, and is sold at from twenty to twenty-five cents a barrel for household uses. There has been no general disturbance made about it for the simple reason that it is one of those things that nobody can help, but there is considerable suffering among the poorer people who occupy small houses in remote places.

GRADUALLY but surely, says the Contra Costa Gazette, our farmers are realizing the necessity of uniting stock with grain farming, and rotating their land in pasture, hay and grain, instead of devoting it exclusively to grain year after year, as has been universally the practice, with attendant results of impoverishing and running the farm to weeds. It is the best judgment, supported by both experience and reason, that the hay and pasture rotation is not only a better preparation for a grain crop than summer-fallowing, but tends more to the extirpation of weeds, and to the fertilization and permanent improvement of the land, aside from the stock-feeding profits.

ONE of the neatest and most readable serial stories now running is the San Francisco Chronicle's account of the so-called trial of Mr. J. Hope, the noted cracksman, for getting caught before he had completed an attempted burglary. The plot of the story and the trial seems to be to show to a gaping world how many absurd technicalities may be advanced by the defense and gravely sustained by the Court in even a trial for burglary; in that respect it reads almost like a murder trial with the pathetic passages mostly left out. But it shows up the possibilities of American law full as well as a veritable murder trial.

A LAS VEGAS (N. M.) dispatch of the 8th says: Yesterday a controversy took place over the telegraph wires between J. S. McBride, operator at Glorietta, and Jack Hardy, operator at Levi station. The latter went to Glorietta, and called on McBride about midnight, for the purpose of revenge. This morning Hardy was found on the floor of the telegraph office shot in the head. McBride is misssing. The shooting is supposed to have been justifiable.

AN organization is said to exist in Oyster Bay, L. I., with members in almost every village of Queen's county, sworn to kill Guiteau in case he escapes punishment through the Courts by the plea of insanity. Meetings are said to be held at the houses of members at midnight. Crazy or not crazy, Guiteau is not to be greatly envied, except by exceedingly despondent people who believe in a better land.

AN Indiana lady, after a long delay, received word on a recent Saturday that the court had on that morning divorced her from her dissipated husband. On Monday she learned that just after the granting of the divorce her husband had died suddenly and unexpectedly, and that consequently his $4,000 life insurance would go to his mother.

No better testimony of the immense importance attached in France to every word uttered by M. Gambetta just now could be given than by the fact that he is accompanied on his journey by a troop of from forty to sixty reporters from all parts, and a squad of special telegraph clerks from Paris.

THE weather during the past week has been very cold in the Eastern States, especially along the Atlantic seaboard. In consequence of frost, heavy losses have been entailed upon farmers, whose crops are in the field.

POLITICS.

It strikes us that there is not much in modern politics to command a very great deal of respect among respectable people, however it may be among politicians. Here is the dignified United States Senate getting down to politics much like a Workingman's Club, or even the United States House of Representatives. The other day the Democrats, then having barely votes sufficient, elected Bayard President pro tem. of the Senate, and, contingently, (vice Arthur, "guiteaued") President of the United States. Directly after, the two new Senators from New York and one from Rhode Island were admitted to their seats, whereby the Republicans, with the aid of two Independent votes (Davis and Mahone) attain a majority of two. Now they are determined to oust Bayard and put in one of their own party, Anthony, probably; otherwise, they will take the big Independent, David Davis, off the fence and make a President pro tem., and contingent President out of him. There is enough of David for both purposes, seeing that he weighs over 300 pounds. It will be a weighty affair if he is substituted for Bayard, but the trouble is, he will hardly know whether he is off the fence or not, inasmuch as the Democrats will make no serious objection to his taking the chair even if they do not vote him into it. Anyway, David is now, in more ways than one, the biggest factor in American politics.

The Stalwarts—Grant, Conkling, and their sort—are exceedingly wroth at President Arthur, because he has sent in for confirmation over a hundred of the late President's nominations, without asking a question about them.

The Democratic State Convention of New York organized on Monday. John Kelly and a band of his braves went down there and demanded a share of the seats as delegates. The others wouldn't have it that way, and now John is dabbing on the war-paint profusely. But the others aver that they are not scared the least mite; that they will certainly sweep the State, three weeks hence, against John and the Republicans combined, if they do combine, which is not probable.

A TOMBSTONE dispatch of the 11th says: "The Way Up Mining Company, a New York Corporation, commenced suit in the District Court to-day against the Tombstone Mill and Mining Co., to quiet title, and asks $250,000 damages. The complaint sets forth that the Way Up joins the Goodenough, one of the latter company's mines, on the northeast. The Tombstone Company claim that the ledge dips north and east, and enters the Way Up; that the ore body in the latter mine is in the Goodenough ledge. On the other hand the Way Up Comyany asserts that the ledge in the Goodenough claim runs across the location; that the Goodenough was erroneously located across the ledge and that by the effect of the operation of law the side lines have become and are the end lines, and that the claim is limited to three hundred feet each side of the lode, and a decree is asked for accordingly. It is believed this is the first suit ever brought under the decision of the North Noonday of Bodie.

THE Chicago Times (Dem.) says: The present indications are that President Arthur is not going to be a mere ghost and shadow of some other man's administration, but that "sink or swim, survive or perish," he will make an effort to assert his individuality. Hayes' Administration was commended by the Chicago Convention. It was highly regarded by Hayes. But the successor of Hayes retained no single member of that Government. He sent every one of them adrift and selected for the heads of the executive departments such persons as he wished to have about him in his administration. He would not consent to sink his individuality and be content to carry out the ideas of even so truly good a President as Rutherford B. Hayes. And Arthur, it may be unfortunately for his own reputation, means, or the signs fail, to act similarly.

LIEUT. D. A. LYLE lately read a paper begore a Springfield science association, in which he praised grasshoppers as an article of food. He had eaten them out West. Although they have naturally a disagreeable smell, he says that when cooked they become pleasant to both smell and taste, no disguise being required. They can be eaten after boiling two hours, with pepper and salt, and thus prepared are not easily distinguishable from beef broth. Fried in their own oil they have a nutty flavor.

FRED. DOUGLAS has been visiting the estate of Edmund Lloyd, in Maryland, which he left as a slave 56 years ago. The present owner of the estate, the great grandson of the master of Douglas, received the ex-slave with great kindness and entertained him at table, in the hall of the house where as a slave boy he had often played. It became noised about among the negroes that Douglas was there, and a number of the descendants of the old slaves came to see him.

PRISON REFORM CONVENTION.

A meeting of the Association known as the California Prison Commission is called to meet in Convention in San Francisco on the 8th day of next month to consider measures for the prevention of crime. James Woodworth is the Secretary of the Commission, and its Board of Trustees consists of fifteen prominent Californians, such as Ira P. Rankins, A. J. Ralston, Rev. John Kimball, Thomas Price and others.

The Convention will be similar in character to those which have been held from time to time in recent years, in Eastern States, and in Europe, and from which such encouraging results have grown.

Among the most important questions that will come before it will be that of caring for the neglected children and youth, so as to prevent them falling into criminal habits.

The Convention will be made up of such persons as may choose to attend it, from the following classes, viz., governors and ex-governors of states and territories; wardens and ex-wardens of state and territorial prisons, including lieutenant and ex-lieutenant governors, who have served as wardens; chaplains and normal instructors in prisons, including ministers who have acted in that capacity, whether officially recognized or not; superintendents and ex-superintendents of houses of correction, work houses and similar prisons; superintendents and ex-superintendents industrial schools, houses of refuge, and kindred institutions; sheriffs and ex-sheriffs, chiefs and ex-chiefs of police; captains of police; directors and ex-directors or commissioners of state and territorial prisons; members of the late Commission to investigate the management of the California State Prison; judges and ex-judges of criminal courts, by whatever name such courts are or have been called, including police courts and similar tribunals of cities; judges and ex-judges of supreme courts, district and ex-district attorneys and their assistants; trustees and ex-trustees of the California Prison Commission; the president of each prisoners' aid association, by whatever name called; together with persons specially invited to participate in the proceedings.

Representatives of any of these classes will be admitted as delegates, without limit as to number, from any of the states and territories west of the Rocky Mountains, embracing California, Nevada, Oregon, Washington, Idaho, Utah and Arizona, also Wyoming, Montana, Colorado and New Mexico, as well as British Columbia and Mexico.

The call concludes as follows: "We trust that the movement will meet with your approval, and that you will do all that you can consistently, as a journalist, for its promotion, and to inform your readers of the character of the Convention, and the time when it will be held, as well as to place before them the results, when it is over. We especially ask of you to publish the list of those who will be entitled to admission as delegates, and say to them that we hope they will consider themselves invited to attend the Convention without further notice."

"POOR old Christianey" is the name by which this ancient Benedict is now generally known. He became an United States Senator and supposed that a social requirement of the position was a young and beautiful wife. He cast about until the desired object was attained. He was married, and then, as most generally happens in the marital union of 17 and 70, grew jealous. He tries the divorce dodge, but his cause does not seem to prosper. It results that the old Senator has become the butt of Washington gossip, and ridicule. And worse than this, he is afraid to be abroad, as the slandered lady's big brother is supposed to armed with a "cow-hide" looking for an interview with the Senator.

NOTWITHSTANDING the injunction issued out of the Superior Court, the miners of Nevada county are again at work. The miners say that they and their famities are suffering for the necessities of life, if not literally starving, and that they must go on with their work, let legal consequences be what they may. The officers of all the incorporated companies have resigned, and given the miners permission to go ahead on their own responsibility. By this arrangement the law officers will be troubled to find any one to drag into court to answer for the contempt. This procedure of the miners is nothing short of rebellion, nevertheless, we believe, morally, they are in the right.

THE Salinas City Index thinks that the Supreme Court will be obliged to hold that the State Board of Equalization has not power to raise or lower individual assessments, or to raise or lower the entire assessment roll of a county, as decided in the case of Wells, Fargo & Co. case. It facetiously suggests that the Court may get out of its dilemma by declaring the State Board unconstitutional.

CONFEDERATE BONDS IN LONDON

A London dispatch says, with reference to the recent quotations of Confederate bonds on the market there, that the holders of those bonds have been called upon by a committee to register them, preparatory to an appeal for payment to the Legislatures of the Southern States.

Orders have been sent to Texas and other Southern States for the purchase of all bonds that can be collected, the price to be $2 50 for $1,000 of the bonds.

It would appear that this move has inspired sundry simpletons with the idea that Confederate bonds may still have some value. If those who hold Confederate bonds cherish any hope that the Legislatures of the States once in rebellion can do anything toward redeeming them, they can dissipate that delusion by turning to the fourteenth amendment to the Constitution of the United States, the second clause of section 4 of which contains the following: "Neither the United States nor any State shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States."

It is said that the Hollanders are making the heaviest investments in these bonds, and that the Southern people are greatly puzzled to know what has produced the excitement.

The New Orleans Democrat has this to say on the subject:

No explanation has yet been found for this action on the part of the Dutch, who are proverbially a level-headed people. It is evident, however, that they have heard some news about this country which has not yet reached the ears of us Americans. The London Standard suggests that it is due to a popular belief in Holland that President Arthur is an ex Confederate, sworn to recognize the Confederate sterling loan.

A VERY ludicrous quarrel has occurred in Helena, M. T., over the visit of the Marquis of Lorne. The town wished to give the distinguished visitor a complimentary dinner; the death of the President caused the Marquis to decline this honor. Then the visitor, anxious to meet some of the leading men of the place, asked them to meet him informally at his hotel. Among those who accepted the invitation was the editor of the Herald; the editor of the Independent delined. The latter, on the following day, gave a burlesque report of the dinner. His rival, who ate of the dinner, retorted by declaring that the report was the result of spleen, and that the billious editor viewed the feast from afar off through the keyhole of the dining room door. No doubt the next phase of the controversy will be pistols and coffee.

PRESIDENT GARFIELD'S Cabinet seem determined that the new President shall bear the whole responsibility of his administration. Those who had supposed that only the head of the Government would be changed by the succession of President Arthur are now clearly undeceived; for whether by preconcerted action or by a mere coincidence of sentiment the fact has become plain that few, if any, of the former Cabinet will remain. Secretary Windom's masterly administration of the affairs of the Treasury seemed to promise a continuance of his incumbency, at least, but the dispatches leave no room to doubt but that he will decline to hold over under the new Administration. Meanwhile the choice of President Arthur for the various Cabinet positions is a matter of mere speculation and great uncertainty.

GEO. E. WILCOX, Free Press carrier and pedestrian, and Jas. Pascoe, the famous Cornish wrestler, are engaged in a walking match between here and Hawthorne, Nevada, thirty-eight miles distant, and return, for a purse of $300. They left here at 6 this morning. Wilcox arrived at Hawthorne at 1 P. M., about three miles ahead of Pascoe. The elevation of Bodie is about 5,000 feet higher than Hawthorne, and much uneven ground is to be traversed. Great interest is felt in the result, and considerable money is staked.

Wilcox arrived at Hawthorne and after a short rest, started back for Bodie. Three miles out he met Pascoe, who "threw up the sponge," as well he might. Wilcox arrived in Bodie by stage with an order from Pascoe for the payment of the stake.

A PULLMAN line of steamers across the Atlantic has been suggested. The plan includes the building of eight vessels, costing $1,000,000 each, and having those accomodations conducive to the comfort of passengers so deficient upon the best lines of steamers. It is proposed to secure perfect ventilation, and to separate the cost of the passage from the cost of the fare. The table service would be a la carte, and the steamers would be as superior to the English lines as the Pullman cars are to the British cars.

THE American people have acquired a new piece of property, the most valuable part of which is probably its name, New Columbia. Hitherto it has been called Wrangel Land, and has been claimed by Great Britain.

A LATE Washington dispatch says that Col. W. W. Dudley has been for some weeks investigating a ring in the Pension office. The fact that there were fraudulent pensions on the rolls has long been known, and claim agents under previous Commissioners have the brunt of the blame for these frauds. Col. Dudley became convinced that many of them were the work of those inside the office, and started quietly but vigorously to ferret out the unfaithful clerks. He is almost ready to make arrests. When the blow falls his prosecutions will vie with those of the Post-master-General. It is not yet known how many are implicated, but the number under investigation now is about thirty. The amount of money involved will reach into the millions when the amounts paid and to be paid are considered. Of course the prosecution will extend to those who have fraudulently received pensions. The secret service here has under surveillence more than two hundred persons in various States, whose arrests will follow closely upon that of the clerks.

THE first session of the Geographical Congress in Vienna—the third annual meeting—took place September 15. Many explorers and other celebrities were present. The congress was opened by the retiring president, M. De Lesseps. The acting president was Prince Teano, president of the Italian Geographical Society. One of the American delegates, Prof. Barnard, of Columbia College, proposed a general meridan for all the world with a system of standard time. The plan is to divide the globe into twenty-four meridians of fifteen degrees each, each comparing with the twenty-four hours of the day, the prime of first meridian to pass through Behring Strait, the hours of the day to be counted from one to twenty-four, the A. M. and P. M. of the present system being abolished.

THERE is no remedy for trouble equal to hard work—labor that will tire you physically, to such an extent that you must sleep. If you have met with losses, you don't want to lie awake and think about them. You want sleep—calm, sound sleep, and to eat your dinner with an appetite. But you can't unless you work. If you say you don't feel like work, and go loafing all day to tell Tom, Dick, and Harry the story of your woes, you'll lie awake, and keep your wife awake by your tossing, spoil your temper and your breakfast next morning, and begin to-morrow feeling ten times worse than you do to-day. There are some great troubles that only time can heal, and perhaps some that can never be healed at all; but all can be helped by the great panacea, work.

SECRETARY LINCOLN of the War Department recently issued un order prohibiting the use of tobacco in any form by the students in the military academy at West Point. Four-fifths of them, it was found upon inquiry, were addicted to its use, either for chewing or smoking, or both. The Secretary has only done for the West Point School what the Pnricipals and Trustees of many of our best educational establishments have done for the schools under their charge. The young men are in training like athletes for a contest of physical and mental skill and endurance. It is eminently proper that they should abstain of their own free will from all enervating habits; but if the law is necessary, it should be strictly enforced.

THE Ferris-Tichborne of San Diego may, possibly, lack the proofs to place him in possession of the Tichborne estates in England, (Col. Barnes to the contrary, however,) but he certainly does not seem to lack effrontery or energy if he is indeed a fraud. He is now on his way to the East and thence to England to advance his claims. There is something very remarkable about the pretensions of this person, if they are bare pretensions. He has looked ridicule, abuse, charges of lunacy, etc., in the face, still claiming to be the Tichborne, and as a culmination, goes forth deliberately with the assurance if he fail in his avowed object, he will at least succeed in taking up a residence in an English prison.

THE Board of Trustees of the California Prison Commission recommend a Prison Reform Convention, to be held in San Francisco, November 8, and favoring admission, as delegates, of officials connected with the administration of criminal justice throughout the Pacific coast. Gov. Perkins was selected to deliver the opening address.

THERE is a young lady in Keokuk, Iowa, who is six foot four inches tall, and she is engaged to be married. The man who won her did it these words: "Thy beauty sets my heart aglow—I'd wed thee right or wrong; man wants but little here below, but wants that little long."

AT Lehi, Utah, track-laying was begun on the 3d instant on the Utah Central, which road is to run thence to San Francisco.

ORSON PRATT, a noted Latter-Day Saint and Apostle, died at Salt Lake, on the 3d, aged 71.

THE Salt Lake Tribune says that on Saturday night a prize of $25 in coin will be given to the best yearling baby exhibited at the Fair. A lot of old bachelors have been put on the Committee, and considerable fun is anticipated. Acting on a committee at a baby show is one of the pleasantest duties of a man's life, but the existence of such a person after the award is something too dreadful to be described. The life of an apostate Mormon in Salt Lake is a perfect picnic party compared to it. The country is full of the graves of men who have committed suicide through fear o some enraged mother whose cross-eyed, red-headed, bandy-legged, snarling baby didn't get the first prize for beauty and for temper.

JENNY JUNE, who is responsible for the following, says: There is a strong probability that the White House will witness a wedding during the present administration, the President himself being one of the high contracting parties, and the widow of a well known and wealthy New Yorker the other.

SENATOR MAHONE has twice been the father of triplets, and an exchange flippantly says that when the children are out in the front yard on pleasant days, his residence is mistaken for an orphan asylum.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 15 1881

Report of the Grand Jury.

To the Honorable Superior Court of Inyo County, State of California:

We the undersigned Grand Jurors impaneled before your Honorable Court on the 10th day of October, A. D. 1881, beg leave to submit the following report:

We examined with due diligence into all criminal offences brought to our notice, and found one true bill.

We examined into the offices of the county officials, and find the books and offices kept in a neat and orderly condition, and also the County Jail without an occupant.

We also visited the County Hospital kept by Mrs. Lewis, and find it in a neat and cleanly condition, and the patients well attended to.

We respectfully recommend to the special care of the Board of Supervisors of Inyo county to Mrs. Morton, a very old lady who is now a patient in the County Hospital, and bed-ridden—that she may be furnished with extra delicacies and comforts that her age and condition in life may require in justice to humanity. All of which we respectfully submit and ask to be discharged.

J. L. BOURLAND,
Foreman of the Grand Jury.

FOR ARIZONA.—Mr. P. J. S. Tully' left Monday last for Tombstone, A. T., on receipt of a dispatch announcing the death of his brother, James Tully, at the Grand Central mine at that place. It seems that the unfortunate man, who with his brother were well known in Gold Hill, Nev., was working on a carpenter's cage, about twelve feet from the top of the shaft. He rang the bell to hoist, when the engineer started up the engine slow, but failed to stop at the surface, and the speed increased and sent the cage into the sheaves forty-five feet high, with such force that it turned the cage over, throwing him down the shaft to a temporary platform 125 feet down, where he struck, killing him instantly. It would look as though that mining company should be held pecuniarily responsible for such gross and criminal carelessness on the part of its employes.

JUSTICE'S COURT.—Last Tuesday, upon a complaint sworn out by Ramon Montenegro, Justice of the Peace Thos. Parker issued a warrant for the arrest of one John Doe, subsequently found out to be Francisco Cantura, on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder. A part of two days' time was occupied in the examination of witnesses, through interpreters, and finally upon motion of the District Attorney, the prisoner was discharged. We did not hear the testimony, but the affair don't seem to have been much of a shooting racket, even for Lone Pine.

THE JURY.—The Grand Jury, which adjourned on Tuesday after a two day's session, submitted to the Court the brief report published elsewhere. The Jury as drawn and impaneled consisted of Frank Lawrence, H. P. Barrows, W. B. Hutchings, Robert Love, O. I. Mairs, Jos. Fernbach, Manly Conkrite, J. E. Jones, G. W. Norton, R. W. Ford, T. J. Furbee, J. G. Bonds, Henry Jackson, Wm. McLaren, L. A. James, Thos. E. Jones, S. C. Munson, H. N. Gunter and J. L. Bourland, Foreman.

PANAMINT.—A private New York letter states that Supt. Pheby, of the Inyo Con. Company's works at Panamint, left for this Coast on the 4th instant, "duly prepared for vigorous work." This will be good news for that camp. It is also stated that "Senator Jones is going to look after mail facilities. We shall try for a route from Mohave direct and to Darwin."

TO BUILD A PARSONAGE.—Rev. F. M. Willis goes to Bishop the coming week to assist in building a parsonage at that place for a dwelling place for himself and family. In about three weeks' time he hopes to have it in habitable condition, and will then move into it. Unoccupied houses are not to be found at Bishop these days, and the construction of new ones goes on rapidly.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—The Hon. Board of Education meets in regular session on the third Wednesday of next month for the examination of candidates. A special meeting on the day preceding will probably be called for the purpose of reorganization, and other preliminary business.

WEATHER.—On Thursday it blew "great guns" by spurts in this locality. A shanty or two was blown down, and standing corn was almost entirely stripped of leaves and otherwise banged about. During the two nights since, ice a quarter of an inch thick was formed.

RESIGNED.—Rev. L. Reynolds has tendered his resignation of his charge of the Baptist church at Bishop Creek, The church have the matter under advisement, to be acted upon at the next regular church meeting, which will occur on the 5th of November next.

APPLES.—Mrs. Thos. May at this place has a large quantity of superior winter-apples which she is offering for sale at closing out figures. Now is your chance to lay in a supply.

REX MONTIS.—Supt. Holt has the Rex Montis mill repaired up to perfect order again, and was to start up on the 12th. A run will be made on a large amount of old tailings.

A CHANGE.—John Eddy has purchased the store of Waterman & O'Brion, at Darwin, and is in receipt of a very large stock of goods.

BISHOP.—The mining interests of Bishop Creek continue on the up-grade. The Poleta and Red Cloud are considered a fixed fact and several of the prospects on the hill are looking well. The Mountain Chief and the Valley Queen have an arastra at work.; have fifty tons of good ore on the dump, winter quarters up and have settled down for a Winters work, with a fine prospect of coming out with a good mine.

THE KEYNOT.—Various rumors have been afloat during the week relative to the proposed sale of the Keynot mine, at Beveridge, by the Mexican owners, but so far it has not taken place. It is thought by those best informed that the property will change hands during the coming week.

IN GENERAL.

Suits against the Emma Mining Company in Utah have been compromised, and the working of the mines will probably be resumed. The Emma mine, through certain swindling transactions, became one of the most notorious. English parties lost large sums of money in it, and now that it is in the hands of a new company, if any richness should be discovered there would be a new howl.

Ike Stockton was a notorious bully and leader of a greatly dreaded gang which operated in Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona. A few days since he offered resistance to Sheriff Watkins at Durango, and the Sheriff proved to be the right kind of a man. Stockton only lived two days after the bullet of Watkins' pistol pierced a vital part. The gang will now, undoubtedly, be broken up for want of a leader.

On Saturday last a lady of San Jose, taking a drive, found a number of watermelons in the road partly split. Supposing they had been dropped by a pedlar, she took them home, fed to the chickens, and 300 died. The melons were poisoned.

Four men have been arrested at Wheatland for passing counterfeit money. Have been operating extensively in that section. They will be sent to San Francisco and turned over to the Government authorities.

The County Commissioners of Eureka county, Nev., have reduced the taxes on the Eureka & Palisade Railroad from $5,500 per mile to $5,000. The assessment of the Central Pacific was allowed to remain as the assessor had taxed it, at $9,000 per mile.

President Villard says that the Northern Pacific will be finished next year, and that $20,000,000 will complete it. The bonded debt will be $40,000,000, against $145,000,000 of the Central Pacific and Union.

W. H. Kraurer, better known as "Waterloo," died at the Nevada county hospital on Thursday. He was 84 years of age, and was in the battle of Waterloo under the Great Napoleon.

On the 30th ult., at Agricultural Park, Sacramento, P. S. Courtwright was instantly killed, and Nelson Eldred seriously injured by being thrown from their buggy by their runaway team.

The excess of the exports of merchandise for the year ending August 1st, was $167,000,000; excess of imports of gold and silver, $79,000,000; value of exports, $895,000,000, imports, $693,000,000.

Fletcher M. Harper, of Harper Bros., New York, died on the 3d inst.

THE Chinese people believe that the falling of any shadow over an ancestor's grave is an insult offered to that ancestor and, strange as it may seem, this belief is likely to preserve the Empire from a nuisance it will take us many years yet to get rid of. The dead of a large territory not being collected in any particular spot, but every family having its own graveyard, the telegraph companies who have received charters to construct lines find it very difficult to place their poles where they will not cast a shadow over somebody's grandfather or mother-in-law. At first, ignorant of the belief of the people on the subject, they undertook to put up their poles along the highway without regard to graveyards. Since then they have learned better, for wherever the Chinamen found a black streak across any grave, he did not wait for the officials to come along and right the matter, he simply proceeded to lay the poles low regardless of consequences. This sort of thing grew rather monotonous for the telegraph people, and now they bury their wires below the surface. China will therefore have the first complete underground telegraph system of the world.—Graphic.

The Bombardment of San Francisco.

The Argonaut of last Saturday contained a well written and amusing sketch of the supposed bombardment of San Francisco by a pirate iron-clad which enters the harbor under cover of a friendly flag, proceeds to take a position where it is sheltered from the fire of the forts, and then pitches shells over the city, preliminary to a demand for a modest ransom of ten millions of dollars in gold coin. The sketch is no doubt intended to call attention to the really defenseless condition of San Francisco, and it must be admitted by all who are familiar with the facts that it would be perfectly easy for any powerful ironclad which could get into such a position, to hold the city to ransom. But it seems to us the author of the sketch referred to somewhat weakened the force of his moral by implying the necessity of entering San Francisco harbor in order to plunder the city. As a matter of fact no such dangerous proceeding would be called for. The pirate ironclad could lay outside the Heads, far out of reach of the shot of any batteries around the harbor, and drop shells into and below Montgomery street. This constitutes the real weakness of the place. An enemy is not required to pass the forts at all. He could lay in the open sea, five miles out, and hold the city to ransom, and meanwhile the guns of Alcatraz and Fort Point and the other batteries would be as useless as though they had been Quakers. It may be doubted whether there is any city in the world, of corresponding wealth, so completely defenseless as San Francisco. One ironclad, like the Huascar, could take or destroy it at any time. And though peace prevails at this moment, and no entangling wars seem probable, it is by no means likely that so rich a prize will always escape, nor would ten millions satisfy the cupidity of those lucky enough to hold the destiny of the Queen of the Pacific in their hands. In fact such a catastrophe would probably cost the place more than the new City Hall.—Record-Union.

The U. S. Senate.

A Washington dispatch of the 10th says: The galleries of the Senate Chamber were crowded to-day on the occasion of the special session of the Senate. The Senate was called to order by Senator Harrison.

Pendleton offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That Thomas F. Bayard is hereby chosen President pro tem. of the Senate.

Edmunds said that, of course, he did not object to the present consideration of the resolution, but he thought that under existing circumstances it was his duty to offer the credentials of Senators elect, which he thereupon did. The credentials having been read, Edmunds moved that the oath of office be administered to those gentlemen by Senator Anthony, Senior Senator.

Pendleton moved to lay the resolution on the table. Carried—yeas 36, noes 34. David Davis, of Illinois, voted with the Republicans in the negative.

Bayard was then installed as President of the Senate, for which he returned thanks and invoked the consideration and co-operation of the Senators. He referred to the sad circumstances which caused the call of the Senate, and said the grief which penetrates every household in the land should soften party asperities in the Senate and lead to harmonious action.

The action of David Davis, in voting with the Republicans, is the topic of much discussion. His vote would give the Republicans a majority after the three Senators-elect shall have been sworn in, and the Republican Senators have said they were in favor of using their advantage to elect a President pro tem. as soon as their Senators were admitted.

A Railroad that is to be Pushed to Completion.

A meeting of the Nevada Directors of the Salt Lake & Western Railroad was held in Carson on Wednesday. Present—F. W. Dunn, A. A. Curtis, Z. T. Sprigg, John H. Kinkead and Jaspar Babcock. The following officers were selected: S. H. H. Clark of Omaha, President; F. W. Dunn of Battle Mountain, Vice-President; W. W. Riter of Salt Lake City, General Superintendent; S. F. Gannett of Omaha, Secretary and Treasurer; R. A. Doremus, Chief Engineer. The Carson Appeal adds: "The road starts from Lehi, Utah, where the work of laying rails has commenced. From the starting point the road will run westerly to the Nevada State Line; thence through Nevada by way of the 38th parallel, connecting at Santa Cruz, California., with the Ocean Shore Railroad for San Francisco. The road, in the significant language of the times, means business. It is one of the Jay Gould system of western railroads, and what is of particular importance to the people of Nevada, it is to be built and as quickly as possible. Among its directors—that is, the non-residents of the State are Gould, Dillon and Ames. The S. L. and W. R. R. will connect with the W. P. R. R. by the road now running from Ogden through Salt Lake to Lehi, will of course be a broad gauge, and will leave our people independent of the C. P. R. R. It is expected that the new road will have connections in Southern Nevada with the Atchison-Topeka, the Atchison and Pacific and the Texas Pacific railroads.—Eureka Sentinel.

CHIEF Engineer Osgood of the California Southern Railroad, says that the 116 miles of road, beginning at San Diego, would be completed by the 1st of January next.

LARGE forces of white men are making the dirt fly at the North Bloomfield, Milton and the Sweetwater Manzanita mines, and the Excelsior Company's claims at Smartsville are in full blast. The Blue Tent, Hirchman & Co., and Manzanita, in this township, are being fitted up, and water will be turned on as soon as the Winter storms set in. It is the working miners, rendered desperate by the law's delays that have brought privation to themselves and families, who have taken the matter into their own hands, and propose to force the issue. They fully appreciate what they are doing, and have no wish to evade the issue. The best citizens of the mountain portion of the State approve their decision. No one can be found to condemn, even by inuendo, the action of the miners. The sentiment is all one way.—Nevada Transcript, Oct. 6.

WE find the following in an exchange: Mammoth city with the country about had three thousand inhabitants in July, 1879. It now has not ten. The buildings have been burned or carried away to Bishop Creek, where there are some ranches. The mines proved to be a pocket, which played out. The big mill, with the Mammoth mine, sold at Sheriff's sale for $26,000. It cost $500,000. The town has an altitude of 11,000 feet, and lies fifty miles southwest of Bodie, amidst grand scenery.

A SPECIAL from the end of Texas Pacific Railway track says the road is progressing at the rate of twelve miles a week, and that El Paso will be reached before 1882. On January 1, 1882, through passenger trains will be put on between St. Louis and San Francisco, and all points in Oregon and California.

Remarkable Marksmanship.

A large audience, composed partly of naval officers and other dignitaries, was present last evening at Platt's Hall to witness the result of an assiduous training of an Indian boy, Otto, by the well known Capt. McDonald, in the "art of arms," a fancy drill consisting of many grotesque and varied movements and skillful marksmanship. After a display of some dissolving views from a stereopticon, the boy Otto was introduced with his rifles. His first shot was at a small taper, at a distance of fifteen feet, which was snuffed in the neatest manner. At the next shot he came to the front, laid his rifle six feet from where he was standing, turned a somersault and, picking up his rifle, cut the string of a suspended figure in the rear. The third and most remarkable shot of the evening was the following: A pistol barrel was placed in a small steel frame, directly behind which was placed a razor, and on each side of the edge was suspended two glass balls. The boy was then brought to the front, and after taking his position, was completely blindfolded. Turning then to the object, he carefully raised his rifle, and after a moments' hesitation, fired and accomplished the feat of sending the ball into the pistol barrel, splitting it upon the razor's edge and breaking both balls. An idea can be formed of the boy's wonderful gift when it is stated that this shot is done by the power of location, he being able to aim with deadly precision simply by taking a position directly in front of the object and securing his aim by a certain degree of pressure of the rifle stock against his shoulder and right cheek. A loaded pistol was then placed at a right angle from the marksman, and in front of it three suspended balls. At the word he picked his rifle up, and whirling around, struck the trigger of the pistol, discharging it and breaking the balls. This feat was followed by the breaking of eight balls secured by a perpendicular board. Another exhibition of his skill was his carom shots, the boy breaking balls suspended in all positions behind Capt. McDonald's back. He next executed the feat of breaking thirty balls swinging in all directions in six shots, and in the remarkable time of ten seconds. His next was the shooting of glass balls thrown into the air without aim, as a card was fastened on the point of his rifle. His average in this shooting is 98 per cent. With equal ease he succeeded in breaking two balls with one shot. His last last feat was done with remarkable speed and effectiveness, and consisted in breaking about fifteen balls in rapid succession with the use of his right arm, his left being secured at his side. During the shooting the boy missed a few of the less important shots, but this defect was owing in a great measure to the miserable lighting of the stage. The San Francisco Cadets gave a short exhibition of their fancy drill, which was very well executed, especially the "loading and firing," "bayonet exercise" and "fix and unfix bayonets."—Ex.

The Assassin's Cowardly Fears—Line of Defense.

A New York Herald Washington special says: Guiteau, whose cell overlooks the eastern branch of the Potomac, is now being treated for malaria, and quinine is given in large doses. He reluctantly takes powders, fearing that some subtle poison may be incorporated with the medicine and his life taken by a hidden drug. He is too anxious to live, so the guards say, to attempt his own life, neither does he want to die by the act of a physician any more than by the act of a hangman. He has nervously put aside several of the powders prescribed, and said he would take them if he felt like it. The jail guards say he is the most consummate coward that ever lived. He fears his own shadow, and when taken to the bath room, a short distance from his cell, he insists on the guard covering him, so that if there is among the soldiers on duty in the rotunda another Sergt. Mason he will have to send a bullet through his escort to reach him. He is strongly confident that his brother-in-law's defence will acquit him. His line of defence will be mainly in offering evidence to show that he comes from a family in which heriditary insanity has been conspicuous for years. Who will be associated with Scoville is not known, but it is feared by the Government that some interested lawyers will be accepted who will present all kinds of questions for consideration of the Court, and in this way embarrass the prosecution, compelling the consideration of the law of jurisdiction and of the right to practice on the part of the President's surgeons, and several other important points, consuming time and putting the Government to great expense in summoning witnesses from abroad.

If the hero of the following story was not Jay Gould himself, there is a mighty promising financier of that type wasting his ability somewhere in an uncongenial occupation. It is told of a boy who whispered to a circus agent: "Yes, I'll pay for my ticket, but I want you to let me crawl under the tent." The boy having been allowed to crawl under, unmolested by the vigilant guards, the agent questioned him as to his reasons for entering in such an inconvenient manner. "Well, you see," he replied, "I had seven dollars in bets with other boys that I'd get in that way, and I reckon I'm about six dollars and a half ahead."

In the case of J. H. Clementshaw, who was convicted of perjury in swearing that the late Charles de Young fired the first shot at young Kalloch, and whose case was taken up to the Supreme Court on a writ on the aquittal of Kalloch, the Superior Court, October 8, confirmed the judgment of the lower Court.

The best quality of mucilage is made by dissolving clear glue in equal parts of water and strong vinegar, and adding one-fourth of an equal volume of alcohol and a small quantity of a solution of alum in water.

The Chicago Times Philadelphia special says: The true inwardness of the "Fenian dynamite Plot" has come to light through two months' labor of the secret service agents, of the United States. The result will be the ostracism of O'Donovan Rossa, of New York, Patrick Crow of Peoria and Peter H. Foye of Philadelphia, from the respectable Irish Nationalist Company. This entire affair was merely a plot to cheat the English Government out of a large sum of money. It is literally true as has been frequently stated that the scheme was a plot of these Irishmen to make a little money. Foye, a saloon keeper of Philadelphia, caused the manufacture of the infernal machines and turned them over to O'Donovan Rossa. Foye then began negotiations with the British Consulate of New York and received $10,000 for information leading to the discovery on the docks at Liverpool. He some weeks ago fled from the United States detectives at Philadelphia; no one knows his whereabouts.

The scalping business is still flourishing in Arizona. It is sad to hear of so many brave pioneers being shot down by the wretched savages that infest that region; but out of the great wrong a great adaantage is preparing to spring up. It would seem that the purpose of the troops is to whip them into submission, and if this cannot be done until the whole tribe is exterminated so much the better for the country, and so much the better for the Apache, too, who for two centuries has resisted every advance made by civilized men to reclaim him from his condition of savagery.—Los Angeles Express.

PROBATE NOTICE.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE State of California, in and for the County of Inyo. In the matter of the estate of John Ryar Westervelt, deceased. Order to Show Cause Why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should not be Made.

It appearing to the Judge of said Superior Court, by the petition this day presented and filed by James Jones and S. P. Moffat, the Executors of the Estate of John R. Westervelt, deceased, praying for an order of sale of real estate; that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate, to pay the debts outstanding against the deceased and the debts, expenses and charges of administration.

It is therefore ordered by the Judge of said Court, that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Superior Court on MONDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Court Room of said Superior Court, at the Court House, in the town of Independence, in the County of Inyo, to show cause why an order should not be granted to said Executors to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of this order be published at least four successive weeks in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated September 19, 1881.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Superior Judge.

OFFICE OF THE COUNTY CLERK, County of Inyo.

I, John Crough, County Clerk of the County of Inyo, State of California, and ex-officio Clerk of the Superior Court in and for said County, do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true, full and correct copy of an order duly made and entered upon the minutes of said Superior Court.

WITNESS, my hand and the seal of said Superior Court, this Nineteenth day of September, A. D. 1881.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE County of Inyo, State of California.

In the Matter of John P. Brown, an Insolvent Debtor.

John P. Brown, having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said John P. Brown is hereby declared to be insolvent. The Sheriff of Inyo County is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said John P. Brown, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution, and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of account and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him, or to any person, firm or corporation, or association for his use. The said debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered. It is further ordered that all the creditors of said debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court Room of said Court, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, on the TWENTY-SEVENTH day of OCTOBER, 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said debtor.

It is further ordered that this order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper of general circulation published at Independence, in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors. And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated September 20, 1881.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Judge of the Superior Court.

Capping the Climax.

When the British Lion really sets out to reverse Æsop, and masquerade in the epidermis of a donkey, it must be admitted that the disguise is complete. Of this proposition the present mining speculations in the London market offer many illustrations; but nothing can come under our notice in that line to compare with the prospectus of the Souback and Catir Alin Mining Company (Limited), which occupied, in the advertising columns of the London Mining Journal of July 2d, a considerable space.

At the head of the page, the public is informed that a "descriptive account of the gold in this district will be found in the second chapter of Genesis, 11th and 12th verses;" also, that "a map will be found, showing the district, in an edition of the Bible, published at 3s. 6d., by Henry Frowde, 7 Paternoster Row, London."

The scriptural account here cited stops with the simple declaration that "the gold of that land is good"—a piece of information to which the carnal mind adds instinctively, "what there is of it!" and would fain have on this latter point an inspired report. On this head, however, Scripture is silent; is, indeed, rather unpleasantly vague as to the locality of the land in question, which it defines by its situation relative to the Garden of Eden — a garden not now so well known as less reputable resorts.

But Mr. Swan, "a mining engineer of some repute at Constantinople," has supplemented Scripture with a report in which he declares that average samples from the principal gold-bearing vein yielded £1,000 in gold and silver per ton; that the present gallery can produce ten tons per annum, hence, by working five galleries, 50 tons, worth £50,000, could be obtained; that the cost would not be over £50 per ton, but, to be on the safe side, setting it at £100 per ton, the annual profit would be £45,000.

There is a doubt whether, under its concession, which refers to silver and lead, the company is entitled to this remarkable gold mine, which can produce 10 whole tons per year from each gallery; but the directors promise, if they havn't got this right now, to get it right away. Concerning the silver-lead mines on the property, the prospectus says little. We gather that, in two months, 100 tons of silver-lead ore were produced, without working "into the solid lode;" that there are eight large lodes, which, when opened, will doubtless be very productive; and that the property comprises mining rights on 10,000 acres.

The scheme involves 200,000 shares of stock (par value £1 per share), 199,993 shares of which, together with £15,000 pounds in cash, go to the owners of the property. The money required for purchase and development is provided for by the issue of "bonus bonds," to the amount of £60,000, bearing interest at 8 per cent, and payable in ten years with 50 per cent bonus, or £15 for each £10 bond. The holder of a bond has the option after three years of requiring the payment of the principal, in which case he sacrifices the cash bonus. But a stock bonus of £1 share for each £10 bond is given at the time the bond is taken; and an option is also given to the bondholder, for two months after allotment, of buying at par ten £1 shares for each £10 bond.

There is a great array of respectable Turkish and British names as directors, bankers, brokers, auditors, solicitors, etc.; and we have been informed on good authority that the whole amount of £60,000 "bonus bonds" was immediately subscribed.

Knowing nothing about this enterprise beyond the statements of its prospectus, we feel justified in saying that it caps the climax of audacity. To employ Moses as a mining expert, and locate claims in the neighborhood of Paradise, is certainly original—not less so, however, than to calculate the value of a vein which can produce but ten tons per annum from each gallery. It looks a little as if some ancient company, acting on Moses' report, had got pretty much all the "good" gold to which he had certified, and has left poor picking for moderns. The Souback and Catir Alin Mining Company (Limited) may have a valuable property; in that case, it is unfortunrte that the prospectus contains so much nonsense.

In the same number of the London Mining Journal appears the prospectus of the Anglo-African Diamond Mining Company (Limited), which buys 111 leases of demanteferous ground for the modest sum of £606,116, of which £300,000 is payable in cash, and the rest in stock. These leases require the annual payment of £18 as rental, or £1998 in all. They average 900 square feet each, so that the total area of ground is some 99,900 square feet, or 2.29 acres.

There are a number of provisions somewhat modifying the terms of purchase; but the above fairly represents the basis on which this company begins, with £650,000 of capital stock, which is sold at par. Having no experience in this country with real diamond mines, we cannot speak positively concerning their value; but we confess that we did not know that the chances of profit from a little over 2¼ acres were worth $3,000,000 down, besides a rent of $10,000 a year.

The American market is not unaccustomed to nominally excessive capitalization of mines; but in such cases, the stock is usually sold far below par. We do not think the schemes which from time to time are successfully floated in London couldbe matched for extravagance among our people.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

Did You Ever?

San Francsco Exchange: Did you ever see a red-bearded man who was not vain? Did you ever know a tenor that had notto be asked twice to sing? Did you ever cross on the Oakland Ferry without seeing one corner occupied by a self-absorbed pair? Did you ever know two men to reply to the mutual greeting, "How are yeh?" Did you ever know a man to make an appointment for 8 o'clock in the evening at 10 o'clock in the morning without looking at his watch? Did you ever know a short-haired woman who had not "lost it all in a fever?" Did you ever see aman slip in the street without looking back to see what his foot had slipped upon? Did you ever know a social slush-writer begin his record without saying that it had been a dull week and then spin out three columns of dulness? Did you ever know a doctor whose prognosis would not have been correct had his diagnosis been right in the first place?

THE COMING GLORY OF SCIENCE.—Edward Atkinson indulges in a vision to this effect: If we can send thought and light over a wire; and if we can attach to the same post another wire by which to transmit electric power, so that every farmer can keep a small thunder-storm on tap in his barn to cut his fodder, milk his cows, and churn his butter, split his kindling-wood, and do all the heavy work and choring about the house; in short, if we are to accomplish here what is now being done in France, that is, to operate an electric machine by a small water power on the farm, and run the plows, harrows, harvesters and threshers by electricity—if these things begin to be apparent, that are so bewildering that one gets considerably mixed up in attempting to describe them, and is not quite sure what relation his parts of speech bear to each other—why, then, perhaps the millenium of the economist is nearer at hand than it has been supposed to be, "the time when intelligence and integrity and a very moderate amount of labor will insure so good a substance that it will not pay to be rich."

A COUPLE of young ladies—we won't say where they live — were rudely awakened one night recently, by a wicked mouse that had invaded their couch. A general scramble to the floor ensued, as soon as the presence of the intruder became known. A light was lit, and a broom was brought into requisition, to poke the enemy out from under the bed, where he had taken up a position in a corner. At the first jab of the broom the mouse lost his reason, together with all sense of propriety, and making a flank movement, darted into the snowy folds of—whatever it is that ladies wear. The girl went wild, and throwing her lovely length upon the floor, began rolling over and over at the rate of 275 revolutions per minute, and giving two screams to every roll. The alarmed family rushed to the scene, and finally lassoed her with a woolen comforter. She had conquered the enemy, for the latter was smashed and spread out till he looked like a mustard plaster. We trust the young lady will be merciful to the little girl whose artless innocence we are indebted for this sad narrative.

THE Apache war in Arizona appears to be carried on somewhat unfortunately. A Tucson dispatch says the net results so far are two dead Indians, who were shot by a civilian, and the capture of a lttle glrl. There is no doubt but that men and officers are full of fight, ready and willing to endure hardships and encounter danger in pursuit of their treacherous foes, but somehow their efforts do not appear to be well directed. In this condition of affairs, one's thoughts naturally revert to Gen. Crook, who, with far less advantages than at present enjoyed by the troops, forced the murderous savages to an unconditional surrender. If the War Department wished to put the right man in the right place, Gen. Crook would forthwith be assigned to the command of the campaign in Arizona and New Mexico.

An Iron Mountain.

About a mile north of Durango is a wonderful mountain of solid iron or called the Cerro del Mercado. The ore is said to be entirely free from phosphor and sulphur, as to assay from fifty to seventy-five per cent of pure iron. That part of the mountain above the ground measures 5,250 feet broad and 705 feet high. The iron produced is so soft that it bends and twists like wax, and will bear comparison with the best Norway. An English engineer has made the somewhat astonishing conclusion that, at the rate of 1,000,000 tons a year, it would take 300 years to level the hill to the grovnd.

The great Humboldt, who, by the way, never came as far as Durango, was inclined to believe that the deposit was an ærolite, similar to that of Racatecas, and reported it so; but he was very much mistaken, as further investigations proved.

Frederick Weidner, an eminent German scientist, who carefully examined the mountain during six months in 1851, attributes, with right, its apparition to a tremendous volcanic eruption. It has been ascertained that the same ore extends under the plain of Durango, where it interrupted the completion of an artesian well at a depth of 300 feet, a mile and a half from the foot of the Cerro.

This is, without doubt, the most marvelous iron deposit in the world, and Mr. Rudolph Gieberman, the eminent chemist of the expedition, will on his return fairly astonish the oldest iron men in Missouri with facts and statements hitherto undreamed of.

The mountains near Durango are also full of excellent tin ore. What a wonderful, I may say providential, coincidence! Inexhaustible quantities of the softest iron on the continent in close proximity to inexhaustible fields of tin.

A Seventh Ward young man, who is pretty spry on general principles, proposed for the hand of a beautiful girl last Sunday night, and as she hesitated about replying, he said, "I await your answer with baited breath."

The girl, who is a good deal of a humorist in her way, said, "Well, Sir, you will have to bait your breath with something besides high wines and Limburg cheese to catch your humble servant. Good evening."

The young man went out of that house with a bug in his ear, and he vows that he will never look upon the cheese when it giveth its odor on the plate again.

A YOUNG married lady of Albany died Monday in the Adirondacks under circumstances of the most singular nature. Before going out driving Saturday she pricked with a brass pin a cold sore on her upper lip and rubbed it with camphor. Before she reached her hotel her lip commenced to swell, and before night her face had swollen to an abnormal size. Her husband was telegraphed for and arrived before the unfortunate lady died, but she could not speak to him, such was the condition of her face. Erisipelas had set in of the most violent type and death resulted within 48 hours. The body was brought to Albany by the sorrowing husband, and interred.

IT is stated that the jockey who rode Keene's horse Foxhall the other day in the Cesarewitch received $10,000 for winning the race. Archer, the jockey who rode Iroquois, probably made as much out of the Derby success. In these days of international contests and Titanic betting, jockeying ought to be a very profitable business. It has been said that $2,500,000 were wagered on Foxhall in one way and another.

GOOD BYE.

With this issue my connection with THE INYO INDEPENDENT ceases. This connection began with the very first number of the paper, now nearly twelve years ago, and from that day to this has remained unbroken. No one but might grow pathetic in a retrospective glance back through such a long period of his life, more especially in the memories of its disappointed hopes, trials and tribulations. But, remembering that such are common to all, differing only in kind, I shall not now indulge in that direction or the opposite.

It is customary, and proper, of course, for retiring editors to admit they may have committed errors in the performance of their trying and peculiar duties, but if so that they were errors of the head and not of the heart. I except to this rule this much: So far as I have had time yet to remember, my errors of commission and of omission, especially the latter, were of the heart and not the head—the latter was all right, but under control of the former, hence there are no hopes of reform, therefore no apologies due, or any to demand. But I have many warm thanks to offer to many warm friends for actual as well as tendered acts of kindness toward myself and mine, as likewise for their liberal support of the journal which I, in part, have so long represented.

THE INDEPENDENT now passes into hands quite as familiar with its every type and manifold labors from the beginning as my own. No introduction is needed. As he has heretofore nevertiringly labored to uphold the interests and promote the welfare of the people with whom and the section in which his lot is cast, so rest assured, will he, James E. Parker, continue to do to the end. As this paper has stood by you and your interests in the past, so will it with renewed energy continue to do hereafter. Knowing this, I say THE INYO INDEPENDENT, in its present hands, is worthy all the support this country can afford any such institution, and a better one than it has ever received. In the sincere wish for far greater prosperity for the country, its people and its paper, and with a final good bye to newspaper responsibilities, I remain, very truly yours,

P. A. CHALFANT.

THE magnificent mineral resources of this country will never be fully appreciated, and the value of its mining industry never really understood until some great wave of financial disaster threatens the foundation of our national prosperity. Then to find a thousand mines ready to pour out treasure like water, and a mineral territory large enough to meet the world's demand for a substantial currency, will turn aside the force of the blow so that if our people are wise in time we may laugh when calamity threatens us with destruction.

JUSTICE cannot be said to have a game leg in Arkansas. The train robbers on the Iron Mountain Railroad were captured six days after committing their crime, and they have been convicted at a special term ten days after they were arrested. Each was sentenced to seventy years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, the penalties being cumulative, as the statutory limit for robbery was fourteen years. Judge Lynch could not have much more prompt or merciless. Hanging seems a blessed privilege when contrasted with seventy years of prison life.

THE danger of will-making was shown recently in the Surrogate's Court of New York, when a will written in pencil was thrown out by the Surrogate. Next to accumulating wealth, the most difficult thing to do is to have it reach those we wish should have it after we are dead. It really seems as though it would be more comfortable to die poor, for there would then be the deathbed consolation of knowing that there would be no will to contest. This is what makes editors so proverbially happy.

SECRETARY LINCOLN, of the War Department, has taken a very radical stand upon the tobacco question. He has issued an order prohibiting the use of tobacco in any form by the students at West Point. This is hard on the students. It will leave yet one accomplishment to be attained in after years' with all the pains and penalties that it entails.

THE New York Express asserts that Tilden's object is to start a new school of Democracy with himself at the head. Mr. Tilden says it is time that the old party took a new departure and threw overboard all the old-timers.

TECHNICALITY is the shield behind which criminals hide themselves.

THE LAST FEATHER.

It seems to be quite a general belief, as well as fear, that the assassin, Guiteau, will escape capital punishment for his wanton crime. Should this prove to be the case, even though he should be shown to have been a raving maniac, it would, in a moral sense, prove a very great calamity. It would be the last feather needed to break the camel's back: i. e. to break down the little remaining respect yet held by most people for the law and courts in general, as administered in high crimes. Everybody in the world almost. knows that this thing known as Guiteau murdered the President; everybody in the world knows that it was a cool, deliberate and unprovoked murder; still more positively does everybody know and feel that it was a murder deserving capital punishment even though the murdered man had been but of the horde that daily throng the streets, and everyone just as well knows that the crime became all the more great and more incalculably aggravated in its nature and need for the highest punishment because the murdered man was not of the common horde. Nor is there, outside of a court of law, an intelligent person in the world, knowing the facts, but feels that as this Guiteau was sane enough to plan long beforehand and to committ such a murder he, of all persons in the world is abundantly sane enough to be hung, and should be, law or no law.

Now, in the face of the notorious facts in this case, let any jury acquit this man on either of the special pleas that are to be set up to save his worthless neck; let the Court in the District of Columbia stand on the excesssive niceties and absurd technicalities of the law, declare its want of jurisdiction in the case, and then let the same thing be done in a New Jersey Court, whereby it is made to appear that he committed no murder punishable by law — let either of these things happen and the murderer thereby escape legal punishment, what then? We answer that there is hardly a person in the United States but would be confirmed in his present suspicion that "law" is a fraud, and undeserving even a semblance of respect. That "law" as now handicapped with so many brazen, outrageous technicalities all in the interest of law breakers, should, courts, and all, be utterly upset and rebuilt on common sense foundation. That, in a moral sense and feeling is the issue involved in the outcome of the trial of this thing, Guiteau. His is a case wherein hair-splitting and pettifogging pleas must not be permitted io enter, or a very unlawful spirit will be aroused everywhere.

WITH David Davis in the Chair as the President of the Senate, there are on one side of him 37 Democrrts, on the other 38 Republicans, including Mahone. The President pro tem. has the right to vote on every question that comes up. When his name is reached on the roll he is to answer, whether he is in his seat on the floor, or in the Chair. It follows when he votes with the Democrats there is a tie—when he votes with the Republicans the proposition is carried. He can assist the Democrats only negatively. By voting with them he can prevent something from being done. He can defeat a measure or destroy a confirmation. But the assistance he can lend to the Republicans is totally different. It is affirmative. He can pass the bill or appointment. The peculiarity of his position is that he cannot pass a Democratic bill or confirm an appointee acceptable only to the Democrats, but he can do both for the Republicans. In the Democratic view he takes on the character of the Roman Tribune. His "I forbid" will be as potent as the modest official who used to sit just inside the door of the Roman Senate. But in the Republican view he is a Senate practically to himself. He can pass Republican measures. There never was in the history of the Govern- such antagonistic functions combined in a single individual. He is at once both Senate and Tribune.

IF there is any moral difference between the Arkansas train robbers and their captors it would seem to be in favor of the robbers. The captors found upon the persons of their prisoners $9,000 which belonged to the Iron Mountain Railroad Company and was the principal part of the plunder of the train. This they divided among themselves, agreeing with the robbers to pay their families one hundred dollars a year and try to get them pardoned if they would say nothing about the operation. One of the officers was troubled with a conscience, and divulged the secret. The robbers was sentenced to seventy years imprisonment. It remains to be seen what will be done with the officers who attempted to enjoy the fruits of the crime without taking the risks. However Arkansas law may define their offence, they are meaner criminals than the men they caught and handed over to justice.

ON the 1st of January a through passenger train will be run between St. Louis and San Francisco and Oregon

THE New York Tribune's Washington special says: The President is so reserved that the silent days of Grant were garrulous compared to these. Nobody knows anything about the Cabinet. Windom's successor will probably be named Friday. It seems to be a pretty well settled fact that there is to be a new First Assistant Postmaster-General, and Frank Hatton, of the Burlington Hawkeye, now Postmaster at Burlington, is believed to be the person selected. He is said to be a strong personal friend of Gen. Arthur, and has long been familiar with Post Office business. One very important vacancy exists, Commissioner of Railroad accounts, and the President's selection of that officer will be watched with great Interest. Garfield once said, when upon the Ways and Means Committee, he could have winked himself into millions. The Commissioner of Railroad Accounts has constant opportunity to wink himself into millions without leaving any record, and without seeming in any way to interfere with his public trust. The law of Congress gives that official great power over all land grant roads. It is reported James Gilfillan will be offered Secretary Windom's portfolio. A better appointment could not be made. If there is an honest official connected with the Treasury department, Gilfillan is that man. Mr. Arthur could not possibly do as well if he searched the country over. One of the latest Cabinet speculations assigns the Trersury portfolio to Gov. Cornell. It is claimed ex-Governor Morgan's health is such as to prevent his acceptance of any such position.

MR. CHAS. F. BRUSH, the inventor of the Brush electric light, has recently returned from the Electric Exhibition in Paris. He says, in reply to a reporter's question, that the Siemens electric railway is a success, "and there is no apparant reason why the elevated trains in New York cannot be run by this or a similar system." He thinks the use of such a system for long distances will not be practicable until the storing of electricity has been accomplished, but he admits that M. Faure's experiments in such storage have opened "a wide field which will soon revolutionize every branch of electricity." A prediction has recently been made that the steam engine must soon be relegated to the museum as a relic of the past, and such a prediction does not appear so absurd upon second thought, when it is recollected that the most celebrated electricians are among the foremost to declare their faith in the industrial revolution to be effected by electricity. Mr. Brush speaks of the flowers produced in a greenhouse illuminated by the electric light as marvellous, but the greatest wonder of electricity will be its general substitution for steam, an achievement which he predicts.

THE Cabinet officers appear to be anxious to go. They are represented as holding frequent interviews with the President for no other purpose than to hasten the period of their relief from official duties. Secretary Blaine is extremely anxious to give his attention to his private business; Secretary Windom wants to help the Minnesota Legislature to elect a Senator, and Mr. Veagh is enamoured of law practice in Philadelphia. It is a little singular that the members of the Cabinet whom the President is most desirous to get rid of are the most anxious to go.

THE N. Y. Evening Post contains notice of the closing of the Garfield Fund on the 17th. The Evening Mail says the fund now amounts to $338,264 45. The United States Trust Company holds $225,000 in United States 4 per cent. bonds, and the uninvested balance in cash as trustee for the gift of the American people. Not a cent has been taken from the fund for expenses incurred in raising it. On the 1st of this month a check for nearly $1,000 has also been sent to the late President's mother, covering gifts made up especially for her benefit.

THE fact that one-half the territory of the United States is mineral-bearing and the mining interest is rapidly assuming colossal proportions and is already of immense value and importance, demands recognition. The Government has for some time supported a Department of Agriculture and it is a question whether the industry of mining for the precious metals—iron, copper and lead—has not grown to be of sufficient worth to be entitled to the same care and assistance which is bestowed upon other and less important vocations.

BUTTE CREEK, Ill., possesses a case which attracts much attention in the medical world. Mrs. Nellie Graham a year ago had a tooth extracted. The operation was so severe that it caused a nervous shock of paralysis of the stomach, which has continued ever since. For a year no food has passed her lips. She has kept alive by enemata and nutritious baths. Her weight is reduced from 180 to 70 pounds.

THE Siamese Princes, before leaving Paris, bought 350 pianos for the harem of their august brother.

APPEAL

From the Garfield Monument Assoiation of the Pacific.

The Garfield Monument Association of the Pacific, is organized for the erection of a Monument to the memory of our loved President, at some point in the City of San Francisco to be hereafter designated.

The officers of the Association are:

President, His Honor Judge M. C. Blake [Mayor Elect.] Vice-President, Horace Davis; Vice-President, W. W. Montague; Treasurer, Moses Heller; Secretary, Col. A. W. Preston; Assistant Secretary, F. J. Murphy.

The form of the memorial to be erected has not been determined upon, but will depend somewhat upon the liberality of the citizens. The names of every donor will be published and will be carefully preserved, and certificates will be provided as soon as possible, to be issued to those who wish to keep a memento of their share in this good work.

We have been led to form this organization by the almost unanimous desire to do honor to the memory of our good President—a desire expressed by citizens of every age, from every section, from all parties, whose warm sympathies were shown by the solemn funeral procession, and the trappings of woe hung from every house in his honor.

The simplicity of his character, and the earnestness of his purpose, won for him the confidence of all who knew him in life; the terrible tragedy of his death drew the heart of the nation to him. The courage and fortitude with which he faced death, his sublime patience in his prolonged sufferings, endeared him to every American. His life was one of heroism and self sacrifice, and in his death the strifes of the nation are healed. It only remains for us to perpetuate his memory and his example in a lasting monument.

Committees of well-known citizens, whose names have been published by the press, have been appointed to canvass this city for subscriptions, and Wells, Fargo & Co. have generously offered the services of their agencies in the interior to receive and forward donations free of charge. The co-operation of our friends in all parts of the Pacific Coast is earnestly requested. Those who prefer to remit by mail can do so by addressing the Secretary, No. 421 California Street.

HORACE DAVIS,
Chairman Com. on Ways and Means.
San Francisco, Oct. 6th, 1881.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 12, 1881.

To Agents—Referring to the within circular, you will please receive and forward, free of charge, to Moses Heller, Treasurer, San Francisco, the donations of your citizens for the purpose mentioned.

A list of the donors should accompany remittances, which can be made as often as circumstances require.

JNO. J. VALENTINE,
Gen. Supt.

THE Louisville Courier-Journal publishes a letter from Prof. Klein, saying: "I have for several weeks past noticed a singular phenomenon in the heavens in the shape of a double comet, or two comets attended with nine smaller ones, all in a circle, closely resembling one of Saturn's rings. They all appear to be connected together as they move in the same orbit. The larger of the double will, at regular intervals, eclipse the smaller one, and the little ones are on such occasions lost sight of in the mist thus created. I have no doubt that this is the comet of 1845 46, supposed to have been destroyed, that now appears to us in this singular shape, attended with numerous sattellites, which by some of the wonderful processes of nature were undoubtedly thrown from its nucleus, but not without sufficient force to get beyond its attraction, and are therefore resting on the original ring like nucleus, which has been undoubtedly rent asunder by a great cometary eruption and gathered again in its present shape. This, too, I believe to be the comet of 1811, having a period of thirty-five years. Aside from this wonderful comet—or, rather, eleven comets there are five others wow visible."

THE most significant act of President Arthur's administration is his request for the first Assistant Postmaster-General's resignation. From the beginning of Garfield's administration to the 2d or July, Postmaster-Genetal James exerted all his influence to obtain the dismissal of Tyner, but up to July 1st it had been unsuccessful. On that day he told a near friend that until Tyner was removed there would be little hope of success in the Star Route prosecutions. In his efforts to remove Tyner the Postmaster-General had the warm support of Attorney-General McVeagh, but had to combat the lukewarmness of all the other Cabinet officers in addition to the pronounced opposition of Secretary Blaine. It is safe to say upon this question that the Cabinet of President Garfield was very nearly wrecked. On the day before the shooting of the President, Mr. James was encouraged to believe that Tyner would be removed, and decided to be one of the excursion party, which was to leave the Baltimore and Potomac depot on Saturday, July 2d, mainly for the purpose of encouraging it by his presence and influence. Guiteau's shot prevented any action, and it is still doubtful which of the influences would have proved victorious.

THE President sent among the nominations to the Senate the name of Henry Coy, of California, to be Pension Agent at San Francisco.

The James Single-track.

The trial of the James Single-Track Railway—one believed to be thorough and conclusive—was made at Hanford, according to announcement on the 5th inst. A little more than half a mile of track only was prepared instead of a mile, as was given out. This was because, after part of it was laid, it was found that the single timbers of the rail would not keep in place. A new plan was therefore adopted. The rails was constructed of 2x6 stuff, four pieces being placed on edge and spiked together, breaking joints. They were placed 2 inches apart, giving a bearing surface, for the car wheels, of sixteen inches, with sufficient space for the flanges. The appearance of the locomotive was as fine as paint and polish could make it. A temporary passenger car 27 feet by 6 feet 10 inches, with side and central seats and roofed with canvas, was attached. An engine house had been built. The car and locomotive balanced on their central wheels, the center of gravity close to the track, appeared even less liable to be overturned than those of the broad gauge. They conveyed the idea of perfect solidity and safety. In the morning a preliminary trip was made, the car and engine crowded with about a hundred people. The regular trials were commenced at 3 P. M., the car being filled with people from San Francisco, Antioch and other distant places. They were accompanied with a brass band, and as the train moved off the air was rent with cheers. Four other round trips were made, giving everybody that wished an opportunity to test the new departure in railroading. The train was usually run at the rate of ten or fifteen miles an hour, but one round trip was made in two minutes, or at the rate of thirty miles an hour. The running surfaces of the wheels now used are sixteen inches, but it is proposed hereafter to make them eighteen inches wide. A great many trips in all has been made over the rails, yet at the conclusion of the trial they exhibited no signs of bad usage and it is believed will bear a heavy traffic for a long time, although made of very soft lumber. Oregon pine would be more durable. The engine weighs six and the car two tons, without passengers. Everybody present were well satisfied and express the belief that the James railway is a success.—Bakersfield Californian, Oct. 15.

Regarding Mining Locations.

Answering a question as to what laws miners have the privilege of making for themselves, the Commissioner of the General Land Office says: "In reply to your communication I have to state that the United States Mining Laws provides that the locator of a lode, or mining claim, must make the annual expenditures necessary for the maintenance of the possessory title at any time within one year from the first of January next succeeding the date of location, and the miners of a mining district have no authority to make any rules conflicting with this provision of law. If the mining laws of your district require that $50 shall be expended within sixty days after location, such provision is wholly without force. Suppose a location to have been made July 1st, 1881, the $100 worth of expenditure is required to be made by the United States law between the 1st day of January, 1881, and the 31st day of December, 1881, and the expenditures made prior to this period, viz., within sixty days after location, would not be in conformity with the provisions of said law."

PRIVATE telegrams corroborate the Press dispatches to the effect that ex-Senator Sargent will be appointed Secretary of the Navy. His nomination is urged by Gen. Grant and Mr. Conkling, as well as by Senator Miller and Congressman Page, from this coast. It is believed that Mr. Conkling advised the appointment of Mr. Sargent in President Garfield's Cabinet, but was overruled by Mr. Blaine, who preferred Horace Davis as the representative of the Pacific Coast. Of Mr. Sargent's fitness for the position, the Call has already spoken. His knowledge of our local wants has been gained by thirty years' residence, a large portion of which has been devoted to public service. Both as representative in the Lower House and Senator, he was distinguished for his fidelity to the interests of his constituents. Though a warm party man, he never forgot that in a local and business sense he represented both parties.—S. F. Call.

THE prospects for the future of Esmeralda Mining District are brightening every day. That we are to have at least one mill is a settled fact, and it is not at all improbable but that we may have half a dozen before another Summer shall have passed. H. C. Blasdel is now in San Francisco looking after new machinery for the Humboldt mill, and it is expected that he will have the stamps of the Humboldt rattling away before Spring. Our mines are developing in the most satisfactory manner. The Cortez and Centennial show large bodies of rich ore, while the Humboldt West, Esmeralda, Prospectus and New Esmeralda have in sight hundreds of thousands of tons of good paying rock. The time is a little slow coming, but it will surely come, when this camp will once more be the liveliest on the Pacific slope.—Aurora Herald.

SENATOR BAYARD was permitted to only enjoy for a very short time his elevation to the de facto Vice-Presidency of the United States. On the motion of Logan, Thursday evening, David Davis was placed in nomination as President pro tem. of the Senate, and his election followed by a vote of 36 to 34—Bayard and Davis not voting. Davis is a Democrat of the Jeffersonian school; but he independently cooperates with either party in the Senate, using his own judgment on all conspicuous occasions without regard to the party status of the question before the Senate.

THE London Press is made happy by the announcement that the British flag is to be honored with a salute at York town.

GERMANY has the most accomodating of postoffices. It daily transmits birds, beasts and fishes, if of a harmless sort. A goose unintelligibly directed was put up for auction sale, when $875 was found under its left pinion. The sender has not been discovered.

THE Custer monument has been erected on the battle-field upon which the daring General fell. It is of granite, in the form of a low obelisk. It bears the names of all who died in Custer's fight.

AN EQUINE EXHIBITION. — While at the Post a day or two since we saw Mr. H. D. Gelatt put Bob Ingersol and Col. Sanford through their paces. These two are not the distinguished citizens of the Union of that name, but simply two colts. Bob is a three-year-old son of Budd Doble, (not Budd Doble, the racing man, but the thorough bred horse of that name known to every one) and in good points and qualities is is a worthy son of a very worthy sire. The Colonel is a Billy Cheatam four-year-old. Mr. Gelatt, for a short time past, has had these colts in training as trick or performing horses. His command over them is something wonderful; enough to show that as a horse-trainer he will take rank with the most celebrated in that line. Bearing in mind that these are but mere colts, here are some of the things he will make them do: "Come here, Bob." Bob comes. "Walk, Bob." Bob welks. "Trot." It is done. "Walk" and ditto. "Go this way." "Go that way." "Stop." "Back out into that stall." "Lie down, Col." "Lie down, Bob." "Put your head on the Colonel's." "Lie still while I lie across both of you." "Sit up, both of you." "Now put your heads flat on this bit of a blanket." "Up." "Back out." "Shake hands." "Lie down." "Stand your fore-feet on this box," and so on with other commands, every one of which is obeyed literally, and generally with promptness, especially by Bob. The Colonel was rather nervous, and seemed apprehensive that he might not be doing just what was required at the moment, nevertheless, was willing to try. Bob was remarkably docile and self-confident in his movements and rarely, or never, stopped to consider oe "argify" the matter. One would stand by as a witness while the other showed what he could do, or both perform at the same time but to different orders. The performance was well worth seeing, and the art of training to such perfection well worth learning by every person having a taste in that direction, or occasion to handle horses in almost any way. We can affirm that it is not done by whipping or other brutal means, but further than that we will not undertake to say. Mr. Gelatt has still another fine colt that he intends to take into his school, and as soon as other engagements will permit, designs to use the three in public exhibition, and as aids in teaching the science of handling horses, young or old.

THE HIRSCH MINE.—A gentleman who has visited this mine during the past week informs us that the late work done on the property shows a strong and well defined vein of ore three feet in width. This is practically a gold mine, although a wonderful variety of rich ores were found near the surface. At first several tons of beautiful red oxide of copper was taken out, with grains and small masses of native copper running through the ore, carrying considerable gold. Then came a vein of rich silver lead ore about six inches thick on the hanging wall. Assays of this ore shows 160 ounces of silver, and $20 to $50 in gold per ton. Finally the copper gave out and gold bearing copper-stained quartz now fills the vein. The gold can be seen in a large portion of the ore, and assays run from $30 to $150 per ton. This is one of the most accessibly located mines in Owens River Valley. It is situated about 1,000 feet above the valley proper, and about 2½ miles from Owens river. The distance from Independence is about nine miles, with a good road to the mine. The Hirsch is no doubt a valuable property, and in view of the rich developments in Beveridge, which is but a short distance from the Hirsch, this mine should not long remain idle.

STRONTIUM.—On a late visit to Mazourka cañon Mr. Woodhull, of the assay office, found a mineral that on investigation proved to be sulphate of strontium. It is of a bluish white color, and looks much like marble, but has a much higher specific gravity. In minerology the mineral is called celestite. The metal, strontium, is of a pale yellow color, and is but little used n the arts. The nitrate of strontium is used in the manufacture of fireworks, and it imparts to flame a beautiful crimson color. A process recently introduced in German beet-sugar manufactories has created a demand for strontianite, and it is reported that mining for it is going on quite extensively in Westphalia, Germany, notably at Dasbeck and Denstreinfurt, near Munster. About 4,000 to 5,000 cwts. are now gathered, and there has been some excitement among peasants, who, ignorant of the value of the mineral, were led into unfavorable concessions of mineral rights by outside speculators. Possibly it might prove worth the while of some of the prospectors in this country to inquire into the possibility of supplying the German markets.

RACE.—Sporting circles at Bishop Creek are much interested in a horse race to come off there next Tuesday between Hutchison's "Brown Abby" and Koontz "Coalburner," half-mile dash for $300 a side, the riders to be Bill Gill for Brown Abby and the owner of Coalburner for himself. There is considerable diversity of opinion as to the relative speed of the animals and the result, and consequently lots of "yallar money" up.

WAUCOBA.—J. Wal. Phillips and A. McKellips, representing a recently organized New York Company, are over in old Waucoba District, intent on developing some very promising mines in that region. They will put in some two months' work or more, and we hope for some good reports.

Product of Sugar Cane.

BISHOP CREEK, Oct. 17.

MESSRS. EDITORS—In your issue of the 18th instant I see an item quoted from the True Fissure in regard to the fertility of Fish Lake Valley, and its production of sugar cane, which prompts me to say that if no county in Nevada can beat it, Inyo county, California, can, and as a proof of what I say, I send you by stage to-morrow a specimen of what I am making. Our cane grows no taller than the Fish Lake specimen, and yet, I have made seventy gallons from half an acre of cane. I am using a small Victoria mill, made and shipped from Ottumwa, Iowa, some years since, and costing about $150 here, and an evaporator of my own make, worth about $20. With these facilities I can make from 20 to 40 gallons per day. I have made about 150 gallons, and am not through yet. Aside from my own half acre, I am doing custom work for several neighbors, who have also small crops.

Yours. very truly,
A. CLARK.

TRAGIC OCCURRENCE AT KERNVILLE. A bloody and quite a generally exciting affair culminated at Kernville on Wednesday last. We have the following details from Judge Conklin, who obtained them while passing through that place on his journey home, but having taken no notes at the time, the correctness of the names given is a matter of doubt. A couple of men who had been working as partners in a mining claim in the vicinity of Kernville came to town together on Tuesday and went on a "jamboree." They returned to their cabin that night. The next morning one of the men, Thomas Herbert, came to town and reported that when he awoke that morning he found his partner lying dead in the cabin, having been shot through the body in two places. He said he had heard no pistol shots during the night, or that he knew anything whatever of his partner's death until he saw him lying dead as stated as above. An examination showed that the wounds could not have been inflicted by the deceased himself, therefore is was accepted as a plain fact that he had been murdered, and that Herbert must have been the murderer. It was made generally plain, however, that robbery was not the object, since the sum of $1,200 more or less belonging to the deceased, was found upon the body undisturbed. Herbert was taken to jail. That evening a mob collected and went to the jail to take Herbert out and lynch him on suspicion. The mob was headed by a one-eyed man, named Harrigan, or something similar. The jail was in charge of Deputy Sheriff Ed. Mitchell, who was standing in the door as the mob approached. Harrigan, the self-appointed leader of the crowd, without any challenge or notice whatever, raised his gun and fired at the Deputy Sheriff, striking him just below the heart. Before falling, Mitchell fired in turn at Harrigan, inflicting a wound supposed to be mortal. Before the smoke cleared away after his shot, Mitchell fell dead. It seems that this ended the demonstration against the prisoner in the jail, but not the prevailing excitement in the community. This little "jamboree" cost three men their lives in very short order, and the end is not yet. Deputy Sheriff Mitchell has been connected with the Sheriff's office in that county for a long time, and was quite widely known and respected. The murdered man's name is given as Siegel. The leader of the mob, who, if killed, got no more than he had fairly earned, had but recently arrived in the place.

BACK AGAIN — PERSONAL MENTION. Judge Conklin, wife and youngest child arrived home on Thursday evening from their trip East, which trip was taken principally with the view of bringing the aged mother to this coast. The venerable lady, however, declined to abandon her old home and life-long associations, though left alone as regards members of her own family. Mr. P. Reddy, who has lately been at Bodie on professional business, does not expect to visit this place until some time during the Winter. Mrs. Reddy has just passed through a dangerous attack of sicknass.

HOW THEY SPOILED AN ITEM.—The other morning a large section of the hard finish overhead in the Sheriff's office came down with a crash corresponding to the unusual thickness of the plastering, which was not less than a full inch. Had the Sheriffs remained at their posts and got skinned up (or down) by the falling mass, it would have been an item worth noting. But they had skinned out a short time previously, and thereby spoiled the item. But that's just the way with some folks. The ceiling is to be replaced with lumber.

GOLD MOUNTAIN.—A late letter from the Gold Mountain brings information that Supt. Ferris is pushing work on the new line water pipes to the extent of putting on every man that can be worked. Work in the mine has been suspended until the completion of the new hoisting works, which will require but a short time, when the shaft will be sunk 300 feet deeper as rapidly as possible. Geo. D. Roberts, the original promoter of the State Lines, is now in San Francisco, en route to the mine.

APPLES.—Some of the largest, finest and prettiest apples of the season have reached us from Gus Baker's orchard at Big Pine. Our horticultural editor finds himself unequal to give an adequate description of the five varieties—only that they are good. Besides the box referred to, Mr. Baker has several tons of them yet on hand.

NEW DISCOVERY. — Samples of ore were brought in on Monday last from a newly discovered ledge in the Inyos, a little north of the Beveridge District. Two assays made by Mr. Woodhull showed respectively—gold, $80 33, silver, $31 42, total, $111 75; and gold, $12 50, silver, $81 68, total $94 18.

MINING TRANSFERS.—Way down in the southern part of this county, somewhere in the Resting Springs country, s situate a mining district which comes to light under the name of Saratoga. A number of deeds recorded last week show the organization of a Chicago Company, consisting of S. B. Strong. Jas. H. Shields. H. W. Martin, Wm. Baker, Geo. K. Dyas, Wm. P. Black and J. B. McClure, who have purchased one-tenth interest in the following mines: "Lost Key," "Pack Saddle," "Rainstorm," "Treasure," "Saratoga," the "Starlight," and one-tenth part of the water of Cook's Springs. Also twenty-seven fortieths of the "Little Star" mine. The consideration of the latter is $2,000, while for the other interests the sum of $1,700 was paid. C. A. Poage, of Tombstone, was the principal selling party.

A BEAUTIFUL SPECIMEN. — Charley Hollenbeck has presented the Independence Assay Office with a fine specimen ot gold quartz from the Laura mine, Beveridge District. The piece is about nine inches long by five inches wide, and three thick. The entire surface on one side is covered with a rough mass of small crystals of quartz, colored reddish brown by iron oxide. Over this is thickly besprinkled beautiful spangles and grains of bright yellow gold—the whole making a fine cabinet specimen. The Laura is showing up some very rich ore. Ten men are now employed on the mine, and two openings or tunnels are being made on the vein. About 75 tons of ore have been taken out, which will probably average $150 per ton.

NOTE.—See very important theatrical announcement elsewhere.

A CORRESPONDENT of the San Francisco Daily Report writes as follows: "Of the population of Tombstone, I should judge about 1,000 are engaged in mining; viz: 500 miners daily employed in working in and at the mines; 200 men employed at the mills, and 300 prospectors, working singly or in couples, either on their own account or doing assessment work for others. Of these 500 miners, about only 200 are miners by trade or profession, and of these 150 at least are Cornishmen, who have found their way here from other districts, but principally from the Comstock. The remainder are miners by force of circumstances, and when they get discharged are able to earn a livelihood in many other ways. Those doing prospect or assessment work are not by trade miners. Many of them have some little money, and most are ambitious to 'strike it rich,' and then leave the country. The Tombstone Mill and Mining Company employ about 250 hands, or nearly half of the miners employed in the camp."

SAYS the Los Angeles Commercial; A few days since we stated that 3,000,000 vines would be planted this Winter in Los Angeles county. Since that time we learn that heavy capitalists and land owners are making efforts to increase the planting, and that 10,000,000 vines will be planted in this county this season.

THE New York Herald has the following: A close friend of Blaine's says that the Premier cannot be induced to serve out his term under any circumstances. He has made up his mind to retire. That it is his intention to be a candidate for the Presidency of 1884 is unquestionable, and he seems to be clear in the belief that his chances of carrying off the prize would be infinitely better out of the Cabinet than in it. The publication, recently of the letter which he wrote to Garfield accepting the place in the Cabinet was not accidental. It was really the first step in the canvass for the next nomination. This has been followed by other movements since, which are only known to his most trusted followers. Blaine, within a few days, has urged Arthur to take immediate action on his retirement.

A NEW half-dollar counterfeit is just coming into circulation, says the Salt Lake Tribune. It can be detected, however, by closely observing the following: It has the eagle on the wrong side. The Goddess of Liberty, instead of wearing her cap on her head is carrying it under her arm. On her right foot, instead of the usual sandal, is a No 6 gaiter with high heels. All the feathers of the eagle's tail are gone. By comparing it with another half a difference in the size of at least a sixteenth of an inch is observable all around. The head of the bird is turned the wrong way, and the coin is square instead of round. Aside from these minor inaccuracies the counterfeit is splendidly executed, and well warranted to deceive. The best test is to try to pass it on a Chinaman for washing.

THE indictment against Guiteau has been published and is a genuine curiosity in legal literature. It contains six counts drawn up in the old common law form, which is now obsolete in many States. In one count the President is said to have died instantly, in the others the words used are "he did languish, and languishing did live." The leaden bullet, the pistol—of the value of five dollars—held in the right hand, the charge of gunpowder, the depth of the wound, all are specified in endless repitition. The great advantage of law practice under the code in the brevity and clearness of the forms is br ught out in strong relief by this instrument. But if the six counts prove sufficient to hang the assassin few will complain of the means which were used to bring about the ends of justice.

THE Supreme Court of this State has just decided that under the new Constitution the Board of Supervisors of any county has no right to condemn private lands for public uses and award damages, but that a compensatton must be ascertained by a jury, as in other cases, unless the jury is divided.

Homer Items.

THE eighteen civil engineers and their assistants who for some weeks have been engaged in making the preliminary survey from Deadman's station on the Mammoth road to the headwarers of the North Fork of the Fresno beyond the summit of the Sierra, for the Jay Gould overland railroad, completed their labers on that section last week and moved east to some point near Silver Peak. The route, as finally located, will take the road to the summit at a point fourteen miles west of Deadman's station, where it will pass under the summit by a tunnel one mile and a few rods in length, coming out in the rich galena region about the head of the north Fork of the Fresno, which stream the road will follow down to Fresno Flats, where grading has already been commenced. The summit tunnel will be through a soft basaltic formation, and hence can be put through almost as cheaply as the same length of snow shed could be constructed. East from the summit, for a distance of fourteen miles, the road will pass through a dense forest of the finest timber on this side of the mountains.

A big sale of mining property in this district will be consummated in San Francisco within the next three or four days—if it has not already been—and another mill will be put up within sixty days.

Big Jim Murphy, the well known explorer, prospector and miner, returned yesterday from a tour to Bishop Creek country, Mammoth and North Fork districts.

The cold nights have cut down the water supply in the May Lundy mill flume to such an extent that steam has been put on to drive one of the batteries.

R. W. Woolard, of Bodie, left Lundy last Sunday aftenoon for Tiogo, but got lost and had to camp out alone among the California lions on Lee Vining Creek.

Charley Dale, Superintendent of the Maryland Con. mine at Bodie, made a flying trip to this district last Tuesday, to examine some mining property.

On the 14th instant, at Lundy, F. McSweegan, a well-known miner and popular young man, suicided by shooting himself through the heart. The account given shows him to have been insane.—Homer Mining Index, Oct. 15.

ON the 11th instant, the day following the election of Senator Bayard President pro tem. of the Senate, three new Republican Senators were sworn in—one from Rhode Island and two from New York. The Republicans now have, on all questions of importance, a majority of two in that body. The members are divided politically into 38 Republicans and 37 Democrats, and Davis of Illinois, Independent, who generally votes with the Republicans.

IN publishing the acts of the Mississippi Legislature recently, the laws got slightly mixed with part of an anti-Baptist book that was being set up by the same printer. The following was the result: "Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the State of Mississippi that 'bap' means to put under the water, and 'tize' means to take it out."—Evangelist.

Drilling Air-holes in German Coal Mines.

Instead of running air-ways through coal-pillars or driving uprises for ventilation, a practice is gaining ground in Westphalian coal mines to drill holes by means of special rotary hand-drills, one of the advantages claimed being that the danger of fire-damp explosions, which occur so easily in such workings, is avoided. The Zeitschrift fur-Berg-Huetten-und Salinen-Wesen gives the following details of these machines, four of which are now in the market. All of them are rotary hand-drills with special bits. The Hussmann drill, which is worked by two men, has a 13-inch bit, which leaves a core. The latter is crushed by a second center auger drill. with four men, working by turns, including time for setting up, moving, and taking away the drill, 34.6 to 45.9 feet, according to hardness of coal, were made in a shift. The Munschied drill made 350 feet in 47 shifts, with two men. It is urged in favor of the use of these machines that, when the twelve to fifteen inch hole does not suffice for ventilation or for the removal of large quantities of fire damp, it considerably lessens the danger and much facilitates the work of driving afterward, a hand-fan being unnecessary.

Don't ask too Much.

A prospector who can show in his claim a body of good pay ore can generally secure the necessary capital with which to develop it. Men should not place too high a value on their prospects when they have not a dollar in the world to make a mine of it with, which is too often the case in Eureka District. The better plan is to dispose of an interest, even at a low figure, and then proceed to develop. After some headway has been gained, at that, the mine if at all valuable will command a high figure; but a prospect is an uncertain investment and cannot always command what the owner may think it is worth. We note that the miners of Safford District are making the same mistake, as a number of Prospect Mountain men have in the past. In Safford the miners still have possession of all the ground, and are liable to keep it. Capital is knocking at the door of the district, but the miners have thus far shown a disposition to keep it out by asking for their prospects ten times their actual worth.—Ruby Hill News.

THE Washington Republican states that the beautiful stone contributed by the State of Nevada to the Washington Monument has arrived in that city, and is an object of great interest. It is a pure specimen of native granite, and is elaborately inscribed. The letters are of solid silver; are about as thick as a silver dollar, some six inches in height. and of proportionate width. They are so neatly fitted into the solid granite that the joint is almost invisible. Above the word "Nevada" is deeply cut in the granite the motto of the State: "All for our country," and below the date 1881. The figures of the date are plated with gold. The granite composing it is the hardest ever seen. The part which is polished is almost blue in color, while the remainder presents a somewhat gray appearance. It is the most expensive stone contributed by any State so far.

A CHIEF of the Piute tribe of Indians, who roam over Nevada, was asked what he thought of the comets. The chief wrapped his robe closely around his body, stood erect, and, pointing upwards, declared that the sun is the chief of the heavens, the moon is the sun's squaw, and the stars are his children. The great sun must eat, and, therefore, whenever he feels hungry he catches one of his children and eats it. The poor moon is very fond of her children, yet is doomed every month to see one of them devoured by their unnatural father. She then goes into mourning, so deep, that she even paints her face black. Fortunately, however, the paint gradually wears off, and she shines forth again as bright as ever until her next loss.

"DARLING, wake up and stop snoring," said a Detroit woman to her husband.

"Eh? Whazza matter now?" he asked as he half raised up in bed.

"Won't you please stop snoring? If you only knew how homesick it makes me I'm sure you would."

"Homesick! How the deuce can my innocent snore make you homesick?"

"Why, you know, darling, that the home on the coast from which you took me a joyous bride was only half a mile from a Government fog-horn, and every time you snore it reminds me so of home that I just can't stand it. Please lie on your side and have a little respect for my feelings."

And then the brute spread himself out on his back and in five minutes had her bathed in tears as visions of the old home crept upon her.—Free Press.

"Dar goes the wust justice ob de peace I eber seed," said Black Nat, as a colored magistrate passed along.

"Why?" asked a bystander. "Is he dishonest?"

"May be hones' enough, but dat ain't de question."

"Some time ago a buck niggerhad me 'rested fur stealin' ob a hog. He stated in de court dat he seed me when I stole de hog. I stated that he didn't. De justice looked solemn, like all dem men what han'les the law and 'cided against me."

"Well, in what way did the justice do wrong."

"Why, in taking dat nigger's word. He did see me steal de hog, but my word is jest as good as hizn."—Little Rock Gazette.

THEY don't marry early in Germany, for the good reason, perhaps, that they have not the means. Out of every 1,000 girls married in that country last year 102 were 26 years old, 103 were 27, and 162 were 28. These were the most favored matrimonial ages, and there were more women married at 25 than 19.

PROBATE NOTICE.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE State of California, in and for the County of Inyo. In the matter of the estate of John Ryar Westervelt, deceased. Order to Show Cause Why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should not be Made.

It appearing to the Judge of said Superior Court, by the petition this day presented and filed by James Jones and S. P. Moffat, the Executors of the Estate of John R. Westervelt, deceased, praying for an order of sale of real estate; that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate, to pay the debts outstanding against the deceased and the debts, expenses and charges of administration.

It is therefore ordered by the Judge of said Court, that all persons interested in the estate of said deceased appear before the said Superior Court on MONDAY, the TWENTY-FOURTH day of OCTOBER, A. D. 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M. of said day, at the Court Room of said Superior Court, at the Court House, in the town of Independence, in the County of Inyo, to show cause why an order should not be granted to said Executors to sell so much of the real estate of the said deceased as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of this order be published at least four successive weeks in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper printed and published in said county.

Dated September 19, 1881.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE County of Inyo, State of California.

In the Matter of John P. Brown, an Insolvent Debtor.

John P. Brown, having filed in this Court his petition, schedule and inventory in insolvency, by which it appears that he is an insolvent debtor, the said John P. Brown is hereby declared to be insolvent. The Sheriff of Inyo County is hereby directed to take possession of all the estate, real and personal, of the said John P. Brown, debtor, except such as may be by law exempt from execution, and of all his deeds, vouchers, books of account and papers, and to keep the same safely until the appointment of an Assignee of his estate. All persons are forbidden to pay any debts to the said insolvent, or to deliver any property belonging to him, or to any person, firm or corporation, or association for his use. The said debtor is hereby forbidden to transfer or deliver any property until the further order of this Court, except as herein ordered. It is further ordered that all the creditors of said debtor be and appear before the Hon. John A. Hannah, Judge of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, in open Court, at the Court Room of said Court, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, on the TWENTY-SEVENTH day of OCTOBER, 1881, at 10 o'clock A. M. of that day, to prove their debts and choose one or more assignees of the estate of said debtor.

It is further ordered that this order be published in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, a newspaper of general circulation published at Independence, in the County of Inyo, as often as the said paper is published before the said day set for the meeting of creditors. And it is further ordered that in the meantime all proceedings against the said insolvent be stayed.

Dated September 20, 1881.

JOHN A. HANNAH,
Judge of the Superior Court.

THE SOUL'S FAREWELL TO EARTH.

The silver chord of life is loosed.—
A voice is calling: "Come away!"
So farewell, earth! I leave this form
Of clay to mingle with its kindred dust;
The weary feet and throbbing heart need rest
That comes not till I depart;
These have oft with thorns been pierced
Along the rugged paths of life,
Striving to remove obstructions of the way.
A thousand memories around me cling,
To live forever in the bright beyond,
Where sorrows fade and joys increase.
One lingering look
On all I once held dear, no longer mine;
Until they reach my spirit home,—
A long lost Eden be regained.
And now farewell! I must depart,—
Brighter scenes appear in view;
The pangs of death are past, and I am free.
Earth is receding fast, its sounds are hushed;
Soft quiet steals upon my senses all,
Like sleep or waking to some blissful scene,
A glad surprise of hidden joys revealed.
Loved forms are bending from above,—
Dear ones of long ago; they smile on me
With joyous looks benign;
I rise to meet them, earth is lost to sight;
Its joys and sorrows are no longer mine;
I've left it now for evermore!

LUNA.

Through to New Orleans.

Mr. Chas. Crocker, President of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company, expects to have the road to New Orleans by next August. No other one of the roads now in progress will work such changes in business of this State as the Southern Pacific. It will furnish much the shortest and cheapest line of travel between California and Europe. The land travel to New Orleans is about the same as to Chicago, and New Orleans is almost as near Liverpool as New York. It follows that the problem of quick transportation must be solved by this route. If the Southern Pacific, in connection with a steamship line under the same management, cannot compete with sailing vessels in carrying grain, certainly no other route can. The Southern Pacific lies most of the way through a level country, and entirely below the snow line. It will save many operating expenses which the Central and Union Pacific will always have to contend with. It is expected also that this route will be a kind of highway for immigrants. Arrangements are in contemplation by which tickets purchased to European ports which will place an immigrant upon land which may become his own without the outlay of another dollar in the way of cash capital. His labor, on terms which will afford a comfortable subsistance for his family, will constitute the only capital needed to become the possessor of a snug homestead in a country combining the products of the temperate and the tropical zones. In the present condition of Europe there will be no lack of hardy immigrants to accept such terms.

An amusing case of strict construction has just come to light from the Treasury Department at Washington. A number of coupon bonds were received at the Treasury for registry a few days ago. All the numbers of the bonds were cut out. The Treasury Department did not know what to make of the mutilated bonds. They came from Chicago. A letter has just been received at the Department from the owner of the bonds in New York, who said that he had written to his wife in Chicago to send the bonds to the Treasury and send the numbers to him at New York. The devoted and obedient spouse carried out his instructions to the letter. She sent the bonds to the Treasury, but first cut out the numbers and mailed them to her husband.

Four more Nihilists are being tried in Russia, and of course the alleged trial is conducted with closed doors. It would have been a much more simple process to have declared them guilty at once. A number of persons are locked up in Ireland as suspects without a shadow of trial. Europe could afford to take a lesson from America, for while there cannot be a doubt of Guiteau's guilt, the dictates of civilized humanity afford him an open, fair and impartial trial.

A Big Lockup.

The House of Detention which has just been opened in Berlin, and to which all the prisoners, male and female, who are awaiting their trial have been removed, is the largest prison in Europe. There are six different buildings, the men's prison being four stories high with 732 single cells, several large rooms, holding in all 195 prisoners, 40 rooms for the wardens, and sleeping accomodations for 118 other employes. Each of the cells has a window ten feet high, and an arched roof, the furniture consisting of a bed and stool fixed in the wall, and a washing apparatus. There are also an electric bell, a cupboard, a closet and a gas-burner placed above a small table. The prisoners can, if they please read or write all night long. On the ground floor are 36 cells for prisoners accused of murder, or known to belong to the criminal class, and in these there is a plank bed. There are a half-dozen cells under ground for prisoners who are guilty of disorder, and in the infirmary wing there are nine rooms for prisoners who are of good position in society, should they ever come there, which are furnished with some approach to luxury. There are only two or three suites of apartments reserved for persons who are waiting trial for political offences, and who are allowed to furnish them according to their own taste. The kitchens, bath, and heating apparatus are all on the area floor, and the interior of the building, which is of iron, is so constructed as to form a large hall in the center, which reaches right up to the roof. There is a telephone between the prison and the assize court, so that prisoners can be sent there without having to wait. The prison for women contain 70 single cells, and fifteen large domitories, there being accomodation for 229 women altogether. The domitories can be placed under lock and key for the night; and there are three or four large workrooms in which they will be employed during the day time, under the surveillance of female wardens. As in the men's prison, there is a spacious exercise ground and a separate chapel.—St. James Gazette.

A Comment on Indian Fighting.

The press of Arizona has no very high opinion of the efficiency of the officers and troops of the regular army in their operations against the hostile redskins. Officers who are without experience in Indian fighting, it is urged, defer too much to the discipline of the training camp, which is very different from what the rapid movements and long marches of the troops should be on the frontier. The Tombstone (Arizona) Nugget speaks of one of the officers of the troops having command in that region as follows: While camped at Soldiers' Holes, he telegraphed: "The rain has softened the trail badly, and I cannot move without leaving the animals;" but a squad of Tombstoners, under Sheriff Behon and Marshal Earp, crossed the valley twice during that particular day, and were not obliged to leave their animals; but they were looking for Indians, and in that respect differed from the command encamped at Soldiers' Holes. It must also be borne in mind that the retreating savages did not find "the trail" too soft in going over the same ground with their ponies and stolen stock, and they were but six hours ahead of the troops when the troops went into camp and remained there for 48 hours.

The Patient Man.

"The boss patient man has been found—life is long with him, and he finds moments ample for delicate devotion to the smallest details. He is a business man on one of the chief streets of the city, and has impressed on his mind the good old adage, 'Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves.' The other day this gentleman sent out an employe to purchase a box of toothpicks, an article needed in his business. The box cost fifty cents, and was labeled '2,500 wood tooth-picks—warranted.' That man resolved to test the warranty, and deliberately sat down in the busiest part of the day to count the little slivers. He found the box contained exactly 2,468 tooth picks, and was, consequently, just 32 short. When last heard from this modern Job was inditing a letter to the tooth-pick manufacturers, informing them that they are consummate rascals, despicable cheats, and unconscionable rogues, and they must immediately forward, free of cost and charges, the missing picks."

A sentimental fellow at Wrighttown, Minnesota, wrote to a girl that he would hang himself if she did not marry him. As he was a stranger, she took his queer missive as an insulting joke, and replied angrily that he would please her greatly by choosing the tree which grew near the window of her room. When she looked out next morning there hung his lifeless body.

Another example of American enterprise is shown in the formation of a powerful company to take possession of and work the vast nitrate beds, which lie in Central America, on the Southern borders of Peru, and extend into Bolivia. This company, it is stated, has been organized in New York under a special charter, with a capital of $25,000,000.

Within the past year the Senate has lost many of its ablest members. The death of Carpenter, the retirement of Thurman and the resignation of Blaine, Conkling and Windom have made a great difference in the aggregate ability of the Senate.

Gov. Fremont has resigned the Governorship of Arizona.

The Queen's Wreath.

Emma James, writing from the national capital to the Providence Star, has this to say of the floral offering of Victoria: "With regard to the Queen's wreath, a little accident occurred which was of great comfort to a sick lady here, a German woman in humble life. The arrival of the President's cortege from Long Branch, with the muffled drums, and all the solemn paraphernalia of woe, gave her a relapse, as it passed directly by her window. Her husband was among the multitude who went up to the capital the next morning to view the remains, and he picked for his wife a half-loosened flower from the royal wreath, thinking it a partially opened tuberose. He put it in water by her bedside, and it blossomed out, disclosing the form of a dove in the center. It seemed miraculous to her, as she did not know there was such a flower (the flower of the Holy Spirit). She began to mend from the time she saw it, calling it the Christ flower sent from the dead President's bier to heal her. It would take less than that to make a miracle story of in superstitious countries. I have known $20 to be given for one such blossom in California. Its presence in the wreath denotes the lavish expense of the offering."

Lying Auctioneers.

At an auction house on Main street a bronze clock was offered for sale, and the crowd languidly ran the bidding up to $1 50, amid the most frantic endeavors of the auctioneer to boom it to higher figures. He shouted "Going, going," nearly 100 times before he finally knocked it down to a Teuton at $1 75. The purchaser pulled out an old buckskin purse and was about to pay for his bargain, when suddenly a shade of suspicion passed over his face, and grasping the clock he held it to his ear and shook up the contents. There was no sound of ticking levers, or in fact any sort of mechanical response. "Not a tam cent," he shouted, slamming down the clock. "You sell mit der false pretences. All der vile you sell dot glok you holler oud 'Goin', goin',' like der derfle, and der tam ole glok doesn't go a lick since next Christmas, by jim mine."

When the Culture girls, of Boston, came home not long ago in a vessel of the "Kunard" line they were very talkative, inquisitive and curious, and pestered the Captain almost to death. One day the eldest Culture girl sought the engineer and questioned him: "How many revolutions, Mr. Engineer," she began, "does the propellor achieve in the period of a minute?" "Oh," said he, "about a thousand." "Indeed," exclaimed Miss Sarah Annex Emerson Culture, "Why, you fill me with astonishment!" "I thought I would," said the engineer. "Well, now tell me," she persisted, "what is the capacity—of the boilers as compared dispassionately and shorn of prejudice with those with which our American river and lake steamers are ordinarily provided?" "I give it up, Miss," he said. "What!" said the elder Culture girl, "is it possible that you cannot tell what the boilers can do?" "Yes, I can;" he angrily answered while he walked away, "They can bust and blow us all to perdition!" That same night Miss Annex Emerson Culture wrote in her diary the following: "Find the subordinate officials of the steamer aversed to imparting truthful information associated with the mechanical department which aversion is unquestionably due to ignorance." "That girl's language," remarked the engineer, ,'is vastly too copious for my diminutive comprehension."

Sir Samuel Baker, the great traveler, speaking of California, says: "I was astonished at the marvelous growth of California, in 30 years, and more than surprised to find it under such thorough and successful cultivation. As a fruit country I do not know its equal, and as a pledge of what I say I intend to supply my Devonshire home from its canned stores in the future. Then the seemingly inexhaustible forests of Nevada and the neighboring alkali deserts were sights that rarely reward the traveler. Salt Lake City was among the places visited by us and I am glad to say that all our English writers have been guilty of egregious misstatements in describing it. Instead of the barren place I expected I found a country fertile and productive, with delicious airs and streams of purest waters."

Moscow, which the Nihilists set ablaze, has been almost destroyed by fire four times before. In 1536 and 1547 it was visited by destructive conflagrations; in 1571 the Tartars set fire to its suburbs and a great portion of its population perished, and in 1812 it was set on fire by the Government, which thus compelled Napoleon to desert it and enter upon the retreat which was so disastrous to the French army. The well-known attachment of the present Czar for this city of the twelfth century, his approaching coronation there and his supposed removal of the seat of Government thither from St. Petersburg are reasons for the attempt of the Nihilists to destroy it at the present time.

The Atlantic and Pacific Company are reported as having become irritated at the slowness of the white workmen engaged in constructing their road, and have determined to engage Chinese laborers. It is just possible that fault is found with the white laborers as a mere excuse to substitute Chinamen, not because they are cheaper. All the railroads East of the Rockies have been built by white labor, but it seems that as soon as the Pacific slope is reached nobody will serve the purposes of corporations but Chinese.

Ex-Governor Morgan has declined the Treasury portfolio, and Judge Folger's name is prominently mentioned, together with that of Treasurer Gilfillan ....Conkling's name is also received with greater favor than heretofore.... Howe of Wisconsin is regarded as the coming Attorney-General....MacVeagh thinks there is ample proof to convict all the star-route men....In the Senate there was a lively discussion over the proposal to buy revolutionary relics of the Marquis de Rochambeau for $20,000.

EX-GOVERNOR MORGAN positively declines the office of Secretary of the Treasury, and the President will be obliged to look elsewhere for a proper person to fill this important office. Gov. Morgan has long been in public life, and is one of the few "War Governors" still living. He has reached the advanced age of three score years and ten, and it is not surprising that he should desire to spend his remaining years in peace and quiet. He is estimated to be worth twelve millions of dollars. His daughter Bessie is soon to be married to August Belmont, Jr. Mr. Morgan lives in a plain house in an unostentateous manner on Fifth Avenue, and is exceedingly liberal. He recently gave the Union Theological Seminary $100,000.

GRADING has been completed forty-six miles from Hawthorne and nine miles from Belleville, and is expected to reach Candelaria by the last of November, says the Carson Tribune. Part of the steel rails have arrived in San Francisco and will be shipped to the front forthwith. The chances are that within sixty days the C. & C. locomotives will be blurting out steam in that long waterless town called Candelaria, and by that time the thirsty souls of the desert will have water works in that town, and will be able to enjoy the luxury of a good square wash. How the extension of the road to Candelaria will affect Carson City remains to be proven; in our opinion it will prove of benefit rather than injury.

IT is said that the farmers who went with the debris commission up into the mountains were astonished at the magnitude of the mining operations there in progress, and that their previously formed ideas of compelling the mines to shut down altogether were somewhat modified. It is gratifying to know that these rantankerous grangers have been forced to acknowledge that there are interests worthy of consideration besides those in which they are personally engaged. A little travel and observation generally enlages and amplifies men's ideas.

ON the evening of Saturday last a brutal asasssin of Eureka, Nev., named Penrose, nearly murdered Jas. E. Anderson, of the Leader, with a club. The editor had been raking Penrose for some detestable action regarding the abstraction of a private letter. Though seriously hurt, Anderson will probably get well, while his assailant will be afforded an opportunity to meditate over it for some time in the State Prison, at least we hope so.

AT Bakersfield, October 25th, Christopher Worth, Camden Berhard, A. D. C. McKay, Percy Stuter, P. Sheriff Bowers is still at Kernville making arrests.

IT was the intention of the Czar, a day or two ago, to come out of his iron cage and pay the Emperor of Austria a visit, but the alert Nihilists heard of it and made preparations accordingly. The Czar concluded, however, to remain indoors in order not to create an excitement—and lose his official head.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

To the Public:

This is printed in notification of the fact that on Saturday last I, the undersigned, became the sole proprietor of THE INDEPENDENT newspaper, the job printing, business, etc.

Mr. P. A. Chalfant, the retiring partner—who is my half brother—goes out of the business because it would not pay us both to run it. All the standing and permanence which the concern has attained is due to him, and for his long effort, pure moral worth and solidity of character he is justly entitled to the most sincere thanks and consideration of this community, and even while engaging in other business, in case of my absence or inability; he will see that THE INYO INDEPENDENT is a fixed fact.

The transfer involves a debt on my part of nearly two thousand dollars. The personal security of kind friends has enabled me to do this, and I expect the aid of personal friends and public patronage—if deserved—to help me out.

Politically, toward personal party friends or foes, the paper will never have anything to do in influencing a vote, but it will maintain a fearless independence concerning all local affairs.

I expect the assistance, editorially, of those posted on all topics — mining, agricultural, social and educational, to the end of making a good local paper. Most of my own time will be employed in the mechanical work.

I abhor all journalism that marks the individuality of the editor, and whatever efforts I may hereafter make will be void of that fault.

I claim to know something of Inyo county through observation and experience, and in this venture rely upon the inevitable — a prosperous and wealthy community in the future.

JAS. E. PARKER.

MR. GORHAM studiously maintains that, being the Republican caucus nominee for Secretary of the Senate, he should be elected. His close friend, Senator Mahone, of Virginia, takes the same view of the matter. So, however, does not President pro tem. David Davis, nor several Republicans whose vote he cannot get. The knowledge that Senator Mahone would insist on Gorham, and that his defeat, if his name were presented to the Senate, would be inevitable, led the Republican Senators to forego any attempt to disturb the present situation. This was signified by the action of Senator Edmunds, who, by the exercise of a little strategy, got ahead of Senator Pendleton in offering a resolution, which was adopted, for the appointment of Chief Clerk Shaber as acting Secretary. This gave the appearance of magnanimity to the Republican side of the Senate, the point of which, being fully appeciated, created a laugh. Under the surface, it was plainly apparent that the resolution was simply a ruse to head off Mr. Gorham. As this gentleman is a man of penetration, he must so construe it; but he will not, from what he has heretofore said, on this account retire from the contest. A number of contingencies have been stated by the Washington correspondents as likely to occur before the regular meeting of Congress, which will enable the Republicans gracefully to retire Mr. Gorham. It is with such an expectancy that they sustained the Edmunds resolution.

OF Indian railroad laborers a Mexican letter to the Chicago Times says that they toil unceasingly, but accomplish little. On shoveling it would take six of them to equal one white man. It is a new kind of work for the Indians, and strains his weakest part. The muscles of the arms are not developed. An Indian is strong in his back and legs, and when it comes to carrying a heavy load a white competitor is nowhere. Difficulty has been experienced in familiarizing the Indian with the wheelbarrow.

WHEN the big railroad gets into this region, people should avoid, as far as possible, being run over by the cars. An empty platform car weighs 18,000 lbs.; an empty box car, 20,000 lbs.; a passenger car 36,000 lbs. and sometimes more; and an average locomotive, 80,000 lbs.; a single pair of car wheels, 500 lbs.

CONGRESSMAN ROMUALDO PACHECO left San Francisco for New York City on the overland train Sunday, having heard of the serious illness of his wife. He will not return before the session of Congress.

GEO. WATTERSON has been appointed Postmaster at Benton, Mono county.

THE labor system in the Hawaiian Islands is now attracting a great deal of attention in this State. Evidence has been made public which goes to show that the contract system prevailing on the sugar plantations is neither more nor less than a slave system. South Sea Islanders, Portugese from the Azores and Scandinavians are brought there by ship-loads under contract to labor in the sugar fields for terms of years, varying from three to five, at rates which average eight dollars per month. When there they find themselves handicapped by stringent laws in the interest of planters which practically renders it impossible for them to ever escape from their servitude. All sorts of fines are imposed upon them for the most trivial as well as the most flagrant derelictions. These fines are paid by the planters and become an interest-bearing debt against the men. Their wages, even by the strictest economy, would never afford savings enough to get out of debt.

THE Chinese has carried the business of mutilating and sweating coins to that extent in this State that it was found the evil could be stopped in no other way than by a general agreement to refuse all that had been so treated. This having been carried into effect throughout the State, they have now disappeared from circlation. But it does not seem under the law, that such coins cease to have any value but such as they may be worth as bullion. Their legal-tender value as money continues, subject only to such depreciation as may be entailed by what they fall below the standard weight. The United Ssates law on the subject is as follows: "The gold coins of the U. S. shall be a legal-tender in all payments at their nominal ualue, when not below their standard value and limit of tolerance provided by law for the single piece, and when reduced in weight below such standard and tolerance, shall be a legal tender at a valuation in proportion to their actual weight."

THE situation of New York city is one of great danger. The water supply is almost exhausted and the season of large fires has just begun. The Fire Department is experimenting with dynamite to destroy buildings in an emergency, but without water the loss to property in case of a great conflagration would be incalculable. Autumn droughts are frequently of long duration at the East, continuing until far along into November. The present danger will probably bring home to New Yorkers the necessity of increasing their water supply and of enlarging the size of the aqueducts.

THE public lands are now equally open to the European or the American. The European has only to declare his intention to become a citizen upon landing at Castle Garden, when he is allowed to enter upon and hold public lands. We have, at this time, about 210,000,000 acres of very valuable land, agricultural, timber and mineral, and 566,000,000 of barren lands, which in due time will become productive, inhabitable and valuable.

A CHEEKY Connecticut advertising agent offers the magnificent sum of $6 for this paper for a year and an advertisement, worth $80 in gold coin. "Immediate attention is desired and expected," to the infernal business and the hideous cut. After this issue all advertising agencies, save our reliable chief at San Francisco, need waste no more propositions on this concern.

IT is now believed that, in spite of all the opposition, Geo. C. Gorham will be chosen Secretary of the U. S. Senate. Senator Mahone has stated that he will vote for no one else. In the event that he adheres to his resolution, Republican Senators will be left the alternative of supporting Gorham or permitting the office to be filled by a Democrat.

IN a list of "deadbeats," published in Chicago in 1872, appears the following entry: "Z—Guiteau, Chas. J., lawyer. Income uncertain and often precarious. Defers indefinitely the payment of debts. Lawsuits to collect claims would be useless. No credit or favors should be given."

JUDGE FOLGER has been nominated for Secretary of the Treasury. The Judge is represented as a man of great learning—upright and honest in all his intercourse with men. Even the Democratic papers are friendly towards him. This nomination is as good a one as the President could have made.

MR. JAMES has been renominated and confirmed for the office he held under Garfield. New York ought to be satisfied, now that she has a President and two Cabinet Ministers. Ohio, in all her glory, never was so favored.

NEAR Pantano, Arizona, is a corporation acting under the prophetic title of the Total Wreck Milling and Mining Company.

Newspapers.

A newspaper is a business enterprise, and must be conducted on business principles. Men are constantly asking favors from newspapers which means sacrifice of space, representing money, who would not dream of asking lawyers to take cases without fees, or expect doctors to take their pay in thanks. The deadhead is disappearing from other departments of business life and the newspaper deadhead, distinguished though he may be, must follow. Newspapers, being business enterprises, must live in a business way. If the public does not support the best newspapers, it must expect to see the worst newspapers thrive. The daily newspaper is a product rather than a force. It will not only reflect but represent the age it lives in. It is true, and especially true of our own country, that newspapers in the hands of men having convictions and believing they could, with this modern lever, help move the world, have accomplished great things. Without them the great movements of the past century for the forbearance of personal, religions and political liberty would have traveled at a snail's pace. But this was possible only because they had the support and sympathy of the best men and women of the community. The newspapers can lead, but leadership implies a following, and where none will follow, none will be brave enough to lead. As a rule newspapers are what their readers make them. The responsibility of the subscriber is as great in its way as that of the editor. The surest way of keeping the standards of our journalism high, and of raising them, is for that portion of the public which knows the value and necessity of a dignified and able press, to withhold its support altogether from newspapers which cater to depraved tastes and are reckless of the truth, and give it to newspapers which can safely be taken into the family, and are not only decent but just.—N. Y. Tribune.

THE Candelaria True Fissure of last Saturday has the following railroad items:

A detachment of the surveyors of the California Central railroad passed through last Sunday. They are to begin operations in Lida Valley and will work to the northwest, crossing the Carson and Colorado about twelve miles west of Belleville. The road will be built on as near a level grade as possible, and the curves will be built on an angle of ten degrees. The width of track will be four feet eight inches, and from the evenness of grade and gradual curve it is expected to compete with the Central Pacific and Texas and Pacific railroads on a very favorable basis in the matter of time and rapidity in moving freight. The eastern portion of the California Central is known as the Denver and Rio Grande. The two roads connect in Utah, and the surveyors, according to the Pioche Record, have about completed the survey of the latter road in that Territory and got their stakes driven. They have secured all the passes and cañons from Salina to Iron City, Utah, monopolizing every piece of land it passes and cañons that are broad enough for two roads by running a double track through them, thus preventing any competition in the future. This road runs through Salina Pass to Clear Creek, down to the Clear Creek cañon on to what is known as Cove Fork, Antelope Springs, Iron Springs and Iron City, where a junction is formed with the California Central railroad. At this point the large inter-mountain manufacturing city will be situated, where the coal and iron fields are inexhaustible.

Supetintendent Yerington and Chief Engineer Oliver of the Carson and Colorado railroad were in town on Wednesday. Mr. Yerington states they are completing the grading to Belleville as rapidly as possible, and that track laying will commence next week from Front, twelve miles south of Hawthorne. The force of graders have advanced to a point this side of Soda Springs and will not encounter any difficult work until near Belleville. It is quite safe to say the grading will be finished to that point on November 1st, and, nothing intervening, a construction train may be expected by the people of our neighboring town about Thanksgiving day.

THE examination in the Jennie Cramer case at New Haven, Conn., has resulted in holding the two Malley boys for trial without bail. The trial promises to be one of the most remarkable in the country, as the evidence on the examination was very conflicting and the Malley family have pledged all their great wealth to fight the battle to the death. The manner of the young girl's death is as great a mystery as it was when her dead body was found.

THE military camp at Willcox in the Apache country aspires to metropolitan pastimes. It has a man for breakfast with great regularity; it has gambling dens and dancehouses; but it had to wait until lately for the distinction imparted by a billiard table. The camp now will not be happy until it adds a newspaper to its other curiosities.

THE notion still prevails in China and Japan that Grant is the Emperor of America. The diplomatic correspondence received at the State Department is said to have shown "singular and amusing traces" of this delusion.

"YES," said a miner lately, "I have a bonanza; my last is ten hours old and we number thirteen. My wife is a baby mine."

THERE is no disputing the fact that there is wonderful activity in real estate in this city. One leading firm here has made sales this week to the extent of $80.000. The transactions are not yet fully perfected, but the sales have been substantially consummated.—Los Angeles Herald.

Assessment Work.

We are constantly in receipt of inquiries reltive to the assessment work required on claims, and how long work will hold the claim from being subject to relocation. We have answered the question a number of times, but the following letter from the Commissioner of the General Land Office, dated Sept. 11, 1881, should be conclusive of the vexed question relative to assessment work, when it expires and claims are subject to relocation:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
General Land Office,
Washington, Sept. 12, 1881.

HENRY A. BIGELOW, Esq., Prescott, A. T.:—Referring to your letter of July 30, 1881, I have to state that the act of Congress, approved January 22, 1880, provided that "the period within which the work required to be done annually on all unpatented mineral claims shall commence on the first day January, succeeding the date of location of such claim."

Mining claims located on the 1st day of January, 1881, will not, therefore, be subject to relocation, by reason of non-performance of the required annual labor, until the 1st day of January, 1883. Very respectfully,

N. C. MCFARLAND, Commsssioner.

IN our issue of September 17th, we gave an outline of the Hamilton process for treating gold and silver ores with lead, for which an elaborate plant has been erected in this city. The company which proposes to work this process has been organized with a capital of $1,000,000, divided into 100,000 shares of the par value of $10 each; and though it is stated that all of the stock has been taken at par, and is now selling at a premium, the promoters are pushing the company vigorously in the daily press, a proceeding which is not calculated to inspire confidence. If those who are connected with it themselves believe the statements they call upon the public to accept as facts, they are recklessly giving away a very good thing. Mr. Hamilton asserts that he can treat ore for less than $1 per ton. Any one at all familiar with mining will concede that, if he can do this, his process is worth much more than $1,000,000. Still we find him and his associates endeavoring to place the stock upon the market, which is a justifiable inference of their present proceedings. While we do not wish to discourage an effort to improve our present methods of working, and look with much interest to a practical demonstration on a large scale, for which the plant is well planned, we think the wonderful claims need practical results now altogether wanting before they can be accepted by prudent men. Until such results are forthcoming, it should be distinctly understood that there are doubts of a technical character which nothing but such experiments can clear away.—N. Y. Engineering and Mining Journal.

VEST POCKET ASSAYS.—How strange it is for miners to salt their mines on themselves! Miners will open their prospect holes, put a piece of rock in their pocket as big as a walnut, get a big assay, then show it around, telling everybody they have from two to four feet of such stuff—tell it until they appear to believe it themselves. But when they finally conclude to get a mill run, they shovel up their dump, get a run, and it goes, say, 20 ounces; they denounce the mill men. What nonsense! Now, miners, do you know that 50 ounces is above the average of milling ore in all mining countries, and that a pay streak of four inches is a good average vein? If you have only a little rich ore, sort it out carefully and take it to the nearest ore market. Men on the hunt for mining investments look around the smelters. A few sacks of fine ore in a smelter beat a heap of wind puffs. Suppose you have only a few hundred pounds; get up your jack, pack it over, get your money, be it ever so little; keep to work. One worked mine is worth a dozen idle prospects. You will never sell by standing idly by and blowing about your $50,000. Get in your ore; then you will have some good sales.—Gothic Miner.

THE whole tenor of the information we receive relative to the affairs of Ireland point very directly to a programme on the part of the British Ministry to provoke the Irish people into a revolt. This cold-blooded scheme seems to have been formed with great deliberation. Ireland is garrisoned with troops in unprecedented numbers, and her coasts are covered by the guns of a great fleet. Being thus prepared to force a naked people into obedience, the Government sets deliberately to work to provoke them into frenzy by arresting their leaders on the flimsiest reasons. Constitutional rights are disregarded, and the slightest complaints against the action of the Government are construed into the crime of intimidation. Secretary Foster is evidently seeking only for a pretext to massacre the Irish, and we fear he will find one.—Ex.

HASBELL'S multicharge cannon was successfully cast at Reading in the presence of a large number of interested spectators. The metal was poured into the mould in six minutes, but it will require two weeks to cool. Along the bore will be four pockets, in each of which a charge of powder will be placed to accelerate the speed of the ball after it leaves the chamber of the gun. It is claimed that a ball thrown from this gun will pass through two feet of solid wrought iron. The charge of powder will be one hundred and thirty pounds and the weight of the projectile one hundred and fifty pounds.

UNITED States Senator, Gen. John F. Miller, has been placed on some important committees. He has been substituted for Conkling on the Committee of Commerce and for Conkling on that of Engrossing Bills. Gen. Miller will wield much influence at Washington before his Senatorial term expires.

THE Bishop Creek and Bodie telegraph scheme has fallen through for lack of subscriptions at the Bishop Creek end of the line.—Bodie Free Press.

THE acme of politeness was reached by the Nevada mining Superintendent who posted a placard reading: "Please do not tumble down the shaft."

WORK FOR ALL. — Since the hydraulic mines recommenced operations, the hundreds of men who were thrown out of employment when operations were suspended, and did not possess the means fo get away, have gone to their old places once more. Those who left the county at the time are gradually drifting back again. Emyloyment is found for all worthy applicants, and the demand is much greater than the supply at present. The forces at one of the mines will be increased some 300 men within the next thirty days. The best part of all is that Chinamen cannot obtain work of any kind.—Nevada Transcript, Oct. 14.

There is a great sensation at Lewiston, Idaho, with regard to new diggings on Salmon river. A wing dam put in near Elk Creek for prospecting purposes turns out to be an immense success. Two thousand dollars have been taken out by one party in 24 hours. Machinery has been ordered from Portland to work on a large scale.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 29 1881

WAUCOBA.—J. Wal. Phillips and A McKellips were in town yesterday from Waucoba District. The district is situate just across the summit of the Inyos, nearly opposite Independence, about 30 miles distant. It was much talked of years ago, when Major Egbert, Dr. White and other officers of Camp Independence organized a company headed by Alfred Bierstadt, the artist. Considerable money was spent on the property, building trails and making a great number of openings on the claims, but at no one point was any depth attained of consequence. A complete mill outfit was hauled in through Silver Peak and Eureka Valley, from whence the machinery was packed over a mountain spur into the head of Saline Valley, when operations ceased and the works lie there yet. An active movement is now on foot in New York, whereby the Bierstadt M. & M. Company are to resume active operations on the mines. Gen. Houston, with Prof. Fuller, an expert, are expected here shortly. The other company, recently organized in the East by Mr. Phillips, the Waucoba Con. Mining Company, has Messrs. Phillips & McKellips at work there now. The chief mines are the Old Argentiferous, Great Eastern, Occidental, Oriental, Underwood, Truman Weed and the Lead Queen. The parties report the discovery of some very large ledges of argentiferous galena, and have no doubt whatever about their ability to show up sufficient to justify the erection of a 20 or 30-ton smelter by next Spring. The district abounds in water and forests of piñon wood, the only drawback now being the lack of wagon roads connecting with the head of Mazourka Cañon. It certainly presents an inviting field for capital, and one bound to cut a big figure in the mining world.

THEATRICALS. — Mrs. Sara Stevens Heenan, aided by local talent, comprising Mr. S. V. and Miss Marcia Stevens, Mr. Wm. Barrows, Mr. Geo. Gregory and others, will give a parlor entertainment to-night, at Mairs' Hall, and at ether places during the week following as announced in the advertisement elsewhere. It is little less than a disgrace to Independence that it has no hall suitable for public gatherings. The action of the Supervisors in refusing the use of the Court House to the citizens of the county is simply overdoing the matter of careful guardianship of public property. It is a course not followed by any other county in the State. While we would object to traveling shows using it, we contend that citizens of the county have a right to it—a right of coustesy due to ladies and gentlemen, and as much of a right to enjoy the Court House as they have a right to be taxed to build and support it. However, we hope that as many as can crowd into the Mairs building will be there to-night, to enjoy the entertainment and give the talented lady a substantial benefit.

NO SALE AS YET.—Notwithstanding the efforts of several mining men representing capital, there is no sale of the Keynot gold mine to be reported yet. Hamilton and Smith have returned to San Francisco. Geo. Storey, after spending about ten days looking over the district, has gone back to Bishop. Mr. Taylor, from Montezuma, who visited the Keynot two or three times, has gone northward. All these parties propose to return again. Word comes pretty straight that Peter Taylor, backed by a San Francisco company, will soon be on hand with plenty of cash capital to capture the whole works. Uncle Peter is entitled to immense credit for having practically brought out the district, and we sincerely hope he and his company will get the mines.

VIRGINIA CON.—Mr. Chenot, Superintendent of the Virginia Consolidated mines, on Kearsarge Peak, has just put on a small working force of miners. We understand that operations will be confined to searching out and opening outcroppings on the line of the Virginia ledge, which is judged by those best informed to be one of the very best on the mountain. Some very rich gold and silver ores from the mines were worked at the Pioneer mills in early days.

FIGHT.—A couple of beligerents got into a fight Thursday night at the Dexter saloon, Lone Pine, on account of a poker game, the sum of two dollars being up as backing each man's opinion as to his ability to clean out the other. Before being separated both men got pretty well hurt, but as the stakeholderess retained the money the matter was decided a draw, at an amicable meeting the next day.

COMPLETED. — The bridge across Owens River, built by the citizens of Lone Pine to connect the Beveridge trail, has been completed, and is pronounced by experts to be a perfect and durable structure. A wagon road has been opened up to the springs in the cañon.

NEW ROAD.—At the next meeting of the Board of Supervisors that body will be petitioned to declare a county road the new route running through the Black Rocks past Gray's and Tibbetts place to Curtis'. Such an order should be made.

PANAMINT.—Supt. Pheby arrived at Darwin last Saturday, en route to Panamint. It is said that he will immediately put on a large force, in mining and rebuilding the road.

RETURN.—Will the gentleman who borrowed a couple of specimens of gold ore from the Independence assay office please return them to THE INDEPENDENT? And oblige.

GOOD.—We quote Dr. W. H. George in the assertion that "An ounce of PLUCK is of more value than tons of LUCK. Lubor omnia vincit." Keno.

AVENA SCHOOL.—Following is the report of the Irving District school for the month ending October 21st, 1881: No. enrolled during month, 51; average No. belonging, 42; average daily attendance, 40; percentage attendance, 90 per cent. No. enrolled during the entire three months of session, 57. Roll of honor—Mamie Cameron, Lizzie Harper, Annie Lent, Nettie Ford, Annie Munson, Cora Munson, Maud McDonald, Myrtle Powers, Melvena Powers, Minnie Smith, Eva Turner, Carrie Womacott, Jennie Yandell, Jessie Parsons, Tommie Hutchison, Bennie Yandell, Willie Munson. The general deportment of the pupils during the past month has shown marked improvement, and the amount of work accomplished has surpassed that of any preceding month. The patrons express complete satisfaction with the progress of the pupils, and, by their sympathy and good feeling, have materially lightened the labors of the teacher.

LONE PINE SCHOOL.—Following is the teachers' report of the Lone Pine school, month ending October 28: No. enrolled 38, average No. belonging 34, percentage of attendance 91. In the examination in all studies, Misses Julia Meysan and Annie Adams were perfect; the following averaged above 90 per cent, Mr. Felix Meysan, Cristobal Carasco, and Frank Elder, and Misses Emma Duval, Eugene Meysan, Matilda Meysan, Della Rittgers, Estella Meysan and Adella Powers. In the primary class Mr. Johnnie Lubken attended every day and deserves credit for good behavior and attendance.

MONUMENT FUND. -- Independence stands in on the San Francisco Garfield Monument fund, up to last Wednesday, the sum of $22 50, as follows: P. A. Chalfant, $1; J. W. P. Laird, $1; H. Levy, $1; S. D. Woodhull, $1; G. H. Hardy, $1; J. C. Irwin, $1; J. Fernbach, $1; Harris & Rhine, $5; S. P. Moffatt, $1; A. W. Eibeshutz, $1; Abe Parker, 50c.; J. L. Woods, 50c.; O. I. Mairs, 50c.; W. H. George, $1; Thos. Webb, $1; Jno. Crough, $1: S. V. Stevens, $1; H. Fehrman, $1; J. E. Parker, $1; V. G. Thompson, $1.

COURT.—In the Superior Court on October 26, in case of Thos. J. Goodale vs. Chas. L. Olds, Restitution. Argued and submitted to jury of four persons. Jury find for the plaintiff damages in the sum of $35. The prayer of the complaint calls for treble the amount found due: hence judgment entered in the sum of $105, besides costs.

HERE.—Capt. Keeler, accompanied by Samuel Groves, a successful mining man from Eastern Nevada, have been experting the Kearsarge property, with a view of organizing a strong new company to work it. They were yesterday inspecting some Mazourka Cañon ledges.

SETTLED.—It has been reported that not long ago, at Seattle, W. T., Johnny Day, the foot-racer known hereabouts as D. W. James, was shot and killed by a hotel-keeper—the former having failed to Seattle his bill. The rumor lacks newspaper confirmation.

SNOW. — Pretty much every night since last Monday snow has been falling on the mountains, whitening them down to the foothills. Everything has a decidedly Winterish air—the air and all. It makes diminutive wood piles feel sick.

POLETA.—We hear that several miners have been discharged, owing to the impossibility of working advantageously to any greater depth without hoisting machinery. It is said that works are to be put on the mine right away.

MUSICAL.—Attention is directed to the advertisement of A. L. Bancroft & Co., of the Knabe piano. These instruments are as far ahead of the parlor organ arrangements as the organ beats a Jews harp.

RACES. — The speeding at Bishop Creek between Brown Abby and the Coalburner mare was won by the former by some eighteen feet. Another contest is on the tapis, free for all, for a purse of $100.

DIED.—At Barnes' hotel, in Lone Pine, on Sunday last, a miner from Darwin, William Welch by name, died suddenly from the effects of lead poison and drink combined. He was 36 years old.

TAXES.—See notice of Tax Collector Smith, announcing when and where he will kindly receive for State and County purposes the several amounts due from our respective citizens.

QUERY.—Why are persons allowed to openly entrap quail in this section when it is not tolerated in other counties? Forty dollars are offered in some places for convicting evidence.

SOLD.—A report comes from the Secretary that the mines belonging to the Los Angeles Mining and Smelting Company at Resting Springs, have been sold to a new corporation.

WOOD.—F. Lawrence, in an advertisement this week, announces that he is prepared to take contracts for delivering any quantity of wood, posts, etc., and haul freights generally.

SUDDEN DEATH.—A miner employed in the Poleta mine at Bishop Creek fell dead while striking the drill, from heart disease. We have no particulars further than his name was McKenzie.

NEW STOCK.—S. L. Woods' neat little mercantile establishment is now filled to repletion with a new stock of fashionable clothing, fresh groceries, fancy goods, etc.

CITIZENS.—Upon order of the Court and the oaths of Joseph Fernbach and Frank Dillon, Silas Reynolds and Wm. T. Treglown were admitted to citizenship.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.—Teachers and others interested in educational affairs will take notice of the announcement by the County Board, given this week.

MINERS WANTED.—It will be seen by the notice elsewhere that half a dozen good miners can get work at Darwin, for Reddy & Gorman.

KEYOT BULLION.—As near as can be learned, some $13,000 in gold has been shipped to Lone Pine from the Taylor mill during the month.

DISSOLUTION.—The late firm of Eddy & Gorman, at Darwin, has been dissolved.

Two Claims on Same Ledge.

By the following ruling of the Land Commissioner it will be seen that the U. S. Land office will countenance a locator in taking up two claims on the same ledge: In reply to your letter asking whether you will be allowed to locate two or more claims on the same ledge, which you say was discovered by you, I have to call your attention to the fact that section 2320, Revised Statutes, declares that:

"A mining claim located after the 10th day of May, 1872, whether located by one or more persons, may equal, but shall not exceed, 1,500 ft. in length along the vein or lode, but no location of a mining claim shall be made until the discovery of a vein or lode within the limits of the claim located."

There is no provision of law, however, to prevent parties from locating other claims upon the same lode outside of the first location made on the vein or lode. If a vein or lode 3,000 feet in length is discovered by a party, two locations may be made by him thereon, each 1,500 feet in length. A full compliance with the requirements of the mining laws will, of course, be necessary in the case of each claim or location before the patent can be issued therefor.

THE Belmont mining company has purchased a new roaster called the Pacific Improved Chloridizing Furnace. This is a new style of charging furnace—an improvement on what is commonly known as the Bruckner Cylinder. For gold sulphurets or very base silver ores it is regarded by many as the most simple furnace in use. The ore is at all times under perfect control, and the charges can be run any length of time until in proper condition to be drawn, thus making it peculiarly adapted to all classes and conditions of base ores. The hoppers hold a full charge, and only five minutes are required for charging the cylinder. To discharge it, the cylinder is run about thirty minutes with the door open. The amount of ore they will handle per day of course depends upon the length of time required for each charge, which averages five to fifteen hours. Four of them have been in operation at the White and Shiloh mine in Nevada for the past two years, working with great economy and satisfaction, the basest ores in this State, up to an average of over 90 per cent. After a long series of experiments the mechanical construction has been brought to such a degree of perfection that no loss or annoyance is experienced in the way of stoppage for repairs.—Belmont Courier.

THE Union Nouvelle says that Mr. Victor Beaudry has concluded to make his permanent home in Los Angeles. In a few days he will start for Montreal for his family, and in the meantime a fine residence will be constructed for him at the head of Temple street. Mr. Victor Beaudry is a gentleman of large wealth and of extensive interests in this city, and as permanent residents he and his family will form a most valuable accession to our social circles.—Los Angeles Express.

Children's Eyesight.

Shortsightedness is becoming prevalent among German school children, especially among those furthest advanced in their studies. Adults are also troubled with this disease, and theological students suffer from it to a greater extent than any other class of society. In the latter case defective vision has been attributed to the type used in the books they were obliged to study, and any one who compares German with Roman characters will perceive the inferiority of the former in regard to legibility. It is said that the shortsightedness of children is caused, in large measure, by the improper lighting and ventilation of their schoolrooms. In reference to this subject it is suggested that pupils shall abstain from reading and writing in the twilight, and parents are requested to use their authority in this direction. This example should be followed by the heads of many Philadelphia families, as carelessness in regard to eyesight is lamentably frequent among our boys and girls.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

THE 12-inch equatorial telescope and the accompanying transit instrument purchased some time ago for the Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton, near San Jose, Cal., has arrived and are now being set up. The work is being done under the direction of Prof. Edwin S. Holden, lately of the Washington Naval Observatory, who is astronomer in charge of the Madison, Wis., Observatory. Prof. Holden is accompanied by Prof. S. W. Burnham, assistant Observer at Madison Observatory. The telescope will be in position in time for an observation of the transit of Mercury, which will occur on the 8th of next month. If the weather happens to be clear on the day of the transit, it is expected that a far better observation will be obtained from the summit of Mount Hamilton through the twelve inch telescope than is possible in an Eastern atmosphere through the much larger equatorials mounted in Eastern observatories.

GEN. FORSYTHE, of Sheridan's staff, found a humorist during his recent tour of inspection among the military posts on the extreme Western frontier. Away up in the foothills along Green river he came upon a station-keeper who lived in a hut containing four stalls for animals, and a combination parlor, kitchen and sleeping apartment six by ten in size. Over the door, outside, in huge character letters, "Hotel de starvation, 1,000 miles from hay and grain, seventy miles from wood, fifteen miles from water, and only twelve inches from h—ll.!' The walls of the room are decorated with pictures cut from police publications. Over the door inside, in charcoal letters a foot in length, are the words, "God bless our home," and in another place the notice, "Wanted—a nice young girl for general houswork. Apply within."

THE Marquise de Rochambeau has fallen very much in love with this country, and makes one observation which might not be expected of a woman: "One thing I must say, and that is, I have never seen so many beautiful women — not merely the women that have called upon me, but in the street; even the working women have attracted my attention by their fine features and graceful figures and clear complexions. And then the excellent taste displayed by your florists is really surprising. In France we have lovely flowers, but there is no such skill in arranging them in artistic boquets, charming baskets and horseshoes as has been seen in the numerous floral gifts presented to us."

THE recent census contains an estimate of the outlay for building and repairing farm fences during the year 1879. From this report we learn that in eleven States $13,565,746 were expended on fences alone. The Agricultural Department has not been able to give an estimate of the total value of fences and the cost of repairing them, but it is believed that the cost is greater than the entire value of the live stock—horses, mules, cattle, sheep and swine—they are built to guard against.

IT is stated that a larger number and greater variety of ideas can be conveyed, with more exactness, in a given number of words in the English language than in almost any other. This is strikingly shown in the matter of telegraphy. It has been demonstrated that for all telegraphic purposes the English language is from 25 to 33 per cent cheaper than the French, German, or any other language.

THE KEELY MOTOR.

The Keely motor is a "thing which no fellah can find out" the use of, as one of the best known newspaper men in the United States said yesterday. A number of frivolous experiments were made by Mr. Keely at his laboratory at No. 1,422 North Twentieth street, Philadelphia, yesterday, with the avowed purpose of astonishing the metropolitan press.

The ball was opened by Mr. C. F. Green, treasurer of the Keely Motor Company, who announced that experiments would be given by Mr. Keely to prove the practical value of his invention, the theory of which has already been made public.

The exhibition was given in a small room, half workshop and half office, which contained an old, battered machine resembling a soda-water generator as much as anything. Mr. Keely first took a common-sized goblet of water, and poured a small portion of its contents into a steel tube leading into the central reservoir. This, he said, would furnish the entire power necessary to perform mighty feats, unrivalled by steam or electricity. He then went the rounds of a multitude of cocks and valves, all of which seemed to require either tightening or loosening. The next thing in order was to test the vibratory force of the whole affair. This was done by drawing an immense violin bow across a tuning fork of extraordinary power, which was connected to the machine by a small copper wire. An exceeeingly harmonious sound was given forth, and echoed by a mysterious voice from the interior of the machine. This performance was carried on for a long time, the screwing and unscrewing, and harmonious succession of sounds following each other, until an imaginary pressure of 22,000 pounds to the square inch (of what) was reached.

Then Mr. Keely hung three or four rather large weights at the end of a beam of iron, balanced upon a fulcrum close to the point from which power is applied. Down into a small hole went a "plunger" ¼ of an inch in diameter. The inventor turned on a jet of something which was supposed to exert a force upon the plunger, equivalent to 18,500 pounds. An indicator of shining brass attached to the main generator then commenced to revolve fiercely, and gave forth a number of appalling sounds like a Corliss engine in distress. The walking-beam leaped up three or four inches, weights and all, and Mr. Green proceeded to explain that the action of the power was elastic and not hydraulic, that is, it worked quickly, whereas hydraulic power worked slow and gradual.

The next thing in order was the production of a small howitzer, which was loaded with a round rubber pad, about a quarter of an inch thick. This terrible engine of war was attached to the machine by a wire, and a feeble explosion followed. The wad was taken out, and exhibited to the admiring circle of critics, and a hole was found to have been blown in the middle. This experiment was called the rupture of the diaphragm.

Mr. Keely then unscrewed the howitzer from the stock of the cannon, and accommodated it with the barrel of a Krupp gun. He loaded this formidable affair with a leaden bullet, about an inch in diameter. A pine plank, about three-quarters of an inch thick, was placed at the distance of about twenty feet. A report followed, sending the bullet through the board against an iron plate, which flattened the projectile and gave it a reflex action by which the crural bones of the enterprising reporters in the immediate vicinity were greatly endangered.

After this Fourth of July business had been repeated several times, the company was invited to inspect the transmission of light through a thick and opaque sheet of glass, which by the way was transparant at the outset. The glass was placed upon the machine in an unconventional manner, and the light allowed to penetrate it at its leisure. This experiment was highly satisfactory—at least the light got through comfortably.

In another little room, adjacent to the other, was a simple band and pulley machine which was said to be the motive power of the whole affair. If this is the case, the object of the motor power does not appear. The investigators were allowed to inspect this curiosity ab libitum. Several stalwart memberr tried their strength by introducing long iron bars between the various wheels and the bed of the machine, and attempting to stop its motion. This noble effort, however, proved a failure, as it might have done if tried upon the wheels of a locomotive running sixty miles an hour.

At this time there was a loud inquiry as to the source of the motive power. It was even suggested by some skeptical persons that it might proceed from the region below. This was stoutly denied by Mr. Keely, but he refused to gratify the curiosity of the indefatigable newspaper man by an expose of the lower part of the building. There is nothing to show that the "engine" is not run by bands coming from a pulley wheel below.

Altogether, the whole exhibition is like a spiritualistic seance, the beholder must be gifted with faith, and accept the whole as inscrutable mystery, or reject is as charlantry.—N. Y. Mail.

MANAGEMENT.

The shameless operations of the Comstock management, whether practiced in Nevada or any other portion of the mining territory, deserve the wholesale condemnation of all who are opposed to fraud of the basest sort and gross injustice of the darkest hue. There is no reasonable justification for the immense assessments that have been levied for years upon the stockholders of these once prominent Comstock mines. The probabilities of new and profitable ore bodies will not justify the millions of dollars that have been spent over and over again. These vast sums of money, amounting to three or four millions of dollars in a number of the mines, could not be spent in the legitimate development in these mines by working for mineral alone, without long ago forcing to the conclusion that the task was in vain and further expenditure was not only useless, but simply outrageous robbery. It is but simple justice to the mines themselves and to the mining industry, to say that a large proportion of these immense asseessments never were used to prove or develop the ore bodies, but has been absorbed by a system of extravagant management, so that it never touched the mines. In the face of the unparalleled cost of working these Comstock mines and years of losses which their history shows, we firmly believe that there are bodies of mineral in the upper levels which an economical system of mining would make profitable to all interested. These millions of dollars squandered upon the little group of mines known as the Comstock, will not have been spent in vain if the blackened record of extravagance, stock-jobbing and most diabolical schemes of extortion and shameful robbery shall serve as a beacon of warning to others that may profit by the dearly bought experience and escape from the same disastrous results.

The strangest thing connected with the whole matter is the fact that stockholders have patiently consented, year after year, to be bled, until the assessments amount in six mines alone, to $22,000,000, and that men of reason should be so readily disposed to invest in the stocks of mines, with such a history on the merest rumor of striking ore, originated by interested parties for the purpose of unloading stock, to escape paying an assessment which they have already decided to levy upon those foolish enough to purchase. When at the present time there are thousands of good paying mines, well managed, bearing a good record, in different parts of the country, it is time the flow of dollars into the deep pockets of the dishonest managers of non-productive mining schemes was summarily cut off, and turned into more legitimate and profitable channels.—Eureka Leader.

PRESIDENT TYLER retained his predecessor's Cabinet five months without change. He then reorganized his Cabinet, admitting four new members. The War office changed hands a month afterwards. The Secretary of State, Mr. Webster, remained in office about two years. He was the last member of Gen. Harrison's Cabinet. President Fillmore effected a complete reorganization of the Cabinet fourteen days after he took the office, not a single member of the former Cabinet being retained. President Johnson made only one change during the first year of his term—in the Department of the Interior, a month after Mr. Lincoln's death. During the second year the Postmaster-General and Attorney-General retired, and during the fourth year a change was made in the War office. Three members of Mr. Lincoln's Cabinet—Mr. Seward, Mr. McCulloch and Mr. Welles—remained in office until the close of Mr. Johnson's term.

THE late transactions in Confederate bonds, which were reported in our dispatches, have a curious explanation. The speculators in Wall street have been paying $2 50 per $1,000 for the bonds, while in London a $1,000 bond brought $5. The explanation is that the lawyers have information that there is on deposit in the Bank of England a Confederate fund amounting to £160,000, which, with the accrued interest, would make quite a good sum. England, after the war, refused to surrender up this money, unless the United States, as administrator, would also assume the debts. It is presumed the foreign holders of the bonds intend to bring suit against this deposit.

Important to Mine Owners.

The following remarks by the Homer Index will apply to many important districts in this county, as well as those mentioned:

Now is the time, above all others, for owners of valuable mining claims in Homer, Jordan and Tioga districts (upon which sufficient expenditure has been made) to apply for a Government patent. Jumpers are not around at this season of the year to make conflicting locations for the purpose of extorting money from those seeking patents, and most if not all of those who have made such locations are either absent or do not consider such claims as are entitled to patents of sufficient value in their present stage of development to justify the owners in putting up blackmail. Besides, the camp is dull, a great many mines with fine prospects are lying idle, and under all the circumstances no man would enter a protest and go to the expense of entering suit within thirty days, as required by law, unless actual and valuable rights are being infringed upon. A patent puts an end to litigation touching the title to mining ground for which it is issued, and nothing so retards the development and progress of a mining district as litigation over titles. Moreover, it is almost impossible at the present day to sell a mining claim to Eastern capitalists, whether individual or corporate, without first procuring a Government patent; and mine owners should bear in mind the fact that a patent applied for and obtained this Winter, while times are dull and there are no schemers or adventurers in the camp, is not likely to cost as many hundreds of dollars as it will cost thousands next Spring—to say nothing of the law's delays when one or more protests are entered.

How to Dismiss an Application for a Patent.

A gentleman of this place, says the Elko Independent, a short time ago, with a view of obtaining definite information upon an obscure clause in the law affecting title to the public domain, applied to the Commissioner of the General Land Office, making the following statement: "Some years ago, the owners of a certain mining claim procured a survey thereof and filed an application for a patent, but proceeded no further than publication of notice; that since that time the claim has been relocated as abandoned property, and that the present owner is desirous of obtaining a patent, but no survey thereof could be had, as the application of the former owners is still upon the records of the local land office, and he now seeks to learn as to the manner in which a dismissal of the application can be secured in order that a new survey may be made, upon which to base an application for a patent by the present owners."

The Commissioner replies: "That a party desiring to file an application under the circumstances stated should transmit to this office his affidavit, and that one or more disinterested persons, reciting the facts of the case, giving the date of the original location, the time when work was suspended by the former owners, date of relocation by the present owners and such other material fact as will as will establish a prima facie case of abandonment. If such a case be established by said affidavit, the register and receiver of the proper land office will be instructed to order a hearing in the matter, giving notice to all parties concerned; and if the result of such hearing be to sustain the allegation of the claimant, the application of the former claimant will be dismissed and the premises restored to the public domain, subject to entry and patent by the relocator upon complying with the provisions of the law."

THE report of the Director of the Mint relative to the production of the precious metals for the fiscal year 1880 shows that the estimated production of $36,000,000 in gold has been sustained, and that the value of the silver product during 1880—namely, $39, 200,000—exceeds the estimates of the Director by $1,500,000. The silver bullion purchased during the fiscal years for coinage amounted to 24,262,571 standard ounces, worth, at its coinage value, $28,232,810. The deposit of silver coin and bullion not of domestic production was $2,507,766, of which probably $2,000,000 was purchased and used.

A SECRET society has been formed in St. Petersburgh for the purpose of combating the Nihilists with their own weapons. The society is composed of 300 persons, divided into groups of five each, and directed by a central committee, at the head of which is a man of princely rank, closely connected with the throne. The other members belong chiefly to the nobility and the official class. They are animated with intense hatred of Nihilism, and are determined even to assassination to crush it.

IN and around Montezuma district a little flurry of excitement has been caused this week by the discovery of some favorable looking ore. The country thereabouts has all the geological conditions to contain great mines, and in the early days of this part of the State produced a large quantity of ore which was hauled to Austin and reduced there at a big profit to the owners.—Candelaria True Fissure.

DR. BRUNETI recommends, as an efficacious remedy in intermittent fevers, a preparation comprised of twelve grammes of the chloride of sodium and one gramme of ferric carbonate. This is to be divided into six doses, to be taken in twenty-four hours. To prevent the recurrence of the malady, one dose a day is to be taken for the following week.

THE plan of the Board of trade to induce immigration to California is thus stated by the committee of that body appointed to suggest methods: That the President of the Board shall name twelve prominent representative members, who shall have power to increase their number to twenty; and this body shall constitute itself into a Bureau of Immigration, and shall organze itself as such under the laws of the State. This organization will, your committee feels assured, have no difficulty in raising all the money it requires in order to carry on its work. It can appeal to every business man and to every person who has a substantial interest in the State to assist it as far as his means will warrant. It can say: If we can make every valley and hillside in the State to have fifty well-to-do inhabitants where they now have one, every business interest in the State, yours amongst the rest, will be proportionately improved; and when the Legislature meets it can appeal to that body for State aid, and for official recognition. To insure success, this bureau should, in its personnel, be kept clear of politics and free from the control of the land-owning interest. In carrying out its work, this Board should first establish a central office in this city, and from that office should spring out a perfect network of agencies and machinery to distribute reliable information and maps concerning this State—its resources, and the prices, location and capabilities of public and private lands that are obtainable. It should also ask for the friendly co-operation of all transportation companies, more particularly the Southern Pacific railroad, to the end that special rates should be secured for immigrants, and also half-fare search tickets for those who are in a bona fide manner looking for permanent locations. It should also exert itself to secure the friendly co-operation of the press, and might possibly be instrumental in bringing about a convention of editors and publishers for the purpose of devising methods whereby they may assist the movement. In short, this bureau could, and no doubt would, utilize every method and agency that human ingenuity and experience can suggest in carrying out its purpose."

APPEALS on behalf of the Michigan sufferers continue to be made. It is now stated that not more than half a million dollars has been subscribed for their relief, whereas a round million will be required. There has been a curious sluggishness about the popular response to these appeals, and it is not creditable to the public heart. These sufferers are American citizens, and their wives and children. They are industrious deserving people. They have undergone the most terrible afflictions. They have lost all their property, by forest fires. They must be helped, and that quickly, or there will be worse tales yet to tell of their sufferings. A mere trifle from every man who is able to give it would make up the half million needed in twenty-four hours, and the duty of contributing is one from which none can excuse themselves.

OUR Comstockers do not think much of the majority of what are called mines down in Arizona. They say that in many instances the deposits on which the Arizona mines are incubating might be dug out and packed away on a jackass at one load. The Virginia Enterprise is responsible for this.

GEN. MCCOMB has been appointed warden of the Folsom Branch Prison. An exchange thinks that this will be a severe blow to San Francisco, as he has been the most conspicuous figure in Fourth of July processions there for some years.

THE LIMIT OF HUMAN LIFE.

In the Revue Scientifique M. de Solaville considers the question debated by physiologists so much, "Can man reach and pass the age of a hundred years?" His article is republished in the Popular Science Monthly, and it presents an interesting array of opinions and statistics. Buffon, the first man in France to raise the inquiry as to the limit of human life, argued that as man becomes an adult at sixteen he ought to live to be six times that age, that is 96. Heusler, the German, thought that a year previous to the age of Abraham was equal to but three months of our time, among the people of the East, but even he declared that "man kills himself rather than dies." Dr. Huferand and other German physiologists held that man does not become an adult until 25, and that he ought to live to be eight times that age, or 200. Dr. Gardner, an English physiologist, believed that a century is nearly the limit of human life.

As to the greatest age attained by man in modern times there is a conflict of opinion. Sir George Cornewell Lewis believing that the existence of a centenarian has not been demonstrated. M. de Solaville, however, furnishes statistics which rebuke such skepticism. He says that Hippocrates, the father of medicine, lived to be 90. Terentia, the divorced wife of Cicero, passed 110, although her life was vexed by four successive husbands, and in almost all countries there are many cases in which men and women have survived a century, a few having lived almost 200 years. As to the means of attaining the greatest possible longevity various suggestions are given, the fact being noted that centenarians have almost invariably been temperate, regular in the use of plain food, accustomed to much walking and devoted to the dictum of "early to bed and early to rise."

A summary of such advice is contained in the following quotation from Hoffman, the wise and witty German physiologist: "Avoid excess in everything, respect old habits, even bad ones, breathe a pure air, adapt your food to your temperament, shun medicines and doctors, keep a quiet conscience, a gay heart, a contented mind." M. de Solaville finds that more people pass sixty years of age in France than in any other country, but the number of French centenarians is not increasing. What is better, however, is the fact that the average duration of human life is increasing in that country. As physiological laws come to be better understood the average duration of life will be increased throughout the world.

THE reports in regard to the prospects and progress of the Panama Canal scheme, are quite unsatisfactory and somewhat conflicting. There seems to be abundant preparation, but very little actual work. At one time we are told that the cost of excavation will greatly exceed the estimates, and then again we read that recent soundings show immense deposits of clay, where hard rock was supposed to exist, thus greatly reducing the original estimates. And now we are told that the "Brussels excavators employed work expensively, except in soft mud, and that the excavation at one of the new villages is found to cost actually $1 25 per cubic yard, instead of three cents as originally estimated." At a recent date, 70 of the total number of workmen had already died, and there was a great demand for hospital accomodations. This latter convenience was being largely extended, including graveyard conveniences. Altogether, it would seem that the prospects of this grand engineering scheme are anything but brilliant.

PROF. KLEIN, of Kentucky, who claims to have discovered a double comet with nine satellites attending it, says: "I have made comets and the cometary system a study for years, and I am of the opinion that they have established orbits enlinking those of the planets. I believe them to be great generators of electricity by great friction, and the promoters of great storms by creating vacuums which are of but momentary duration as the comet plunges madly through space. I think it possible that the earth is affected by their presence in our solar system in the above manner, just as it is affected by the presence of the sun and moon. The sun gives us heat and light and the moon affects our tides. So do comets have their effect on our earth."

NEWARK, a city in New Jersey (foreign), gets excited over a little irregularity on the part of a man named Baldwin, who was cashier and manager of the Mechanic's National Bank. He was nice and toney, but the abstraction of some $2,000,000, lost in Wall street, busted the bank.

GUITEAU shows about as sound judgment in planning his defence as his counsel. There has always been too much method in his madness to allow any plea now of insanity to excuse his miserable crime.

ANOTHER outcrop of this strange sort of hoodlumism has recently occurred in the State University. There was a difference of opinion among the faculty as to whether the offenders should be expelled. After much discussion, however, it was decided to expel them, and the culprits were dismissed. The juniors and seniors sympathize strongly with the Sophomores, and these three classes display a spirit of insubordination, reaching almost on open rebellion. The situation is said to be critical and alarming. If this puny behaviour should make the faculty back down trom the stand they have taken or hesitate in their purpose to insist upon wholesome discipline, it would not be a bad idea to dismiss them, also, and give the institution a new beginning in sound principles. Several years ago a whole class was expelled from Princeton College for taking advantage of helpless Freshmen and playing vile and cruel tricks upon them. The improvement in the moral tone of the institution wrought by this example was remarkable.

AN Austrian engineer has discovered a new method of disintegrating rocks. The chief feature of his system is to employ a hollow cylinder like a gaspipe and to place a dynamite cartridge, not as hitherto in a hole bored into the rock to be blasted but in the cylinder in question. The cartridge only touches the surface of the rock which it is desired to shatter. The explosion of the dynamite is effected by means of electricity, and the effect is said to be greater than the usual cartridge in a hole bored in the rock. The rock is shattered into fragments so small that a fair stream is able to wash them away without help, whereas in the case of gunpowder the rock is only split up in blocks more or less troublesome to remove. The system is calculated to effect a saving of fully forty per cent. as compared with the old system.

THE Modesto, Tuolumne and Mono Railroad Company has been incorporated for the purpose of constructing and operating a railroad and telegraph line between Modesto in Stanislaus county to the San Joaquin branch of the Central Pacific, thence running through Stanislaus, Tuolumne and Mono counties to Bodie. The estimated length of the road is about 150 miles. The width of the tracks, which will be either double or single, is to be 4 feet 8½ inches. Chas. Crocker, A. N. Towne, Chas. F. Crocker, E. N. Miller, Jr. and W. V. Huntington are the Directors. The capital stock is $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares at $100 each. One thousand five hundred shares of the stock has been subscribed. W. V. Huntington has been elected Treasurer of the company.

THE case of the United States vs. Geo. Q. Cannon, Congressional Delegate for Utah, on a suit brought to annul Cannon's certificate on the ground of fraud, etc., was decided against Cannon by Chief Justice Hunter at Salt Lake on the 31st ultimo. The Court held that Cannon's certificate of naturalization was null, void and fraudulent. It maintained Gov. Murray in granting a certificate of election to Campbell, the Gentile candidate. This is one of the most important decisions ever made in favor of the Gentiles in Utah, and there was much excitement in Mormondom over it.

THE State Board of Health has issued a circular and sent it to the press throughout the State. It says smallpox comes at quite regular intervals, and now California is in danger of a visitation of the scourge. It urges revaccination and strong sanitary measures. The Board has taken steps to overhaul emigrant trains and quarantine cases of the disease beyond the American River. It says most cases thus far come from Chicago, conveyed by immigrants.

THE pension roll is rapidly swelling into proportions that give promise to become unbearably onerous upon the people. For the current fiscal year there will be a deficit of at least $20,000,000 in the fund to meet the roll, which has now swelled to $70,000,000. The Pension Act is one of those measures so badly and loosely constructed that it opens the doors to enormous abuses and to endless frauds upon the Treasury.

MINING dividends for the present year, from January 1st to October 1st, foot up to the sum of $11,132,541. These are credited to the different mining States and Territories as follows: Arizona, $1,610,000; California, $1,936, 766; Colorado, $1,879,500; Dakota, $795; Georgia, $20,000; Mexico, $100,000; Michigan, $2,265,000; Missouri, $40,000; Montana, $470,000; Nevada, $1, 419,262; and Utah $597,000.

A RECENT decision of the Supreme Court makes a change in condemning land for road purposes. The value of land must be ascertained by a jury, unless a jury be waived, as in other civil cases in a court of record.

THE Carson Appeal says articles of incorporation of the Nevada Midland Railroad Company, with capital stock at $5,000,000, divided into 500,000 shares, have been filed in the office of the Secretary of State. It is to be constructed from a point on the eastern boundary line of the State of Nevada, in White Pine county, to and through the counties of White Pine, Nye, Eureka, Lander, Churchill, Lyon, Douglas, Esmeralda, Ormsby and Washoe, to a point on the western boundary line of the State, in the county of Douglas.

THE descent of the Chilian Government upon the Peruvian authorities and the seizure of the Peruvian Treasury and bank are believed in Lima to be the beginning of a movement to obliterate the nationality of Peru, the whole territory of the defeated republic to be annexed to Chile. The hard fate of war in the case of Chile ought to convince the people of other nations that arbitration is better than an appeal to arms for the adjustment of international grievances.

THE London Times pays the highest compliment to the President's Yorktown address when it says, of its references to the Queen and the English people, that the latter "were unprepared to find the occasion upon which a British disaster was nominally celebrated, serving to rivet the bonds of union between the two countries. President Arthur's grateful regard wherewith he spoke of the Queen will make a deep impression in the hearts of Englishmen."

THERE are more than one hundred thousand railway locomotives in the world. Their total force is equal to 30,000,000 horse-power, and all the other steam-engines in the globe are estimated at 46,000,000 horse-power. The technical "horse-power," however, is really equal to three average horses, and each hosre to about seven men; the aggregate power, therefore, of all the engines being vastly more than all the effective force of all the human workers living.

THE announcement that a memoir of the late President Garfield is to be prepared under the supervision and presumably at the expense of Mrs. Garfield is one in which the public will be interested. There is material in Mr. Garfield's remarkable career for a valuable volume. It is proposed to make the contemplated volume more than a biography, and a representative collection of Mr. Garfield's writings, both political and literary, is to be its chief feature.

A WESTERN paper says that the Chicago and Alton road is having a number of fine safety deposit cars built, and when they are completed no fear of train robbers need be felt. Each passenger will be locked in a chill-steel casket before the train enters Missouri, and on reaching the State line will be unlocked and set at liberty again by officials of the road stationed at that point. It is believed by adopting this plan the James boys will eventually be compelled to work for a living.

THE Workingmen's party has died a natural death. The members of the State Central Committee met and after a long session decided that it was useless to continue the existence of the head of the organization, which had neither body or tail. It was further decided to devote the funds remaining on hand, about $80, to some worthy charity; and the members seem to consider themselves, by the collapse of the party, objects of charity. They divided it among themselves.

THE Mexican Central Railroad Company reduced the pay of their 15,000 laborers from 31¼ cents a day to 25 cents. There should be no complaint of low wages in this State. In the case referred to we are told that the reduction was cheerfully submitted to. There is an endless amount of unemployed labor in Mexico, and labor is as cheap there as in China. When the process of flooding this State with Chinese has been completed, labor will be just as cheap here.

Now that David Davis has "sot down" on the Democratic party, it may be said that the latter is in a very bad form. Such a weight would make a pancake out of any organization which found itself under the superincumbent mass.

A NEW HAVEN paper suggests that the habit of treating may be lifted to a degree that will result in asking a friend to take a loaf of bread instead of a glass of rum.

IF satisfactory arrangements can be made with the Virginia City and Gold Hill water Company the big hydraulic pump at the Chollar-Norcross Savage shaft will be run by a stream of water turned directly into the feed column. This would do away with the surface machinery and the return column now forced up to the top of the ground. All the water would then pass out at the Sutro tunnel level and the pump would run right along almost as though by perpetual motion.

BISHOP CREEK ITEMS.

[From the Times.]

POLETA.—This is the principal mine in the district and is under the superintendency of W. A. Irwin, who has some twenty-four men employed. There were as many as fifty up to a short time ago, but owing to the depth of the main incline it could not be worked advantageously by means of a windlass, and until they put up machinery work has been suspended at the bottom. In the meantime they will continue prospecting with drifts, two of which have already been started. The west drift, at a depth of 230 feet, and running on the ledge, is in a distance of 45 feet, and the ledge is looking exceedingly well. The east drift, at a depth of 125 feet, also running on the ledge, is in fifty feet, the face being in the same character or ore as that encountered in the main incline. Besides these two drifts a tunnel has been started in the ravine west of the mine to connect with the main incline at a depth of 200 feet. It is now in 70 feet, and about 150 more will have to be made before the connection is made. The main incline is 360 feet in depth, all the way in first class milling ore, of which there are about 1,000 tons piled up on the dump. It is the general impression that the owners, W. E. Dean and W. H. Lent, will put up a mill between now and Spring, and at once become one of the greatest bullion producing mines on this coast.

A BIG STRIKE.—The Mexican mine, situated on the south side of Redding's Cañon, about eight miles distant from Bishop Creek, and owned by Jake Elkeles, Jose Maria Portella and Francisco Cantuar, made a very rich strike on Saturday last, at a depth of ten feet. The ledge encountered is five feet wide, with three feet of ore that assays from $200 to $300 in gold, and $100 in silver. The owners are jubilant over the strike, and say they would not take $30,000 for the mine at the present time. The strike was made in the incline, which they propose to sink immediately to a depth of 80 feet, before running crosscuts to ascertain the extent of the ore body. They also have a tunnel in a distance of fifteen feet, the face being in a ledge five feet wide, and which assays from $20 to $25. An arastra is kept running which yields enough to pay all expenses of developing the mine. Several specimens of the ore can be seen at the store of Elkeles & Lasky, which contains large quantities of free gold and silver.

The Mammoth mill is being torn down. The turning lathe, and also the air compressor that was used at the mine, is being boxed and will be shipped to Bodie.

Creaser's mill at Benton is running steadily on ore from the Wai Wera. The rock is exceedingly rich, milling from $50 to $2,000 per ton.

Mammoth City is almost deserted, the only business houses there being P. A. Wagner's store and the brewery.

There are six merchandise stores, six saloons and three butcher shops in Bishop Creek.

ARMAGOSA.—Says the San Bernardino Index: The celebrated Armagosa mine has recently been purchased by the South Pacific Mining Company of New York. The company intend to erect a 20-stamp mill at once and increase the number of stamps to 56 within four months after the first 20 are completed. The mine itself is wonderfully rich and well opened. Under its former management it yielded ore of enormous richness—one blast of two tons having yielded $11,000, and the 5-stamp mill $58,000 in one month. Of course the ore was selected, yet this shows the possibilities of this great mine. As many of our readers are aware, the Indians massacred the miners and burned the company's mill, which was a death-blow to the old company.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

NOTICE OF EXECUTOR'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT IN pursuance of an order of the Superior Court of the County of Inyo, State of California, made on the twenty-fourth day of October, 1881, in the matter of the estate of John Ryar Westervelt, deceased, the undersigned, the Executors of the said estate, will sell at public auction, to the highest bidder, for cash, gold coin of the United States, and subject to confirmation by said Superior Court, on SATURDAY the TWENTY SIXTH day of NOVEMBER, 1881, at 11 o'clock A. M., at the premises herein described, at Fish Springs, in the county of Inyo, all the right, title and interest of the said J. R. Westervelt, at the time of his death, and all the right, title and interest that the said estate has, by operation of law or otherwise, acquired other than or in addition to that of the said deceased at the time of his death, in and to all those certain lots, pieces or parcels of land situate, lying and being in the said county of Inyo, state of California, and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

The W½ of SE¼ and SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 15, and the NW¼ of NE¼ of Section 22, Twp. 10 S., R. 34 E., B. and M. of Mount Diablo.

Also, the NE¼ of SE¼ of Section 15, and the W½ of SW¼ and SE¼ of SW¼ of Section 14, Twp. 10 South, R. 34 E., B. and M. of Mount Diablo.

Also, the arastras, situate at Fish Springs, and known as Westervelt's Arastras.

Terms and conditions of sale—Cash, gold coin of the United States, ten per cent of the purchase money to be paid to the auctioneer on the day of sale, balance on confirmation of sale by said Superior Court. Deed at expense of purchaser.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 5.....1881

NEW MINES.—We learn from Cerro Gordo that John H. Ely and party have returned from their prospecting trip, bringing with them a large number of samples of very rich silver ores. The new district is said to be about 80 miles east of Cerro Gordo. Mr. Ely claims that there is millions of ore lying around loose of the same quality of the samples brought in. A team can be driven on to the mines, water is plenty, but wood is rather scarce. The ores are mostly rich chlorides, and horn silver. A number of samples have been forwarded to the Independence assay office, and in appearanc some of them would certainly deceive the oldest rock sharp in the country. Two of them in particular closely resemble a soft, greyish limestone, that if not found in a mineral vein, a prospector would not notice. These two samples assay $416 12, and $475 25 per ton in silver, Four other samples assay respectively $1,112 42, $927 64, $682 56 and $128, silver. The discoverers will proceed at once to organize a district and prospect their claims. We shall give further particulars of this new find, as soon as reliable information can be obtained.

THE LAURA.—We have been shown some very fine samples of ore taken from the Laura in Beveridge District, assaying from $225 to $500 per ton. About one hundred tons of ore are now on the dump, which will net over $10,000. In this whole country, so vast, and rich in its mineral resources, there is at present no better or more promising prospect than the Laura. The ledge crops out in bold relief along the entire length of the claim, and is rich paying rock from the surface. Considerable developments have been made, and every indication gives assurance of a large, rich, and permanent mine. To men of capital no better inducement for investment, with every evidence of success, is now offered nor can be found than the Laura mine.

THE "TIMES."—The initial number of the Bishop Creek Times appeared last Monday, but will hereafter be issued on Saturday. It is a neatly printed six-column paper, almost exactly the size of this journal. The publishers, Messrs. Fonticella & Julian, in their opening announcement, are brief and exactly to the point. The establishment of a new paper in the county is an important evidence of advancement in population and business prosperity, and it is to be hoped that Bishop Creek will never get a black-eye on account of a suspension of the paper for lack of support. In common with all who have Inyo's success at heart, we wish the Bishop Creek Times success.

THE MONTEZUMA.—The Montezuma, or what is better known as Billy Lake's mine, situated in the Inyo's opposite Fish Spring, is under bond, some $500 of the purchase money paid for it, and active work of development is going on. Mr. A. H. Griswold, a mining man of long experience, has the enterprise in charge, representing a strong San Francisco company. The ledge, or deposit, shows an enormous outcrop of argentiferous-galena, and to open it by sinking is an easy going thing. We shall shortly give a full description of this property, which we consider hardly second to the great Santa Maria deposit at Cerro Gordo.

CHURCH. — Rev. F. M. Willis will preach at the School House to-morrow evening, at the usual hour. Our townsfolks, young and old, could not possibly do better than to attend the service. Mr. Willis, with his most estimable family, will remove next Monday for his new residence at Bishop Creek, and his circuit visits hereafter to Independence and Lone Pine will depend much upon the number and interestedness of the audience to-morrow night.

GOLD HILL. — Wm. Crapo, of Cerro Gordo, is about transporting some ten or twelve tons of ore from the big Gold Hill ledge, situated about a mile north of the old Lower Town, to the arastra west of Lone Pine, for working for gold. It will be expensive, but the ore is rich and apparantly inexhaustible.

VIRGINIA CONSOLIDATED. — Mr. E. Chenot, superintendent of the above mine, which is situated on Kearsarge mountain, has several men at work taking out ore. An average sample sent to the Independence assay office yesterday yielded gold, $32 61, silver, $175 93, total, $208 54.

GOLD.—The owners of the Keynot mine at Beveridge have shipped during the past month $18,000. The run will last until the tenth of this month, when they calculate to have $15,000 more, making $30,000 for the month, or $1,000 per day.

THE AVERAGE YIELD.—The "Keynot," or Mexican mine, is still yielding ore sufficient to run a twenty-stamp mill, and the ledge is increasing in size, as well as richness. The shipment, from nine ton of ore per day is now averaging $1,000.

WORK.—The old Fish Spring arastras are about to be started up on ore from the new gold ledge, recently discovered by Herne, in the Sierras to the southeast of the placer diggings west of Big Pine.

AT WORK.—The Taylor mill in Beveridge District, is running night and day upon Keynot ore, and with its five stamps crushes nine and ten tons of rock every twenty-four hours.

LODGE.—A stated meeting of Inyo Lodge, No. 221. F. & A. M., will be held at the Masonic Hall to-night.

SUPERVISORS.—A regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors will begin next Monday.

Personal Points.

W. A. Greenly got home from the East last Monday, sporting a new hat and chuck full of mining matters affecting Deep Springs District, where he goes to-morrow....Jerome Hoover, of Bishop, put in an appearance after an absence of over two years in the East, during which time he "took in" twenty-five States, seeing the elephant.... Dr. Middleton, with his family has removed from Benton to Big Pine to reside; good....Dr. P. G. Gelcich has returned from Los Angeles to stay in this county permanently. He is in bad health generally, and now here under the care of Dr. George. Dr. Gelcich is enthusiastic over this climate, and states that it is incomparably superior to Los Angeles or Santa Barbara as to general healthfulness....Supt. Grey, of the Kearsarge, left on Wednesday, on important business to San Francisco ....Jack Wilson has returned to Darwin, and will go to Panamint to resume operations on his big mines there ....Al. Robinson has gone to Panamint with a mule train....James Shepherd is at Casa Diablo springs, doctoring for the rheumatism....Mrs. Thos. May and family left for San Jose last week....Davie Thomas and Tom Boyce returned from the lower country a day or two ago. Tom looks well, but Uncle Dave is threatened with loss of eyesight.

Death of Duke De Bourbon, Alias Count of Olancha.

O'er the castle of Olancha,
The sun had thrown his latest ray,
When in his last strong agony,
Old Duke de Bourbon lay.
The stern old Duke de Bourbon
Whose frame had n'e'r been bent
By wasting pain, till too much rye
His own strength had spent.

They come around me here and say
That I am getting short of breath;
That I must let up on my tod,
And talk no one else to death.
They come and unto me they dare
To tell me, now that I,
Their own liege lord and master born,
Must guzzle no more rye.

"Ho, Webster, ring the dinner bell,
Call every vassal in!
I made a bar'l or two last night,
Give all the boys their gin!
Throw wide the door,
Some rock and rye prepare:
Call every bloody bummer in—
We'll all go on a tear."

To the castle of Cartago—
And the crags of Cottonwood—
The echo of that slogan
Was heard and understood—
And from the highlands of Monache
And the valleys of Haiwai
The clans were gathering at Olancha.
At the closing of the day.

There were men from every clime
They came from near and far—
They poured in through the bar room door
And thronged around the bar.
But they were hushed to silence
When slowly at the head
Arose old Duke de Bourbon,
And this was what he said:

"Fill every beaker up, my men,
Pour forth the cheering gin,
There is life and strength in every drop
Fill up and drink ag'in;
Are ye all there, my vassals true?
I swear I don't feel well;
Fill every tumbler to the brim,
Let's all get drunk as—usual."

"Ye are there, but yet I see you not;
Come raise your voices high,
And let me hear your faithful yell
Once more before I die."
Glass clashed to glass
There rose a deafening breeze—
Which made the old man stagger round
And quake the cotton trees.

"Ho! Alonzo, have you left me?
Ho! Bellows, have you flown?
Ho! Vellegas, have you left me?
To meet him here alone?
But I defy him, let him come!"
Down rang his tin quart tin cup,
And from the bar a big oak club
Came flashing half way up—

And with that little tuft of hair
Scarce trembling on his head,
Back on an empty cracker box
Old Bourbon he sat dead—drunk.

— The Dukes grand entree into heav n will be given in our next, by the Poet Laureate.

San Jose Observations.

SAN JOSE, Oct. 31.

Upon seeing the notice in the papers, of the marriage of J. S. Gorman to Mrs. Wappelhorst (not unexpected news) my poetic soul, or rhyming machine was fired up, and as one of their numerous friends felt it my duty to have my humble say, just as they are launching their matrimonial boat out upon life's great ocean of storms and joys, and this is my song:

Both from friends, from papers and letters,
The glorious news was revealed;
That a couple, yes, two of my betters
Their hearts and their hands they have sealed.

Yes sealed themselves for this earth life,
And on its broad surface to roam;
And on Inyo's dry realm this young man and wife
Have anchored, and Darwin's their home.

Not an ounce of the cake did I get Johnny, no,
Not a taste of the wine from the Widow, Cliquot;
But that I don't mind as a matter of course,
On knowing that Johnny got Mrs. Wappelhorst.

May you live long and prosper, not loose, on reliance
Of expecting a fortune, out of old Mine Defiance.
So stick to your mine J., and good little wife
And with lead at 5c., you'll be rich all your life.

"I still live."
Yours very truly,
C. F. O'BRION.

WATER WORKS.—Surveyor Seely is pushing the work of laying pipes to supply Lone Pine with water, about half of the distance having been laid.

GOOD. — Supt. Chenot is highly elated over rich developments, in new places on the Con. Virginia mines, Kearsarge district.

DANCE.—The annual fandango of the Indians commences to-morrow at George's Creek. Several Pintes of white extraction will attend.

BUILDING.—There is a good deal of substantial building going on at Bishop Creek and Lone Pine.

The Mineral Hill Mine.

This mine is situated about fifteen miles east of the town of Bishop Creek, and at the head of what is known as Black Cañon. The mouth of the cañon lies about midway between Bishop and Big Pine, in the Inyo range. A wagon road runs nearly its entire length, a distance of 12 miles. The head of this cañon opens out into a beautiful little flat, surrounded by hills, covered with piñon. At the upper end of this flat several springs of pure water bubble from the ground, which joining their forces, furnish an unfailing supply that would be amply sufficient to run a quartz mill or smelting furnace. About two miles above the springs is situated the mine, on a spur of the Inyos, running northeast by southwest. The ledge crops out along a sharp ridge, or backbone, in a formation of quartzite and lime. Considerable work has been done in the way of numerous small holes from five to fifteen feet in depth, scattered over the western face of the hill, and nearly all of them showing ore. From near the bottom of the hill a tunnel has been run 560 feet in length to cut the ledge. For reasons unknown the work on this tunnel was stopped when within 200 ft. of the ledge. This tunnel would have tapped the vein about 500 feet below the croppings. About 300 feet above this work another tunnel has been run about 75 feet, which has cut the ledge, and about twenty tons of first class smelting ore has been taken out. The gangue or waste of the ledge is principally calcite. Assays of several samples of the different grades of the ore shows from $60 to $100 per ton in silver, and 45 per cent of lead. The ore is composed of carbonates, oxides and sulphide of lead, and is well adapted to smelting. The mine is very conveniently situated for working. Fir timber covers the hills, and a wagon road can be easily made from the springs directly to the mine. The facilities for smelting ores at this point are unequalled. An almost inexhaustible supply of wood is close at hand, and charcoal could be delivered at a furnace for fifteen cents a bushel. The mine is owned by Uncle Peter Laird, and it has been appropriately named Mineral Hill —as the whole hill is apparantly a mass of ore. At an early day this fine property will be developed and produce bullion, for we are confident that it is one of the best prospects for an unlimited quantity of smelting ores to be found in Inyo county. This matter of fact report is not written in the interest of the owner, purchaser, or any one else, and may be taken as a fair sample of the truthful and conservative statements which THE INDEPENDENT proposes to make, now and hereafter.

THE ENTERTAINMENT.—Saturday evening last Mrs. Sara Stevens Heenan, with the able assistance of Miss Marcia and S. V. Stevens, and Messrs. Gregory and Barrows, gave an enjoyable parlor entertainment at Mairs' Hall. It being Saturday, with THE INDEPENDENT an hour or two late, no representative of this concern could get there to see exactly how it was, but we understand from others that the comedietta, the music and all, was a pronounced success. On account of official business preventing Mr. Stevens accompanying the party, the trip to Big Pine and Bishop, as announced, had to be postponed. The company will play at Big Pine on Saturday next, the 12th instant, and at Bishop on the following Monday evening. No one will regret the cost of time or money after having attended.

SPECIMENS. — Mr. Woodhull, of the assay office, has forwarded to the State Mining Bureau another box of minerals, representing a great number of Inyo county mines. This is a most sensible and public spirited action on his part. A preconcerted effort of this kind, having the object in view of illustrating all the known minerals of value and interest to be found in Inyo, would result in monopolizing a museum itself.

CITIZENS.—The Bodie Free Press reports that Joe Fernbach and Frank Dillon have been naturalized by our Superior Court. We knew that Dillon was a Missourian, but did not suppose he required galvanizing after having held office for ten years or so. What THE INDEPENDENT said was that two other parties were made citizens, on the testimony of Fernbach and Dillon.

MALICIOUSNESS.—At Goodale's ranch on the night of the decision of the case in the Superior Court entitled Goodale vs. Olds, some miscreant entered the premises and tapped a number of barrels of vinegar, entailing a loss of $300. Suspicion and circumstances point to the guilty party, who got on a horse and left the country.

WARM.—The weather is salubrious and the wasps are hot, especially at their business end.

ONE of the first topics which Congress will take up when it meets will be the amendment or the mining law. From the action last year it may be inferred that neither Judge Belford's bill, which received the unanimous approval of the two committees on mines, nor the subsequent bill, which was published last Winter, will readily receive the assent of Congress. Yet something ought to be done. Some measnre ought to be devised to stop the practice of jumping. It has become a regular trade here, in which some of the worst men of the country are engaged, knowing full well that they can always sell their jumper's title—if not to the parties whose property they have jumped, to some outside speculator. There are plenty of men with money in Leadville who are ready to buy a jumper's title if the property promises well. The new law ought to protect a poor man in his rights to the property on which he has spent his money and his time, without having to stand guard over it with a shotgun.—Leadville Circular.

Hunting Alligators in Florida.

Parties are hunting the 'gators down on the Caloosahachie and Kisemmee rivers, and upon the numerous lakes in that region. Nothing is used except the skins upon the belly and legs, the rough, scaly plate upon the back of the animal being rejected. The heads are cut off and buried for a few days until the tusks can be detached. It was announced some days since that one person had collected alligator teeth to the amount of three hundred and fifty pounds. This fact alone will give some idea of the destruction now going on among these animals. On the St. John's River a new method has been devised for the successful pursuit of this game. A dark lantern with a powerful reflector is used on suitable nights, and no difficulty is experienced in approaching the quarry. The animals appear to be perfectly bewildered by the strong glare, and make no effort to escape. The gun is held within a few feet of the head, a touch of the trigger, and there is a 'gator less in Florida. This new process is very effective, as the hunters are enabled not only to kill but secure the prey. It is sad to reflect that the race of the saurians is in danger of being extirpated. Thousands are slain annually by tourists and others for amusement merely, in addition to those slaughtered for profit.

Thousands of baby 'gators are stuffed as specimens or sent off alive as curiosities, while myriads of eggs are blown and disposed of by dealers. Amid all these causes combined the brute seems in a good way to become extinct. This is somewhat unfortunate, as the beast is a constant source of interest to our Northern brethren, and every hunter from that section eagerly craves the distinction of adding an alligator scalp to his list of trophies. If their wholesale destruction continues it will be necessary to call on Fish Commissioners to restock our lakes and rivers with these valuable animals.—Jacksonville Cor. Savannah News.

Kind Treatment of Horses.

It has been observed by experienced horse trainers that naturally vicious horses are rare, and that among those that are properly trained and kindly treated when colts they are the exception.

It is superfluous to say that a gentle and docile horse is always the more valuable, other qualities being equal, and it is almost obvious that gentle treatment tends to develop this admirable trait in the horse as well as in the human species, while harsh treatment has the contrary tendency. Horses have been trained so as to be entirely governed by the words of his driver, and they will obey and perform their simple but important duties with as much alacrity as the child obeys the direction of the parent.

It is true that all horses are not equally intelligent and tractable, but it is possible that there is less difference among them in this regard than there is among their human masters, since there are many incitements and ambitions among men that do not affect animals.

The horse learns to know and have confidence in a gentle driver, and soon begins to discover how to secure for himself that which he desires, and to understand his surroundings and his duties. The tone, volume, and inflection of his master's voice indicate much, perhaps more than the words spoken. Soothing tones rather than words calm him if excited by fear or anger, and angry and excited tones tend to excite or anger him. In short, bad masters make bad horses.

A NEW YORK dispatch says: McKee Rankin and Joaquin Miller and "Nym Crinkle," arrested the other day for uttering a criminal libel in Crinkle's paper to the effect that "Mr. Rankin was the most colossal liar and the most impudent thief that ever made use of the practice of both without the necessary skill of either."

The case came to trial, and Justice Flammer dismissed the complaint on the ground that it is not criminal to call a man a literary thief. He quoted the decision from the case of Carr vs. Hood:

"A publication commenting upon a literary work, expressing its follies and errors, and holding up the author to ridicule, will not be deemed a libel, provided such comment does not exceed the limits of fair and candid criticism by attacking the character of the writer, unconnected with his publication."

AN exchange gives a description of the Railroad Journal, a newspaper containing the latest intelligence, and published daily in the trains running between New York and San Franciso. All the news with which its columns are filled is telegraphed from different parts of the States, to certain stations on the line, there collected by the editorial staff traveling in the train, and set up, printed and circulated among the subscribing passengers, while the iron horse is persistently traversing plains and valleys, crossing rivers and ascending mountains. Every morning the traveler may have his newspaper served up with his coffee, and thus keep himself informed of all that is going on in the wide world during a seven days journey, covering over 3,000 miles of ground. He who pays his subscription at New York, which he can do at the railroad ticket office, receives the last copy of his newspaper on the summit of the Sierra Nevada. The production of a news sheet from a flying printing office at an elevation of 10,000 feet above the level of the sea, is most assuredly a performance worthy of conspicuous record.

THERE are a number of newspaper readers who should profit by the following: Newspaper subscriptions are always paid in advance—that is to say, if the subscriber doesn't pay it, the publisher is obliged to, for the paper dealer, compositors, type makers, ink dealers, pressman and others will not wait till the year expires for their pay.

"TELL me what it is, darling?" he said reassuringly, taking her hand and drawing her closer, "don't keep anything from me."

"Oh, Eugene!" she blushingly replied.

"But there ought to be no secrets between us," he expostulated. "True love is the very spirit of confidence."

"It's something I've been going to ask you for a long time."

"Then let me know now," he added with a tender pressure of the hand.

"I will," summoning up courage: "what is the best cure for corns?"

THE New York World perpetrates this: "In their heart of hearts our Republican friends are sorry enough, we dare say, that Mr. Wise in his duel with Riddleburger shot Wise-ly but not well enough, and merely Riddleburger's coat. A drachm of powder more or less might have simplified matters in the Senatorial offices, and they would have had very few scruples to that drachm. As Victor Emmanuel said of Garibaldi, 'We should be very sorry to see him shot, but if he were, wouldn't we give him a splendid funeral!'"

THE Bodie and Bishop Creek telegraph scheme has fallen through for lack of subscriptions at the Bishop Creek end of the line. Over here the first thing we knew of a telegraph line between this place and Tioga was when the Tioga folks dropped into the head of Mill Creek Cañon to set the poles for the last three miles of the line. The line will be continued to Yosemite at as early a period in the Spring as the weather will permit, and then Mono county will have direct communication with San Francisco by wire, without having to send around through the State of Nevada.—Homer Index.

MRS. WASHINGTON, the mother of George, was going to make soap. George and his father arranged a large cask with some straw in the bottom of of it, and on the top they put some ashes and then leached them. Mrs. Washington got her soap-grease all ready, and in a short time the house was filled with that beautiful odor that betokens soap-boiling. With all her skill she could not make the soap come. The ashes used were from the cherry tree George cut down, and no lie could be produced from them. (The fellow who wrote this was killed by an infuriated populace soon after it appeared in print.)

THERE are but nine milesof track to be laid when the narrow-gauge road from Bodie to the timber beyond Mono Lake will be completed and ready for "through trains." The extensive trestle work at this end is finished and in readiness for the rails to be laid upon it. In ten or twelve days the whistle of the locomotive will be heard with the shrill notes of the mills and hoisting works' whistles. Everything is progressing finely.—Bodie Free Press.

THE quarrel between Joaquin Miller and McKee Rankin is bringing out interesting statements about other plays than the "Danites" and "Forty-nine." In a letter Mr. Miller says: "My old friend Mark Twain published a book. It was dramatized. He let the parties go on for half a year. Then, when the play ('Colonel Sellers,') had proved a hit, he put out his hand, paid Densmore, who dramatized it. $100, and made a fortune for himself."

Chess Crazy.

Paul Morphy, the wonderful chess player, of whom all the civilized world has heard, has gone mad. Morphy's unfortunate mental condition is well understood by the chess world, and there is not a player who does not regret it and sympathize with him in his great misfortune. There are two phases, among others, to his harmless hallucinations—a horror of chess, and a continually recurring belief that unless he can obtain a loan of two hundred dollars immediately he will be financially ruined. This latter is well understood by his many friends in New Orleans. Mr. Morphy is constantly requesting loans of that exact amount, is never refused, and he never takes the money, however urgent the need of it, as explained by him when asking the loan. He is entirely satisfied and all his anxiety vanishes as soon as the friend to whom he applies responds, "Certainly, Mr. Morphy, will you take the money now?" To this his invariable response is that he will not take it now, but will call again for it—which he never does. On a recent occasion Mr. Morphy hastily entered the office of a well-known resident of New Orleans, and made known his need of $200 to save himself from impending disaster, and requested a loan to that amount. His friend resolved on an experiment which would test the relative strength of the hold upon Morphy's mind of this delusion—and the other, his aversion to chess, and assuming a serious tone, he said: "You want this money very much, it seems." "Yes," said Morphy, "I must have it—it is absolutely necessary." "Well," replied the other, "I'll tell you what I will do; if you will play a game of chess with me, I will make it $250." Morphy's countenance betrayed the internal struggle between the conflicting emotions aroused by this offer. He paused, in thought, for some moments, and then in a tone expressive of his sense of the hardship inflicted upon him by the condition, and also of a quiet exultation over the anticipated success of a plan he had formed, he accepted the offer; chess-board and men were produced in an inner office, and Morphy played his latest game of chess. With a disdainful curl of the lip, and a manifest repugnance, Morphy moved in such a way that his friend mated him in a very few moves, whereupon Morphy exclaimed: "There! I have done what you required; but the next time I play chess with you I will give you the Queen!" and, already oblivious of his pecuniary necessities, he was moving away, when his friend reminded him that he was forgetting his reward. "I will come for it to-morrow!" was his reply, as he left the apartment. This incident, which is undoubtedly a true one, shows the "holy fire" is not extinct in Morphy,s breast, and that he still has pride in his chess strength, and a consciousness that he still retains it.

Coming Farmers.

While great progress has been made in showing the capabilities of our soil and climate—and production of certain staple articles—there is reason to believe that much more can be accomplished by intelligent efforts. It is possible that the farmer of the future will regard many of the opinions now held concerning the possibilities of increasing the number and variety of the products of the soil to be fully as preposterous as were the opinions entertained by the pioneer concerning the inadaptability of the rich lands to profitable cultivation. It is clearly apparent that exclusive wheat raising will not make the agricultural districts permanently prosperous, and that diversified farming must be adopted if the full measure of prosperity desirable to be secured. Some of the more intelligent and enterprising of our farmers fully understand this necessity, and are rapidly adapting themselves to the situation.—Stockton Independent.

ALBERT KERCHEVAL of Los Angeles is preparing to publish a volume of poems.

Visions in the Clouds.

Displays of aurora borealis are evidently infrequent in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia. The local papers of the latter part of September and the first week in October contain numerous references to marvelous visions in the clouds, and exhibit a mediæval condi- of popular intelligence in the rural districts scarcely less marvelous. The Warrentown (Va.) Solid South says: "A number of reliable and responsible people, whose names we can give, about a week ago, saw an apparition in the heavens, about ten o'clock P. M., of white robed figures, which were supposed by those who saw them to be angels. It is all the talk of the people in and around the village of New Baltimore and Buckland." The Richmond Dispatch, of the 7th, prints a note from Mr. M. C. Grasty, of Fredericsburg, Va., dated 5th inst., in which he says: "Many persons in this community claim to have witnessed a most alarming sight in the heavens some nights since, just before daybreak. The heavens are said to have been lighted, and vast numbers of soldiers appeared, uniformed armed and drilling. Who else saw it, and what is the explanation? Could it have been a mirage?"

Similar observations were made further north. A Wilmington, Del., dispatch says: The people in this vicinity are greatly excited over what they believe to be supernatural manifestations. A little girl, some three weeks ago, living in the village, saw after nightfall, before the moon was fairly up above the horizon, platoons of angels slowly marching and countermarching to and fro in the clouds, their white robes and helmets glistening in the light. At intervals the heavenly visitors would dance mournfully. Her father also saw the spectacle. Monday night, two weeks ago, William West, a farmer living near Georgetown, the county seat, saw bands of soldiers of great size, equipped in dazzling uniforms, their muskets shimmering in the pale, weird light that seemed to be everywhere, marching with military precision up and down, and presenting arms. The vision lasted long enough to be seen by a number of West's neighbors. Many people living near Laurel, many miles away situated in the lower end of the Peninsula, saw the same extraordinary phenomena. A few go as far as to say that they distinctly saw in the midst of the soldiers, and conspicuously by reason of his size and commanding presence, the hero President himself, and with every feature distinctly and vividly portrayed. In Talbot county the illusion was seen by numbers."

Engineering at the Washington Monument.

The Washington monument is too near to be ever regarded by Washington people as anything out of the ordinary run of things. Few people here ever stop to think what a feat of engineering has been undertaken in the construction of this monument. "There is nowhere in the world such mechanical appliances as we have in the monument," said Col. Casey to a Star man. "The last course of stone laid weighed 176 tons. Now this 170 tons was raised vertically a distance of 245 feet and the coarse was laid in fifteen hours. In other words, two feet of the monument was built in that time. You havn't any idea of the amount of work and the amount of stone required to build the monument. The stone we have laid since the work was resumed, if taken down and spread out, would cover the entire monument lot. At a distance the monument looks small; the yardarm of the derrick on the top looks like broom splints; but when one gets nearer them and sees how large they are, how wide the structure is, he gets some notion of the work."

If the monument was being constructed in France, or some other European country, the name of the engineer would already be famous, and when his work was finished, if it was approved, he would receive a fortune as his reward. It is doubtful if the engineer connected with the Washington Monument will ever have any special recognition by the government. He will never receive any pecuniary recognition. An old engineer officer, speaking of this matter, said: "If Col. Casey was not in the army, and had charge of one of the several works for which he is now responsible, his salary would be $10,000 or $15,000 a year, as it is now, he draws $3,000 a year. The government pays too high figures for services rendered in inferior places, and much too little for professional services."—Washington Star.

Mining Law.

A vein or lode authorized to be located is a seam or fissure in the earth's crust filled with quartz, or some other kind of rock in place carrying gold, silver or other valuable mineral deposits named in the statute. It may be very thin, or many feet thick, or irregular in thickness, and it may be rich or poor, provided it contains any of the metals contained in the statute. But it must be more than detached pieces of quartz, or mere bunches of quartz not in place.

Mining claims located on the first day of January, 1881, will not be subject to relocation, by reason of non-performance of the required annual labor, until the first day of January, 1883, by recent decision of the Department of the Interior.

THE Pacific Silk Manufacturing Company set their weaving apparatus in motion one day last week, and turned out their first web of fabric—a piece of six or eight yards of the best quality of black silk.

Another Keely Motor Exhibition.

Keely has just given another exhibition of his celebrated motor, or rather of a combination of cylinders, plungers, pumps, globes and connecting rods, somewhere within which his motor was alleged to be at work. The trial was a very peculiar one. This motor has been threatening, for the last six years, to run a train of cars to New York and a vessel to Liverpool on about a cupful or bucketful of water. What Keely actually did was to turn a wheel, as one experiment, to fire a bullet through three inches of plank as another; and to perform two or three trivial feats, any of which could be produced by a very ordinary use of very familiar forces. When it is added that the exhibition was given in Keely's own workshop, and that the room directly underneath, also occupied by him, was kept locked and bolted, and that he refused, in some confusion, to allow his visitors to even look into it, the value of the trial is obvious. To make the thing complete, the inventor, before each experiment scraped a huge tuning fork with a fiddle bow, in order to get the right pitch for the motor, which was hinted to be derived from cohesion. Instead of the presto! agrimento! change! of mere conjurors, Keely gave an explanation that, by means of the introductory impulse and the fifth compound, he so impinged on the molecular lead as to disturb the equilibrium, and then to multiply the atomic ether, or liberated interatomic impulse. The only thing in the workshop, visible or invisible, which the assembled party seemed to understand, was the collation. But there is no denying that by dint of some qualities Keely has kept this thing going for six years, and that he still finds stockholders who have abundant faith in him.—N. Y. Sun.

A Precious Stone.

From all accounts, says a London letter, the wonderful Kooh-i-noor, or "Mountain of Light," the property of her Majesty, is eclipsed by a recently discovered diamond lately found in South Africa, and now in the possession of Porter Rhodes, who is, I believe, the fortunate discoverer of the gem. The weight of the newly discovered gem is 150 carats. It is uncut, but from its peculiarly favorable shape is not expected to lose more than ten carats during the process. The diamond is as large as a very large walnut, and is described as "like a hailstone in sunlight, and of a bewitching transparancy and brilliant whiteness no other precious crystal can vie with." Most Cape diamonds are of an inferior yellowish tinge, which detracts from the value of the stone, but this specimen is not only the largest discovered, but of a purity unsurpassed by any of its compeers. I understand that the stone was recently shown to the Prince of Wales at Malborough House, and that his best diamonds when placed before the Porter Rhodes stone were seen to be "off color." Offers for his property flow in upon the lucky owner from all parts of Europe. The first offer received was £50,000; the last, made last week, was £100,000. The stone will not, it is thought, change hands under £200,000, which is just £60,000 more than the famous Koh-i-noor is valued at. Porter Rhodes asks the trifling sum of £300,000, or $1,500,000 for his property, and does not seem in a hurry to dispose of it. It is rumored that a Russian Prince is in treaty for the jewel.

Redwood Timber.

We have heard it stated that Redwood timber grows nowhere else in the world except in California, and here this particular tree is only found on a narrow space less than two hundred and fifty miles in length, extending along the coast. A quarter of a century ago we had immense forests of redwood. To-day there are no extensive bodies of this timber to be found. The choice trees have gone to the sawmill. Redwood fit for lumber is not abundant and its locality is difficult of access. Many miles once covered with trees of mammoth growth are now so much barren waste. After the first harvest a young growth started up. This would have been valuable in time had it been protected. But no care was taken of them. Fires ran through it until the young trees were killed and then in due time fed flames that killed the still later growth. For many uses the redwood is the most valuable of timber. At first our supply seemed inexhaustible, but lumbermen now tell a different story. They say a few years hence redwood lumber will be very scarce. Do we not need legislation on this subject? The law protects the beasts of the field, the fowls of the air, and the fish of the sea, why should it not command the woodman to spare the redwood tree and protect the younger growth of a lumber so valuable.—Golden Era.

A Steel Tube for the English Channel.

A grand scheme is said to be in contemplation for crossing the English Channel. A line of steel tubes, sixteen feet in diameter, is proposed to be sunk and firmly anchored at a sufficient depth below the surface to be out of the way of navigation. It is to be ballasted to overcome the buoyant effect, and secured to sunken caissons by chains.

I AM always for getting a boy forward in his learning, for that is sure good. I would at first let him read any English book which happens to engage his attention; because you have done a great deal when you have brought him to have entertainment from a book. He'll get a better book afterwards.—Johnson.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

GEN. SHERMAN is again before the country asking for an increase of the regular army. The plan of increase which he proposes—that of filling up the companies to a minimum of fifty men—is the least objectionable that could be made. The only increase in expense would be the pay and rations of a few thousand privates, and it is reasonable to suppose that this increase in the force would in some cases save transportation. The objections that were at one time made to an increase of the regular army, with reference to its employment in the South, are now removed. The Southern States are masters of their own local politics to the same extent as the Northern States. It is not improbable, therefore, that Congress will receive Gen. Sherman's suggestion more kindly than on previous occasions. The General speaks highly of West Point, saying that it fulfills its uses, and can safely be trusted to make soldiers.

THE newspaper should be nearly as possible separated in thought from any particular person who writes for it. The editor should not absorb the newspaper. He should not be conspicuous, nor should he be aimed at in criticism. The newspaper should be an organ with its functions independent of persons and having an idealized life of its own. A man who has enlightened views of his own upon the subject ought to understand that editorial declaration derives the greater part of its influence from the form in which it is delivered. So far as the views advanced in the editorial columns of a newspaper have any effect upon the public mind, it is because they are the views, not of the individual writer, but of the journal in which they appear, and to deprive them of their impersonality would be to render them an individual expression of opinion which the reader would be very much less inclined to respect.

IT is now stated that it was not Arthur but Blaine that had the controversy with McVeagh in the Cabinet meeting, but it was entirely friendly. Blaine, without heat and in the most courteous manner, took the position that it was McVeagh's duty to appear publicly to prosecute the Guiteau case, and that whatever professional ethics or the tradtiions of the Department, hidebound in red tape, might be, the terrible circumstances surrounding the President's assassination required that McVeagh pay closer attention to the Guiteau case than he had done or was likely to do.

THE excitement about Confederate bonds was short-lived. It lasted scarcely more than a week, and the death-blow was given to it by the London Times, which declared on authority that the deposit in the Bank of England was mythical. The awakening of long deferred hopes in the breasts of many a holder of these worthless securities was cruel pastime. The bonds are as much below par as the men who issued them, and as utterly beyond resurrection.

THE Board of Trustees of the Branch Normal School, at their meeting in San Jose last Saturday, failed to obtain a quorum and the consideration of all bills for lumber, millwork, etc., were consequently carried over till their next meeting. The work in Los Angeles is progressing rapidly. The grading will be completed by the end of this week and excavation will commence immediately after.

SENATOR MAHONE left for Virginia with full pockets, Northern Republicans having contributed money to assist in paying the poll tax for Republican negroes. It is understood that Gov. Jewell has deposited a considerable fund to the credit of the Readjusters. Money has been freely contributed, especially as on the result in Virginia depends the status of the United States Senate.

THERE is nothing like the regular army for effective work. A company of cavalry has been scouting in the Cibicu country, Arizona, for several weeks. It was known that many hostiles were lurking in that section. The command had the services of Indian scouts. They made a brilliant record: four hostiles killed, soldiers and scouts uninjured.

THESE are probably times of painful suspense to many bank cashiers and clerks. The enormous theft of Baldwin, the Newark Cashier, will doubtless cause a general overhauling in bank accounts throughout the country.

ACCORDING to the last census the outlay for building and repairing farm fences during 1879 in eleven Southern and Southwestern States aggregated $13,565,746.

ARCTIC EXPLORATION.

The present year has been an extraordinary one in the matter of Arctic exploration. Two expeditions were dispatched from San Francisco in the beginning of the Summer. Their primary object was to search for and relieve, if possible, the Jeannette exploring expedition and the missing whalers, Mount Washington and Vigilant.

The two Pacific Coast expeditions and the Alliance have been heard from. The report of the Corwin has been elaborately set forth in the Bulletin through the letters of the Bulletin's correspondent, John Muir. The brief examination of Wrangel Land from the summit of Herald Island, and the impressions made on the minds of the Corwin's party when they landed on the southern shore of Wrangel Land, led them to believe it to be a polar continent. The news received from the Rodgers, which is supplemental to that brought by the Corwin, upsets the theory that Wrangel Land is a continent. Although the Rodgers left here many weeks after the Corwin, and really entered the Arctic about the time the Corwin left it, a party from the vessel circumnavigated Wrangel Land, and has established the fact that it is only a moderate sized island, between sixty and seventy miles long. The report from the Rodgers is not sufficiently definite as to what lies beyond Wrangel Island, as it will be, no doubt, called. There was noted, however, a six-mile current flowing to the northwest. Neither the Corwin or the Rodgers has seen any evidence of the Jeannette. But both contributed somewhat to Arctic geographical knowledge. The discovery made by the Rodgers is important, as it sets at rest one matter hitherto in doubt. The Rodger's party, in circumnavigating Wrangel Island, also entered what whalers have hitherto called "the hole." There has been a certain kind of superstition among whalers that whoever entered "the hole," as the mysterious lead of open water flowing north of Herald Island was called, never returned. The Rodgers has smashed this superstition She entered "the hole" and came out at the other end, namely, at the point of starting, all right.

The Alliance returned from Spitzbergen and from Greenland, reporting immense fields of ice much farther south than usual. Owing to the unusual quantity of ice she was unable to accomplish anything. Leigh Smith has not yet returned from Franz Josef Land. His experiences this year are consequently not known. He is one of the most adventurous of Arctic explorers and he may at a later date turn up with something startling to report.

THE Herald's Berlin special of November 7th, says: A diplomat who has just arrived from St. Petersburg gives me a very gloomy description of the situation in Russia. Affairs are growing more and more critical daily. Riots are feared in consequence of an increasing dearness of provisions. The Nihilists are distributing circulars charging the Czar with being the cause of all the trouble, and that he is sending all the gold of Russia to Denmark. The truth is that a small portion of the 60,000,000 roubles found in the imperial cellars after the assassination of Alexander II., was forwarded to Denmark at the time of the royal marriage. High Russian officials are advising the landlords to leave the country for the city if they do not want to be assassinated. Great anxiety prevails at Gatsching.

THE New York Sun says: The uses of paper, like the developments of electricity, seem to be endless. In Berlin some of the restaurants and cafes have adopted paper plates for serving bread and butter, rolls, cakes, buns and similar articles. It is probable that further use may soon be made so safe and cheap a substitute for pottery. In the restaurants of Holland the pretty serviettes of thin paper, which the public take away if they please, have long been used.

THE Arizona people who have to earn their bread by honest means are awakening to the fact that the cowboys are too awfully too, and are organizing in places to do some hanging in the most utter style. When an Arizonan turns asthete some bric-a-brac is usually found suspended from the nearest trestle work next morning.

HANLAN and Plaisted are shortly to make their appearance in California. Doubtless before the departure from the coast of these celebrated oarsmen a double match will be arranged between them on the one side and Thomas Flynn and De Courcy Duff, the well-known journalists and scullers of the metropolis, on the other.

AN observing traveler who has just returned from the Southern portion of the State says that Los Angeles county is developing with remarkable rapidity and is beginning to appreciate the importance of the market which has been opened up in Arizona and New Mexico by the Southern Pacific Railroad.

MICA is at present in as pressing demand as gold. The largest pieces bring fabulous prices for windows of vessels of war and steamships. Those from 2 inches wide to 5 or 6 to 8 inches in length, a lesser price for the coal stove industry, still an immensely profitable one. The third class is a great body of the vein—fully 80 per cent of every vein—which comes ont broken into fragments. For this the demand is greater than the supply, and must remain so as long as it is coming into general use as a lubricator. The railroads pay so much for it that, as the supply is not equal to their demand, other people cannot afford to pay for it as a lubricator. The axles of the swiftest lightning trains lubricated with the micaceous lubricator neither heat nor wear away. Since the discovery was made, the Rocky mountains, supposed to hold all minerals except iron and coal that are valuable, have been propected over and over, especially near the Arkansas river above the grand cañon and Royal gorge. Three claims were found in an uncertain, broken condition in 1876. They cannot be made to yield well or much. Twenty months ago a 14-inch vein was discovered south of Santa Fe. It sold for $19,000 cash when 10 feet deep. North Carolina is supplying about all the world is receiving, and yet cannot furnish enough. It is wanted as a lubricator for all kinds of machines.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE.—A volunteer assistant takes the liberty of smuggling in type the following flattering editorial from the Eureka (Nev.) Daily Sentinel, of the 4th inst. A host of INDEPENDENT exchanges have made mention of the change, for which this scribbler happens to know the new proprietor is grateful. The Sentinel, among the rest, says:

"Jas. E. Parker has become sole proprietor of THE INYO INDEPENDENT, having purchased the interest of his partner. Mr. Parker is an old Comstocker and well known to the newspaper fraternity of the coast. In assuming the sole control of THE INDEPENDENT, which, by the way, has always been a most excellent local paper, he makes a remarkably candid statement of his hopes and aims and purposes. His bow to the public is both graceful and practical. He frankly tells his friends that he has incurred a debt of $2,000 and wants their help to pull him out. He also says that he abhors that style of journalism which marks the individuality of the editor and calls upon all who can write to aid him in making a good paper by contributing to its columns. As between the political parties and personal friends and foes, he guarantees that his paper shall never influence a vote. Strictly as a "salutatory," Mr. Parker's is the best we have seen in a long time. Cherishing an old friendship, the writer wishes him all deserved success as sole proprietor."

THE Mexican authorities are not noted for an excess of courtesy in the carrying out of any little whims of their own, but it is just probable that the summary capture of nine Americans by a Mexican gunboat, while digging guano on an uninhabited island, and their detention at Campeachy, may lead to diplomatic correspondence in which the Mexicans may be asked to explain their high-handed performance.

HERE is the quaint advice of a Springfield (O.) paper: "Fellow citizens, neighbors and countrymen, clasp hands over the bloody chasm, forget victory and defeat, and once more pursue your ambitious schemes to rob one another."

THE German wheat crop shows a deficit of 58,000,000 bushels. This will draw wheat from America and send emigrants to the United States.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Omie I. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40, with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40 100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Inyo County Ores.

There is on exhibition at the Independence assay office a splendid collection of ores and minerals, numbering nearly one thousand specimens. The ores represent all the mines of note in Inyo county, and also hundreds of undeveloped, but promising claims. These specimens have been selected and arranged with great care by Mr. Woodhull, to show what a variety of valuable ores and minerals Inyo can produce. Due care has been taken not to select only the richest specimens, but the average practical working ores besides; in order to fairly represent a mine. Nearly three years have been spent in gathering these samples from the different mining districts, and the collection is being added to from time to time, as new ores and minerals are discovered. This collection must prove interesting to all who see it, and more particularly to those engaged in mining and prospecting. Parties visiting the assay office, and wishing to see the ores from any particular mine or district, have only to ask for them, when they will be readily shown, and explained, as may be desired. Strangers visiting Independence, and spending an hour in looking over this collection, can get more reliable and practical information about the mines and mineral wealth of Inyo than can be obtained in a months constant travel through the mining districts.

Among the samples from the most prominent mines are a number of beautiful specimens from the Ygnacio mine, of Cerro Gordo, consisting of rich chlorides, native silver, and compounds of silver, copper, antimony and lead, assaying from $1,000 to $2,000 per ton. Fine specimens of red oxide of copper, and native copper, silver and gold ores, from the Hirsch mines. Gold quartz and rich silver lead ores, from the Brown Monster. Samples of pure sulphide of silver, and sulphide ores with gold; from the Kearsarge mine, assaying as high as $5,000 per ton. Beautiful specimens of gold ores from the Polete mine at Bishop Creek. Also rich gold quartz from the Keynot and Laura mines, at Beveridge. Rich silver ores from different mines in Panamint. A large collection of argentiferous galenite, or smelting ores, from Darwin, Lookout, Swansea, and Mazourka Cañon. Rich milling ores from Mazourka, containing chlorides and bromides of silver. Fine milling ores from Deep Springs, containing both gold and silver. Rich antimonial silver ores from the San Lucas, and other mines of Cerro Gordo. Brilliant gold sulphurets from the Golden Wreath mine at Fish Springs, assaying $700 per ton. Gold quartz from the State Line mines, and many others too numerous to mention. That such a collection has been made is highly creditable to Mr. Woodhull and our mining interests, but it can, and should be, greatly augmented yet. Mine-owners can not do better than to send in their choicest specimens or samples of each new strike or discovery, for permanent display, accompanied as far as may be by duplicates to be sent to the colossal cabinet of the State Mining Bureau. Such advertising of our county's interest will pay.

PANAMINT. — Supt. Pheby, of the Inyo Consolidated Mining Co., is now engaged in extracting ore from the Little Chief, Wyoming, Eureka, and Independence mines. The company have a number of other good paying mines, but have not the men at present to work them all. As soon as the company's stores arrive from San Francisco, 150 men, including chloriders, and others will be employed. There is now at the mill about 500 tons of fine ore, which will be worked as soon as some little repairs are completed on the mill. Pack trains are busy getting in wood, and ore is being delivered at the mill by tramway. As soon as repairs are completed, a long and profitable run will no doubt be made, which will enable the company to materially increase their dividends.

LOOKOUT.—Preparations are being made to start up the Modock furnaces during the coming week, under the general management of Frank Fitzgerald. J. J. Williams, formerly superintendent of the New Coso, will take charge of the furnaces during the run. About 200 tons of ore from the Minnietta and Modock mines is now on the ground. Al. Robinson's mule train is packing 15 tons of rich ore from Panamint. In addition, 100 tons of flue dust will be put through. The run will produce about 100 tons of bullion, which will be shipped during the present month.

FOR MEXICO.—Hon. Jos. Wasson was booked for passage to the mines of Sinoala, by the steamer Newbern, which was to sail on the 6th. He expects to return by the 28th and get ready for a trip East and probably to London. He expresses great anxiety to get back to Inyo, but proposes when he does come to be well "heeled" for extensive mining operations. May success attend all his efforts.

NEW WORK.—A letter from Cerro Gordo says that several men have been put to work on the old Union mine. Capt. Keeler has put some men at work on Ygnacio Hill at Cerro Gordo. Supt. Holt is commencing the annual assessment work on the Shawmut series, belonging to the Rex Montis Company.

KILLED.—The northern driver reports that Sunday or Monday last, a man named Watt, employed at the Tower mine, near Benton, was crushed to death by the falling in of the roof of his cabin. No further particulars could be obtained.

LOOKING UP. — The prospects at the southern end of the county are decidedly brightening. Panamint, Lookout and Darwin, will in a few days, all be producing bullion.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

Proceedings, Bills Allowed, Etc.

MONDAY, Nov. 7.

The Board of Supervisors met in regular session; present, C. Meysan, Chairman, D. Olds and E. Robinson.

Petition of citizens of Road District No. 10, asking for the appointment of viewers to view and lay out road from the southeast corner of John Barlow's ranch to Owens river, near Barney McGills. Said petition was rejected.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 9.

Board met pursuant to adjournment at 9 o'clock. All present. Minutes read and approved.

It is hereby ordered that in accordance with the provisions of Section 1094 of the Political Code, that a re-registration of the voters of Inyo county be made, and all the names on the present Great Register be canceled, and the Clerk hereof is directed to give notice by publication in THE INYO INDEPENDENT as required by law.

Ordered, that the Clerk give notice by publication in THE INYO INDEPENDENT, "that no bills will be allowed against the County, unless the same be filed at least one day before the meeting of the Board of Supervisors, as required by Section 4073 of Political Code."

The Clerk hereof is directed to give notice to the several Road Overseers of Inyo county, that all such Road Overseers failing to make a quarterly report as required by Sections 2685 and 2687, will be dealt with as provided for in Section 2688 of said Code.

Proposals of John Alexander and J. H. Dodge, for driving piles at Bend City bridge were rejected. The Board took a recess till 1 o'clock, P. M., at which time reassembled.

The following preamble and resolution was unanimously adopted:

Whereas, the several Road Overseers of the various districts of the county have failed to conform to the provisions of law in regard to rendering reports, and submitting proper bills, accounts, etc., it is therefore Ordered, that the Clerk of the Board of Supervisors prepare and cause to be printed such forms as may be necessary to guide such officers in the performance of their duties.

Report of Road Overseer Wm. Boyd, 34 District, rejected on account of informality.

Bill and report of A. S. Mizener, Road Overseer District No. 1, for August rejected on account of non-conformity to law. Bill and report of same for November rejected for same cause.

Adjourned at 2:10 o'clock, P. M., for the term.

PERSONAL POINTS.—John Baxter, with a load of produce, and T. F. A. Connelly as passenger started on Monday last for Gold Mountain. Mr. Connelly having recovered from his late accident, returns to the State Line mine.....Mr. Geo. Story left here on Monday last for Lone Pine.....W. A. Greenly started for Deep Springs on Tuesday.... Mr. John Eddy, and Martin Mee of Darwin, paid us a visit during the week. .....Mr. Harman of Darwin was in town on Monday, looking for hay and grain, preparatory to starting up the Defiance Furnace. .... Dick McNaughton, of the Northern Line, was in town on stage business... H. D. Gelatt, of Camp Independence, has returned, bringing with him the family of E. Robinson.....Mrs. Sallie Slater, mother of Mrs. P. A. Chalfant, returned last week from Iowa, after a number of years absence..... I. P. Yaney, a well known old timer, paid us a visit for a few days..... A. E. Mitchell, Esq; left for his home in Canada last Wednesday.

WOOD THIEVES.—A gentleman who says that while he is perfectly willing to donate a cord or so of wood to any deserving poor family, he objects to having it stolen after it has been cut up, particularly; and he intimates that some of it might be charged with powder hereafter. It is not a good thing to teach children to practice such petty thieving, anyway. They should follow the noble example of that Jersey bank cashier, and steal $2,400,000 at a time.

A GOOD EXAMPLE.—We submit the following fact for the careful consideration of a multitudinous public: In replying to a $5 subscription bill, a gentleman writes that he does not draw drafts for less than $20, so he encloses one, requesting his subscription continued to that amount. The writer and subscriber is J. W. Searles, of Borax Lake, San Bernardino county.

BISHOP CREEK ITEMS.

[From the Times.]

A number of the citizens of Bishop Creek met at that place, October 16th, for the purpose of forming a club, to unite with sportsmen of the State in securing the introduction and acclimatization of suitable game and fish not found here, and to enforce the game laws now in operation.

The following were elected officers for the ensuing year: President, Chas. Wonacott; Vice President, W. J. C. Gill; Treasurer, J. H. Bulpitt; Secretary, J. H. Shannan; Directors—W. J. C. Gill, C. C. Wainwright, J. S. Eldred, J. L. Bourland, and J. H. Bulpitt.

Jack Gunn has closed his saloon at Storey City for the Winter and will either remain in Bishop Creek or return to Darwin.

Married—In San Francisco, October 23d, J. Elkeles, of Bishop Creek, and Miss Sarah Cohen, of San Francisco.

The new store of J. H. Stoutenborough is rapidly approaching completion.

Manzinger, Phillipay & Co. will put up fifty tons of ice this coming Winter.

A CURIOUS instance of the tendency in Germany to concentrate everything in the hands of the government is furnished by the proposal, recently seriously discussed at a meeting of the Chemical Society at Reichenall, to have all the powder mills of the country pass into the hands of the state, to be operated by it. It appears that the assassination of the Czar of Russia inspired some patriotic Germans with the idea that a necessary safeguard against such atrocities would be the purchase of all the powder-mills in Germany. A speaker at the meeting above referred to called attention to the fact that, while the consumption of blasting-powder is only 150,000 cwts., the production is 400,000, a large quantity being exported. This is a trade which the government would have to abandon, so that the payment of 30,000,000 of marks for the mills would prove a very poor investment. Then the seven dynamite manufactories would have to be acquired, which would call for 3,000,-000 more, and here, too, an export trade of 700 tons would suffer very severely. After thus loading itself down with many unnecessary mills, it is asked, How can the guardians of the life of their sovereign prevent any would-be murderer from applying the simple process of manufacture in some quiet corner of the empire to produce the small quantity which might do great mischief? Absurd as the whole matter will appear, even on a casual examination, it has been seriously put forward, and is as seriously and vigorously opposed.

WITH the approach of long evenings, the wind of the average members of the Sazarac Lying Club is stirred to its lowest depths. An aspirant to the highest honors of that institution is found in the Virginia Chronicle contributor who states that there are said to be more wild geese at the sink of the Carson now than seen for many years before. They collect in such enormous flocks in the small ponds as to cause the water to raise above the shores of the sloughs. It is reported that considerable damage has been done to the adjacent fields by this remarkable overflow. At night the cowboys of the section utilize the sleeping fowls as a temporary bridge and cross the ponds on the backs of the unsuspecting geese. John Smith, the well-known cattle breeder of that section, has started a steam press, and already has squeezed out and bottled over five hundred gallons of cold-pressed goose grease, which he proposes to ship below and sell as the finest Lucca oil for salad purposes.

SOME delay is being experienced in getting the iron for the Carson and Colorado railroad forwarded from San Francisco. The Central Pacific is called on for more freight cars to handle the wheat crop of California than it can supply, hence the delay in getting the iron over that road. Mr. Yerington has been making arrangements to send Virginia & Truckee cars to San Francisco and have them bring the long looked for iron.—True Fissure.

First Gold in California.

Gen. Sherman has given this account of the first discovery of gold in California:

I remember that one day two men, Americans, came into the office and inquired for the Governor. I asked their business, and one answered that they had just come down from Captain Sutter on special business and wanted to see Gov. Mason in person. I took them into the Colonel and left them together. After some time the Colonel came to his door and called me. I went in, and my attention was directed to a series of papers unfolded on the table, on which lay about half an ounce of placer gold. Mason said to me, "What is that?" I touched it and asked, "Is it gold?" Mason asked me if I had ever seen native gold. I answered that in 1844 I was in Upper Georgia, and there saw some native gold, but that it was much finer than this, and that it was in phials or transparent quills; but I said that if this was gold it could be easily tested—first by its malleability, and next by acids. I took a piece in my teeth, and the metallic lustre was perfect. I then called to the clerk (Baden) to bring an axe and hatchet from the back yard. When they were brought, I took the largest piece and beat it flat, and beyond doubt it was a metal. Still, we attached no importance to the fact, for gold was known to exist at San Fernando and yet was not considered of much importance.

THE STATE LINES.—The bears made it very warm for the State Line bulls in the stock market Saturday. Of all the absurd stories circulated, those that were set afloat in the interest of the bear clique on Saturday are certainly entitled to a special premium. The ball began on Friday with the Roberts-capture-by-robbers canard, although it was not apparant why, if Roberts had been so unfortunate, the State Line mines should be affected. The bears fed the flame by reports that Farish, the superintendent of the mines, had telegraphed his wife to sell out, and there were a dozen bears who had seen somebody who saw somebody who saw the original dispatch. Another was that Shirley, one of the Trustees, had received a confidential telegram that the new water pipes wouldn't hold water under a ten foot pressure. Another that Farish had not reported favorably on the mine or the water proposition, and that his letters and telegrams on file in the office were all manufactured. By the officers of the company it is asserted that every one of these stories was a deliberate, wilful falsification, uttered and circulated by designing persons to break the market, and thanks to the credulity of many, they succeeded. At no time since the State Line mines have been placed on the market have the promises of the managers and experts been so near realization. Mr. Farish writes and telegraphs that there is plenty of water, and that the pipe will bring it in; he telegraphs that, after an examination of the mine, he finds it all that has been represented—and he heard the reports of Capt. H. J. Hall, Thomas Ewing, J. W. Davis, J. M. Sclover, H. F. Spear, William McCarthy, C. X. Hobbs, and other mining men who examined the property and expressed their opinions. Unless all these parties are knaves or fools, and Mr. Farish a bigger one than either, there is no reason why any stockholder should listen to these bear stories.—American Exchange.

THE hydraulic pump at the Combination shaft has worked smoothly and steadily for sixty days and more, without break or interruption, at even a greater rate of speed than required by the contract. The price of these massive pumps—by far the largest and best ever constructed for mining purposes—is $240,000. An advance payment of $80,000 was made, and the balance now due is $160,000. That amount will be borne jointly by the mines benefitted by the pump's workings—the Savage, Hale & Norcross, Chollar and Potosi companies—making $40,000 for each. On November 1st the Chollar had $8,111 48 on hand. The Potosi at the same date owed $12,337 71. Assessments will, therefore, soon have to be levied by those four companies, after which all will be plain sailing at reduced expenses.

About thirty men are employed in digging the ditch for the water pipe which is to furnish hydraulic pressure for working the Combination pumps. The entire line of pipes from the shaft to the tank, on the side hill, will be half a mile long. A very strong pressure will be had. The work is an extensive one, and will probably not be completed before December 15th.—Virginia Chronicle.

IT is to be hoped that the question of establishing a Mining Bureau will not be neglected at the present session of Congress. It is a matter that should be urgently pressed by the members representing mining States and Territories, and not lost sight of in the multitude of other business. The magnitude of the mining interest is sufficient to demand this, and there are many questions of law which require the attention of a regular and well-qualified department. Full statistics of output and a number of other important matters connected with mining will prove not only interesting but valuable to the miners, financiers, and capitalists of the country.

W. H. Farrish, the new superintendent of the State Line mine, was in town for a couple of days this week. He states that he has forty men at work on the pipe line and is pushing it to completion as fast as possible. There is considerable work yet to be done about the mill, but when once the water is running through the pipes the little tinkering about the other parts of the mine will be quickly accomplished.—True Fissure.

THE London Times admits that Parnell was arrested "because of what it was suspected he might be going to say the next day at Kildare."

COMMISSIONER RAUM, who is now on the stump for Mahone, was last year on the stump against him.

The Future of California.

It has always been the misfortune of this State that the strangers who have visited us have never half known us. Seeing one small portion, they have drawn general inferences as to the whole. The reports they have made may have been true as to a very limited section of the State, and could not at all apply to the rest. So, too, as to our climate, great blunders have been made. Our seasons differ so much from the greater portion of the civilized world that they have never been completely comprehended and reported. Nor have these facts been unknown to strangers and travelers alone, but too many of our own inhabitants have never learned them. Very few people know California thoroughly. A thermal map of the State would be a startling revelation to many. The difference of time between the maturing of crops on the seashore, and in the warmer valleys would seem almost incredible. The difference in apples, and all fruits growing ten miles apart, can hardly be believed. The seashore, of few miles in width, is a country by itself, stretching from Oregon to Mexico. The warm valleys back from the shore are another. The foot-hills of the coast ranges and Sierras, divided into the lower and higher, are still another sort of country. The high Sierras, and their valleys, where frequent showers fall in summer and heavy snows in Winter, are again as unlike any other part of the State as Maine is unlike Georgia. Being, then, an epitome of the world, California must be judged only by those thoroughly acquainted with her. The traveling or resident noodle, therefore, who talks of California as the Athenian did of his house, by showing a brick, should be heard and estimated accordingly. Looking, then, at the future of California products, we will take them in the order of their first production. Leaving out the Spanish era, gold was the first. The State has not yet been half prospected. The $1,200,000,000 taken out suggests the quantities remaining. When mining is pursued as a legitimate branch of business, by skillful and experienced hard workers, there is no end to its future. Wheat raising has already spoken for itself, but only in baby tones. When brought to maturity it will feed all the hungry in the world. Wine, and fruit and silk and cotton and oranges and raisins are coming slowly along. Drying and canning fruit will come to prodigious proportions as fast as the markets of the world open. Our great future is in manufacturing. Woolen mills are yet few, but becoming remunerative. Hosiery and underwear we are trying. The making of all we consume is only a question of a few years. The one thing we want is population, and that will come as soon as men prefer the best climate and advantages. Iron has just begun to pour itself into our marts from the bowels of the earth. Here, in building railroads, ships and houses and a thousand other things is our greatest hope. The coal to melt our iron will soon be here. It is found and can be transported wherever needed. The future of California is as bright as that of any land under the sun. A few rich men run away, but we have money enough left to develop our resources, and the wise will soon see how to do it. —Oakland Tribune.

THE miners believe that the suits brought against them are nothing more than a gigantic scheme to enrich a few lawyers. One suit would dispose of the merits as well as 20. Sacramento has fallen in line with a retainer of $12,000, and other counties are being pressed to follow that example. The State Engineer assessed the damage of thirty years mining at less than $5,000,-000. An insignificant amount compared to the hundreds of millions of wealth extracted by our hydraulic miners, and from which the agricultural population has derived great benefit. And further, to offset this great damage, large areas of land have been reclaimed by slickens, which is notably the case in this county. Thirty-two companies were sued on the Yuba and only four injunctions served, and those on companies supposed to be owned abroad. Fourteen hundred men, mostly having homes and families, were thrown out of employment. Miners believe that if proper influences and money are used, exemptions from service of injunction can be secured, and therefore do not feel that confidence in the law which exists in other communities, especially as Judge Keyser was elected on his well known hostility to the miners.—Georgetown Gazette.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.—European powers have evinced three times, by overt acts, their disinclination to accept the principles of the Monroe Doctrine. Once was in 1823, before the doctrine was promulgated. Austria, Prussia and Russia then proposed to help Spain subdue the revolted Spanish American States. President Monroe's proclamation, setting forth the determination of the United States not to have the despotism of the "effete" monarchies of Europe extended to the new world, warned them off the continent, and they went, though with bad grace. Again, in 1846, the "Holy Alliance" thought to set up imperialism in Mexico, but its designs were frustrated by the return of Santa Anna from exile and the outcome of the war with the United States. For the third time, in 1864, France, with the active co-operation of Austria and the tacit approval of Great Britain, undertook to establish an empire in Mexico, and then once more the scheme of absolution failed. It is, on the whole, not strange that the British lion growls when the American eagle ,in the person of Secretary Blaine, screams a reiteration of the old ultimatum, apropos of the Panama Canal.

THE LEAD MARKET.—The New York Mining Record of the 15th says: The demand for first-hand parcels has been quite moderate during the past week, and but few transactions have transpired. Consumers appear to have supplied their present requirements in a great measure, and are not disposed to further replenish their stocks. Common pig has been offered and sold at 5 1-5 to 5¼ cents, which is the present market value, and corroding is nominally held at 5.35 to 5¾ cents, but we do not hear of any sales.

California Wines Looking Up.

The New York Tribune has some cheering remarks about the increased consumption of California wines at the East. It appears that the failure of the French vineyards has resulted in so reckless a manufacture of spurious wines in that country as to break down the reputation of them altogether. The French wine dealers, in their desperation, and perhaps also in their contempt for the discriminating faculties of their customers, have been putting forth such abominable decoctions that they have destroyed their own market. And as it was known that they were using large quantities of California wines in their unholy processes, the American people are coming to the conclusion that it may be better to drink their wine undoctored. Consequently the demand for it is rapidly increasing, and attention once turned to it we believe that it will command a legitimate market. The chief danger arising from this access of prosperity is, as the Tribune points out, the danger of spurious wine manufacture in this country. There is also danger that some of our viticulturists may be tempted to put off crude and unfit vintage upon the market. All this kind of thing should of course be prevented wherever possible, but no doubt the cheif safeguard will be competition, which must secure to the most skillful and conscientious wine-growers the reputation and the public confidence which are necessary to permanent success in this industry.—Record-Union.

AMONG the latest discoveries in American mines is an emerald-green variety of spodumene, entirely new to scientific men. The crystals are of different shapes and sizes, and some are sufficiently like the ordinary emeralds to be mistaken for them. A considerable number of them have been cut out and set, although not enough to offset the price of emeralds. The gems are taken from a mine in Alexander county, N. C.

FLAX is assuming great prominence as a paying crop in Los Angeles county.

The State Line Mines.

In an interview with a reporter of the Tribune, Mr. T. J Hurley, a member of the mining board, reports concerning the State Line mines as follows:

I was out at Gold Mountain some weeks ago, and spent my time there in examining the State Line and Oriental and Miller properties. The history of the State Line mines, as I learned it, is this: They were discovered in 1865 by Thomas Shaw, who sold out the prospect to Gen. Page for $6,500. The discovery rock, weighing some 400 tons, still stands at the mouth of the 5 and 3 joint shaft. This rock would average $50 per ton if milled. There are two locations, which are known as No. 2 and No. 3. A man named Wright bought out Gen. Page in 1869 and sunk the shaft to a depth of 60 feet, exposing a large body of ore. There were two or three ether claims on the location and Wright was obliged to make a trip all the way to Canada to buy out one man. He then intended to incorporate the properties, but pending preparations for this purpose he died. On his death Stephen Roberts bought the property, but was four years in getting the patent papers through, which were finally granted in 1875. The patents dispensed with the necessity of doing assessment work, and consequently not much was done until last January, when work was resumed. Roberts had a partner named Cassell, who came to New York and interested George D. Roberts. The latter sent Messrs. Harpending and Taylor out to examine the property, and their report being favorable he bought it, leaving Mr. Taylor in charge, who immediately sunk the original shaft to a depth of 110 feet, and at a distance of 256 feet from it, in No. 3, another shaft of 96 feet, connecting the two shafts with a drift and opening up the immense body of ore now exposed.

The great expense of opening up the mines, which was estimated at $250,000, prevented Stephen Roberts and his partner from undertaking it. There was no water in the vicinity, and the mines were 250 miles from a railroad. The expense of getting supplies in and ore out would have been so great that the scheme would not have paid. A railroad is now being built toward the camp, and is within 120 miles of it. The water difficulty is being overcome by the bringing of water in pipes from Mt. McGruder, fourteen miles distant. The State Line Mill was finished when I was there, and I must say it is without doubt the finest 40-stamp mill in Nevada, if not in the country. Some of the timbers in it cost $100 each. The mill probably cost $130,000. It will be able to crush 90 to 100 tons of ore per day. The water pipe first ordered was scattered all along the trail from Lida Valley to Gold Mountain, but it was considered too light for the pressure, the water having a head of 670 feet. It can, however, be used for feeders from the main springs at Mt. McGruder to the main supply. The pipes will be laid in sandy soil, and can be put down in a short time, as several miles of trench has already been dug. There are now on the dumps of No. 3 and 3 about 3,500 tons of ore, and I should judge there are in sight in the drifts from 12,000 to 15,000 tons. I picked pieces of ore here and there through the drifts with my eyes shut, and had them assayed in Salt Lake, where they averaged $40 per ton. Assays from selected ore yielded $2,000 per ton. I think the vein is a true fissure. The ore body dips at an angle of about 40 degrees, the walls being perfect slate and granite, and as smooth as the walls of this office. Being a true fissue vein, the mine is likely to improve with depth. The vein is growing wider and richer. No more underground work could be done without more powerful machinery, and while I was there they were putting down double compartment shafts, with engines suitable to sink 1,000 feet. Competent men at Gold Mountain informed me that the companies would not only have water enough for the mill and all domestic purposes, but sufficient for another mill beside. In regard to No. 1 and 4: No. 1 has a shaft and tunnel, both showing the same class of ore as No. 5 and 3, but with not so well defined a vein. No. 4 has a shaft down 60 feet, but had not yet struck the ledge. These mines are on the same ledge with Nos. 2 and 2, and in time, with proper development, will probably prove equally valuable as the latter.

The "New" Disease.

Chas. Cattanach, vetenary surgeon, writing to the New York Spirit, says: "Pink eye, so called, is the usual attack of influenza, occurring mostly in the spring of the year. It is no new disease, as is commonly supposed, having been known for centuries back. However, it appears in different forms, and differs very often in the severity of its attack. It is the same disease which visited this and other cities in 1872. This disease is characterized by increased pulse, rise of temperature, which may rise as high as 105 degrees, swollen leg, eyelids and eyes nearly closed, also sore throat, which always accompanies it; after a day or two the legs swell and are sore to the touch. There is always a certain amount of debility and loss of appetite, which varies in different cases. The various visible mucous membranes are increased in color, becoming very red, such as that seen in the conjunctiva of the eye, from whence the disease commonly derives its name (pink eye). As a rule the disease is not dangerous when properly treated by a qualified veterinarian, and, on an average, its duration is ten days; at the end of such time the patient becomes convalescent." The same paper publishes other letters affirming that pink eye is not a new disease, and that the journal agrees with Dr. M. J. Henderson, of Syracuse, when he says, in an article in the Herald of that city, "this epidemic receives its common name from the pink appearance assumed by the conjunctiva that lines the inside of the eyelids when an animal is suffering from it."

Cornwallis.

Speaking of Yorktown, it is proper to do justice to the unfortunate British General. He was a man of high rank, and was bred to arms. He became a peer, and though a favorite with the King, opposed those measures which led to the revolution. When, however, his regiment was ordered to fight the colonies, he went earnestly into the service. He was highly efficient, and hence was placed in command of the forces in the South, and after a respectable degree of success, led to occupy Yorktown while awaiting orders. After the close of the revolution he was sent to India, where he redeemed his previous ill-fortune by a campaign of brilliant success. He conquered Tippoo, and obtained by treaty an immense accession of territory to the British power. He then returned to London, and was appointed Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, where he restored tranquility. He was soon after made Governor-General of the East India Company, and went to India, where too close application to his duties caused his death in 1805. He was born six years after Washington, and died six years after him, and was, therefore, of the same age (69) at the time of his death. It is evident that he was an able soldier, notwithstanding Yorktown, where he was placed under circumstances beyond control. Hence, defeat brought no dishonor.

Why Gold Changes Color.

It is well known that the human body contains humors and acids, similar in action to, and having a like tendency towards, baser metals, as nitric and sulphuric acids have, namely, to tarnish or dissolve them, varying in quantity to different persons; of this theory we have abundant proofs in the effects which the wearing of jewelry produces on different persons. Thousands wear continually without any ill effect the cheaper class of jewelry with brass ear wires, while if others wore the same articles for a few days they would be troubled with sore ears, or, in other words, the acids contained in the system would so act on the brass as to produce ill results. Instances have occurred in which articles of jewelry of any grade below eighteen carat have been tarnished in a few days, merely from the above named cause. True, these instances are not very frequent; nevertheless it is well to know them; every case is not the fault of the goods not wearing well—as it is generally called—but the result of the particular constitution by which they are worn.

BACON.—Pigs must not be extra fat to make the best of bacon, and the spare-rib lean must be left on the rib, the bone must be cut out, and the sides cut square and smooth; the trimmings can be made into sausage or go with the fat into lard. The first six months in the most growing age for a pig, and at this age they are suitable for the salt. After that, they begin to get too thick and fat. Bacon may be cured the same as hams and shoulders, only it does not require so long salting. Usually the salt is rubbed on the pieces, and are piled up for a few days to let it strike through. Three rubbings are enough. It should never be allowed to freeze during the curing, and if frozen it must be thawed out by soaking in water. Bacon will take in salt enough, unless the sides are very thick, in three weeks, when it is ready to be smoked. After smoking it may be hung in a dry, cool place or packed in dry salt or in tight boxes.

ELECTRIC lighting is in successful operation on more than 60 steamers on the Mississippi river and its tributaries. It is believed to add much to the safety of that kind of traffic and traveling.

What Does a Pound of Butter Cost?

In order that our dairymen may be prompted to figure for themselves what a pound of butter costs them, we give a little paragraph setting forth the cost under Eastern conditions. By changing the factors to meet local prices for feed, etc., a conclusion can be reached nearer the truth than rough guesses usually attain. The Eastern writer says:

The most costly feed for a cow is hay and corn meal and wheat middlings. With hay at 1 cent a ℔. and corn and middlings at 1½ cents, it will cost to feed a cow, 15 cents for hay and 7½ cents for meal per day—in all, 22½. A cow that will make 250 ℔s. of butter in a year, will cost at least $60. She will repay her own cost in calves and her carcass when 12 years old: so that to pay for her feed will cost $81 yearly, if it is purchased, and if it is provided by the farm it comes to the same end, for the feed must be sold. and against this there are 250 ℔s. of butter, worth at the market price, for the best quality, about $50 net. Now, what should this butter cost? If the cow is at pasture for six months in the year, the pasture will be worth, at $60 an acre for the land and four acres to the cow, in interest alone, $8.40; taxes will add at least $2 more to that, and the cost of the grass will be at least $2 an acre more; so that, with the winter feeding, the cost will be in all, $53.90, and the skimmed milk and manure may pay for the labor. Then, can a pound of butter be made for less than 25 cents? and if not, the dairyman is not likely to be troubled about the high price of four per cents. But what of the dairyman whose cows will make but 150 ℔s. of butter in a year, and whose butter causes the nose of the commission man to turn upward? How do they live and how much do they earn per day?

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

THE Modesto Herald is receiving contributions toward a fund in aid of the destitute widow and children of R. C. Gridley, the man who made himself famous, and impoverished, also, by the "Sanitary Sack ot Flour," the sale of which brought nearly half a million dollars into the fund for the relief of the sick and wounded Union soldiers. He was at the time engaged in a lucrative mercantile business in Austin. This he abandoned to prosecute the work which rendered his name a household word throughout the land, but which at the same time reduced him to poverty. He died a short time after the close of the war, leaving his family little save the memory of a devoted husband and father and the prestige of an unsullied name, made national by a glorious work. In this county, if the ex-soldiers take hold of the matter in earnest, a great many contributions could easily be obtained. Let them be however small, the aggregate would amount to considerable. THE INDEPENDENT will be glad to receive any sums offered, and will forward it to the custodian of the proposed fund, Mr. J. J. Porter, of Modesto.

THE Carson Tribune states that Mr. Chas. Slater, representing the firm of Barney Smith & Co., of Dayton, Ohio, arrived in Reno Tuesday, bringing with him cars for the Carson & Colorado. Messrs. Yerington and Bender went to Reno and brought up two of the cars on broad gauge trucks. The one is a passenger and the other a combination car, and both are pretty as ingenuity can suggest. The combination is mail, express and smoking car all in one, and is a perfect bijou—in fact nothing in the car line can compare with either. There are ten more cars to come for the Carson and Colorado. It is assuring that there is nothing on the Pacific Coast which has as yet come up to the rolling stock of the narrow-gauge road in the way of accommodation. Track laying has advanced to Deep Wells and is proceeding at the rate of about a mile per day.

MIKE OWENS, a miner, shot and killed P. L. Traver, a merchant, in Candelaria. He was tried in Aurora and acquitted. After being released Owens went to Tombstone. A few days ago he was in a saloon in Tombstone taking a drink of liquor; when a stranger, well mounted, and carrying a carbine and the latest improved six-shooter, rode up to the front of the saloon, dismounted and entered. As soon as he saw the Candelaria murderer he remarked: "Is that you, Owens?" At the same time he drew his revolver, took deliberate aim, and sent a ball crashing through Owen's head. The stranger walked quietly out of the bar-room, mounted his horse and rode away. Nothing has been seen of him since.

THE information reaches us that the King of Ashantee has had two hundred young girls killed for the purpose of using their blood in mixing mortar for the State buildings. This idea is as novel as it is abhorrent. What cohesive virtue there is in the blood of maidens it is difficult to say. But that such a deed of inhuman barbarism should take place anywhere in this enlightened age is amazing. Here is a chance for the powers of civilization to signally rebuke so atrocious an act. The King of Ashantee ought to receive a lesson that would cure him and his successors of so horrible a superstition.

THE Salt Lake Tribune, a few days ago, published an article charging one Felix Payton with manufacturing Confederate bonds in that city and shipping them to Philadelphia. The same paper Tuesday morning published a card from Payton, who admits that he printed the bonds for Eastern parties who wanted them to sell as souvenirs of the Rebellion.

EX-SPEAKER RANDALL declared in a speech in New York the other evening, that the Democracy would pull together at the next session for five things, to-wit: A three-per-cent refunding bill, a revision of the tariff, the annihilation of the Internal Revenue tax, frugal expenditures, and administration purity.

IT is announced that in twenty days the Southern Pacific will be in rail connection with New Orleans. This will be effected by connection of the Southern road with the New Orleans branch of Gould's southwestern system. This is a very important announcement.

THE new mines at Sweetwater, in Esmeralda, besides proving bonanzas, are attracting population, and a heavy law suit as to title. The Summers mine is reported to have a million in sight; hence the litigation.

THE GREAT TRIAL.

It transpires that comparatively little difficulty, notwithstanding "technicalities," has been encountered in securing a jury of true and lawful peers in the trial of the assassin Guiteau, and the notable case goes on. The studied misconduct of the miserable defendant is evidently part of his pre-arranged plan, but it will doubtless prove as futile as a certain case here—coming within our own knowledge, that of Mike Welch for killing Sheriff Moore. In both instances the defendant fights his counsel and makes the court room a small pandemonium of disorder. Day before yesterday, after the court opened, Guiteau's brother-in-law and counsel arose to make a personal explanation, in which he said there had been no disagreement between him and Robinson, as would appear from certain publications. At this point Guiteau rose and objected to Robinson taking part in his defense. He said he would manage his own case. He would not trust Robinson with anything, as he had no brains. He wished the court to understand him on this point, and if counsel were forced upon him he would make a noise about it to the country. He represented the Deity in this case, and wished the court to understand it. Two or three blunderbuss lawyers would lose the case for him, and he did not propose to submit to anything of the kind. The court informed the prisoner that if he did not remain quiet he would be removed from the room. After a few minutes the prisoner burst out afresh with the remark: "There is not a word of truth in the Chicago dispatch published in the Post this morning; it is a lie from beginning to end. (This is a dispatch referred to in regard to the arrest of the supposed accomplice of Guiteau.) For some time after this last remark the prisoner conversed in a very excited manner with Scoville, his brother-in-law, at intervals using his clinched fists upon the desk before him in an exceedingly demonstrative way. District Attorney Corkhill opened for the prosecution in a speech in which he enlarged upon the heinousness of Guiteau's crime. Order of proof on the part of the prosecution will be: First, the shooting; second, the death; third, the motive. Secretary Blaine was called to the stand and testified that he was with Garfield at the time he was shot; on reaching the depot on the morning of the assassination he heard a pistol shot followed almost immediately by another, and thinking there was some trouble touched the President for the purpose of hurrying him through the crowd; at this moment the President threw up his arms exclaiming, "My God! what is this, Mr. Blaine!" He then detailed the circumstances of the removal of the President to the White House and other matters pertaining to the shooting, all of which has been published.

THE United States has acquired a new strip of territory. It is centrally located, being somewhere in the center of the Arctic Circle. It is very productive, producing Auroraborealises and snowstorms all the year round. The land is densely shaded, not exactly by forests, but by a chronic attack of midnight. The sun makes a hasty call there about the 21st of every June, and as hastily withdraws, apparantly satisfied to find that none of his boreal treasures have been carried away since last year. It possesses some other advantages, one of which is that it can be reached by sea when the intervening ice-bound regions happen to be unlocked (which occurs once in every four or five years) or by a balloon, but not otherwise. Its extensive ocean frontage is fantastically pillared by eternal icebergs. The fauna is somewhat meagre, yet it has been hinted that there is room for a stirring business in the raising and exporting of Polar bears. The name of the new acquisition is Wrangel Land.

CHAS. CROCKER'S gift of $20,000 to the Academy of Sciences is well bestowed. The Academy has struggled along bravely for many years past, embarassed at every turn by lack of funds and unable, for that reason, to carry on investigations which would doubtless have resulted in great benefit not only to science but the material interests of the Coast.

THE Garfield Monument Fund has now reached between $16,000 and $17,000 and we think it is large enough. If anybody has money to spare let him give it to the fund for establishing a Veteran's Home in this State.

AT Bridgeport, last week, J. J. Welch, County Assessor of Mono, undertook to suicide on account of "financial embarassment." He inflicted a wound with a pistol ball, which is likely to prove fatal.

A PRISON Reform Convention has been held in San Francisco. There is great room for prison reform—both in its management and in those who fill its cells.

BISHOP CREEK MINING NOTES.

[From the Times of Saturday last.]

POLETA.—In our last issue we stated that work had been suspended throughout the main workings of this mine, and that a tunnel had been started to connect with the main incline. The company is running three shifts in this tunnel and, although the rock in the face is exceedingly hard, good progress is being made. Unless more favorable ground is encountered it will be six weeks or two months before the connection is made.

RED CLOUD.—Owing to the fact that the bond of Bob Russell and Ed. Loose on this mine expired on the 9th instant, no work has been done during the past few days. We understand, however, that one or both of the abovementioned gentlemen are making negotiations to re-bond the mine, and in the event that they do, work of developing will be immediately resumed. Even should they fail in securing the mine the owners will put a force of men to work.

MEXICAN.—This is the mine that recently made a rich strike and is situated in Redding's cañon. A personal inspection of the property revealed the fact that the ledge had been struck at three different points, the middle one of which being where the rich ore was found. An excavation of about twenty feet in circumference and ten feet in depth was made for the purpose of ascertaining the dimensions of the ledge, the main body of which is about five feet in width. To one side are a number of small veins that carry very rich ore. On what is consideren good authority it is learned that an offer of $27,000 was refused by the owners for the mine. Six men are at work sinking and otherwise developing the property, and ere long we expect to be called upon to chronicle the finding of one of the largest and richest bodies of ore ever discovered in the district.

RUSTLER.—The Rustler adjoins the Mexican on the north and is owned by Messrs. Thompson, Wren, Keyes, Calvert, Briggs and Giles. A tunnel was run south on the ledge to a distance of about thirty feet, when it made a sudden dip north and downward about forty-five degrees, where it was followed to a depth of twenty-five feet. At this point the ledge again made an abrupt turn to the south, being there about three and a half feet wide. Instead of continuing to follow the ledge the owners have driven the winze down an additional depth of thirty feet and expect to cut into the main ledge so soon as they run another ten or fifteen feet. This is also a very promising property and is the same mine that R. L. Peterson, of Bodie, tried to bond some weeks ago.

DAISY.—This mine is also situated in Redding's cañon, but at some distance from the Rustler. It is owned by I. P. Yaney, Jr., who has sunk a shaft on the ledge to a depth of fifteen feet. The ledge is three feet wide, of lively-looking quartz, with a vein of ore carrying silver. It is widening and improving in grade as depth is attained.

Eating Before Sleeping.

Man is the only animal that can be taught to sleep quietly on an empty stomach. The brute creation resent all efforts to coax them to a violation of the laws of nature. The lions roar in the in the forest until he has found his prey, and when he has devoured it he sleeps over it until he needs another meal. The horse will paw all night in the stable and the pig will squeal in the pen, refusing all rest until they are fed. The animals which chew the cud have their own provision for a late meal just before dropping off to their nightly slumbers.

Man can train himself to the habit of sleeping without a preceding meal, but only after long years of practice. As he comes into the world nature is too strong for him, and he must be fed before he will sleep. A child's stomach is small, and when perfectly filled, if no sickness disturbs, sleep follows, naturally and inevitably. As digestion goes on the stomach begins to empty. A single fold in it will make the little sleeper restless; two will waken it; and if hushed again to repose the nap is short, and three folds put an end to the slumber. Paregoric or other narcotic may close its eyes again, but without either food or stupefying drug it will not sleep, no matter how healthy it may be. Not even an angel who learned the art of minstrelsy in a celestial choir can sing a babe to sleep on an empty stomach.

We use the oft quoted illustration, "sleeping as sweetly as an infant," because this slumber of a child foltows immediately after its stomach is completely filled with wholesome food. The sleep which comes to adults long hours after partaking of food and when the stomach is nearly or quite empty, is not after the type of infantile repose. There is all the difference in the world between the sleep of refreshment and the sleep of exhaustion.

To sleep well the blood that swells the veins in the head during our busy hours must flow back, leaving a greatly diminished volume behind the brow that lately throbbed with such vehemence. To digest well this blood is needed at the stomach, and nearer the fountain of life. It is a fact established beyond the possibility of contradiction that sleep aids digestion, and that the process of digestion is conducive to refreshing sleep. It needs no argument to convince us of this mutual relation. The drowsiness which always follows the well ordered meal is itself a testimony of nature to this interdependence.—N. Y. Journal of Commerce.

"Stole any chickens dis week, Brudder Jones?" said a searching class leader to a member of suspiciously thieving propensities. "No; sah—tank de Lor'." "You'se done well," said the leader, and passed on, while "Brudder Jones" turns to "Brudder Brown" and whispers: "Lucky he said chickens; if he'd said ducks he'd had me suah."

THE upper Mississippi lead fields include 2,000,000 acres—200,000 in Iowa, 400,000 in Northern Illinois and 1,400,000 in Wisconsin. The value of the gross amount of lead produced on that field since 1826 is about $70,000,000.

Carson City Comments.

CARSON, Nev., Nov. 7.

DEAR INDEPENDENT—It's a long time between drinks when a fellow is broke, isn't it? Well, so it's a long time before hearing from a friend, if he isn't prosperous. None of us like to write back to our old home unless a streak of good luck colors the sky, and enables our thought and pen to revert to old scenes. But this hazy day in November reminds me of similar sleepy days in old Inyo when I lived there and wished for wings to aid me in escaping from its rock ribbed isolation. But the feeling was only discontent, engendered by the thought that my friends abroad forgot me; and so now with a generous feeling for those I left behind me I will write and tell you what I have learned, in my absence from there, about—Hank Monk—and Carson in particular. True, the guide books will tell you all about Carson, and the tourists enough about Hank Monk, but they only do it as Farmer Treadway says the Reno State Fair served his fat pigs—give "honorable mention; which is no calamity, but has no nutriment."

CARSON

Is—dead as a pickled mackerel. The C. & C. R. R. has taken away all its teaming interests and left for its support the U. S. Mint, the State and county and railroad officials—every mother's son of whom got broke in stocks or matrimony so long ago "that the memory of man runneth not to the contrary." For the past two weeks, however, business has awakened the hotel and saloon keepers from their slumbers, and they have been busy "taking in the daily stranger," whose presence has been required by the fall terms of the State and United States Courts. The city has been flooded with wicked attorneys, and startled by two rattling earthquakes; but no harm done to any except the helpless litigants.

The Albion-Richmond suit brought before our Supreme Court some of our highest priced attorneys. The history would be interesting, but too lengthy for my space, so I will only mention that the arguments made, by ex-Senator Stewart, ex-Congressman Wren, R. M. Clarke, Hon. Geo. W. Baker and W. S. Wood, all of whom now rank as shining lights, were undoubtedly good, but I thought the Judges looked badly bored with the three days tongue lashing they had to endure, and I felt for them as I often did for the unfortunate jurors that I have seen penned up in the Inyo Court House.

Of the many attorneys present in attendance upon the U. S. Circuit Court, I note particularly Hon. P. Reddy, who most deservedly ranks high in abilities, but the bar has had but little opportunity to see his talents displayed as yet. He was only present one day, having to leave here last night for Inyo by way of San Francisco. He goes at once to Darwin to commence operations on the Defiance mine, which he purchased and will now work for all it is worth.

Now I am reminded that I havn't told you much about Carson yet, and as space does not permit I shall have to boil it down to a few brief and dry details. Population about 4,000. Assessed value of property in city circuits over one million dollars; with forty-four miles of streets, a forest of shade trees—now like the Inyo county Jail, bare of everything but bugs; many pleasant cosy homes; five churches, beside a place of Jewish worship, and a Chinese Joss House; a fine Opera House, that cost $18,000, and which is open occasionally; to-morrow and next night by Sheridan and company in tragedy—not half as interesting as a Rowdy Rooster parade; business street over half a mile in length; and lighted the whole length by six coal oil lamps like the one in front of Johnny Irwin's saloon (I don't recollect whether he has one or not, but if not, the comparison is all the better, for the light isn't much better than that of a lady bug). The public buildings are creditable and hotel accomodations ample—with storage for trunks, if a guest fails to pay his bill. And added to all these a brewery that is bigger than Joe Fernbach's—which makes me so dry to think about that I can scarcely dwell long enough to mention our taxes, $3 85 on the $100. And if that isn't enough to drive a man to the flowing bowl I'll mention the school house with over six hundred scholars, and tell you about Hank Monk in my next. Now—don't shoot, and I'll run. Here's luck, pardner!

BASCOMB.

THE most romantic town on the coast is Meadow Lake. It is close up to the summit of the Sierras, near a beautiful lake. It grew up in one Summer to be a great town. Thousands of people put thousands of dollars there. There was plenty of good, rich gold ore there, but the gold had a terrible liking for the rock, and nobody could get it out. A few stayed the first Winter. The snow fell twenty or thirty feet deep. The people made tunnels from one house to the other and contrived to get through the Winter. The only way in and out was on snow shoes. The next Spring everybody ran away, and the town collapsed and fell down. Adventurous parties have every year tried to work the ore, with very little success. The last news is that a new process has been tried which bids fair to be a success. Walter Hamilton, of Oakland, a mining expert, now comes to the front and claims that he has discovered a process by which the rebellious ores of this district can be worked successfully at a cost of $1 50 a ton, and if he can do so, Meadow Lake will soon become one of the most important mining districts on the coast.—Truckee Republican.

AND now they are shipping potatoes and cabbages from Europe to New York. Ireland sending the tubers and Germany seeing that we do not suffer for sauer-kraut. It can hardly be maintained that the United States is in a highly prosperous condition when she has to send abroad for such food staples as potatoes and cabbage.

A VERY disagreeable old lady—old Ma Laria.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19.....1881

BEVERIDGE.—For the month ending November 12, the Taylor & McEvoy mill produced $31,359 70 in gold, from Keynot ore. The mill has been shut down during the past week in order to make some necessary repairs, but will start up again on Monday next for another month's run. The Keynot is showing a fine body of high grade ore, which continues of a uniform value of about $115 per ton, and the mine continues to improve as further explorations are made. The negotiations for the purchase of this property, which have been going on for some time past, do not seem to have arrived at any definite result yet. The owners know that they have a valuable mine and they are not anxious to sell unless their terms are complied with. In fact, in a talk with Superintendent Fuentes a day or two ago, he said in substance that no one could possibly buy the property without an actual presentation of the coin; that they were tired of any "bonding" propositions whatever, unless the sum of $10,000 was deposited in cash to secure such an arrangement. We can not give at present the owners' figures, even under such an arrangement. The chances are that they do not intend selling, and outsiders can make the best of their lost chances.

THE INDEX.—Our Eastern exchanges quote the Index Co's stock at $1 05 to $1 10 per share. One of the mines at Chrysopolis belonging to this company was formerly owned by Capt. Chase, whom many of our citizens will remember as being so thoroughly imbued with the belief that there was "millions in it" that he carved out the opening of the mine on a colossal scale, and attempted single-handed and without means—by sinking shafts and running tunnels to demonstrate the correctness of his theory. Unfortunately for him, before reaching the mines through these channels, he was seized with a mortal sickness that carried him off to that city—we will hope—whose streets are paved with the material that he was so sanguine of finding in the Chase mine. Should his perturbed spirit, however, still be hovering over the scenes of his earthly troubles and tribulations, it may remove one of the disturbing elements to know that the mine is now supposed to be in the hands of enterprising men who are not likely to let it long remain in its present condition. Aside from a faith amounting to conviction in Chase's judgment on the value of the mine, from all other sources of information we are told that the mine is a good one, and we heartily wish the Index Company the success their enterprise entitles them to.

AN EQUINE ACCIDENT.—Hubert Gelatt, of Camp Independence, is in trouble, under circumstances which excite the sympathy of his friends and particularly those who admire intelligence and docility in the animal creation. Two or three weeks ago we gave an account of Mr. Gelatt's success in training his two blooded colts "Col. Sanford" and "Bob Ingersoll," the superior acquirements of which was then related. During Mr. Gelatt's absence "Bob," the three-year old Budd Doble colt, received a kick, probably, which caused a double fracture of the bones of the right fore leg, near the shoulder. The hurt is serious, but Dr. George has kindly undertaken the surgery of setting the broken bones and proposes to let nature effect a cure. "Bob" is swung in a canvass harness, with the shoulder encased about as a human leg would be, while Gelatt attends to the nursing. In such hands the experiment is well worth the trial, and, according to Gelatt, "Bob" seems to understand just what they are trying to do for him.

GOLD MOUNTAIN.—At the State Line mines the work of laying the water pipes is being pushed forward with all possible dispatch. One hundred and fifty men are at work, and Supt. Farish expects to have the water works completed, and everything in readiness to commence crushing ore by December 15th. The 40-stamp mill is completed, and is said to be first-class in every respect. Hoisting works are running on the mine, and several thousand tons of ore is now on the dumps, enough, together with what is in sight in the mine, to keep the mill running for six months. Several pounds of the average ore has been sent to the Independence assay office, in which free gold is plainly visible without the aid of a glass. About 300 men are now in Gold Mountain camp, exclusive of those employed by the State Line mining company.

AGENTS.—In a new advertisement this week Messrs. J. S. Rothschild & Co. announce their agency for the sale of Glidden's steel barb fence wire, the South British and National Fire and Marine Insurance Company and the City of London Fire Insurance Company. Messrs. J. S. R. & Co. are in receipt of a large stock of new goods, also.

JOB PRINTING.—Parties who have orders on file in this office for job work will receive the same during the coming week, and when we once get even there will thereafter be no more delays. A large lot of modern stationery and choice styles of new type is en route. Prices reduced, and—and, and send in your orders.

CHECK LOST.—The finder of an envelope, containing the lost check mentioned elsewhere, will receive a suitable reward by sending the parcel to this office. See notice.

GOOD.—The Sara Stevens Heenan Company were greeted with full and appreciative audiences at Bishop and Big Pine.

TUESDAY, Nov. 15.

Board met on this day in special session for the purpose of re-organization and other preliminary work, and was called to order by P. A. Chaltant, President pro tem.

Present, P. A. Chalfant, Dan'l. Crough and J. W. Symmes, County Superintendent, and ex-officio Secretary of the Board, they being the hold-over members. Messrs. A. R. Conklin and A. B. Hagerman, newly appointed members, were also present and took their seats.

Minutes of the last preceeding meeting read and approved.

By a unanimous vote, A. R. Conklin was chosen President of the Board.

The Secretary read a communication from the State Superintendent, to the effect that no text books could be adopted at any other time other than in May or June of each year, and then only after due notice.

A communication from S. W. Blaisdell asking a recommendation for a life Diploma was read, and his request granted.

Applications from Mrs. Libbie M. Thresher and Miss M. E. Temple for first class certificates upon a first grade State certificate and a New York Normal School diploma, respectively, were received, and both favorably acted upon.

Ordered, That the time for the semi-annual meetings of the Board be changed from the third Wednesdays of May and November in each year to the third Wednesdays of March and September.

The duty of preparing examination questions in the various studies was assigned to the several members, and the entire Board constituted a committee to finally select and adopt questions from the papers so submitted or otherwise, as might be deemed best. Other questions were introduced and discussed, but without final action. The Board then adjourned to meet in regular session at 9, A. M.,

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 16.

Present, Hagerman, Crough, Symmes and Chalfant. The latter was chosen President pro tem, vice President Conklin, absent.

The following named, having previously filed their applications for teacher's certificates, were present for examination, viz., Chas. H. Groves, 1st grade; Crittenden Hampton, 1st grade, and Miss Eva Shepherd, 2d grade.

[The examination was begun at once, and has continued without interruption up to this writing, Saturday, 19th. The 2d grade course was concluded late last evening. The final result will probably be made known this evening, but of course, not in time for this issue. It may be stated, however, that the candidates are all young, the oldest being but barely of age, and being fresh from their books, are all quite likely to succeed.—REPORTER.]

SUPERIOR COURT.—A jury of twenty-four persons was ordered summoned by the Court, to serve as trial jurors in the case of People vs. Williams, charged with assault with intent to commit murder. The jury is returnable next Monday, at 10 o'clock, at which time the case has been set for trial. District Attorney Laird will appear for the people and W.P. George, Esq., for the defence. The case of the People vs. Hank Lufkin for assault with a deadly weapon has been set for trial on the 5th of December. The case of the People vs. William Adams, assault with intent to commit murder, has been set for trial on the 8th of December next.

THE ARRIVAL.—Dick Glenn's poetical account of Pap Walker's arrival into celestial realms, is—we are sorry to report—just a little too æsthetic; too awfully utter, as it were, for reproduction.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Henry Rickey, from Bridgeport, dropped dead at Swearingin's hotel at Bishop Creek last Tuesday. An inquest was held, but we have not learned what the verdict was.

NEW.—The announcement of the popular mercantile establishment of L. Lasky, at Lone Pine, is given this week. More anon.

FOR SALE.—See notice of a valuable sewing machine for sale, at about half price.

AN Oregon paper mentions a remarkable frolic at the house of a young widow. It comprised a wood-chopping, rag-cutting and candy-pulling. Young men who hadn't split a stick for their poor old mothers for over a year actually chopped a cord apiece; the girls cut 49 pounds of rags, and as for candy, the whole crowd were smeared with concrete molasses from head to foot.

Re-Organization of Waucoba Mining District.

After a series of preliminary meetings, and pursuant to notices legally given and incorporated in the minutes, the miners of Waucoba District assembled at the Waucoba Mining Co's camp, situated in Lead Cañon, about 8 miles north of Freeborn's cabin, on Monday, Nov. 7, and formally adopted the following local laws:

1. That the former name of the Distrcit be retained and spelled "Waucoba."

2. That the old district laws heretofore in force and governing Waucoba Mining District be and are from this date repealed.

3. That the mining laws passed by the Congress of the United States shall hereafter be the governing laws of said district.

4. That the boundaries as herein described shall be the established boundaries of Waucoba mining district, to-wit: Commencing for the southwest corner at the Pah Ute monument; thence north along the summit of the Inyo range to a point due northeast from the bridge on Owens river, leading to Greenly's toll road—being the eastern boundary line of Union mining district; thence northeast to the base of the Inyo range; thence along the base of said range southeasterly to the mouth of Willow Creek in Saline Valley; thence west to the said Pah Ute monument, the place of beginning.

5. That A. McKellips be elected Recorder of the Waucoba mining district, his election to take effect from this date.

6. That all claims hereafter located in this district must be recorded in the Waucoba mining district's books of record within thirty days from the date of their location.

7. That such location shall be entitled to the full limit of 600 feet in width or 300 feet on each side of their central or vein line, as provided in the Mineral Statutes of the United States.

8. Parties having completed the annual assessment work on their claims required by law, and desiring a certificate to that effect must have their work examined by the Recorder or his deputy; who, on being satisfied that the law has been complied with, will issue the proper certificate.

9. The District Recorder elected shall hold office after the expiration of the year named until his successor is duly elected and qualified. It shall be his duty to keep in suitable books a full and correct record of all notices of claims presented to him in the order of their date of filing. All examination of the records to be made in the presence of the Recorder or his deputy. The Recorder shall have power to appoint a deputy to act in his stead and shall deliver to his successor in office all books, records and papers belonging or pertaining to his office. He shall not record a claim for one party that he knows of his own personal knowledge has already been properly located and rightfully and lawfully belongs to another or other parties. His fee for recording such notice of location with one signature shall be two dollars, and fifty cents more for each additional signature. For each certificate issued and record of annual assessment work, his fee shall be two dollars. He shall be entitled to one dollar an hour during the hours from sunrise to sunset while making examinations of claims for the purpose of giving certificates of annual assessment work. His books of record shall consist of at least two separate books—one for recording certificates of annual assessment work, and one for notices of location. It is required of the Recorder that he write out in full the proceedings of this meeting, or post a printed copy on the front page of one of his books of record, with a certificate appended signed by the President and Secretary hereof that it is a correct copy.

In the event of the Recorder leaving the district without being able to procure a deputy, or before his successor in office is qualified all books or papers belonging or pertaining to the office shall be deposited for safe keeping with the County Recorder of Inyo County.

The Pinckney Gold Mining Company.

Among the mining companies recently incorporated under the laws of the State of New York, the claims of the Pinckney Gold Milling and Mining Company merit more than a passing notice. The company was organized early last month, and among the trustees and officers are: S. B. Wellington, president; F. S. Collins, treasurer; H. E. Fanshawe, secretary; Henry Cummins and Walter Hamilton. The properties of the company are eight in number, and are situated in Snow's Cañon, Inyo county, Cal. Several of these claims have been considerably developed, exposing good veins of ore, ranging in value from $88 to $800 of gold per ton, and averaging nearly $100. The greatest amount of work has been done on the St. George, St. Louis and Safety properties, but enough has been done on the Hamlet, Alph, Panamint View, Palmetto and Plymouth claims to demonstrate their value. The quartz ledges are all perfectly well defined, running due east and west, are from 6 to 16 inches wide, with regular perpendicular walls, a desirable sign as indicating a concentration of ledge matter. The supply of water and wood is abundant. A large amount of money has been expended upon the property and in the erection of a 5-stamp mill and necessary buildings. The present mill capacity, however, is wholly inadequate, and the company are about to establish the Hamilton reduction process at the mines. The capital stock of the company is placed at $1,000,000, divided into 100,000 shares. There have been set aside for the treasury 25,-000 shares, of which 12,000 are for sale. —*N. Y. Chaff.

Neighbor's pretty daughter: "How much a yard is this?" Draper's son (desperate "spoons" on her): "Only one kiss." "If it so cheap I will take three yards, and grandma will pay you."

The true language of compliment.—Frenchman (to lady who has been singing)— "Ah, what a voice! No, it is not a voice, it is the warbles of ze bird. Is it zat you in your throat what you call ze—ah, yes ze thrush?" Vocalist —"The thrush in my throat, Monsieur?" Frenchman—"Ah, I perceive zat I have make some mistake. It is anoder. Yes, I have him now—ze martingale!"

Last week a strapping negro woman was up before an Austin justice, charged with unmercifully beating her boy, a saddle-colored imp. "I don't understand how you could have the heart to beat your own child so cruelly." "Jedge, has you been a parent of a wuffles yellar boy like dat ar cub of mine?" "Never," ejaculated the judge with great emphasis, getting red in the face. "Den don't talk."

An officer of an army relates that upon one occasion after a charge upon the enemy's works, a fierce encounter and a fall back for reinforcement, a bright young Irish soldier was found to have a rebel flag captured from the foe. Approaching him he said: "I'll send that to the rear as one of our trophies; give me the flag." "Sure, I'll not give it ye," said Pat; "if ye are wanting one, there's plinty av 'em behind that ridge over beyant where I got this; sure ye can go and get one for yerself."

FIVE years ago the building of a railroad into Bodie would have been considered a most improbable event at any time in the future; and until the beginning of the present year no steps had been taken looking to that end. It was decided, however, by Messrs. Dan and Seth Cook, and Messrs. Graves, Yerington, Bliss and others, who owned the large tract of timber south of Mono Lake, that a narrow-gauge railroad should be built to connect Bodie district with that timber belt, and with a view to such future connections as might afterwards become desirable. The work was therefore commenced on the 1st of June of the present year, under the superintendency of Mr. Thomas Holt, an experienced railroad builder and manager, and the last spike was driven on the 14th of November, five and one-half months later. The road is a narrow-gauge, thirty-one and sixtenths miles in length. From Bodie the first ten miles is down a steep grade of 200 feet to the mile. The balance is over an arid, alkali plain. The steep grade is laid with 40-pound steel rails, and the level track with thirty-five pound iron rails. There are now two engines and forty cars on the road. Another engine will arrive in a few days.

LAST week D. N. Friesleben, of the Union Hotel, purchased from a mountain granger half a dozen chickens. There was nothing extraordinary about the chickens; in fact they looked like ordinary barnyard fowl; but on one of them being killed there was found in its craw a round piece of gold of the value of thirty cents. The steward of the hotel took the little piece of metal to Mr. Friesleben, telling him at the same time where it came from. Friesleben didn't say anything, but proceeded to the fire hydrant, and attached and run a line of hose down the alley to the chicken coop. The steward, who was an observer of these strange proceedings, finally asked the hotel proprietor what he proposed to do. Friesleben replied, saying: "Why, darn it, Im going to kill those chickens and hydraulic their craws; go get me a cask of quicksilver and send two carpenters around and lumber enough for flume." An injunction was served on him, however, before he could get his mine in running order, and he is now waiting for a decision in the slickens case before he proceeds with the work.—Oroville Mercury.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Omie I. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40, with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40-100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.

In the case of the United States v. Smith, reported in 2 Mont. 487, the Prosecuting Attorney filed the following "Points and Authorities," which were not inserted in the official reports by Judge Blake, but were given a wider circulation in a local newspaper.

The point that the escape of the prisoner is ground for the dismissal of the appeal is affirmed by the Supreme Court of California in People v. Redinger, 55 Cal. 297.

(In the Supreme Court, Montana Territory, January Term, 1876. United States, Plaintiff and Respondent, v. John B. Smith, Defendant and Apellant.

RESPONDENT'S POINTS ON MOTION TO DISMISS APPEAL.

Defendant was convicted in the Third District Court of selling whisky to Indians, but escaped from jail before sentence was passed upon him. His Attorney afterwards moved for a new trial, which was denied, whereupon he appealed to this Court.

The respondent moves to dismiss the appeal on the following ground: That no final judgment has yet been rendered in the Court below. The Court has no jurisdiction of this case until the rendition of final judgment and the bringing up of the whole record. 10 Cal., 503; 15., Cal., 42; 17 Cal., 518; 33 Cal., 401.

The appellant has availed himself of that kind of bail known in common parlance as "leg bail," the forfeiture which brings the Government no revenue.

He has gone to the Indian country, from whose bourne no traveler returns virtuous, and but few rich. His inconsiderate departure has deprived the Court of a case, the United States Marshall of a guest and his counsel of a fee.

It is a presumption of law that when an attorney enters an appearance he is duly authorized to do so.

But that presumption is weakened when a client abandons his case before its termination, and that, too, in such unseemly haste as to neglect the parting civilities which obtain among gentlemen. This is a serious case—for the United States. The presence of appellant is respectfully but earnestly solicited. Let the wanderer return. Let him cease to prefer the hardships of the prairie to the home comforts of the penitentiary. His case in the District Court can then be happily terminated, and he will be suitably rewarded.

The persistent absence of appellant is a waiver of all claim to a new trial, and betrays a lack of interest in judicial proceedings.

There is no equity in appellant's case. His indiscretion has not only proved embarassing to the Court, but has rendered the Marshal and his deputies the jest of the worldly-minded, who continually ask, "Have you heard from Smith?"

Equity follows the law and the law follows Smith; but unhappily Smith has the percentage of an early start and a more intimate acquaintance with the topography of the country.

This cause should be dismissed and sent to the District Court to await defendant's appearance. In that Court he left the case, and there he will confidently expect to find it on his return.

M. C. PAGE,
U. S. District Attorney.

NILE'S Weekly Register for 1836 says that Prof. Lariat, well known at that time as a skilled and scientific baloonist, at one of his ascensions in New York, reached an altitude of about five miles, and proceeded over 100 miles. He passed through clouds of sleet which covered his baloon with icy particles, but what was more interesting, he discovered that when at his greatest altitude, the needle of a compass he had with him did not have the least tendency to exhibit polar attraction, but wavered about at all points of the compass. This circumstance of the earth's polarity at that distance from the surface is worthy of investigation, and merits the attention of scientific minds. We are not aware whether these observations have been corroborated or otherwise by later baloonists.

The Utility of Electric Lights.

In these days of lively fluctuations in gas stock, the following paragraph from the New York Mining and Engineering Journal is particularly pertinent:

Those who have watched the developments of the electric light in this city during the past year cannot fail to have noticed what great progress has been made in their steadiness and in the success in providing lights of medium power. In industrial establishments, the use of arc lamps is becoming more general, and it appears to us that the time has come when mine and mill men ought to give this subject careful attention. We do not look to any extended use of such powerful lights in underground excavations, but we would urge the expediency in employing them in shaft houses and mills, where work is done day and night, and where good illumination is so essential to good work. As a rule, the power in such establishments is so irregularly taxed that it would not be expedient to run the dynamo-electric machines from the main engines; but usually there is steam enough to supply a small auxiliary motor, that could furnish what is so much needed, steady power. Where wood is cheap in the West, but freights high, the economy of electric lighting would be assured; while elsewhere the advantages of good illumination, though indirect only, would, we believe, fully counterbalance increased cost.

THE hydraulic mines tributary to this city—that is, which ship their gold this way—says the Nevada Transcript of November 10th, have produced less than $500,000 worth of bullion during the past five months, as a result of the litigation into which they have been forced by corrupt lawyers and ignorant grangers. In August, when all of the mines of note were idle, only about $50,000 was taken out of this part of the county. The period following that month was the most distressing one ever experienced in Nevada county. Not only were the laboring miners reduced to desperate straits, but thousands of mechanics, business men and other citizens shared in the terrible and never-to-be-forgotten condition of affairs. Those who were not of us then can never realize the unhappiness of that time. Hundreds of good men with families roamed here and there aimlessly, begging without avail for just enough work to keep body and soul together in their poverty stricken homes. Had it not been for less unfortunate neighbors who had well stocked larders and were willing to divide their last crust, the outcome would have been most disastrous.

THE Nevada Transcript irreverently remarks:

When the struggle between the miners and the farmers has come to an end, then and not till then will the farmers become convinced that they have made damphools of themselves. At that time they will examine their financial affairs and ascertain that they have had a hard fight, lost all that they had and gone in debt, and worse yet have accomplished nothing more than lining the pockets of a few shyster lawyers who are living in palaces builded with their gold. Experience is the best teacher, and it will enforce a powerful lesson in this case. The whole trouble could yet be remedied outside the court if the tarmers were only represented by honest and unselfish men.

THE following, from the Maine Mining Journal, shows how they run the mining stock business in that land of booms: "We suppose there must be a parcel of handsome and talented brokers getting together on the floor of the mining board and tossing a certain stock from one to another until "sales" have amounted to many thousand shares. while not a half a dozen shares have changed hands, and then publishing in the evening and morning papers a quarter of a yard of "reported transactions;" but to the unappreciative outsider, it would seem that full-grown men should be in better business."

DR. BRUNNER, of Wattenwell, Austria, has invented an electric carrier, in the form of an underground railroad moved by electricity. The invention is at present before the Austrian Society of Engineers for inspection. The locomotive can be guided and controlled from a stationary point, because the battery or motive power is not on the locomotive; it does not need any accompanying attendance. The locomotive and train can be constructed of any diminutive size, and both will perform the same service for any length of distance which the pneumatic tube will perform for short distances.

THERE are now 47 Pullman cars in English and Continental railways, and 10 more in course of construction to be sent abroad. The first Pullman sleeper introduced in England commenced running on the Midland Railway in 1875. The English railway officials and the people generally predicted that the cars were too long to get around the sharp curves of that road, but after a trial had satisfied them that there was no ground for apprehension on this score, the English companies commenced to build larger carriages than they had ever built before.

THERE seeme to be no end to substitutes for iron in the manufacture of gear wheels. The last suggestion is raw buffalo hide. Cement and press together as many layers are required for the breadth of the wheel. The blanks thus prepared are cut to form the teeth in the usual manner with suitable tools. The advantages claimed are, smooth and noiseless action at very high speeds and greater durability without lubricator.

AMONG the latest Parisian noveliies is the advent of the paralune as a supplement to the parasol. The rays of the moon are quite as dangerous as those of the sun, says the chroniclers of the novelty. One can be moonstruck just as one can have a sunstroke. If the sun browns the skin, the moon dries and wears it out, just as it affects the surface of stone. Therefore, the ladies who are staying at country houses where long country walks are often arranged, that one may enjoy the moonlight, should remember to secure one of the dainty paralunes made in gauze, lined with red silk, which are declared to be the last effort of fashion-

THE Schlesische Presse describes a new motor, which is said to be driven by a new force more powerful than steam, which has the additenal advantage that it can be generated in about five minutes, without the aid of fire or water, to attain a pressure of ten atmospheres without emitting any noxious vapors. The particular machine rates two horse-power, while occupying a space of but 11¾ cubic ft., and weighs, with the motive power, but 330 lbs. We should be glad to see it.

THE California Central Railroad Company has let to A. H. Washburn of Mariposa a contract for grading 35 miles of that road, work to be commenced at once at Minturn, on the Visalia Division of the Southern Pacific, and pushed toward Salt Lake City.

IT is believed that in all probability there will be a consolidation of railroad interests, which will result in the strongest railroad combination that has ever existed. The road, it is said, will be a direct transcontinental line from New York to Portland, Oregon. The way comprises the following lines: New York, West Shore & Buffalo, Buffalo & Chicago, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Northern Pacific and the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company's roads. It is claimed that the entire line will be complete and in running order in two years. The distance by the road now being constructed between Chicago and New York is 40 mites shorter than any other route, and the line for its whole length runs through a very productive country. The hand of Henry Villard, of the Oregon Railroad and Navigation Company's road, is said to be discerned in this agreement.

ACCORDING to an English Geographical writer, there are four vast areas still to be opened and traversed by civilized man, and which, among them, constitute about one-seventeenth, of the whole area of the globe. Of these, there is the Antarctic region, which in extent is about seventy-five times that of Great Britain. The second lies about the North Pole. The third is Central Africa, and the fourth is Western Australia. The south polar region referred to is conterminous with the Antartic circle. The vast African area reaches on the West very near to the coast, and it is only near the equator that it has more than superficially been driven inland. In Australia, the great undeveloped region is that which lies west of the track explored from north to south by Stuart, and which now forms the line of telegraphic communication across the continent.

THE New York Mining Record says the lead business transacted from first hands last week was of limited proportions. Consumers are mostly supplied for present and future wants and do not care to further anticipate their requirements. In a jobbing way, common pig has been held at 5 cents, but for round lots not more than 4.90 to 4.95 could be obtained, the tendency being rather in favor of buyers. Corroding is almost wholly nominal at about 5¼ cents.

IN passing through Nevada last Thursday and Friday, Senator J. P. Jones is said to have been besieged at nearly every station by office-seekers. As he is believed to have much influence with President Arthur, the would-be office-holders swarmed around him so, that at one place he sought seclusion in the state-room to free himself from the crowd. State Senator Farrell, of Lander, and J. H. Dennis, of Elko, accompanied Senator Jones a portion of the way through Nevada.

LYMAN BRIDGES, engineer in charge of the construction of the San Francisco and Ocean Shore Railroad, and of the California Central Railroad, has left for New York and Boston for the purpose, it is reported, of conferring with the Directors of those companies respecting future movements in connection with the construction of the two roads, and also regarding the franchises he applied for to the Board of Supervisors on behalf of those companies.

THE Fontanne engine, which was described a short time ago, took twenty-two heavily loaded freight cars over the Pennsylvania Railroad from Philadelphia to Jersey City Thursday, and at 4 o'clock the same afternoon left for Philadelphia with the second section of the fast express. It made the run in thirteen minutes less time than engine 110 of the Pennsylvania Road, which is regarded as the best in the world

A GAY and popular young man of Eureka named "Charley" Crandall has readjusted his debts—amounting to about $1,000—by suddenly disappearing. This is strictly in accordance with Mahone's convenient theory that a man justly owes only what he feels inclined to pay.

GEN. SHERMAN maintains that no soldier should ever be compelled to do menial labor without compensation or without his consent, and he recommends that the existing law be repealed or modified so as to secure this end.

MRS. SENATOR CHRISTIANCY, pending the divorce suit, has become a raving maniac.

THE conduct of the Guiteau trial is becoming a disgrace to civilization.

CONFEDERATE bonds are now quoted at fifty cents per cord.

'RAH for the Inyo Railroad.

LOOKOUT FOR THE LOCOMOTIVE

San Francisco papers of the 20th instant contained the following:

The Carson and Colorado Railroad Company, Third Division, incorporated yesterday for the purpose of constructing and operating a narrow gauge railroad from a point on the boundary line between this State and Nevada, known as McBride's station, in Mono county, which is the proposed terminus of the Carson and Colorado Railroad, Second Division; thence by way of Owens lake and valley, in Inyo county, across the Mohave desert to a point on the main line of the Southern Pacific Railroad near Mohave station, in Kern county. The estimated length of the road is 204 miles. The principal place of business is in this city. The Directors are H. M. Yerington, D. A. Bender, J. H. Dobinson, Wm. S. Wood, D. L. Bliss, S. P. Smith and M. B. Langhorne. The capital is $9,000,000, of which $204,000 has been subscribed by the Directors at $100 a share. S. P. Smith has been elected Treasurer of the company, and has subscribed $198,000 of the capital stock, the other Directors signing for $1,000 each.

The Carson and Colorado narrow gauge railroad starts southward from the Mound House, a station half way between Virginia City and Carson, on the Virginia and Truckee, which road connects with the Central Pacific at Reno. The narrow gauge passes through Dayton to Fort Churchill, through Mason Valley and around the east side of Walker lake to Hawthorne, there being 127 miles of it in actual operation. Grading is completed to within eight miles of Belleville, 12 miles only from Candelaria, to which point the road will be completed by early Spring. The survey stakes are set to McBride's ranch, near the State boundary line. From there this new Third Division has only the finest natural grades and the plainest possible work for the remaining 204 miles to Mohave. The company is, of course, the same, but why it is divided up into three corporations is not explained; but perhaps the fact of the new division being entirely in California instead of Nevada has something to do with it.

The road as operated so far has yielded handsomely on the cost, even while the country supporting it has not been opened up to one-tenth of its ultimate mining importance. It will undoubtedly be connected with the Bodie and Mono Lake road, thus securing the enormous timber business of the new forests just tapped by that route.

Railroads are built and operated for the benefit of the capital building them; they run off into countries which require all the supplies the owners have to sell, wood, lumber and mining timbers in this special instance. To make a market mines must be opened and population gained to develop them, furnish ore and bullion and consume supplies. For this reason we have supposed that the Carson and Colorado would, if such a route was found practicable, run to Gold Mountain and thence southward, ultimately to Callville on the Colorado river. This valley, being rich in timber and agricultural interests, does not demand half the incoming freight that a desert mining region would. But the 150 mile stretch of mines from Montgomery to the State Range and below Panamint, and from Mammoth to Walker's Basin on the other side, shows up vastly ahead of anything known in the deserts off to to the East. Hence the adoption of this route by the narrow-gauge company, and the eventual occupancy of the same natural pass north and south, on the east base of the Sierras, by a broad gauge road—connecting the continental routes of the Central and Southern Pacific.

Survey stakes are set for the coming road on the plain on the eastern side of Owens River, at the base of the Inyo range, and opposite all the settlements of the valley. Perhaps if Supt. Yerington and his engineers will pay a visit of practical enquiry to this county a change might obtain in this plan, for we are satisfied that there would be no difficulty whatever in securing concessions of right of way through the farms and towns. We would advise them to try it, and study up the situation before building from six to fifteen miles distant from all the settlements. Their regular business would amount to more than that of any new towns which will spring up, sale of lots included.

A NEW counterfeit silver dollar is in circulation in the East which is pronounced by the sub-Treasurer the best silver counterfeit ever seen. It is beautifully made, and has a slight appearance of iron, which is found in a standard dollar. It is silver-plated, and acid does not hurt it unless the surface is scratched up. The weight is the marvelous point in the deception. The counterfeit, as it stands, would pass in size easily, and in weight would not be detected on any but a fine scale. The date upon it is 1878.

ATTORNEY-GENERAL MCVEAGH has retired from the Cabinet. He stayed in it just long enough to create a very strong suspicion that his being Attorney General was a piece of great good fortune for the Star-route brigands.

AS THEY GO.

Fort Churchill is a mass of ruins; the adobe walls are crumbling and a few years will see nothing but heaps of clay where they stand. The roofs are all gone, the doors and windows torn out and carried off. The Post was opened in 1860, after the Pyramid war. It was intended for a two-company post, and had a dozen nice buildings, some of them two-story, standing on three sides of a square on a wide and sloping point, running from the mountain down the road, which runs right through the place. There are no trees or shrubbery, and it must have been a cold and windy place to live. During the war Col. Sumner sent to Virginia and Carson and arrested parties who were talking too much against the Government and the war policy. Some of them are dead and some moved away. One is now an earnest Republican and lives in Reno. In 1867 the troops were ordered away and the woodwork of the buildings were sold at public auction, bringing about $700.

The foregoing from the Reno Gazette brings forcibly to mind about what will happen to our Camp Independence, unless the matter of securing the fine property for school purposes is again agitated and some action taken by Congress. Two Legislatures of this State memorialized the Government to grant the lands and buildings to the counties of Inyo and Mono for a joint high school. Two bills were introduced by Congressman Pacheco for the purpose, but owing to politics and President-making, they were consigned to oblivion in the House Committee on Military Affairs.

The bill should be dug up and passed upon. The camp has been abandoned for all time by the War Department, being now semi-protected by a quartermaster's agent. As re-built after the earthquake, the various officers' quarters and company buildings cost the Government about $150,000; were the property condemned amd sold to-day it would not net the department $1,500. Yet it is admirably adapted for a large educational institution, with adequate county and State aid. While other sections get handsome appropriations from the State for normal schools, asylums and universities the vast mining region to the east of the Sierras should ask for and get a State school of mines. Camp Independence, above all places on the coast, is pre-eminently the right location.

In its present shape the farmers within the prescribed mile of the camp are unable to procure Government title to their valuable lands, though they have spent much time and money with that object. A practical settlement of the valuable water rights has been obtained by mutual consent. Were the school grant obtained, for which there are numerous precedents, the farmers now in possession would be the preferred claimants to homestead and pre-emption rights for six months, thus opening the way for a general and final settlement of titles.

ACCORDING to the published statement of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, the earnings of the road for the first ten months of the present year were $3,181,400 more than for the preceeding year. This increase is owing to the improved condition of affairs in California, as well as in Nevada and Utah. All along the line of the road towns and settlements are growing in population; new mines are being opened, and thus a greater carrying trade is done by the Central Pacific Railroad Company. The earnings of the Union Pacific Railroad Company were $5,726,429 more than the Central Pacific Railroad for the same ten months. The Union Pacific Railroad Company owned a very valuable belt of agricultural land, extending for several hundred miles west of Omaha, which the managers of the company took pains to place in the hands of farmers, giving them special rates for transportation over the road for lumber, farming tools, etc.; thus stimulated and built up business.

THE following is published by the New York papers in an obituary article on the late George Law: When the California excitement first broke out, he went into the steamship business, and in 1848 purchased the steamship Falcon and sent her to Chagres, transferring the passengers across the isthmus on mules. He had previously sent a steamer around Cape Horn to take the passengers from Panama to San Francisco. Law built several other steamers. In 1851 Law purchased a large interest in the Panama railroad, and going to Aspinwall, he located the terminus of the road, and set men at work building it.

THE Internal Revenue laws require brewers to keep a record and to report the ingredients employed in the manufacture of beer. The reports of New York brewers show that malt and hops are used; while an inspection of the books shows that rice, glucose, corn meal and other substances have been used in the manufacture of beer. It is proposed that at the approaching session of Congress the law shall be so amended as to suppress all breweries that fail to make correct reports.

GUITEAU.

The average common sense of the American people has rejected with indignation and contempt the plea of insanity for which the cunning Guiteau laid the foundation, before his cowardly shot inflicted the shock on each one of them. The best expression of the common, and common sense, view of this plea that we have heard of, was given by Gen. Slocum, in his address before the Grand Army of the Republic, on the day of Garfield's burial. Said he: "If Guiteau was insane, Washington is full of lunatics, and ought to be walled in as a lunatic asylum. If Guiteau was insane, it was a sort of insanity to be discouraged by hanging." The question of Guiteau's insanity is so one-sided, as regards his being entitled to be hung, that it would not be worth serious discussion, but for some important extraneous considerations. First: It is a matter of fact there is such a wide spread, deep and unchangeable feeling that he ought to be hung, that the failure of the regular processes of law would involve the almost absolute certainty of his being hung irregularly, which would be a national misfortune, if not disgrace. Second: An acquittal of Guiteau on the ground of insanity would tend to introduce an era of "insane" assassinations and blackmailings. The inference would be drawn by morbid, reckless and unprincipled office-seekers, like Guiteau, or by excited, desperate and "smart" adventurers in speculation like "Col." Welles, would be that they could either kill or threaten to kill any one, for notoriety, revenge, blackmail or for other purposes, provided that they laid the foundation for the "insanity dodge" by documents in which the language of religious monomaniacs were caricatured. Guiteau is of slight consequence. We believe that in his case the old anti-capital punishment proverb—"The worst use you can put a man to is to hang him"—is self-evidently absurd. But what we fear is such an enlargement of the already dangerously extended plea of insanity as will literally bring on us a new "reign of terror," in which no man of very high official position or great wealth will be safe.

The people have reason to expect much good from the coming Congress, because of the two political parties being so nearly matched that neither will be likely to attempt to carry through any speculative, partisan or sectional scheme. Senator Sherman thinks that the questions which should engross the attention of that body are, a reduction of taxes, a revision of the tariff, and the enactment of laws regulating Presidential elections and reforming the civil service. There are two other subjects to be legislated upon, in which the people of this coast feel a particular interest. These are the restricting of Chinese immigration and the suppression of polygamy. They desire of all things to have early relief from the Chinese affliction, and if they can get that will await the pleasure of Congress to deal with the Mormons. The whole country has had an opportunity, in the importance attached to the Morey letter, to discover how deep a feeling exists in the Pacific Coast States and Territories against the Mongolian influx; and he who has political aspirations of a national elective character, need not look in this direction for support if he overlooks or neglects to give us the relief we have so earnesily and persistently asked. Since the treaty with China has been ratified and exchanged, there is no longer excuse for delay to meet our reasonable expectations in this respect.

THE Advisory Board which has been considering the question of reorganizing the Navy, finds that we have only twenty-one ships of war either now efficient or worth repairing, and recommends that an immediate beginning be made with the building of forty-one new vessels of the fast cruiser and gunboat classes. The suggested sizes range from vessels of 5,300 tons displacement, able to steam fifteen knots at sea, to gunboats of 770 tons, able to make ten knots.

MRS. ALGY. SARTORIS, nee Nellie Grant, just arrived from her English home, is stopping at the residence of her parents in New York. Time has made little if any change in her appearance, and it is difficult to realize that she has been absent so long. The General and his wife will soon issue cards for a reception in honor of the return of Mr. and Mrs. Sartoris. It will be one of the largest and finest entertainments of the season.

HON. Thomas Laspeyre, who was a prominent member of the California Legislature for several terms, and who is well known in this county, is now practising law in Butte City, Montana.

THE total length of the Northern Pacific when completed will be 1,800 miles. Two thousand men and 1,600 mules are now at work on the Yellowstone division.

Questions for Jurors.

As a pleasing variation on the usual cut-and-dried interrogatories made to the unhappy candidates for jury honors, the Virginia Chronicle submits the following improved list, which seems to cover the ground in an exhaustive, and soul-searching manner:

Are you married and have you any children—if not, why not?

Have you any conscientious scruples against inflicting the death penalty in cases of petty larcency committed in a mining community under a financial cloud?

Is the matter of a juror's fee of $3 per day one of importance to you?

If seven of the jurors stand for acquittal and five for conviction, and you are one of the seven, are you liable to be hauled over to the minority?

Will a prolonged fast in a cold jury-room have any effect on your system of reasoning, and be likely to induce a snap judgment?

If you find the other eleven not of your way of reasoning, will you reason with those obstinate thinkers or will you flop yourself?

Do you possess sufficient veracity and solid stupidity not to have a fixed opinion on any subject and therefore to be eligible to the jury box?

Can you patiently submit to the law's delay; the soaring eloquence of attorneys; to sleep twelve in a room; lunching wherever the Sheriff directs and being exercised through the streets like a select lot of hardened offenders?

Have you any idea on any subject whatever?

Do you gamble, drink, lie or swear?

Were you ever in State Prison?

A SAN FRANCISCO dispatch says it is reported that Leland Stanford has again gone to England for the purpose of completing arrangements for the establishment of a line of steamers between Liverpool and the Gulf of Mexico, to run in connection with the Southern Pacific railroad. It is further stated that the Southern Pacific will, when the road is completed and the Liverpool and Gulf of Mexico steamship line is established, carry emigrants through from Liverpool to any part of California for $35. This will no doubt be hailed as the opening of a new prospect for California, but until the lands of the State are no longer in the hands of men who hold them at such exorbitant prices, and until the grip of the railroad monopoly is taken from her throat, California can have no real prosperity, and her growth must be extremely slow.—Virginia Chronicle.

THE Postmaster-General, on the 16th decided that the publishers of matter admitted to the mail as second class may print up the side of a postal card intended for the communication of bills, receipts and orders for subscriptions to their publication or publications and may also print the address of such publisher upon the address side of the card and enclose the same in second class matter. He also decided that an ancient rule, that matter of a lower grade may be enclosed in that of a higher, is proper. It authorizes printed matter to be enclosed in merchandise and authorizes printing on a tag attached to samples or on the sample itself.

THERE are more than a thousand cases on the calender of the Supreme Court of the United States — as much work as the Court could possibly dispose of in many years. Unless the strain is taken off by extraordinary work on the part of the Judges, or by some helpful legislation, some of those whose cases now stand at the end of the list will have to transmit their interests in legislation to their heirs, who will despair and go crazy, as did the unfortunates who were involved in the meshes of Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce.

THE funeral of the late S. C. Stebbins took place yesterday at 2 o'clock P. M. from Masonic Hall. The body lay in state for several hours at the hall, where the different brotherhoods of which deceased was a member during his life, and citizen friends generally took a last look at the features of the departed. At 2 o'clock the cortege formed and escorted the remains to the burial ground, where the very impressive Masonic funeral services were had, and the last scene closed on all mortal of S. G. Stebbins. Bodie Free Press, Nov. 23.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF A DECREE OF FORECLOSURE and Order of Sale issued out of the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, in the suit of M. Friedlander, Plaintiff, against Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants, upon a judgment rendered in said Court on the Fourth day of November, A. D. 1879, for the sum of Three Thousand Three Hundred and Thirty-five 41 100 Dollars in gold coin of the United States, with interest thereon amounting to the sum of Five Hundred and Sixteen 96 100 Dollars, together with $385 21 attorney's fees, and costs of suit, taxed at the sum of Twenty-nine 75-100 Dollars, duly attested the Twenty-second day of November, A. D. 1881, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of $4,267 32, in gold coin of the United States, besides accruing costs and interest, I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of the said Defendants in and to the following described real property, to-wit:

Court Proceedings.

The Superior Court was called last Monday. Ordered that a trial jury of twenty-four names be drawn on Friday, Nov. 11.

C. C. Wainright vs. Lew. Watkins; placed on calendar; argument on demurrer set for Nov. 15.

Reddy & Gorman vs. Martin Mee. Demurrer to complaint overruled, and defendant allowed till Nov. 30 to file answer.

On Nov. 21st in case of the People vs. J. J. Williams, Reddy & Conklin for defense, moved to dismiss action on the ground "that the defendant has not been brought to trial sixty days after filing the information, neither has his said trial been postponed upon his application." Motion denied. Briefly stated, on account of absence of Court by reasons of sickness, and that defendant had appeared by attorney. After several motions and the raising of a series of legal points, the defense taking due exceptions to the rulings of the Court, and before exhausting a second venire of twenty-four jurors, a jury was obtained last night, and the examination of P. W. Forbes, the prosecuting witness was begun this morning. The jury is composed of A. C. Harvey, B. S. Glover, James Jones, Wm. Barrows, H. Fehrman, Fred. Albers, D. H. Williams, W. K. Miller, Manly Conkrite, Wm. Lambert, John Tieman and John Shepherd. District Attorney Laird is prosecuting the case, while Messrs. Reddy & Conklin appear in person for the defense.

EDITORIAL CALL.—Harry Fontecilla, of the Bishop Creek Times, paid Independence and Lone Pine his first visit during the week, and, judging from his own say so, went home with a favorable idea of this end of the valley. Lone Pine especially struck his fancy, and we have dispatched a special representative there to find out what part of the town he frequented. Mr. Fontecilla is a first class printer. According to the Bodie Free Press, "The Bishop Creek Times has been published four weeks, and the publishers declare they have a great deal of money—to get." The Free Press man says he "thought money grew among the potatoes of Owens Valley." Nary time. In this country money grew in deep places in the mountains, before the Bodie formation was created, but it is nearly lightning to get it out aud put it in shape to buy those potatoes.

MINING TROUBLE.—On Tuesday last, at Darwin, an armed force of some ten or fifteen men proceeded to the Defiance mine and took possession, ousting the men working for Martin Mee, who claims the mine by relocation. There was no resistance offered. It is understood that the party acted for Reddy & Gorman, who recently purchased the title of Taber & Harker to the Defiance furnace and mine. Our informant only arrived to-day, and at this late writing we are unable to get at the details, or both sides of the controversy.

INYO CON.—The Exchange of New York, in its issue of the 16th had the following references to the new company operating at Panamint: "The Superintendent telegraphs: 'Have 500 tons high grade ore at mill. All needed supplies are shipped from San Francisco, and I commence milling the ore this week. Had to shut down mill for repairs.'" And in another paragraph —'The Inyo Consolidated has declared its regular 5 cent divided, and an 'extra' of 5 cents to be 'i' the fashion.' Good for Pheby, Pinney & Co.'"

GOOD YIELD.—In the latter part of last may, Wm. Arcularius, at his new ranch in Round Valley, sowed 1,600 pounds of wheat, intended to protect the alfalfa seed sowed with it. The wheat turned out so well that a harvest of it yielded 16,000 pounds of heavy, plump grain. And the alfalfa crop was left, all the same. On a lot sowed in the same manner the 1st of June, from three sacks of wheat he got 36, a good stand of alfalfa being left. Though a regular mule puncher, Bill thinks himself no slouch at farming.

DISTINGUISHED RETURN.—Daley, the Lone Pine bridge incendiary, has returned to Inyo from his quite extended sojourn at San Quentin. At Lone Pine he is reported to have repeated some of his former threats of damaging things generally. 'Twere well that he keep quiet, as any remarks will make this county decidedly unsafe for him.

THOSE CARP.—Tom Jones, the amateur pisciculturist of Round Valley, the other day discovered some 240 would-be escape carps, little fellows who had jumped out of the regular ponds. He put them back, and has provided for no more foolishness on their part. The experiment is proving a big success.

THANKSGIVING.—Notwithstanding the official requests of the President and Gov. Perkins on the subject, very few turkeys and cranberries were consumed in this section last Thursday. Next time if they want us to eat turkeys they had better send them along with the proclamation.

PERSONAL MENTION.—Omitted on account of the small multitude of prominent miners, farmers, stock and business men in town pretty much all week. Too much like a county directory.

ELECTION.—The annual election of officers of Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., will take place at the Hall next Saturday evening.

TEAMING.—Bill Arcularius has gone to Darwin with his big team, to freight Modock bullion to the railroad.

NEW P. M.—S. G. Gregg has been appointed Postmaster at Big Pine.

Proceedings of the Board of Education—Concluded.

The examination of the two applicants for first grade cartificates was conducted at a late hour on Saturday night last.

It appearing from a canvass of the credits graded on the different papers by the several members of the Board that all the applicants had made the required number to entitle them to certificates as severally applied for, a second grade certificate was ordered to issue to Miss Eva Shepherd on a percentage of 84, and first grade certificates to Chas. H. Groves and Crittenden Hampton respectively, the first on a percentage of 87 the second on 86½.

The three certificates were signed by all the members of the Board present, namely, Symmes, Hagerman, Crough and Chalfant.

Ordered, That the Secretary be authorized to take the necessary steps looking to the adoption, during the May term, next, of a text book on book-keeping.

For lack of time to make a full list of suitable books for School Libraries, as authorized by law, the matter was postponed to the next regular meeting, viz., to the third Wednesday in March next, to which time the Board then adjourned.

[NOTE.—It may interest some of our readers to know what comprises an "examination"—that is the list of studies in which applicants have to air their knowledge. These studies, for a second grade certificate, are as follows, the figures following being the number of "credits" marked to each: Written arithmetic, 100; mental arithmetic, 25; orthography, 100; grammar, 100; oral grammar, 25; penmanshin, 50; geography, 50; history of the United States, 50; reading, 50; composition, 50; word analysis (defining), 50; theory and practice of teaching, 50; total, 700 credits, of which 560, or 80 per cent., must be attained by the applicant to entitle him to a certificate. To secure a first grade certificate the applicant has to be examined in all of the foregoing and the following additional studies: Algebra, 50; physiology, 50; natural philosophy, 50; industrial drawing, 25; school law, 25; constitution of the United States and of California, 50; book-keeping, 25; music, 25; total, 21 studies or "papers," besides the "general questions," comprising 1,000 credits, of which 850, or 85 per cent., in the aggregate, must be attained to entitle the applicant to a first grade certificate. We have heretofore given the questions submitted on the three "minimum" studies—arithmetic, grammar and spelling. We have been requested to give the questions of the remainder of the studies; we would like to do so, but at present our limited space will not permit it.

Big Pine Gossip.

BIG PINE, Nov. 22.

Big Pine still lives. All we want here is a Public [illegible] school house. If any benevolent gentleman will donate us either of the above we will present him with ten acres of as good sage brush land as the valley affords. Big Pine is not only alive, but is thriving. Messrs. McDonald & Gregg led off by building a commodious barn. This structure is so well built that it has also answered the purpose of an opera house. Dr. S. A. Middleton donates another improvement in the shape of an office, where he will be on hand to attend "all the ills that flesh is heir to." The foundation is laid, the carpenters at work, and if nothing happens the doctor will soon have things in ship-shape.

MISCELLANEOUS.

SCHOOL REPORTS.—The Lone Pine school report for the month ending Nov. 25 is as follows: "Whole number enrolled during the month, 37; average number belonging, 34; percentage of attendance, 88. Miss Eugenie Meysan and Master Johnny Lubkin have been present every day. The following pupils stood above ninety in the monthly examination in all studies: Felix Meysan and Horace Elder. Misses Julia Meysan, Annie Adams, Emma Duval, Matilda Meysan, and Estella Meysan." The Irving school, at Avena, as follows for month ending on the 18th: "No. enrolled, 44; average No. belonging, 40; average daily attendance, 37; percentage of attendance; 90; No. cases of tardiness, 24; No. on Roll of Honor, 13. Roll of Honor.—Mamie Cameron, Ardella Greer, Lizzie Harper, Flora Mallon, Cora Munson Jessie Parsons, Myrtle Powers, Minnie Smith, Bennie White, Jennie Yandell, Bennie Yandell, Willie Munson. An entertainment was given by the pupils of the school of which the gross receipts were $175. After the balance is paid on our new seats, the surplus fund will be devoted to the purchase of maps, blackboards and other necessary appurtenances of the schoolroom which we need very much at present." If our friends, the lady teachers, will report only once a quarter it will prove of greater interest to the readers generally. THE INDEPENDENT desires full reports from all the county schools—at the close of the term, more especially.

Racy Rackets from Carson.

CARSON, Nev., Nov. 21.

My former letter was written just before a change of weather, for the next day it blew "great guns" and sent the dust and gravel on the wings ot the whirlwind, just like it does sometimes in Inyo, so you know how it is yourself, and I'll not profane this page with a description, nor recite maledictions on the Carson dry goods men, and the many housewives who make a hobby of house cleaning. The latter generally raise more Cain about once a week in sweeping and dusting than the "old man himself' when he turns loose the elements and does his level best.

Well, as to the weather. After a gale of 48 hours it turned loose and snowed for about the same length of time, and then the mercury went clean out of sight, and has continued so cold ever since that the snow has clung congealed to the tree tops, and even the telegragh wires, with a death grip that is paralizing to look at. Of course this is interesting to a housekeeper, with an empty wood shed and the water pipes frozen all over the house. It reminds me of "hog-killing time" back in the States, something always done in the coldest weather; which, however, gave an additional zest to the meal of spare ribs and corn pone with gravy.

Some one has taken me to task for not mentioning in my former letter that Carson has fine gas works, built at a cost of $50,000—and run at a loss, nearly ever since—which the city dads refuse to patronize for lighting the streets. Well, I thought that was generally known; also that I was here, and that gas was too plentiful to excuse the use of coil oil for street lamps. The real excuse is dull times, depreciation in property and high taxes to pay the interest on the Rail Road Bonds given by the county to encourage its building some years ago. This debt still hangs over the county like a pestilence in Egypt, and the R. R. folks are shrewd enough to elect their friends on the Board of Trustees, that city expenses may be curtailed, and all available cash reserved to pay interest and redeem bonds. You folks in Inyo must be careful and never subsidize a railroad company, for you will have a road soon enough anyhow, and when it comes, if you will assess it high enough your county will soon enjoy prosperity.

Were you ever in politics, and were you ever struck for a loan by some one who claimed to have worked for your election? If so you can appreciate the following. On last salary day one of our well known State officials was parading his well fed corporosity on the front porch of the Capitol, when an old timer espied him from across the street and hastened over to strike him. Of course our official had forgotten many who had "worked" in the last campaign, [illegible] and was mightily wishing never to meet any such again; at least not until another campaign would compel him to face the music, and dodge all strikers with a cunning begot from the sore experience of the past. As the next campaign is yet a year in advance, and the last one pretty well forgotten, he was a little off his guard, and when he was greeted with a well simulated business hand shake and a "John, old boy, don't you recollect me, Denny?" he had to reply "Why, of course, yes, Denny. How are you, and where do you hail from now?" "Just in from Candelaria," said Denny, "and John old boy you look first rate. The boys out there all stood in for you, and voted for you straight up when I told 'em I knowed you. You bet, we all worked like wheel horses for you, and we're going to stand in again if you want anything. But I say John, you ought to go for Congress next time. Why not, eh! Git elected, sure, all you got to do is to let the boys know it, you know."

"Yes, yes, Denny, but you know I havn't got money for another campaign. You know that I lost two years salary in Sierra Nevada, and I'm too hard up to think of politics any more." "Oh, that's all right John old boy; you can dig up enough somewhere; and by the way John I'd like $5 of you, to go up to Virginia on. I'll get some money up there, and send it right back to you.

"Well Denny, here's $5, but really my boy I need every cent I can raise, and you must be sure and send it right down to me."

"Oh, sure as Christ, John, you'll get it to-morrow. If I don't send it I'll be down next week, and see you again sure. Good bye," and Denny walked off very briskly, and John remarked to his deputy "Yes, see me again. Not if I see him first," and immediately secluded himself in his private office, with instructions to his deputy to say he had gone to San Francisco. This reminds me that the average office holder doesn't possess the courage shown by Joe Potter, an old sport who died in Bodie. Joe used to live in Eureka, where after a long siege of chipping on borrowed checks, he one night made a winning of a hundred dollars, and left the faro table to spin around the block and catch his wind. The strikers were waiting for him, having heard by telegraphic system peduliar to themselves, that "Joe win a hundred." Three or four struck for $5, $2 50 and a dollar before he got out of the room, and knowing how it was himself, he "handed it out;" but when he reached the door and was surrounded by a half a dozen opium fiends with further requests for a dollar or a half "to hit the pipe," Joe straightened back with a blunt refusal and some profanity, saying as he elbowed his way through, "Go to h—l. Do you think I'm a Post Office."

Stocks are still tending downward, like the Comstock mines into hot water and "more mud." There doesn't seem to be much hope for their future recovery, and nearly all the old operators have wisely, like old rats, deserted the sinking ship; and whenever heard from now, are found like the other old rat in the fable, safely stowed away in a rich cheese, in Arizona, Bodie, Inyo or elsewhere. Our State will, however, continue to furnish occupation for its present population for many years and gradually be settled by a permanent population; but the time seems past for lucky leaps from poverty to affluence, and many hard toilers find themselves drifting surely into old age and decrepitude; disappointed with their own lives, and with nothing to bequeath their children but a faint hearted admonition "to rustle."

Yours Truly,
BASCOMB.

THE Call has already stated that it was the intention of the Southern Pacific railroad to establish a line of steamers at the port of their Eastern terminus to connect with Liverpool. The President of the company now states that the company proposes to bring emigrants from Europe to California, and will establish a line of steamers, unless some other company comes forward to establish such a line. It is also the intention of the company to solve the problem of moving grain by rail and steamer against the sea route around the Cape. Cars will be constructed designed especially to carry grain one way and emigrants the other. Mr. Crocker does not commit himself to a $35 fare from Liverpool to San Francisco, but promises that it shall be but a few dollars more than the present fare from Liverpool to New York. The completion of the Southern Pacific to New Orleans is likely to work a business revolution on this Coast.—S. F Call.

THE present discussion in our courts and elsewhere, in regard to the validity of the patent claim, assuming that Prof. Bell was the original discoverer of the fact that conversation may be carried on at a distance through the medium of an ordinary telegraph wire, may possibly be elucidated by the following extract from a published work on electrical subjects, printed in 1858, in which the writer speaks thus of the "telegraphone:" "The idea of using the earth circuit; the possibility of using a single wire; and method of recording the magnetic current—in other words, of not only making it speak, but of reporting and preserving its utterances—all these were unknown elements, which it was left for the present generation to discover." The writer of the above certainly knew what he was talking about, and had discovered that electricity could be made to "speak" and "utter" vocal sounds. And this was in the year 1858!

A LONG TRAMP.—A man about 60 years of age came into Bodie Saturday forenoon, packing a roll of blankets, a frying pan and same grub. He had walked all the way from Independence, Inyo County, and was on his way to Sonora. Upon learning that there was a good deal of snow on the mountains, he concluded to take a round-about route to the county seat of Tuolumne county, via Carson and Lake Tahoe. The old man has been a prospector since '49, and is still in search of the Golden Fleece. He may see, in his mind's eye, a fortune on the other side of the Sierra. It is probable this old pioneer will chase the metallic shadow [illegible] and than, perhaps, [illegible] renewed on the other side.—Free Press.

What was his other name?

BRASS cannot be tempered in the manner in which steel is tempered. Hence, the only way to make a brass spring is to compress the metal either by rolls or by hammering. If the springs are to be flat, hammer them out to shape in thickness from soft wire, or sheet brass, some thicker than the spring is to be. If the brass shows a tendency to crack in hammering, it must be annealed, which can be done by heating to a light red and plunging into water. In hammering use a light hammer, and don't spare the blows.

THOMPSON's colt, that swam the river to get a drink of water, was not, after all, half so great a fool as Col. A. W. Von Schmidt, who still wants to tunnel several miles through the Sierra Nevada mountains and under a number of large lakes of pure water flowing toward San Francisco, for the purpose of supplying that city with water from Lake Bigler.

Huantajaite, a new Silver Mineral.

The occurrence of an interesting deposit of an ore of silver that has never been found elsewhere is described by M. Domeyko in a recent issue of the Anneles des Mines. Huantajaite, as M. Domeyko has called this new mineral, is argentiferous salt found in the Huantajaya mines, province of Tarapaca, Chili. M. Raimondo was the first to describe and analyze this mineral, which sometimes crystallizes in cubes, but is generally found in an amorphous or crystalline state, is translucent or diaphanous, without color, and possesses a strong vitreous luster. It is generally found in small fissures and cavities, irregularly distributed in an argillaceous gangue. Its chief characteristic, which has given rise to the miner's name "lechador" (from leche, milk) is that when wetted it immediately loses its luster and its transparency, and becomes as white as milk. It is sometimes associated with green chloro bromide and yellow iodite of silver. Mr. Domeyko gives the following as the result of analyses: Chloride of sodium, 1.696; chloride of silver, 0.052; percentage of AgCl, 3.24.

On the authority of M. Williams, who has examined the mines of Huantajaya, M. Domeyko gives the following description of the deposits: They are situated about six miles east of the port of Iquique in the coast cordilleras at an altitude of about 3,300 feet. There are three beds, belonging to the Jurassic period, which dip at about 26 degrees. The first is a series of agillacious schists, 6 to 20 feet thick; the second, a black fossil limestone, and the third, a series of compact rocks, below which is a porphyry. The veins which traverse the three beds are generally rich in the second and become barren in the third. This whole system of beds is covered by a mass of detritus of varying thickness, composed of the fragments of the three beds, cemented by lime and forming a sort of conglomerate, and penetrated by saline matter. In its upper portions is found this argentiferous salt; the "lechador." Domeyko, Raimondi, and Williams hold, therefore, that huantajaite has been formed by the action of saline thermal springs, which are not rare in the Cordilleras, upon the sulphide of silver of the veins, and redepositing in the conglomerate. It may be added that both sulphide of silver and chloride of silver are found in the veins.

THE peculiar mining of Henry Jope briefly indicated in a Leadville telegram as swindling, yielded him $18,000 before his system was exposed. Most of the ore taken out of the Leadville mines is sold to the reduction companies which extract the ore by improved machinery. The price is determined by taking a barrow load of fair samples from various parts of the lot, running it through the mill and submitting it to seller, and the other an employe of the buyer. Jope took hundreds of tons of low grade ore to a reduction factory, was present at the assaying, and managed to drop some pulverized silver in the sample powder. The assay was thus made to fix $18,000 as the worth of the ore, and he was paid the amount. Jope made haste to attempt the same swindle in another establishment, but in this case he was suspected, watched through peepholes, and caught dropping the silver from the bowl of a pipe which he had been pretending to smoke. He had planned to clear $100,000 by his swindle, and quit Leadville.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Omie I. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40, with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40-100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.

Prospectors and claim-holders should begin to comprehend the fact that their interests are being compromised, and have suffered injury from the action of many who locate a large number of claims, for the sole purpose of disposing of them as mines, at prices for which mines should sell. A location simply staked out and recorded with the object of selling alone in view, should be denominated a chance, for the reason that it is nothing more.

The winter season that sends home hundreds of miners and mining men from the northern mining camps, may prove to be, like some of our other apparant disadvantages, a blessing in disguise. It will give opportunity for a better understanding. Many who come to the centers of capital with a pocketful of carefully selected specimens and a lot of assayers' certificates, with no stock or mines to peddle out, but willing to accomodate, for a valuable consideration, a few friends, will doubtless return with a better comprehension of matters generally.

Nature has been prodigal of her gifts, even of her treasures of precious metals in this favored country. From Maine to California traces of her generous footsteps are seen, where gold and silver and other ores, rich and useful, have been scattered by her lavish hands. Our mineral fields are broad as the world's need, and the extent of the provision made, is grand enough for the necessities of generations of the children of men. A knowledge of the truth will make men free from many of the disappointments and failures that now seem to environ the pathway of an industry which makes the grandest promises, and is able to redeem them all and prove them true.—Mining Review.

ARTICLES of incorporation of the Immigration Society have been filed. The objects of the association are to encourage immigration into California of agriculturists, artisans, and such other persons, except Mongolians, as will be likely to become permanent residents and citizens of this State: to obtain and disseminate such information as can be obtained from reliable sources in reference to land which may be purchased. The association proposes to cause the publication, in different languages, setting forth the character of the soil and its productions, opportunities for obtaining building material, etc., which may be beneficial to immigrants seeking homes. The pamphlets will be distributed in the States east of the Rocky Mountains and Europe. An immigration office is to be established in San Francisco, and agents elsewhere are to be appointed to distribute information and solicit immigrants to come to this State. The principal place of business will be San Francisco. The term of the corporation is fifty years. The names of the directors are: James R. Keely, W. N. Hawley, W. L. Merry, Wm. Steinhart, James Duffy, T. L. Barker, William Blanding, Arthur R. Briggs, and J. V. Webster.

IN the Superior Court at Sacramento, some time since, a suit was tried which involved the liability of the mortgageors for taxes upon property mortgaged before the new constitution came into force. It related to an estate which had been so mortgaged, with the express condition that taxes against it should be paid by the mortgageor. Judge Denson held that this agreement was nullified by the new Constitution. The Supreme Court has now reversed his decision, holding that the agreement was valid when made; and that the obligation of the contract cannot now be impaired, the present Constitutional provision relative to mortgage taxes applying only to such contracts made since its adoption, which cannot be upheld. This doctrine will be generally accepted as clearly correct. Under this decision, the tax on property mortgaged under the old Constitution must be paid by the mortgageor. Debtors must seek relief by lifting the old mortgage and renewing them.

Chicken Hatching by Electricity.

The chicken hatching machine in the Electrical Exhibition deserves celebration as well as other electrical contrivances. It is an ordinary egg hatching machine, in which the heat is regulated by a thermometer, the surface of the mercury in which, as it rises or falls, acts by electric wires and a magnet upon a ventilator, which opens as soon as the heat rises to 104 degrees, and shuts when it begins to fall too low. It has been observed that machine hatched chickens suffer from lonesomeness, and do not eat so well as those who hear a mother's constant voice; and so the ingenious proprietor of this machine is now constructing a telephone which will convey to his henless chicks, scattered in different cages in a meadow, the clucking of a central hen. It is a benevolent idea; and if he would go a little further; and discover a way of "laying on" maternal care to the poor featherless chicks that are so often seen abandoned in the stationery machines called perambulators, yet greater would be his boast that he has not lived in vain.

PERHAPS the most magnificent pool ever formed to bull mining stocks was the last In the State Lines, said to have been engineered by Andy Gill and marshalled by S. V. White. The Street was confidentially informed that a Boston syndicate had been formed to buy 100,000 shares. The stock was selling at $3 50. In less than a week, on reported purchases of 100,000 shares, the managers of the bulls have landed the stock at $1 75! "A bull pool?" queries an outsider; "tell that to the marines!" If Gould, Vanderbilt and Keene were to manage bull pools in that way, they wouldn't at the end of the year be able to margin up on a last year's bull pup. Another such bull pool and State Lines will be only bitter memories of the past.

"State Lines 2 and 3 down to $1 80? Great Scott! who'd a thunk it?" was the soliloquy of an old-timer yesterday. There are slaughter houses for the weak and mansions on high for the elect. The slaughter pens are reeking with the blood of the innocents, and heaven must be uncomfortable for the butchers.—N. Y. American Exchange.

THE Supreme Court has decided in the case of Biddel vs. Oaks, that all property which escapes assessment one year is liable to be assessed double its value the next secceeding year, as provided in Section 3,469, of the Political Code. It was urged by the appellant in the case that the section of the Code was repugnant to Section 13, Article XI, of the late Constitution, which says that "taxation shall be equal and uniform throughout the State," and that "all property in the State shall be taxed in proportion to its value," etc. The Supreme Court say: "We do not think that appellant is in a position to invoke the protection which the Constitution undoubtedly gives to those who without fault of their own are illegally taxed."

FOR a number of years the special work carried on at the Harvard Observatory, under the direction of Prof. Pickering, has been the measurement of the intensity of the light of the heavenly bodies. Some of the results presented at a recent meeting of the Society of Arts, at the Institute of Technology, Boston, indicate measurements almost incredibly fine. The light which falls upon the earth from the satellites of Mars, for example, is about equivalent to what a man's hand on which the sun shone at Washington would reflect to Boston. The labor of measuring the brightness of all the visible stars was begun two years ago. It has since gone on at the rate of about 40,000 a year, and will be completed next fall.

MISS DIXON, the young lady of sneezing and conundrum fame, who withdrew from the State Normal School at the request of the faculty, and of whom Prof. Allen saw fit to publish a personal letter, recovered a judgment of $1,000 against the Professor in the Superior Court of Santa Clara county last week for libel. The facts that have been devoloped during this trial fully carries out the idea that we have long had of this institution, and that is: that the money spent for its support could be better applied.—Fresno Expositor.

ALL the consolation President Arthur gave a female prohibitionist delegation that went to the White House was that he was in earnest sympathy with any movement to rescue men from temptation. His speech has the merit of brevity, but there is a measure of levity lurking in it that may or may not have been intentional. The ladies feft wondering just what the widower meant when he said he didn't want the men to be tempted.

CAPITALISTS must learn that they must go underground several hundred feet to work to good advantage. A correspondent sensibly remarks: A company of men who are so close and near-sighted as to pay $100,000 for a mine, and then refuse to go down any further than they can reach with a 200-foot windlass rope ought to lose the mine and all they put into it.

Restoring Solomon's Temple.

Reuf Pasha, the Turkish Governor of Jerusalem, has recently received imperative orders from Sultan Abdul Hamid to resume the work of restoration of Solomon's Temple, commenced under the reign of Abdul Aziz, but discontinued some five years ago. The Pasha has also been instructed to clear the great square facing the Temple of all the rubbish and rank vegetation with which it is at present encumbered. In this square stands the famous Mosque of Omar, which derives a revenue of some $15,000 a year from pilgrim contributions and other sources. Hitherto the greater portion of this sum found its way annually to Stamboul. The Sultan, however, has decreed that henceforth it shall be applied to defraying the expenses of the works above alluded to, the present resumption of which, as well as their original conception, is due in reality to suggestions made at different times to the Ottoman authorities by members of the Austrian imperial family. The restoration of the Temple ruins was begun at the instance of Francis Joseph during his visit to the Holy Land, shortly after the accession of Abdul Aziz to the throne; and it was the recent pilgrimage of the Archduke Rudolph to Judea that imparted a fresh impulse to the interrupted enterprise. Not only has the Commander of the Faithful signified it to be his sovereign will that the works should be carried out without further delay, but two officials of the Sublime Porte, Serid and Raif Effendin, have already left Constantinople for Jerusalem with instructions to take measures, on their arrival, for insuring the literal fulfilment of his Majesty's decree.—Scientific American.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

THERE is a powerful movement on foot to make Dakota a State. In noticing this fact, the San Francisco Post declares that California should be divided and constituted into two States. The Post's position is based upon the fact that the Pacific Coast needs greater influence in the national Legislature, Certainly, a greater influence is necessary, but if the two new Statee together had no more influence, proportionately, upon national legislation than this State has had for many years past they wouldn't cut much of a figure then. The fact that our Congressional delegation is divided politically negatives its strength somewhat, but that ought not to prevent securing some concessions from the general government. Let them make a mutual effort on our Camp Independenc matter, for instance, in both Houses of Congress; if they succeed in obtaining the grant we shall concede that our Senators have some weight and "influence."

AT Tucson, while switching cars at the yard, a coupling broke, and four cars—one heavily loaded with steel rails — became detached and moved down the grade westward. The office at Casa Grande was wired and ordered to hold the passenger train and throw the switch. The passenger train, with the A. N. Towne special attached, was just moving out when the news came of the runaway cars, and was thus saved, for in one hour and twenty minutes the cars came dashing into Casa Grande, striking two freight cars on the switch, entirely demolishing them and snapping the steel rails in small pieces. There being no telegraphic station between Casa Grande and Tucson, a terrible disaster could not have been avoided had the notice of the runaway cars been half a minute later, as the passenger train would have been beyond communication.

ON the reassembling of Congress the President will have an important duty to discharge in the matter of appointments to office. The reconstruction of the Cabinet will, presumably, be the first object to claim attention. There are ministerial vacancies to be filled at St. Petersburg, Vienna and Berlin. Many other important appointments are to be made in Departments and Post Offices of the first, second and third grades, besides an Associate Justice of the Supreme Court, a Chief Justice for Dakota, an Associate Justice for Wyoming, and numerous Marshals and District Attorneys. There is no scarcity of applicants for the positions.

MR. WALTER, of the London Times, who recently returned home from a visit to this country, is deeply and favorably impressed with its growing greatness. He spoke to a crowd of Berkshire Englishmen at Abington, and informed his audience that any Englishman of steady habits, not afraid to work, and a good judge of lands, could count with confidence on prospering in the United States, and become a wealthy man. He predicted that, before the close of the next century, we should have a population of 200,000,000.

A DOCTOR in Hamilton county, N. Y., who has a large practice extending over two townships, says that he is able to attend to a third more business through the time saved by employing carrier pigeons. In critical cases he is able to keep posted by hourly bulletins, and claims that he has saved many lives by this means of communication.

IT is estimated that the manufacture of steel rails in the United States during the coming year will aggregate 1,500,000 tons, which, at the average of $60 per ton, gives $90,000,000 to be expended by the railroads of the country in the steel-rail rolling-mills, besides the enormous amounts that the roads will import.

A CHEERFUL, tony-like statement is to the effect that "Danford, of the Caldwell bank, in Kansas, has been given until to-day to settle his accounts, in full or be lynched." Either settle or be settled. He had been "Baldwinizing" the institution.

THE Southern Pacific and Texas Pacific railroads have united. Through trains from San Francisco to New Orleans will most probably commence running on the 15th proximo, and regular through business will be established within thirty days.

SAN JOSE is enjoying a sensation in the discovery of an old established Chinese leper house, adjoining the regular wash houses. Ugh!

SNOW is interfering with traffic on the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad.

THE SUNDAY LAW.

The Supeme Court having, for a wonder, found something laid down in the Statutes not entirely unconstitutional, and that something being what is known as the Sunday law, the subject of its strict enforcement is being agitated all over the State. Temperance and church societies are taking an active hand in the work, and in several counties the prosecuting attorneys give public notice of their intention to prosecute all violators of the law. It has become a fixed fact that the law of the great State of California is "forninst" the indiscriminate transaction of business on Sunday, and it becomes the duty of peace officers to enforce its provisions as completely as any other Act regulating public affairs. The way to make the matter just and equitable is simple enough—enforce it. No objection can come from any quarter, if the arrangement is made general. Merchants, saloon men and all desire a day of rest, but will not take it as long as any opposition disregards the ipse dixit. We have received letters from prominent business men expressing their entire approval of the innovation, and the hope that by force the law will be carried out and generally observed. THE INDEPENDENT has been requested to call our District Attorney's attention to the matter, as well as that of the several Justices of the Peace and Constables, which we hereby do.

SAMUEL T. HOPKINS has petitioned Judge Finn of the Probate Department of the Superior Court of San Francisco, to revoke the letters of administration in the estate of Mark Hopkins, issued some time since to Moses Hopkins, the latter having failed to file his official bond of $13,000,000, and asking that letters be issued to a public administrator. The petition sets forth that since the suspension of Mrs. Hopkins as administratrix, the affairs of the estate have been abandoned to unauthorized persons, and large sums of money have been collected and remain outstanding and are in danger of being lost. Moses Hopkins has been cited by Judge Finn to appear on December 30th to show cause why his authority should not be removed. The remainder of the estate unsettled is valued at $6,500,000 and the bond is fixed at $13,000,000.

A beautiful thought in connection with growing old was called out by a discussion as to which is the happiest season in human life: the decision was left to an old man of eighty. Pointing to a neighboring grove, he said: "When vernal airs call forth the first birds, and yonder trees are covered with blossoms, I think how beautiful Spring is; when Summer clothes them with rich foliage and the birds sing in the branches, I say how beautiful Summer is; when they are loaded with fruit or bright with hues of early frost I think how beautiful is the Autumn; but in sere Winter, when there is neither verdure nor fruit, I look through the leafless boughs as I could never do before, and I see the stars shine."

THERE are now in circulation $66,327,670 of silver certificates, or within a quarter of a million of all the silver available to the Treasury Department of all the immense amount coined and collected during the past years. Every certificate that is out has a silver dollar behind it for every dollar its face calls for. It is a paper circulation with a coin basis, absolutely. The strangest part of the business is that none of the silver notes find their way into the interior, where the cost of importing coin is so heavy.

COL. J. H. WELLES, the alleged blackmailer of Jay Gould, has been examined by an expert on insanity and declared to be entirely sane. It is evident, therefore, that the insanity dodge cannot be successfully played in the case of the gallant Colonel, and there is a sad fear that he will linger out several of his days in a dungeon cell, and serves him right.

FREDERICK DOUGLASS, after a life of strange vicissitudes, is spending his latter days in comfortable prosperity. He is the possessor of $100,000 or more and his office provides him with an annual salary of $7,000. His duties are easily performed and he has leisure for writing and lecturing.

THE first passenger train, passed through the St. Gothard tunnel, on the first of November, carrying more than one hundred passengers. This tunnel pierces the Helvetic Alps, and is nine and a third miles long, being a link of the St. Gothard railway.

IN the contest for the Speakership, Page and Pacheco are working vigorously for Keifer, who is reported to have forty Republican votes secured.

THE payment of pensions during the next two years will require a larger amount of money than will be required to pay the interest on the public debt.

FOREIGN CRITICISM.

A London press correspondent telegraphs the following pertinent criticism on American judges, which will be appreciated by those who have read of late remarkable scenes at Washington:

Lawyers here are more than ever amazed at the proceedings in American courts. A very able criminal lawyer said to me to-day: "What on earth are American judges for? Judge Cox does nothing. He takes no pains to get at the facts as to Guiteau's alleged insanity. He makes no pretense of keeping the lawyers up to to their work, but allows them, Corkhill included, to make stump speeches intended for the outside. He even dossn't discharge the duties of usher and keep order. What is he there for?" I said that he was probably there to assist the jury in summing up. "Summing up," cried my friend of the Queen's Court, "why American judges don't sum up; they are mere receptacles for evidence dribbled and driveled out to them, and in their summing up they simply retail all that stuff to a boxed jury, and instruct them to bring in a verdict of guilty if they are satisfied of the prisoner's guilt, and to acquit him if they are sure he is innocent. They don't winnow wheat from chaff, or marshal facts or point out inferences to be drawn, but shoot sacks of rubbish, which they admit as evidence, into the jury box, and expect twelve men, chosen according to the American system, because of their almost invincible ignorance, to render justice. Why do not the American people, who aim at efficiency in all other things, secure trained lawyers for judges, and see that great causes like this are committed to competent counsel?"

PROF. F. M. F. COZIN, a metallurgist of the first order of ability (who, by the way, is publishing in the New York Mining Record a series of very interesting and instructive papers on Dynamical Metallurgy), has at the request of the Record, critically examined the Hamilton or molten-lead-bath process of extracting precious metals from their ores, and gives the result of his investigation in that journal on the 12th instant. Well informed writers at this distance from the scene of the new (?) experiment, and notwithstanding the high authorities quoted as indorsing the Hamilton process as a practical success, had anticipated Prof. Cazin in stating that the hot lead bath was not a new process and that there were many and seemingly insurmountable difficulties in the way of the success of the Hamilton Reduction Company. Mr. Dazin says: "The metallurgical principle on which this company are to base their operations is a sound one, and the method of action only varies in its mechanical part from old and well established practice," but still, he says, "It is my opinion that the Hamilton Company with their present attempt will fail to do any better economically or technically than old methods have done, and will possibly fail to do anything." He also shows that the Hamilton works are arranged on an unscientific principle and in violation of the laws of gravity. Like the so-called "Robertson process" of disintegrating ores by the electric bath, the Hamilton process is but the revamping, in a bungling sort of way, of a process that has been in use almost as long as mining has been followed as a business.

THE Merced Star says that Judge Brundage of Kern county, in a learned decision on riparian rights, has swept away the sophistry of those modern jurisprudents who insisted that the modern law of England should be the rule of decision in this State, and the learned Judge has shown that the rule cited by Blackstone as the law of his day, is—by the logic of circumstances, reason and precedent—the rule in agricultural countries. Judge Brundage decides that our ancient Californian laws relating to water rights are constitutional, and that the first bona fide appropriator and user of running water, is the true owner under the statute.

THE Marquis of Lorne avers that not one man in ten thousand among the Canadian subjects in Great Britain would be willing to forego the privilege of having an Imperial supervision. Lorne is certainly high authority, but whether his opportunities of observation have been such as to give authoritiveness to his statement may be doubted. It is not from the people who surround a Governor-General that republican aspirations are to be expected.

SECRETARY KIRKWOOD'S annual report is completed. It deals with the Indian question, of course. He follows some of Mr. Schurz's recommendations, inventing others of his own. He favors a gradual breaking up of tribal relations, teaching the Indian our language and arts, curtailing his reservations and gradually preparing him for absorption into the body of the population. He wants the Indian to be taught the dignity of labor, and to have a hoe put in his hand.

HEREAFTER the Czar will carry an umbrella of boiler iron as well as incase his person in chilled steel. The Nihilists have hit on the plan of dropping things down on him from balloons.

CALIFORNIA CENTRAL RAILROAD.

We learn that a material change has been made in the line of the contemplated California Central Railroad. The line upon which the engineers have been at work this last Summer started from a point near Minturn Switch, and run up the ridge between the Chowchilla and Fresno; thence in an easterly direction around the head of the Fresno, over and through the ridge between the Fresno and San Joaquin; thence along a high plateau near the summit of the ridge, on the north side of San Joaquin to the main summit. Objections have been make to this route that it runs for more than forty miles at an altitude of 5,000 to 10,000 feet, and consequently would encounter deep snows for that distance; also, that from the North Fork on to the summit, a distance of twenty miles, the mountains are very steep and broken by creeks, which would require an immense amount of heavy rock cutting. Recently a Mr. Crawford, C. E., who is said to be a "boss" among engineers, arrived from the East and made a careful examination of the work which had been done, and determined to try and find a line at a lower altitude and consequently shorter snow line. He started from a point 600 feet below the location of the tunnel through the main summit on the old line, and running south soon got on to the line of the trail which was built some two years since, when Mammoth was booming, and which followed as near and as low down as possible the grade of the San Joaquin river, and has continued near and largely upon said trail to the foothills, where it is known that there is no engineering difficulties before him. He is reported to be so well pleased with the route that he has ordered his assistants to continue the work while he returns East to report facts. If this line is adopted it will certainly cross the S. P. R. R. south of Madera, and may do so south of Borden. By the Merced papers we notice that the route runs this side of the San Joaquin river through Fresno river. — Fresno Expositor.

THE mystery of Wrangel Land has been solved. The unusually open season just past made it possible for Capt. Hooker, of the revenue steamer Corwin, to penetrate the pack ice and effect a landing on the morning of August 10. This was, so far as known, the first landing ever made on that remote and desolate shore. The landing place was in latitue 70° 4′ north and longitude 177° 41′ west. A fortnight later the Arctic search steamer Rodgers effected a landing near the same place, and the day after entered a fine harbor, whence expeditions were sent east and west around the coast to look for traces of the Jeannette, but failed to find any. A land party under the command of Capt. Berry, climbed a mountain 2,500 feet high, whence they saw open water all around except between the south and southwest, where a high range of mountains seemed to terminate the land. The harbor where the Rodgers last anchored for this land exploration was in longitude 178° 10′ west, latitude 70° 57′ north, south and west of Hooper's landing at Clark's River. The boat's crew made an unbroken tour around the island. After having established Wrangel Land to be an island, the Rodgers steamed 120 odd miles north and northwest in search of further land, but failed to find any. On September 19 the Rodgers reached latitude 73° 44′ north, the highest point yet attained by an exploring vessel, as far as known.

THE Annals and Magazine of Natural History for July contains a translation of a Russian paper, in which M. Poliakof brings forward a mass of evidence of a hitherto unknown species of horse not far from Zaisan, in Central Asia. The animal appears to resemble a small domestic horse, of a dun color; its head is large in proportion to the size of the animal; and the root of its tail is destitute of long hairs for some distance. M. Poliakof names his supposed new species Epus Przewalskii, in honor of the traveler who brought the skin to Russia. He regards it as a true horse, and remarks that "if it were possible to prove that culture influenced the tail, and that this became more hairy, and the mane longer, under altered conditions of life," it might be affirmed that "it was indeed the animal, whose ancestors were reclaimed by man in the stone period, the so-called domestic horse of our day."

IT is reported that the Central Pacific and Southern Pacific Railroads—Jay Gould and C. P. Huntington, in other words—have pooled their interests, and instead of fighting one another, have made an alliance to scalp the rest of the world. The Central road can by this arrangement get to New Orleans and cross the tracks of the Missouri Pacific. There is to be a pro rata, mileage division of all earnings between the two companies; all business is to be pooled, and differences settled by friendly arbitration.

AT the last date there were six gentlemen keeping open house in Washington City with a view of gaining the Speakership of the House of Representatives. Their names are mentioned as Hiscock, Kasson, Keifer, Reid, Burrows and Dunnell. Keifer seems the most confident, but Kasson is kindly spoken of, because of his presumed capability for the position.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3.....1881

SUPERIOR COURT.—When the case of the People v. Williams was finally submitted to the jury on Tuesday evening last that body took but a short time to agree upon a verdict of "not guilty," as charged in the information. Upon the following day, upon motion of Judge Conklin, counsel for the defendant, the case of the People v. Lufkin was continued for the term. Upon order of the Court a venire of fifty trial jurors was issued and drawn Nov. 30, returnable next Thursday, December 8. The case of the People v. Adams, Jr., and the civil suit of P. W. Forbes v. Wm. Adams will come on and be pushed to a speedy trial.

CUTTING AFFRAY. — Last Sunday, at Giles & Well's saloon in Bishop Creek, during a drunken row, Dick Bronson stabbed Dick Whitaker. A pocket knife was used, the 3-inch blade of which struck Whitaker's left arm and ran into his left side, striking a rib and ranging upward. Dr. Wainright pronounced the wound not dangerous. Bronson was arrested by Chas. Schuman, night watchman, but turned loose on account of no complaint being filed. The two Dick's were old friends, and now the one takes care of the other and and pays doctor bills, etcetera, till his wounded partner gets well. Sociable, like.

TO READERS.—Subscribers to newspapers and magazines will consult their own interest by calling upon Postmaster Hardy. He is the authorized agent of all the leading publications, and can secure them at a great advantage over individual subscribers. Every family can make up a valuable list of periodicals, including THE INYO INDEPENDENT—without which no Inyoite can keep up with the times — at a small cash outlay. Better give him a call, look over his list and order current news and literature for 1882.

GOOD.—In size, at least, there is considerable difference between a turkey and a quail, however toothsome both may be. There is no charge for this wise observation. We only wish to state that kind friends have furnished THE INDEPENDENT with both, lately, and that our thanks are hereby tendered. While not mentioning names in this connection (of course not) it may be truthfully said that Vagt raises fat turkeys, and that Chenot is a success shooting quail.

ALL THERE. — Anything like a description of the heavy stock and multifarious character of the articles kept in store by Harris & Rhine, at their big mercantile establishment, would occupy the space of a newspaper column. As Mr. Harris says, "Tell us what we haven't got!" In fact, counting out the banking, exchange, express, bullion and insurance business, the old Harris & Rhine establishment is the completest wholesale and retail house on this side of the mountains.

WAUCOBA.—Last week J. Wal. Phillips allowed an inspection of some magnificent specimens of carbonato and galena ores, taken from new discoveries in Waucoba district. We have not seen the result of the assays, but from its splendid appearance there is no doubt of its high grade. Some 58 pounds were sent to the office of the Waucoba Mining Company at New York.

DEFIANCE. — Messrs. Reddy & Gorman have at work on the old Defiance a number of miners, extracting ore. In the Custer a new development has been made, affording ore sufficient to run the furnace at least half-time. At the present, work is just beginning, but successful enough to assure a new era of prosperity for Darwin.

A CROWD. — The fifty unfortunate jurymen who have been drawn for the Adams cases, to come up next Thursday, will, together with the witnesses, attorneys and litigants, fill the town full. Our townsfolk should exert themselves to provide accomodations for visiting friends, especially as the hotels will be overcrowded.

KEYNOT.—Mr. Peter Taylor, accompanied by Prof. Cox, a geologist and mining expert, and Mr. Holcomb, mining operator from San Francisco, are at Beveridge District, examining the Keynot and adjacent properties. A mining transfer of vast local importance is quite likely to come out of their visit.

AT WORK. — The Index Con. Co., of New York, has put a small force of men on the Barrie mine, at Chrysopolis. We hear that the company intends, shortly, to go ahead extensively with the work of developing these rich, old-time mines.

RACES.—As appears by the regula advertisement elsewhere, the Bishop Creekers propose to inaugurate racing on the new track on Tuesday, Dec. 20, by a big contest, remarkable as being between a lot of the most noted speeders in the valley. Consult the notice, all ye sports.

NEW COMPANY. — A New York letter states that a new incorporation is being formed in that city, to work mines in Panamint other than those of the Inyo Con. Company. It is to be known as the "Surprise Cañon M. & M. Co."

NEW PRICES.—The revised advertisement of L. Lasky, proprietor of the principal Lone Pine store, sets forth prices of a few articles in stock, and indicates that everything else has been correspondingly "marked down." See list.

A GOOD RUN.—The young folks captured the residence of Mr. Dan. and Miss Maggie Crough last night, and enjoyed fun, dance and festivities until 2 o'clock this morning.

DEFIANCE.—The local item of last week under the heading of "Mining Trouble," requires a further explanation and correction. We learn from the Messrs. P. and E. A. Reddy, and also Mr. Martin Mee, that the party who went to the mine and took possession did not consist of "ten or fifteen armed men," but of the Reddy brothers and Jas. McDonald; that Mr. Mee had no men at work on the mine. As mentioned when the item was written, we had at that hour no time to get at the real facts or merits of the controversy, which we have since learned involves a long story. Suffice it to state, now, that the whole matter has been completely and satisfactorily settled—Messrs. Reddy & Gorman thereby becoming full owners beyond any shadow of doubt or question. Our exchanges who quoted the item of last week are requested to copy the foregoing and oblige. We will state, further, that these columns are open to any account or statement which may be desired by any party concerned.

PROPOSED CHANGE.—A petition has been unanimously signed by the citizens of Benton, Bishop Creek and Big Pine, praying the Postal Department to change the route of the Northern daily mail from Aurora to Belleville, diverging from the present road at Benton. Bids have been advertised for for the route—No. 45,138 - as it now runs, and it is doubtful if any change can be obtained. But from the facts set forth in the petition it would be of immenae advantage, especially as a Winter road. Connecting with the Carson and Colorado road at Belleville, all through mails from East and West would reach the towns twenty-four hours earlier, getting advantage of the advancing railroad and avoiding the present lay-over of ten hours at Aurora. There could be no interruptien of mails or travel on the new route by reason of "snow on the race track," certainly.

A WHISKYITE.—A chronic drunk and peddler of whisky to Indians, openly and above board, was taken to the county cooler last night by Deputy Sheriff Stevens. He had been making things lively for the Indians all day, and at night was discovered lying in the street with one of them. A crowd of leading citizens observed the whole business, and the conclusion generally arrived at was—that that kind of a racket must be stopped, someway.

AT WORK.—Mr. P. A. Chalfant, after a series of years of actual usefulness, has become a hard-worked official, being now way down in Southern Inyo hunting out and running down jurymen. Through an appointment as Deputy Sheriff he will enjoy the opportunity of studying up the present condition of the country, of which he has written so much about.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. F. M. Willis arrived here to-day, and will hold divine services at Lone Pine to-morrow (Sunday) evening at the School House. He will also preach at the School House here on Monday evening next. Our citizens should turn out and give the reverend gentleman a good audience.

IN CHARGE.—Daley, the incendiary, put in an appearance the other day, and during the evening was lodged in the County Jail by the Sheriff. To-day, we understand, he is to be examined by the Superior Judge and Drs. George and Stevenson, as to his sanity.

TO-NIGHT. — Important meeting of the Masonic Lodge to-night.

FEUDALISM still exists to a large extent in Europe. An Italian journal states that the Prefect of one of the first cities of Italy, who is also a rich land-owner, has resorted to a feudal custom which compels his field laborers to wear an iron muzzle during the period of the grape harvest, so that they may be prevented from tasting a few bunches of grapes. Although the attention of the Government was called to this piece of atrocious barbarism last year, the Prefect still continues to represent the Government.

THE guano lobbyists, who are now reported to be working in Washington to secure concessions from the Chilean Government, have a rare sense of humor. They spread reports in Chile that the United States was buying ironclads with which to ravage the Chilean coast, when, in fact, there is no appropriation for purchasing any war vessels, and the existing collection of hulks, called the United States Navy, could be sent to the bottom of the sea by a half-dozen Chilean gunboats.

THE Committee of the Confederate Bondholders are the champion "cranks" of the day. Their first reported scheme to bring suit for a deposit in the Bank of England was wild and visionary, but the latest plan is to influence public opinion so as to remove the legislative restriction against the settlement of the debts of the Confederacy by the Southern States. These sanguine men should incorporate with this a plan to reintroduce slavery. One is about as rational as the other.

PROHIBITION has made great head way in Wisconsin. In 1879 it gave a candidate for Governor less than 400 votes, and last year the Temperance and scattering votes together were less than 1,700. This year it actually received 25,000 votes, and came near defeating Gen. Rusk, the Republican candidate for Governor.

JESSE JAMES and gang are giving the detectives a good deal of trouble. The fact that they were seen in Missouri and Kentucky on the same day is discouraging.

BISHOP CREEK MINING NOTES.

[From the Times of Saturday last.]

Last week the Times published an item about the reported new strike in the Poleta new tunnel, but could give no definite information, In an interview with the foreman, Mr. Ford, it is learned that there is some foundation for the rumor. He says they have cut through quite a large ledge of good ore, the extent of which is not known, as the superintendent is away and Mr. Ford had not received orders to follow the ledge. The tunnel is being pushed ahead as fast as possible and good progrese is being made. Superintendent Irwin is expected back every day, and no doubt he will immediately proceed to develop the new find.

Bob Russell has secured a new bond of the Red Cloud mine and is still developing it. He has two men at work and will employ a few more as soon as he commences to run crosscuts. Bob says that the Red Cloud is a "bird."

The Star mine is situated in Beveridge District, about 50 miles south from here, and owned by John Clarke, C. H. Hollenbeck and M. H. White, all of Bishop Creek. It is the extension of the Laura mine, and they have a ledge three feet wide, and assays of the ore run all the way from $100 to $500 per ton. The ore resembles that of the Poleta and will mill as easily. The owners are negotiating for a four-stamp mill which is now lying idle in Waucoba District, and it will not be long before they have in in running order and crushing Star ore.

Crazed by Dime Novels.

A very sad death occurred in the penitentiary recently. All deaths are sad. The death of the old man, around whose bed a family assembles, is sad. The death of an infant, whose cold lips are sealed by a kiss of mother's devotion, is sad. But of all deaths the death from a broken heart is saddest.

P. E. Sullivan, alias Wm. Delaney, a young man of 23 years, one of the train robbers, recently sentenced to seventy years in the Arkansas penitentiary, was the victim of a broken heart. Several days ago he became gloomy, and going to Dr. Lenow, prison physician, complained of being sick. Upon examination the physician discovered that the man was not suffering from any perceptible disease, but that his pulse was 140. He was ordered to the hospital, where every possible care was given him. He revived after a time, but every one saw despair written on his countenance. He entered the prison cheerfully, and spoke lightly of his long sentence, but after a while a letter came. When he read the lines his spirit sank. Tears told of a misery that ink could not express. He went again to his bed.

"The shadows are gathering fast and night is oppressing me with its darkness," he said yesterday to some one standing near. "One crime and then death in a penitentiary. My father, who has preached the Gospel for years, who many and many a time clasped his hands above my head and prayed, has been humbled in his old age. And my mother! If I could only hear her voice! But walls and law are between us. I am as one who is dead. She could come to me but I cannot go to her." His thoughts wandered. At times he seemed to be at church, listening to his father preach. And then he seemed to be playing with his sisters. He smiled and laughed softly. "Ah," he would say, "Your brother will never forget you." Suddenly his face grew dark, and waving his hands wildly he began to mutter broken sentences: "Seizing the bridle-rein, he sprang upon his antagonist's horse and dashed away."

"He's reading one of those wild books that we used to steal away and devour," said one of the dying man's companions in crime.

"Halt! he exclaimed, drawing a revolver and leveling it at the head of young Horace," continued the sufferer. "Slowly and sadly they left the church and walked along the well-worn path to the rude grave of Lawrence. Standing near the stone placed there by the Indian, Caspar and his fair young companion—" and muttered incoherently, the sentence dying away with a deep groan. Suddenly he raised himself, looked intently toward the door, and slowly sank back, dead.—Little Rock (Ark.) Gazette.

DURING the week fair progress has been made in the construction of the Carson and Colorado. It is expected that the rails will be laid as far as Soda Springs by to-day, and on the 30th the station will be established at that point, from whence the stages will thereafter run until Belleville is reached. When the station is established at Soda Springs it is understood that four-horse stock will be put on from there to Columbus and the time lessened very materially. A station for Grantsville will be made at Deep Wells, from which a tri-weekly line will run to Grantsville. It is also to be a four-horse stock route and will be under the management of Gilmer & Saulisbury. Mr. Wichman, who is now keeping the Deep Wells station, will move his place to a point fifteen miles from its present location and establish himself on the Grantsville road. Heavily loaded construction trains make two trips each day from Hawthorne to the front with supplies of rails, ties and other material. The people of the town of Front, twelve miles from Hawthorne, are getting their traps in readiness to follow up the movements of the road, and in a short time many of them will again have their banners to the breeze at some other point. — Candelaria True Fissure.

FROM Mr. Pogson, of the Tejon ranch we learn that Mr. Newman is now working a double force, and that it is the intention of the Atlantic and Pacific company to have the road graded and tunneled through to Tehachipa and down to the plain—ready for the rails—by next Fall.—Bakersfield Californian.

IN order that our town may be better protected against fire, John Clarke has offered to donate a wind mill and tank to be placed upon the proposed new jail building, provided it shall be erected in the Public Square. — Bishop Creek Times.

Big Pine Business.

BIG PINE, Nov. 28.

It seems almost remarkable that, in the absence of a railroad, some person has not made a trial of the celebrated steam wagon as a means of conveying freight through Owens River Valley. The cost of this machine is much less than that of a mule team, and besides it is far more convenient. It consumes much less barley, and requires no buckskin. Messrs. Bradford & Way, of Tuolumne County, have used one of these "wagons" to great advantage in connection with their sawmill, drawing saw-logs, lumber, etc. Now, as it has proved a success in the mountainous parts of Tuolumne, it would certainly work well on the comparatively level roads of this valley. It travels much faster than the present means of transportation and never has to stop to blow "on the hills," unless it is 12 o'clock. Two men only are required to operate this wagon—a pilot and a fireman. A greater amount of freight could be drawn at a load than at present, and the expense being less, the present freight charges could be reduced. Water is in abundance throughout the valley, so no inconvenience could arise from the scarcity of that element. If Inyo county gets a railroad a steam wagon would be of little use. But in the absence of a railroad we are of the opinion that the wagon could be made a success.

THANKSGIVING.

We had a glorious time. Just think of it! We raffled off one whole turkey. But we had a shooting match, too! A live chicken was the target. After shooting away all the powder in town, the poor lone chick got accidentally hit by a stray bullet. That closed the match. The eventful day closed with a dance. Dudie Gregg and Johnnie Middleton were the most interesting couple on the floor. We won't say who was the prettiest woman there, for our hair is not very thick. "All went merry," etc. The clock struck 12, and Thanksgiving was numbered with the past.

ACCIDENTS.

As the usual story goes: "Big Pine was startled by the cry of fire." Only in this case the majority of Big Piners were asleep, and continued "so to be." Yes, all were dreaming, all save a few, who still shuffled, and tried to draw to a pair of aces. It was yet early (in the Sunday morning) only 4 o'clock. One of the happy players happened to look in the direction of McMurry's hotel, and actually saw a fire, just in its first red blush. He thought there were two fires at first, but this arose from some optical delusion, which we are unable to explain. The fire was caused by the usual agent—a defective stove pipe. A bucket of water, and a few "cuss words," both administefed at the proper time and in due proportion, saved the building. Show us the saint who dares to say: No good ever came of playing cards (on Sunday morning).

SPLINTERS.

The youthful face of Jerry Mairs beamed in on us, a few days ago.... Every evening, at the Postoffice we hear the comments on "Guiteau," "Git-to," "Gittoo," and git tired of it .... Wm. McDonald has been very ill for a week or more. He is now able to be around again.... Some Indians found a bottle of whiskey, which some teamster dropped. Teamsters should be more careful in the future.... Our new P. M. is getting so used to his position that he can say, "Nothing for you" with all the assurance of an old hand in the business.... The Bishop Creek Times don't advertise for any more "sage-brush" poetry. What's the trouble?

WADE.

A Body Found—Who Was He?

BENTON, Nov. 26.

On the 24th inst., N. Daniels, Justice of the Peace was informed by Mrs. McBride, that a dead body was found lying in the sage brush about six miles southeast of McBride's ranch, between Benton and the Indian Queen mine. The Justice immediately procured a team, and with Henry McCabe and Wm. Hall, went out and found the remains of a man who had apparantly been dead for several weeks. The body was mutilated by wild beasts in such a manner that it was beyond recognition. The body was brought to Benton, a Coroner's jury summoned, and an inquest held with the following verdict: "We, the jury find that the deceased was about thirty years of age, and came to his death through causes unknown to this jury, also unable to ascertain the name or nativity of said deceased." Nothing was found upon him by which he could be identified. He was a man about 5 feet 7½ inches in highth, of light complexion, auburn hair and mustache, and wore a pair of mixed pants, marked "Oregon common." He had upon one foot a sock of home manufacture, neatly darned at the heel.

D.

GOSPEL Swamp No. 2 has come to the front. A gentleman makes the following statement about the pumpkins raised in Goleta, Santa Barbara county, which is attested to by the usual "responsible witnesses." He says that a Mr. P Kellogg of that place has this year raised nine pumpkins which weigh over a ton. One of these he cut in two, and after taking out the seeds put his daughter, who is a well developed miss of 18 years, inside the two halves, closing her completely up. This sort of thing is all right, only, as ex-Secretary Ramsey once said in a speech here, we will get so after a while that we will believe these things ourselves. Verily, if Ananias had lived in these days, he would have passed as a simple, guileless old man.—Los Angeles Express.

JESSE PIERCE and Hank Rogers have been bound over to await the action of the Grand Jury. Their bail was fixed at $9000 each; $5000 for robbing Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box, and $4000 for robbing four passengers. As the prisoners' immediate and dear friends could furnish them no bail they were locked up. —Bodie Free Press.

THE Index, like some of the leading mining journals of the East, has added a Banking Department to its other accessories, for the accommodation of those having business transactions with the leading mining company of Tioga. Our Banking Department will be under the management of Mr. H. L. Childs, in the Index new building, adjoining our printing house, on Chicago avenue. See * local in another column.—Homer Index.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 3.....1881

FEW people outside of practical miners have any idea of the work required to run a drift, where it is hot, in any one of the mines. The Savage drift, leading from the Chollar-Norcross-Savage shaft to connect with the incline of the former mine, is driven by six-hour shifts, and a progress of fifty feet made per week. Eight men are employed on a shift, four of whom are always at work. The face of the drift is extremely warm, so hot that the men have to be continually sprinkled with cold water. This was done by means of a hose attached to a barrel, placed at some hight above the men so as to force through a fine sprinkler, which makes the water fall in a spray. Even when this is done the men can work but a short time, and after a little labor they go to the cooling-off station, their places being filled by the others. This is kept up for six hours, so that actually the miners work but three hours in the face of the drift, yet that three hours labor is more wearying on a persons constitution and harder work than eight hours on the surface. — Gold Hill News.

GOLD is obtained from three sources, auriferous alluvium, auriferous veins and auriferous rocks. The auriferous alluvium is formed from the decomposition of different rocks containing gold. It is a singular fact that gold found in this allvium is more pure than the gold in the vein from which it comes. Auriferous veins are those filled by hot springs or geysers. They are not unfrequently mixed with silver, such as the famous Comstock lode. Auriferous rocks are rich in magnesium with gold scattered through them. The amount of gold that has been obtained from alluvium beds is about eighty times as great as that obtained from other sources. The amount of gold obtained from placers has decreased greatly within the past few years, while a more important part has been taken by the bonanza veins.

THE Stockton Mail makes a suggestion that ought to be adopted, in view of the growing scarcity of jurymen. It proposes an institution for the rearing of jurymen. The inmates are to be allowed no printed matter except the Bible, Pilgrim's Progress, and Robinson Crusoe. We suggest that the attendants be forbidden to hold any conversation with them, and that they should be taken to and from court in a whisper-proof van, guarded by armed policemen. Of course all these jurors must be caught young. Probably foundlings will be utilized. A special department of idiotic jurors will be miantained for murder trials and probate cases.

HANK ROGERS and Jesse Pearson, supposed to be two of the three men who stopped the stage between Belleville and Hawthorne last week, were lodged in our jail the first of the week, the former having been captured in Mason Valley by Deputy Sheriff Brent and the latter at Candelaria by Sheriff Robb. Yesterday they appeared before Judge McKinlay for examination, but having been unable to procure counsel were given until this morning at 9 o'clock, sharp, to procure legal aid.—Aurora Herald, Nov. 26.

SOME miscreants concealed in the northeast gallery threw a full gallon of vitriol over a crowd gathered in the Main Centennial building in Philadelphia, one night recently, and forty-two men, women and children were badly burned, and had their clothing ruined by the terrible acid. The scoundrels then followed up their work by sending the heavy bottle crashing to the floor, and then escaped by means of the skylight to the roof, and thence to the ground.

THE evidence against a St. Louis criminal was so conclusive that his counsel made no speech in his defence, knowing that nothing could be said in his favor. This proved a lucky course, for one of the jurors refused to convict, saying that the prisoner must be innocent, else his lawyer would have spoken for him.

THE Chicago Times recalls that interesting historical fact that Frank Hatton, just appointed First Assistant Postmaster-General, once printed an entire edition of his newspaper, by way of a compliment to Gen. Grant, on white silk. Hatton is an Ohio man by birth.

THE Northern Pacific Railroad Company is building a bridge across the Missouri river at Bismark, D. T., which will be two miles in length. Fifteen hundred men are employed on it, and it will cost $2,000,000.

SEVEN hundred millions of dollars were issued in Confederate bonds, and the New Orleans Democrat says they are worth nearly as much now as they were toward the end of the Confederacy.

POSTMASTER-GENERAL JAMES estimates the receipts of his department for the next fiscal year at $42,700,000, leaving a deficiency of $920,000, against nearly $4,000,000 last year.

A TEXAS lumberman says that it will take 1,000,000,000 feet of lumber, in ties alone, to finish building the railroads now projected in that State.

SIX young Modocs, from the remnant of Captain Jack's band, have arrived in Philadelphia to be educated at the Emlen Friend's School.

HERR SOETBEER calculates that the arts have consumed in the past fifty years nearly one-third of the total production of gold and over one-fourth of silver.

SHEET zinc is being largely used in Germany for ceilings, especially where the beams for the upper floor are made of iron.

LEADVILLE has thirty-six furnaces, with a daily capacity of 1,000 tons; and ninety-five stamps of 200 tons daily capacity.

LEGAL.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Omie I. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40, with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40 100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.

THOMAS PARKER,
Justice of the Peace of said Township.

TRUTH.

There is a simple name,
That rules the courts of heaven.
It fills the universe,
And guides the child of seven.

It scourges wrong to death,
It triumphs over hell.
It rules the universe,
And rules exceeding well.

Unto this godly name,
Do we all homage owe,
The earth obeys its voice,
As round the sun we go.

The silver stars of heaven,
Are subjects to his will.
Survives the ruined worlds,
And watches o'er us still.

It counsels in its might,
The Father and the Son,
It lives forever, for,
The Truth and God are one.

WADE.

Strong-Minded Women Among the Esquimaux.

A young woman, Dr. Dall tells us, really quite fine looking, and of remarkably fine physique and mental capacity, was observed to hold herself aloof from the young men of the tribe in an unusual manner. Inquiry, first of others, afterward of herself, brought out the following reasons for the eccentricity. In effect, she said she was as strong as any of the young men; not one of them had ever been able to conquer her in wrestling or other athletic exercises, though it had more than once been tried, sometimes by surprise and with odds against her. She could shoot and hunt deer as well as any of them, and make and set snares and nets. She had her own gun, bought from the proceeds of her trapping. She despised marriage, and did not desire to do the work of a wife, but preferred the work which custom among the Esquimaux allots to the men. In short, she was a "woman's rights" female of the most advanced type. When Winter came, having made a convert of a smaller and less athletic damsel, the two set to work with walrus-tusk picks and dug the excavation in which they erected their own house, which was of the usual type of Esquimaux houses—walled and roofed with drift-wood covered with turf. It was, however, as an additional defence against unwished for prowling males, divided into two rooms, with a very small and narrow door between them, next which lay some handy billets of wood, to crack the sconce of a possible intruder. Here our two Amazons lived, traded and carried on their affairs in defiance of communal bonds and public sentiment. The latter seemed to be composed half of disapprobation and half of envious admiration; while all the young fellows in the village busied themselves in concocting plans against the enterprising pair. These were too fully on the alert to be surprised, and all efforts against their peace were fruitless. When the deer-hunting season came the two set off to the mountains, and no sooner had they departed than disappointed lovers and "outraged public sentiment" exemplified in a mob, reduced their Winter quarters to a shapeless ruin. So far as Dr. Dall's information goes, the following year the ladies returned to the ordinary ways of the world, and gave up the unequal contest against a tyrannical public opinion.—Chamber's Journal.

THE death of Capt. Antonio de la Guerra, closes the scene upon the last male member of a family which was once the most distinguished in this State. The de la Guerras were a noble race of men physically and intellectually. Judge Pablo de la Guerra was one of the finest types of the old California race—a race distinguished for its perfection of form and dignity of carriage. There are now but very few living relics left of the manly, stalwart figures and classically chiseled features which characterized the representative men of the hijos del pais in the days when the argonauts burst suddenly upon this coast.—Los Angeles Express.

A Dangerous Humbug.

A Cincinnati firm has "struck it;" that is, it is reaching out to grab the gullable for $2 a head for a "test package of ozone, containing a sufficient quantity to preserve one thousand dozen eggs, or other articles in proportion." In their two-column advertisement this Cincinnati "Preserving Company (limited)" conspicuously quotes Webster as defining ozone as "purified air, active state of oxygen," whereas, Webster says nothing of the sort, the latest edition of his Unabridged Dictionary defining ozone as "oxygen in a condensed or allotropic form"—the very reverse of purified air. Worcester defines it as "a gaseous substance, the true nature of which is not fully understood," which, under all the circumstances, is a far better definition than that given by Webster. Faraday's opinion was that oxygen is an allotropic substance—that is, a substance capable, like carbon, of appearing in various physical states—and he considered ozone one of its forms. On the other hand, Dr. Baumert and others, while allowing that oxygen is allotropic, maintain that true ozone is a super oxide of hydrogen. The fact is, ozone is the most deadly gas physicians have ever discovered — incalculably more destructive to animal life than any other gaseous, liquid or solid substance known, and Schoenbeinn, who first discovered and experimented with it, estimated that if 1-16,000,000 part of the air, inhaled into the human lungs at a single breath was composed of ozone it would produce instant death. Up to the time of his death, and after innumerable tests and experiments, Schoenbeinn was in doubt as to whether ozone is a form of oxygen, is a constituent of the atmosphere, or is an independent element. He found, however, that it enters into every shade of green (poison) in vegetation, and into every flake of snow. By many, electricity is regarded as the active principle — the essence—of all life; and yet Schoenbeinn found that ozone will and does actually and absolutely destroy electricity, whether in weak currents or in great volume. Wet snow that clings to telegraph wires and piles up in a ridge upon it, carries sufficient ozone to destroy the electric current and cut off telegraphic communication between points only three miles apart; and a Summer cloud, surcharged with dynamic (active) electricity, passing near a lofty mountain peak from which static (passive) electricity is exuding, will come in contact with the latter and a terrific explosion follows, the electricity being destroyed and giving rise to a cloud of ozone. On such occasions the nauseating stench of this "purified air" can be detected after it has been adulterated by 60,000,000 parts of pure atmosphere to one part of ozone—that is, after the latter has been thinned down to the faint odor of a thoroughly rotten egg.

And this is the "purified air" the Cincinnati pork packers propose to peddle out at $2 a package, to be used in "preserving" meats, eggs, fruits, vegetables, butter, etc., and in poisoning the people. If ozone is used in the preparation of this Preserving Company, it is a dangerous preparation; if not, it is a fraud upon its face.—Homer Index.

IMPECUNIOUS princes fare badly in Berlin. Some time ago Prince Eristoff, a Russian, finding himself without money and wishing to go to St. Petersburg, planned what he thought was a clever scheme for replenishing his exhausted exchequer. He had some jewelry valued at nearly $3,000 sent to his hotel by a credulous firm, and he pursuaded the guileless hotel porter to lend him $1,000 to pay for it. He then sold part of the jewelry, and, taking all of his ill-gotten gains, prepared to decamp to the Russian capital, where doubtless he expected to cut a brilliant figure for a time. Before this luckless adventurer could board a railway train, however, his active career was cut short by the police, and he will not have a chance to go to Russia for two years to come, that being the term of his sentence.

THE Zulu chief of a traveling circus which showed at Rochester was six feet and a half tall, and of course was advertised as seven. He wore scarcely any clothes, spoke what the lecturer called the Zulu language, and was terrific in a war dance. But the manager failed to pay him the stipulated $12 a week, whereupon he complained before a Justice in good English, and said he was Francis West, a Rondout hod-carrier.

EDISON evidently means business in pushing his system of electrical railroads, if the reports current are to be credited. It is stated that a contract has been entered into by him with the Northern Pacific Railroad for the construction of fifty miles of railroads in Minnesota. The section is to be finished during the course of next year, and only if the tests to be made to prove its efficiency are satisfactory is full payment to be made.

A GIRL at Anderson, Kentucky, desired a new hat profusely trimmed with bright colored feathers, according to the ruling fashion, but had no money to buy them. A brilliant hued rooster came her way, and she killed him, plucked his feathers, and adorned the hat exactly to her liking. But the owner of the fowl had her arrested, and she wore the hat in court, instead of church, as she had intended.

AN Indiana paper says: "Senator Voorhees, of this State, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for President in 1884. This is settled."

HUMORISM by a reckless belle: "Be flirtuous and you will be happy."

The S. P. & T. P.

In connection with the fact of the junction of the Southern Pacific and Texas Pacific railroads near Camp Rice, we notice that Supt. A. N. Towne, accompanied by other railroad officials, has passed through our city en route to the front in Texas. The connection of these two roads is an important event. By it we are at last brought in direct communication with Texas and all the Southern States, New Orleans and the Gulf. This means the opening up of a vast immigration for our State and section. Gov. Stanford stayed but a few days in New York after his pleasure trip to Europe, returning almost immediately. It is rumored, and with a strong probability of truth, that he went to arrange for the establishment of a line of steamers to run between Liverpool and New Orleans. Either a new company will be organized for that purpose or an old line will change its route. We some time ago noted the fact that the Southern Pacific road proposed to land immigrants in any port in California for the same money it now costs them to go to New York. It is now stated that the price will be $35 from Liverpool here. It is also stated that the company have orderd 700 combination immigrant-wheat cars which will carry wheat to the Gulf and bring back immigrants. The significance of all this is apparent. An additional and valuable market will be opened up for our products, and the larger portion of the immense stream of immigration now pouring in at Castle Garden will come direct to California. Gratifying as has been the boom of prosperity which has visited our section and city and characterized every department of business industry, there awaits for Southern California a future of unprecedented wealth and prosperity, and that future will soon be reached.—Los Angeles Express.

THE Attorney-General has begun a suit in the Superior Court against each of the Directors of the State Prison to recover from each of them $100 per month and mileage. Under the recent Act of the Legislature providing compensation for their services, he holds that they are not entitled to more than actual traveling and other necessary expenses. The action is to recover from A. H. Chapman $3977 57, W. T McNatt $1092 60, J. H. Neff $2891 70, Wallace Everson $2055 40 and of G. W. Schell $2556 54. The action is in the form of assumpsit. The count at common law alleges that the defendants are indebted to the State for money had and received by them since January, 1880, and which defendants refuse o pay back to the State.

THE United States Naval Academy was founded in 1845 by Hon. George Bancroft, the historian, then Secretary of the Navy, and he thinks it the best thing he ever did. Its career has been one of almost uninterrupted advance since that time, and its methods and work have gained attention and approved abroad. Mr. Bancroft also established the Observatory at Washington.

A GREAT deal of this interesting speculation about the Presidential succession in 1884 might be stopped by the reflection whether the tariff question, which is coming to the front in so lively a fashion may not cause a reshaping of both parties.

GEO. P. MARSH has been minister resident of the United States in Italy since 1861 continuously, nearly twenty-one years. A war has been fought, slavery has been abolished and five administrations have passed away in the meantime.

THE strong defence founded on the insanity dodge which Lawyer Scoville has advanced in the interest of his miserable brother-in-law shows that he is not such a slouch of a lawyer as Guiteau has been trying to make the people believe.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 10 1881

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

THE free and easy style of Guiteau's trial is refreshing. The prisoner knocks the Judge out of time, tells Scoville to pull down his vest and paralyzed such witnesses as Gen. Logan. The crowd in the court-room is getting to be a good deal like a convention of pedagogues who met lately at Stockton and munched peanuts in chorus while they are digesting heavily educational questions. The latest step toward having a good time at the Guiteau trial is that the lady visitors bring their lunch baskets and opera glasses with them. Before the end of the trial we may expect that some spinsters of the old school will come to spend the day and bring their "knittin."

IN San Francisco, the other day, Judge Hoffman sentenced a number of saloon-keepers convicted of selling liquor to Indians in San Bernardino county to fines and terms of imprisonment. The punishment is richly deserved, and the example of John Morango, the chief of the tribe of Indians, in informing upon and pushing the prosecution of the offenders, is deserving of commendation. John evidently knows what is bad for his people and means to keep them out of mischief, if possible.

JOHN W. MACKAY is in New York and may be seen daily at the Bank of Nevada. He sails for Europe on the 14th instant. He says there is nothing for him to do in this country and he might as well enjoy himself abroad. There were no developments in Comstock mines. The company had lost about $4,000,000 in the past two years, and there was nothing in view at present of sufficient importance to keep him in California.

GEN. KEIFER, who has received the Republican nomination for Speaker of the House, has a brilliant war record. He served four years and two months, and when mustered out was brevetted Major-General of Volunteers for gallant and distinguished conduct in the field. He was a member of the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth, as well as of the present Congress, from the Fourth District of Ohio.

MINT Director Burchard, in his recently issued report upon the production of precious metals, estimates that the annual output of gold in California during the next ten years will be $15,000,000. He shows that of this amount the hydraulic mines will produce $10,000,000 per year if they are permitted to continue in operation.

THE San Francisco Call gives the full text of Senator Miller's bill "to enforce treaty stipulations relating to Chinese." The whole Pacific coast delegation in Congress are going to work in earnest on the Chinese business, various bills limiting immigration having been prepared. It is to be hoped they will not make a failure.

THE Director of the Mint, though at one time known as a silver man, recommends a repeal of the law requiring the coinage of not less than $2,000,000 in silver dollars each month. It is now intimated that Secretary Folger will give the recommendation of the Director his official sanction.

THE Northern Pacific is having 400 new cars built at the Lafayette Car Works. They are to be loaded with rails at the Union Iron and Steel Works in Chicago and sent direct to the Yellowstone.

THE first session of the Forty-seventh Congress opened on the 5th instant. The House organized by electing the Republican caucus nominees. No changes were made in the Senate officials.

ACCORDING to a Paris dispatch Prince Bismarck has begun to attempt to bring about a disagreement between England and France, the bait being Egypt.

TWENTY tons of public documents were recently sold in Washington as junk. The Government would make money if all the pub. docs. were sold.

A BILL has been introduced in the Senate providing for a commission to investigate the tariff question.

IT is officially stated that $235,000,000 will be required to pay remaining claims for arrears of pensions.

MAHONE insists upon Riddleberger being elected Sergeant-at-Arms of the Senate.

SENATOR SHERMAN has introduced a three-per-cent refunding bill.

THE Spanish Government is considering the abolition of slavery in Cuba.

LAWLESS acts continue to occur in Ireland.

SOME THINGS NEEDED.

During the Winter and now that Congress is in session—prepared, as the new Speaker says in substance, to perform work and eschew politics—it is not out of the way to urge the claims of this particular section of Uncle Sam's dominions to some governmental benefits.

In the first place, we want that grant of the Camp Independence for school purposes. THE INDEPENDENT will next week republish Pacheco's bill on the subject, and show something as to the plan.

Secondly, this paper will endeavor to call the attention of our national lawmakers to the propriety of establishing a signal service station on Mount Whitney.

And, lastly, but not least, a discussion as to whether Mono, Alpine and Inyo had not better segregate from California and join political fortunes with the State of Nevada.

Able writers have promised assistance, with data and argument, as to all the above propositions.

EDISON, backed by American capitalists, according to a London journal, is to introduce electric lights into dwelling houses in a section of London. A building has been leased near the Holborn Viaduct, where machinery will be set up immediately. The corporation of the city has referred to a committee the offer of the company to light the viaduct with incandescent light free of charge. The intention is that the houses within a convenient distance shall be supplied with electricity by meter for domestic use. "This," says the London Daily News, "is an experiment by which gas will be met on its own field and under its own conditions of supply. The public can well afford to stand aside and watch with impartiality the issue of the test. What they want is the best light supplied on the cheapest scale, and if it can be shown that the electric light may be supplied as cheaply as gas, used as conveniently and counted upon as safely, the newcomer will speedily supersede the older light."

THERE have been several notable decisions by the Courts of New York, as to the points raised in Guiteau's case. Among these decisions the following have been cited: When the prisoner, at the time of committing the offence, is in such a state of mind as to know the act is anlawful, and morally wrong, he is responsible. To acquit on the ground of insanity, it is not enough that there be a doubt as to the prisoner's insanity; his insanity must be affirmatively established. To establish the defense of insanity, it must be shown that the prisoner, at the time of committing the crime was so far deprived of reason as to destroy the consciousness of the distinction between right and wrong, in reference to the act charged.

ON account, probably, of the demand of Dakota for admission to the Union as a State, Secretary Kirkwood this year requested Gov. Ordway to make an unusually full report of the social, financial and industrial condition of that Territory. The report was made public last week. It shows that there has been during the past year a very large increase—estimated at nearly 50,000—in the population of the Territory by the immigraton of, for the most part, industrious and intelligent settlers. The total valuation of property in the Territory has nearly doubled. The finances of the Territory are in excellent condition, bonds selling at from 3 to 5 per cent premium.

THERE are in the United States over 6,500,000 land owners, of whom over 5,000,000 are agricultural freeholders. In no other country in the world have so large a proportion of the citizens an absolute interest in the soil, and, indeed, history furnishes no parallel. This distribution of the land places in the hands of a free people the complete control of their political destiny. To-day less than one-hundredth of the population of England own all the land, and the number of her land owners is constantly diminishing.

THE reporter of the San Diego Union made a trip to the railroad front Wednesday. He describes the road of the California Southern so far as finished as being an excellent one. He says that about thirty-seven miles of road are completed; there are fifty-five bridges (large and small)—the largest being sixty-five feet high and 250 feet long. The heaviest grade is 116 feet, and the deepest cut forty feet.

ONCE more the rumor is circulated that the Pope is contemplating the expediency of leaving Rome. It is a rumor which may safely be discredited. The Eternal City may not, under existing circumstances, be a very comfortable place of residence for the Roman Pontiff, but he would have considerable difficulty in improving upon it when all things are taken into account. He may threaten to go, but he will continue to stay.

AFFAIRS in Peru are viewed with great interest in diplomatic circles. The Chilean Legation assert that the United States can't and dare not bring any real pressure to bear, but it is mostly trying the effect of a little empty bluster, They say that Gen. Kilpatrick represents the real opinion of the Washington Government: that Blaine will support him, and that Hurlbut is merely acting a part for his own amusement. The Government knows better, and the Chilean view is not accepted by the English press or public outside of the circles of Gibbs' interest, as it is called, which has been acting with Senor Blestganor, the Chilean envoy at Paris. Well-informed public men believe that Chile will be taught moderation by the United States. A few English papers comment on the affair, the general sentiment of this coontry being that the Americans understand their own business best, and that this particular business does not concern England. One or two journals profess to think that remonstrances with countries so far away from Washington as Chile and Peru are unprecedented on the part of the United States Government, but they forget the action regarding Mexico in 1866, and with the Central American States ten years before that.

THE British lawyers have lost some very pretty pickings by the manner in which the Baroness Burdett-Coutts has exercised her characteristic common sense. Learning that the chances were against her being able to evade the condition in the Duchess of St. Albans' will, whereby she forfeits a large part of the Coutts estate by marrying a foreigner, she has settled the matter by private arrangement, and will not appeal to the arbitration of the courts. She could well afford to give way, as her surrender leaves her still enormously wealthy.

THE largest torpedo boat afloat has recently been built in England for Denmark. Her displacement is fifty-five tons, and her armament comprises four of the largest Whithead torpedoes, each carrying eighty pounds of gun cotton, and a Hotchkiss revolving gun. She has a coal capacity of ten tons, which is equivalent to 1,200 miles at eleven knots, but her full speed is twenty knots. Despite her great size, the boat is capable of transportation by rail.

THE sentiment in favor of the establishment of postal savings banks is growing rapidly. The press of the interior towns of the country seem to be agreed that the system is a desirable one. Thus far the project has not had a very cordial support from the newspapers published in the large money centers, owing probably to the fact that they fear local interests will suffer by the competition of the Government with the ordinary savings banks.

NEGOTIATIONS are pending between the Spanish Ministry and the Pope to secure his recognition of civil marriage. How the vatican can consistently grant such recognition does not appear, and it is more than likely that the negotiations will be in vain. The institution of civil marriage has been determined on by the Spanish Government, however, so the ultimate result will be the same anyway.

A VETERAN watchmaker in Votuvry, Switzerland, claims to have invented a process by which watches will run for years without winding up. He seems to have good grounds for his claim, too, for a sealed box containing two watches intrusted by him to the municipal authorities in January, 1879, has just been opened by them and both time-pieces were found to be still running.

GIRL housebreakers are among the criminal novelties. Two of these, aged 13 and 14 years respectively, are in jail at Greenwich for breaking into a house in that locality and stealing a purse containing a small sum of money. Five fences had to be climbed before the door was reached, and the locks on it had to be wrenched off to gain an entrance.

THE Los Angeles Express says that the maturing orange crops of Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties will be large enough to load ten cars a day for seventy days, and adds: "If the overland railroads will properly encourage the industry there will be three times as large a crop to move in a few years."

IT is a remarkable fact, four very great Americans were born in the same year. Daniel Webster, John C. Calhoun, Thomas H. Benton and Lewis Cass were all born in 1782. There is some talk of celebrating the centennial anniversary of their birth jointly.

TWENTY-FOUR engineers are employed on the section of the Southern Pacific intervening between Tulare and Mojave. The distance is only one hundred and thirty miles, and the greater part of it comes within the limits of this county. It generally requires three, and occasionally six, locomotives to take freight trains over Tehachipa pass.—Bakersfield Californian.

HON. JOSEPH WASSON, who so creditably represented the counties of Mono and Inyo at the last three sessions of the Legislature, but who is best known in this city as the founder of the great State Mining Bureau, is taking a personal interest in the mines of Sonora and Sinalos, Mexico. He has just returned from an inspection of leading mines of the States we have named, whither he went to report for parties in New York and London. Mr. Wasson has been closely identified with the development of mining interests in Idaho, Montana, Nevada, California and Arizona, and has come honestly by his high reputation for caution and reliability in mining affairs. Within the past eight months he has made a dozen tours of inspection through Arizona, New Mexico and Northern Mexico, but until his last trip he failed to strike properties which he could thoroughly recommend. Mr. Wasson leaves for New York and London to-morrow, and we trust that after his Mexican operations are concluded he will be able to secure capital for the development of promising mines in California. The present is really a good time to purchase mines on the Coast, as the depression in stocks has had an unfavorable effect upon the local market for mining properties. — Daily Report, Nov. 30.

RAILROAD MATTERS.—Last Thursday regular trains began running on the Carson & Colorado from the Mound House to Soda Springs, a distance of one hundred and thirty-seven miles, and only twenty miles from here. New stations have been made along the road from Hawthorne. Luning, thirty-two miles from here, is the station for Grantsville, Belmont, Tybo, and other places in that part of the State. The trains arrive at Soda at six o'clock in the evening and depart at nine in the morning. Good time is made by the stage to Belleville, but from Belleville here and to Columbus the hours lengthen out far into the morning. The road bed is in splendid condition and the trains run as smoothly as on the oldest and most approved broad-gauge, The rate of speed is about twenty-five miles an hour. It is thought the road will be constructed as far as Belleville by the middle of this month, and to Candelaria by the first of January.—True Fissure.

THE C. & C. ROAD.—Some day this week or next Gilmer & Salsbury, the well-known stage men, will start a tri-weekly line of coaches from Luning, a new station twenty-five miles from Hawthorne, on the C. & C. road, to Grantsville, Belmont and Tybo. The railroad will be completed to Belleville by the middle of this month and to Candelaria some time during January. There is but little if any doubt about the road being a paying property. It will open up a great country and make Candelaria a large and prosperous place. Before another year rolls round Bodie can expect to be connected with New York City by rail. This is a lively age. Who would have dared four years ago to have intimated such changes?—Bodie Free Press.

MR. G. O. NEWMAN, of the Atlantic and Pacific survey, arrived here Wednesday and returned with a quantity of supplies to the scene of his work next day. He is now descending the Tejon cañon and will reach the plains next week, and expects to reach Bakersfield before Christmas. The most difficult portions of his survey are now completed, and he seems highly pleased with the results. No doubt he has accomplished a remarkable engineering feat. The Atlantic and Pacific will have advantages over the Southern Pacific, in crossing the Sierras, that will be worth millions yearly. H. L. Clement, Chief Engineer of the road, is expected to arrive here Monday.—Bakersfield Californian.

JOHN TAYLOR, the successor of Brigham Young, intends to live in sumptuous style. If the Salt Lake Tribune is to be believed, Taylor is fitting up the "Amelia Palace" luxuriously. "Yesterday," one reads, "six loads of magnificent chairs and sofas were dumped down in the back yard." The cost of furnishing the "Palace" "with $500 carpets, $150 sofas and $75 easy chairs" is estimated at not less than $75,000 or $100,000. Taylor's excuse for his extravagance is that he is preparing to receive "the princes and potentates of Europe and Senators and Congressmen" who may go to Utah. The cellar is to be well stocked with the best champagne for the entertainment of visitors, "but when John Taylor thinks a bottle is liable to spoil he feels at liberty to slip down and save the wine."

SOME of the officers elected in San Francisco, whose terms commence next Monday failed to file their official bond within the ten days prescribed by law. Upon this technicality some of the present incumbents threaten that they will not surrender their offices. Desmond has determined to contest John Sedgwick's title to the Sheriff's office. Sedgwick has announced his intention to take possession. A small contest may be looked for between those that are in and those chosen at the last election to go in. The road to public office is not always an easy one, even after a man has been duly elected. Sedgwick has the strong end and will probably come out ahead, as Desmond has a very faint shadow of title to hold over.—Tuolumne Democrat.

THE Panama canal is being built. Three hundred men are engaged in triangulating and twelve in digging. The thing is being run something after the fashion of a Comstock mine in the good old flush days. The first move was to buy the best building in Panama, for an office, at a cost of $188,000. In the days mentioned on the Comstock, an "office" meant a residence for the Superintendent and a French cook.—Stock Report.

THE incoming Ohio Legislature is to be asked to consider the question of abolishing the present sub-district system of country schools, and adopting the township system in its place.

THERE are three ways of bearing the ills of life—by indifference, which is the most common; by philosophy, which is the most ostentatious; by religion, which is the most soothing.

A COUNTRY paper in Illinois says, among its local items: "No word has yet been heard from Abraham Lever who went off two weeks ago with his wife's red-headed hired girl. Until his return his Sabbath school class will be in charge of the Rev. Mr. Perkins."

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

In The Superior Court.

On Thursday last the case of the People vs. Wm. Adams was brought on for trial. Fifty trial jurors were present, and out of the number the following jury was finally impaneled and sworn to try the case: Fred Albers, John Dehy, J. B Swearingen, Thos. W. Hill, Geo. Collins, J. Merryman, C. B. Coates, S. J. McMurry, Jas McNally, Richard Hessian, Albert Halverson and W. S. Morton. It was a general surprise that a competent jury was formed even out of the fifty drawn. District Attorney Laird, assisted by Thos. H. Wells, appeared for the prosecution, and Reddy & Conklin and Geo. M. Gill for the defendant. Clement Bennett was sworn in as official Court Reporter. Up to to-day noon but three witnesses have been examined—P. W. Forbes, the complainant, Ben. Williams and Allie McGee. The testimony already taken covers 300 pages of legal cap, which has been nightly transcribed by three amanuenses at the dictation of the reporter. At this late writing it is not possible to make a further report of the casus celebra.

CHANGE OF ROUTE.—S. L. McNaughton, of the Aurora and Independence stage line, was in town last Thursday. He states that there is now hardly a doubt that a change will be made in the northern mail route by the first of January at the latest. The mail and passenger train of the Carson and Colorado Railroad, which will undoubtedly be running to Belleville at that time, will reach there at 6 o'clock P. M., and the stage then starting south will reach Independence about the same hour on the following evening. This will avoid the present lay-over of ten hours at Aurora, and all the staging between Aurora and Hawthorne. Heretofore in the Winter most of the Eastern mail has been sent through to San Francisco and from there by the Southern route. This change will overcome all difficulties from snow on the Aurora road, and give us the quickest route and communication with railroad and telegraph at all times.

GOLD ORE.—Billy Hedge has a lot of magnificent specimens of gold ore, taken from a mine owned by himself, Jordan and Ritchie. The ledge is in Beveridge, north of the Keynot, and is supposed to be on the same lead. It has been named the Hillside. The ore vein has been opened at two places, some seven hundred feet apart. From one we have a half-pound piece of oxydized quartz, stained with iron, which in some places sparkles with free gold. From the other point comes an equally rich piece, stained on the outside with copper and containing fine gold, and doubtless some silver. The ledge is from twenty inches to three feet wide, and is undoubtedly a fine property.

THE LAWYERS.—P. W. Bennett, of old, appears among the legal fraternity, pending the suits on trial. After seventeen or more years in public life in and through a thorough identification with Inyo, Paul this time comes back to his old stamping ground more profoundly impressed with its coming importance than ever....Geo. M. Gill, Esq., is assisting Messrs. Reddy and Conklin in the Adams cases....Judge Thos. H. Wells, an able and well-known lawyer of Carson and Aurora, is at the Court assisting District Attorney Laird in the prosecution, and will appear for the plaintiff in the civil case of P. W. Forbes vs. Wm. Adams.

HORSES STOLEN. — Some six or eight horses, including two or three valuable animals, belonging to McGann, Schabbell and others are missing from the ranches around Camp Independence. The house of Frank Broder was broken into and a fine new saddle taken. November 28th three well-known young men residing thereabouts disappeared, also. Until something more definite is learned about it, however, we forego mentioning their names, on account of their families.

MONTEZUMA.—We have only general reports from Mr. Griswold, who is working the Montezuma, known as Lake's mine, in the Inyos opposite Fish Springs. However, he is still crosscutting the immense deposit on top, and so far has added 500 tons of galena ore to the already large piles of ore on the dumps. We shall give a detailed report of this huge, old and long-neglected mine as soon as the sale has been fully completed.

LAURA. — The owners of the Laura mine, Beveridge District, are about putting in a new four-stamp mill. The work is in charge of M. H. White, of Bishop, surveyor and engineer, who will utilize as much as possible of the battery, mortar and machinery which was originally destined for the old Waucoba company. This work is the inception of another Keynot, and — stating it generally—Beveridge is bound to "boom."

LEAVING US.—Dr. C. P. Gilcich, the well-known practitioner of Lone Pine, is about setting out for Sonora, in Mexico, with his family, and where he will make his home in future. The doctor has, for a year or more been a great sufferer from rheumatic gout, but has finally recovered, for which fact he expresses the deepest gratitude to Dr. George, of this place.

ACCIDENT. — John Clarke's stage, loaded with Bishop Creekers was upset at Big Pine yesterday. Mr. Clarke sustained the injury of a broken shoulder, but otherwise no serious damage occurred to the crowd—a very lucky escape.

FOR SALE. — Farmers in need of a good, new two-horse wagon will note something of interest in L. Lasky's advertisement—"For Sale Cheap."

Two Important Transfers.

The sale of any mining property to parties or to a new corporation is quite an important matter to a mining community, especially if the mines are prominent and the purchasers are possessed of the "needful" to properly develop the same. It indicates that "capital" is on the way to that particular region to open up the mines, reap the profits and increase the volume of business.

The famous Keynot mine, which has brought Inyo county to the front as a gold country, has been practically sold, mainly through the efforts of Mr. Peter Taylor. Prof. E. T. Cox, State Geologist of Indiana, and a practical mining expert of high reputation, made a thorough examination of the district, in the interest of capitalists of Boston and other Eastern cities. He expresses his belief that Beveridge is the richest and most extensive gold quartz country ever discovered. Its geological formation is pronounced the most favorable known for deep, permanent gold mines; and the fact that the sum of $150,000 has been accredited to the District within the past five months, from a single five-stamp mill, attests as to the richness of the ore. This purchase includes, we believe, twelve mines besides the Keynot, from Mr. Fuentes and his seven co-owners, and also all the mines belonging to Messrs. Taylor, McEvoy & Chandler, together with the mill. Prof. Cox and Mr. S. E. Holcomb of the party have gone to San Francisco, and in ten days the money will be paid over and the deeds placed on record, when we will be at liberty to state the purchase price, list of the property, name of the new company and other interesting details. In the meantime, the mine-owners have stopped work on the mine, and have directed a thorough clean up of the mill.

THE OTHER.

ON the 6th instant the Palma gold mine, Cerro Gordo, was sold by the owners, Messrs. Crapo and Williams, to M. A. Wheeler, the well-known mining expert, of San Francisco, the purchase price being $9,400 cash. The property is the noted "Gold Hill," which has a long history, being one of the oldest discovered gold ledges in the country. After some trouble and litigation, the title has been quietly perfected and the property goes into the hands of a San Francisco company for figures about one-fifth of what it has been held at heretofore. Swansea and Cerro Gordo districts, especially, are indebted to Mr. Wheeler for his persistent efforts to develop their vast mineral wealth, and through his energy the property will not lie idle. He has a force of half a dozen miners already at work. We have visited the property and heretofore reported upon it, but may now reaffirm the opinion that when it is properly opened it will prove to be a big gold and silver mine, second to none in the Inyo range. The mine is made up of fine parallel veins striking north and south and having a width of from one to ten feet. The deepest work is on the second vein which is exposed in a tunnel to a depth of eighty feet, showing a fine body of ore in the breast. The country is a highly silacious limestone, underlayed with porphyretic syenite. A striking peculiarity of the mine is the gangue or matrix in which the gold occurs, being for the most part composed of calcite and quartzite. Greenish, yellow gold ore occurs in crevices and kidneys, containing tellurium, antimony and lead, which may be classed as sylvanite, or according to Prof. Price, "petzite," which is a combination of gold, silver and teluric acid, of exceeding richness. In fact, assays have exceeded $44,000 per ton.

We are indebted to the late owners for some very handsome specimens, which may be examined at this office. Of course, the amount of this kind of ore is not great, so far as shown, yet the mine shows an immense outcrop and if it does not prove a veritable bonanza, when opened, then THE INDEPENDENTS' opinion don't amount to much in a mining way.

CUTTING AFFRAY. — At Benton, last Monday night, occurred a probably fatal affray. Parties from there state that it grew out of a drunken row and that no one seemed to know the particulars. Tim Lynch and Phil. Summers had a difficulty, however, in which the latter got a great deal the worst of it. Subsequently, he was in 'Dolph's brewery, while the Lynch boys—Tim, Jack and Billy—were talking over the affair just outside the door. Summers suddenly rushed out and attacked one of them, throwing him. Billy then pulled Summers off, and in the melee plunged a knife into Summers left side, Lynch's clothing, only, suffering some damage from his opponents knife. Summers, the victim, probably received a fatal wound, his left lung being penetrated and his breath escaping from the cut. "No arrests."

CHRISTMAS BALL.- The popular host and hostess of the Lone Pine Hotel announce in our advertising columns, this week, that they will give a grand ball and supper, on the evening of Monday, December 26th. Christmas and New Year falling upon Sunday, in this A. D. 1881-82, of course dancing and social gatherings will be generally set for the Monday evening following. For this particular occasion mentioned the most ample preparations are being made, and the names appearing as managers is sufficient guarantee of perfect success.

HERE.—Major-Gen. Sime Ryan, who has of late graduated from respectable citizenship at Independence to the most eminent bar-keep of Bodie, is in town, laboring under the weight of a flashing diamond. But we have not heard that his employers of the Parole saloon are bankrupt, as yet.

TAXES—Monday, the 26th instant, is the last day upon which you can get your money into the County treasury without paying five per cent. additional. That's what worries—.

METALS, THEIR SOURCE, CHARACTER AND USES.

NO. 1—ARSENIC.

This metal is chiefly obtained from arsenious acid, and the latter is produced by calcination from arsenurets, such as those of iron, copper and other metals; still, much of the arsenious acid of commerce is manufactured from iron pyrites. Arsenious acid is composed of 75 parts of metal, and 25 of oxygen. Arsenical pyrites is the common ore of this metal, it is here combined with iron, silver, gold, bismuth, and antimony. To reduce arsenious acid to the metal, it is heated with charcoal. Arsenic metal is not poisonous, but the above acid is extremely so. When arsenious acid is operated on, if it is moistened, the inhalation of the dust is prevented. When an alloy of arsenic is milled the vapors of the metal are made harmless when the operator fills his mouth with grains of charcoal, renewing them from time to time. This charcoal will absorb any arsenic which may accidentally enter the organs of respiration.

The metal is of a high luster, and grayish white. Its weight and lustre increase with its purity. It evaporates without melting, and its vapors smell strongly of garlic. Arsenious acid does not smell; it is the metal only which emits the odor. It is not ductile, nor malleable, and may be converted into a fine powder in a mortar. The alloys of arsenic are of much value. Nearly all metals are made more fusible by the additions of small quantities of arsenic. The arsenious acid of commerce is white, glassy when fresh, but generally opaque when found in the market. Arsenic is alloyed with lead in the manufacture of shot.

HOMICIDE. — At Lookout, on last Sunday evening, Constable Frank Fitzgerald shot and killed a man named Cross. There were no witnesses, and from our best informants at present the facts may be stated as follows: Fitzgerald is lessee and manager of the whole Modock Company property at Lookout, and also Constable for the Sixth Township. Cross, the deceased, was a packer who had been using Fitzgerald's corral for his stock. Some disagreement arose, when Fitzgerald ordered him not to put his animals in the corral or he would turn them out. Cross put his animals in the enclosure and Fitzgerald did turn them out. In the meantime the constable was informed that Cross had had a difficulty with a man known as "Mountain Harry," and that Cross had procured a shotgun and was "laying for him." As an officer Fitzgerald went to Cross and demanded his gun, with the intent to disarm him. He attempted to take it from him by force, when Cross jumped back and leveled the gun at the officer. Fitzgerald pulled his pistol and killed him. That completes the statement as we get it now, only that Sim Reed, Justice of the Peace, called a Coroner's jury and held an inquest. Subsequently an examination was held by the same official and Fitzgerald was discharged upon the ground of justifiable homicide. We have not learned the full name of the deceased, nor any particulars concerning him except that in 1874 he killed a sheepherder in Kern county, and was considered a "bad man." Sim Reed, the Justice, was at the time in the employ of Fitzgerald at the Modock mine. No one seems to know the name of the "Mountain Harry" referred to.

BLANEY HOUSE. — Following are the names of arrivals at the Blaney during the week: Wm. M. Lynch, S. L. McNaughton, J. C. Mills, Geo. Clarke, Barna Peeler, Enoch Enloe, Peter Taylor, S. E. Holcomb, F. CHRISTMAS AT BISHOP.—A regular old fashioned Christmas tree festivity will be held at the new Methodist Church at Bishop Creek, December 24th. In connection with the tree a short programme of first-class literary exercises, interspersed with fine music and singing. The tree will be provided for all to load with presents for the children and their friends. An admission fee of fifty cents will be charged and devoted to paying the debt on the new M. E. Church. Programmes will be published next week.

P. P. P.—The public will please take note of the announcement of a grand ball and supper, to be given under the auspices of the P. P. P., as appears by the advertisement elsewhere.

TIME TABLE.—The regular time-table of the Virginia & Truckee and the Carson & Colorado Railroads will appear next week.

PREACHING. — Rev. L. Reynolds, of Bishop Creek will preach at the School House on Wednesday evening next.

A MISSOURI editor closes his leader in this unhappy strain: "The Sheriff is waiting for us in the other room, so we have no opportunity to be pathetic; we are wanted and must go. Delinquent subscribers—have you much to answer for! Heaven may forgive you, but we never can."

BISHOP CREEK ITEMS.

[From the Times of Saturday last.]

C. R. Thompson, the owner of the Telegraph Hill mine, which is situated in Redding Cañon, adjoining the Rustler and Dido, has uncovered the ledge at different points for a distance of 300 feet, and at present the ledge is 18 inches wide of ore that works by mill process $100 per ton.

The horses named for the race on the 20th instant are daily exercised, and the owner of each horse expects to win the $200 purse. A number of men are now at work on the new track, and as many more may be required to finish it by the 20th instant will be employed,

Hank Lufkin has turned out his teams and gone to meet his family in San Francisco, where they will reside during the Winter. His eldest son is reported as being very low with the typhoid fever.

The front wheel of a wagon loaded with six cords of wood recently passed over the legs of Harry Stenhouse. He was disabled for a few days, but is again engineering his wood teams.

William Horton, a brother of our townsman, J. M. Horton, is here on a visit. He is a solid farmer of Central Iowa, and was on this coast thirty years ago.

Dr. T. F. Bicknell, formerly of Bishop Creek, after traveling extensively over this coast, writes to Charley Schuman that he has settled at Los Angeles.

J. B. Swearingen (better known as "Pete") has been confined to his room several days on account of too much "blistering" for rheumatism.

Joe McDermott and his partners will put up a five-stamp mill next Spring at their mine in Clover District, near Benton.

J. H. Stoutenborough's large store is completed and is being filled with a stock of new goods.

A. K. Briggs is in San Francisco selecting his Winter stock of goods.

Boundaries of Mining Claims.

In locating mining claims the law expressly states that the locator must mark his location by monuments, which will indicate to anyone its exterior boundaries. Fences are not required on mining claims. The physical marks upon and around the claims are sufficient to notify anyone of the claim of the possessor. Fencing would serve no useful purpose except to mark its boundaries; and any other means which will accomplish that object will equally answer the requirements of the law as to the possession of such a claim.

A claim of more than the number of feet allowed by law upon a quartz claim is void, for the excess, but setting stakes a few feet farther apart than the limit allowed by law, does not defeat the entire claim.

The object of the Act of May 10, 1872, was to give to the discoverer his lode, with surface ground adjacent thereto, and within a certain distance on either side of that lode, and to avoid questions of lode indentity; to give him in addition, all other veins within his surface location; but that if the vein originally discovered was not followed by a survey which included such vein, the surface ground allowed to the discovering vein and the side veins additionally granted, could not be construed to include the surface and the side veins within a lot of ground which did not contain the original vein first discovered.

Under the laws of the U. S., unaided by any supplementary miners' rules, there is no way of locating a quartz vein, except by marking out surface lines; and when these lines have been marked, they cannot be changed so as to take on ground that has been located by others, prior to such attempted change.

A location to a mining claim must be distinctly marked on the ground, so that its boundaries can be readily traced, but the law does not define or prescribe what kind of marks shall be made, or upon what part of the claim they shall be placed. Any marking of the ground by stakes, mounds or written notices, whereby the boundaries can be readily traced is sufficient if the center line of a location of a lode drawn lengthwise be marked by a prominent stake or monument, at each end thereof, upon one of which is placed a written notice, showing that a locator claims the length of said line upon the lode from stake to stake, and a specified number of feet or width on either side of said line, such location is so marked that the boundaries may be readily traced; and, so far as the marking of the location is concerned, is a sufficient compliance with the law.

The placing of a monument in the center of a mining claim upon a mineral vein thereon stating that "the undersigned claim 750 ft. easterly and 750 ft. westerly therefrom, together with 300 ft. on each side of the vein, with all its dips, spurs and angles," is not a sufficient compliance with the Act of May 10, 1872, which requires locators of mining claims to distinctly mark their locations on the ground so that their boundaries can be readily traced.

The posting of a notice upon a tree at each end of a mining claim is not a sufficient compliance with the law requiring the location to be distinctly marked.—Scientific Press.

AN only sister of Edmund Northrup wishes to learn his address. Said Edmund left New York City and landed in San Francisco in 1856 or 1857. Since then he has been successively the owner of gold mines in the San Joaquin Valley, silver mines in Idaho and a restaurant in Northern Nevada. Was heard of once in Virginia City, Montana. When last directly heard from he was at Knight's Kanding, California, in 1867. Anyone knowing his whereabouts will confer a favor by informing his sister, Mrs. Adelaide Burnside, Audubon, Iowa.

PERSONS who have followed the details of the recent important discoveries at Thebes will remember that one of the mummies did not readily yield itself to identification, and that a doubt seemed likely to exist forever whether it was that of Rameses II or Ramesis XII. Prof. Maspero favored the latter conclusion, pointing out in his memoir addressed to the Orientalist Congress at Berlin in September that the very fine workmanship, the unlikeness of the outer effigy and other characteristics of the mummy case indicated unmistakably the twentieth dynasty. Since that time Prof. Maspero has removed the outer wrappings from the mummy and found it swathed in its original bandages, and on its breast an inscription showing it to be Rameses II, surmamed The Great, and formally registering the circumstances of its removal to the vault at Dayr-el Baharee. The inscription goes on to say that the ancient coffin had been destroyed, and was consequently replaced at the time of removal by a new coffin of the date and workmanship of the twentieth dynasty. Hence the misleading character of the orthography and the unlikeness of the outer effigy.

THERE is an effort in Russia to fight Nihilism after its own fashion, so far as secrecy is a part of it. A society has been formed called the "Holy League," the object of which is to search out Nihilists and persons sympathising with it in the ranks of Russian society. The members belong to all classes of society, from those who are nearest to the throne to the small shopkeeper. They recognize each other by secret signs. Those joining the League, either as salaried agents or volunteers enter into a solemn undertaking. They bind themselves to execute whatever commands may be given them, and to perform all duties in a manner becoming a true and loyal subject of the Russian Czar. From the accounts which are given of it thie seems to be an association of spies. Each member operates in the circle of his friends and acquaintances. The society, so far as anything is known of it, is not respectfully regarded; indeed, it is said to be ridiculed and condemned by a large class of intelligent Russians.

GEN. ROBERTS, of Afghanistan fame, was sent in August last to Germany by his Government to attend the Autumn manœurves of the Hanover and Schleswig Holstein Army Corps. The Prussian system and its perfection of organization, in his opinion, constitutes the most finished and easily worked fighting machine the world has known. To such perfeciion has its organization been brought, he says, that in one night any army corps can be mobilized. He was told that in the bureau of the general staff, letters were ready stamped and addressed to every department and commander of the several army corps, only requiring the dates to be filled in for dispatch in ten minu es. He was assured that the horses belonging to private people throughout the country were marked off for the regiments and batteries to which they would be attached in war time, and also the hour and the train by which horses would be dispatched to its destination.

THE latest thing in robberies is the spoilation of the corner stone of a church at Scranton, Pa. The cornerstone of St. David's Episcopal Church at that place was laid late on Friday by the light of lamps and torches, and a few days after it was discovered that a copper box containing a $5 gold piece, a silver dollar and other specie, together with papers and records, had been broken open and the money abstracted. It had generally been believed that there was nothing new under the sun in the way of robbery, but when it comes to breaking open corner-stones, the scranton burglar may justly claim to take the confectionery.

WHEN a Chicago preacher wants a new church all his own, and a big congregation, he has himself convicted of heresy.

THERE are said to be 263 styles of corsets, and yet different young ladies' waists feel very much alike — the girls say.

"Is patriotism dying out?" asks the Chicago Inier-Ocean. No, sir, not much it isn't. In places where there are no saloons it is sold at the drugstores.

LEGAL.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Omie I. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40, with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40 100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.

THOMAS PARKER,
Justice of the Peace of said Township.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF A DECREE OF FORECLOSURE and Order of Sale issued out of the District Court of the Sixteenth Judicial District of the State of California, in and for the County of Inyo, in the suit of M. Friedlander, Plaintiff, against Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn Defendants, upon a judgment rendered in said Court on the Fourth day of November, A. D. 1879, for the sum of Three Thousand Three Hundred and Thirty-five 41 100 Dollars in gold coin of the United States, with interest thereon amounting to the sum of Five Hundred and Sixteen 96 100 Dollars, together with $385 21 attorney's fees, and costs of suit, taxed at the sum of Twenty-nine 75 100 Dollars, duly attested the Twenty-second day of November, A D. 1881, whereby I am commanded to make the amount of $4,267 32, in gold coin of the United States, besides accruing costs and interest, I have levied upon all the right, title and interest of the said Defendants in and to the following described real property, to-wit:

Those certain pieces and parcels of land situate in the town of Lone Pine, County of Inyo, State of California, and described as follows, to wit: Lots Nos. Three (3) Six (6) and Seven (7), in Block No. Twenty-one (21), as the same is known and designated on the plat of said town now on file in the Recorder's office of said county.

Notice is hereby given, that on MONDAY, the NINETEENTH day of DECEMBER, A D. 1881, between the hours of 9 o'clock A. M. and 4 o'clock P. M., to-wit at the hour of one o'clock P. M. of that day, in front of the Court House, in the town of Independence, County of Inyo, State of California, I will sell all the right, title and interest of the said Defendants, Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, in and to the above described property, or so much thereof as may be sufficient to satisfy said judgment and all costs, at public auction, to the highest bidder—or bidders, for cash in hand in gold coin of the United States.

What Volcanoes are Not.

"What is a volcano?" This is a familiar question, often addressed to us in our youth, which "Catechisms on Universal Knowledge" and similar school manuals have taught us to reply to in some such terms as the following: "A volcano is a burning mountain, from the summit of which issue smoke and flames." This description, says Prot. Judd, is not merely incomplete and inadequate as a whole, but each individual proposition of which it is made up is grossly inadequate and, what is worse, perversely misleading. In the first place, the action which takes place at volcanoes is not "burning," or combustion, and bears, indeed, no relation whatever to that well known process. Nor are volcanoes necessarily "mountains" at all; essentially, they are just the reverse—namely, holes in the earth's crust, or outer portion, by means of which a communication is kept up between the surface and the interior of our globe. When mountains do exist at centers of volcanic activity, they are simply the heaps of material thrown out of these holes, and must, therefore, be regarded not as the causes but as the consequences of volcanic action. Neither does this action always take place at the "summits" of volcanic mountains when such exist, for eruptions occur quite as frequently on their sides or at their base. That, too, which popular fancy regards as "smoke" is really condensing steam or watery vapor, and the supposed raging "flames" are nothing more than the glowing light of a mass of molten material reflected from these vapor-clouds.

The name of volcano has been borrowed from the mountain Vulcano, in the Lapari islands, where the ancients believed that Hephæstus, or Vulcan, had his forge. Volcanic phenomena have been at all times regardrd with a superstitious awe, which has resulted in the generation of the myths as the ones just mentioned, or of that in which Etna was said to have been formed by the mountains under which an angry God has buried the rebellious Typhon. These stories changed their form, but not their essence, under a Christian dispensation, and Vulcano became regarded as the place of punishment of the Arian Emperor Theodosius, and Etna as that of Anne Boleyn, who had sinned by perverting the faith of King Henry VIII.—Popular Science Monthly.

A PROJECT which is likely to assume great proportions, has just come to light in Wall Sireet. It contemplates a revolution in ocean steamship building, and it has the support of leading and influential capitalists, principally Massachusetts gentlemen. Vessels are to be constructed without masts, and there will literally be nothing whatever above deck, except the top of the pilot house and funnels. One of the projectors being interviewed, said: We have stepped forward to solve the problem by dooming our vessels, covering them with a shell from stem to stern. This will place us above all danger of rough seas. Sweeping over us with whatever force they may, they can do no damage. No spars are torn out, no freight goes overboard, no lives are lost; everything is safe beneath the roof. The cost of the larger vessels will range from $550,000 to $650,000, at least one-third less than ordinary vessels of the same size. They are all to be built in this country. One of the objects of the enterprise is to bring back to the United States our lost commercial supremacy.

Graphic Description of a Great Fire.

A special to the Bodie Free Press, from New York, December 10th, contains the following details of the great Vienna theater disaster:

The extent of the calamity has heretofore been much understated. One thousand one hundred and thirty persons are announced as missing, and assuming that many of these will turn up, it is feared that the total loss will not be much less than 1,000 persons. It is probable that there were 600 in the fourth gallery. All the persons in the front row of the paraquet perished. Some persons who entered the theater a few minutes after the fire was discovered remarked at the time that comparativly few escaped. The theater holds 2,000. Every place was occupied except the parquet and boxes; consequently the entire loss may be found to be nearly 1,000 persons. Three hundred and sixty tickets were issued for the fourth gallery, and of these about fifty have been found. They had made their escape from the inside only to find death by suffocation in the passage way which had no exit. There is seen lying in the fatal gallery a vast barricade of human bodies. About two o'clock this afternoon the fourth gallery fell in and the firemen are carrying out lumps of charred bodies, without form or feature and beyond the possibility of recognition. Who these victims are will not be known until relatives have announced them as missing.

An eye-witness says: As soon as the fire burst through the curtain in the ante room a terrible cry went up from the entire house. To spring and hasten to the exits was the work of a moment. In the corridor intense darkness prevailed. With many others I tried to make my way in the dark. I caught hold of the coat of a person before me, and my own coat was held by a string of others behind me. Thus we groped our way to the stairs, where also it was pitch dark. We all fell on one another, but finally reached the grand lobby. While we were escaping we heard the piercing shrieks of the unfortunates who were being crushed to death or suffocated by the smoke and flames. Those who could not escape by the stairs hastened to the windows of the lobby. It was a terrible time. Dense crowds struggled together there behind, and urging those in front to spring out or we would all die. Some made the spring and were caught by the people below. I remained until the nets were brought and a life leap could be made in safety. But a few seem to have escaped, so easy to look at.

The dead bodies in the morgue and at Kranskenhause tells more of the terrible death which the victims met with than the report that any eye witness has yet given. Some appear to have died from suffocation alone. Two beautiful girls are there with their faces discolored, looking only as if they were asleep. Another youthful figure lies there, only the charred stump of her neck remaining, while her body and lower extremities are untouched. The linen of her underclothing is as spotlessly white as when, on the afternoon of the fatal day, she dressed herself for the play. Her death is described as easy. She was caught in the dense, surging crowd. The flames descended upon them all, charring and consuming only their heads. Most of the better preserved bodies show one arm uplifted, as if struggling for freedom, while the other hand is closely pressed to the mouth to exclude the destroying breath of the fire. Others have the heads and upper parts of the body without disfigurement, while the feet and legs are charred off. Other victims are represented by the trunk alone, the heads, feet and legs being missing. Those who were exposed to the flames are as dark as Africans, with the form and features often faithfully represented. The other bodies retain the form of the last desperate struggle, the features expressing the first cramp of agony. Others are fair women; some with diamond rings still on their fingers, the only objects by which they can possibly be recognized. They were trampled to death and then partly consumed by fire.

Some have their shoulders crushed in and limbs distorted and broken, from others the bowels protrude. But why continue the ghastly list? So far only a dozen people have been recorded as having escaped, wounded, but with life; from the catastrophe, the rest are all dead. It was most impossible to save any one but oneself. Several of these who escaped are to-day madmen. Last night a young man belonging to the upper classes was found in a side street, near the burning theater, bareheaded and singed. Insanity was expressed in his staring eyes. He was crying out incessantly. He had a strip of fur worn by ladies, around his neck. "Where do you live? Have courage," said a compassionate bystander, but his only answer was, "Amatie, Amatie! I sprang down, but she is being burnt within!" Two bank officials and twenty members of the First Exchange are missing and a score of medical students are among the victims. The majority of the dead are hard workers — clerks and people of limited means.

REVIEWING the evidence in the second trial of Jesse Billings, Jr., Dr. Lewis Balch, of Albany, N. Y., sets it down as established that a ball fired through glass may make a hole enough smaller than the full size of the ball before firing to prevent an unfired ball of like caliber passing. In an experiment with a baseball it was found that the hole made was too small by one-third to let the ball pass through.

The Corwin's Collection.

The collection of specimens and relics brought back from Arctic regions by the Arctic cruiser Corwin is described as large and interesting. Lieuts. Myrick and Dota have accumulated a rare assortment of weapons and boats used by the tribes inhabiting the extreme northern limits of the habitable portion of the globe. These models include boats of various shapes and character, hunting weapons, pipes, bird-traps, nets, and other trinkets which would prove invaluable to a collector of the curious in any portion of the world. Dr. Ross, of Washington, who accompanied the expedition, has a collection of very rare specimens, from the Alaskan and Siberian coasts, as well as from Herald Island and Wrangel Land. Among these are specimens of the flora, vegetation, soil, and minerals of the newly acquired territory, New Columbia. Among the flora may be seen some of the most beautiful flowers, and while all are void of brilliant colors, the leaves and blossoms, all of delicate tints, are very beautiful and extraordinarily curious as coming from an unexplored region so close to the North Pole. The grasses are also delicate, and resemble both the common bunch and "foxtail" variety of California and the blue grass of the Eastern States. The rock from Wrangel Land is a coarse blue sandstone, a fine slate, and some pale drab sandstone, all good building material. The specimens of coal from Cape Lisburne, on the north coast of Alaska, are of a deep black color, soft and bituminous. It is easily ignited, and emits a strong sulphuric odor. From Herald Island the Corwin brings some fine specimens of granite, which is susceptible of a high polish. It is gray in color, and resembles the granite of Lake Superior and the coast of Maine. Among the curiosities in the possession of Mr. Haloran, the boatswain of the Corwin, is the tooth of a mammoth found upon the coart of Siberia. It is as large as a twenty pound cannon ball, and being petrified, is equally as heavy. The collection of curiosities brought down from the Arctic by the Corwin is, perhaps, the most interesting of any brought to San Francisco.

Torpedo versus Fire.

Torpedoes has been up to a very recent date considered in the exclusive light of their destructive properties—it is gratifying to see that they can also be put to the use of preserving property from fire. On the 10th of August, one of the magnificent steamers belonging to the Transatlantic Company was at Goletta, discharging. Her name is a well-known one, as it reminds us of the founders of that company; it was the Isaac Pereire. So late as one o'clock in the morning the work of discharging had been going on under the superintendence of Capt. Araud, the commander; he then went a last time round the ship, and retired to rest. At two o'clock he was roused by an alarm from the fore part of the ship. The Isaac Pereire was on fire, and the fire had spread with such a rapidity that the crew had to leave their quarters without saving anything. The steerage passengers, surrounded as they were by the raging element, were saved only owing to the unremitting exertions of the crew and the skillful manœuvering of the commander, who swung his ship, and, placing her before the wind, thus limited the advance of the fire and kept the stern untouched. Meanweile the purser and doctor were busy protecting the saloon by closing the bulkheads and disposing the hose. The sound of the bell had called the assistance of the men-of-war at anchor in the harbor, and soon 22 steam launches and other boats had come to the rescue. Commander Araud wanted to scuttle the fore part of the ship, but the heat was so intense that the men who attempted it, although a continuous and powerful stream of water thrown upon them, had to fall back, not without having been severely scorched. Commander Araud then applied to the officers of the men-of-war for a torpedo, but they at first declined to take such a responsibility upon themselves, a responsibility the commander did not hesitate to assume. A torpedo was secured, and everybody taken away from the ship, with the exception of Commander Araud, who stood on the bridge. A first torpedo missed fire, a second sent the Isaac Pereire down stem foremost. Her commander, who had not left the bridge, was safely rescued from the water, having only by a miracle escaped being hurt by the explosion. The Isaac Pereire will be easily raised.—London Review.

A MEETING of directors of the State Line Mines was held yesterday morning at the company's office, No. 39 Broadway, at which the promised report of General Manager Farrish was read. Mr. Farrish said that at first he was impressed with the great value of the property, but after being here for awhile he found that the ore would not assay more than $10 to the ton. The directors expressed much surprise that an expert should make such varied reports, and a general discussion was carried on for a considerable time. As a result, Mr. Farrish was requested to present his resignation, which was done at once. There are nearly 3,000 tons of ore on the dumps at the mines, which will be immediately milled, and then the status of the company can be determined. — N. Y. American Exchange, Dec. 3.

JAMES E. PARKER.

THE WORK COMMENCED.

On the 13th Congressman Pacheco of this district introduced a bill in the House, providing for the donation of "certain military lands in the County of Inyo, California, for school purposes." This, of course, is his old measure ceding Camp Independence to Inyo and Mono. Since his visit here Mr. Pacheco has become well informed of the situation regarding the property and the reservation, and is in position to urge prompt action by the committees and the House. Being under instructions from two Legislatures of this State to do so, Senators Farley and Miller will see it through the Senate. Mr. Pacheco has also introduced "a bill for the relief of the occupants of land within one mile of the military post of Camp Inyo, Cal.," as the dispatches have it, which is simply to permit the settlers to go on and pre-empt or homestead their lands.

THE TIME TABLE.

There is subject for considerable comment on the fact that THE INDEPENDENT has an order to publish a table specifying the regular working, by time, of the railroad trains approaching this country. We will not go into speculation on the subject, however. Let those practically interested study it up, and refer to it as occasion arises, which will frequently come up from now on.

THE United States are becoming a very warlike, not to say ferocious power. We have already practically declared war against all the powers of Europe combined upon the construction and control of a water ditch across the Isthmus of Darien and still doubtful as to the sufficiency of European resistance to glut our appetite for carnage, we have sent our emissaries to South America to stir up a quarrel in that direction. Unfortunately for the success of our warlike measure the good common sense of Europe will insist that all this canal business is just a "Yankee Notion" and will not be induced to look at the matter in a serious way. In South America our chance of provoking a quarrel are more encouraging. Taking the whole situation at a glance and considering in connection the admirable conditions we are in for aggressive measures—by the other side—if the country can settle this business without being soundly thrashed then our statesmen will prove that they are sagacious as well as brave.

THE Evening Mail, our most valued New York exchange, has absorbed the old established Express, and the paper now sails under the title of the Mail and Express. It is understood that the paper belongs to Cyrus W. Field, the great telegraph owner, and by this combination the journal goes into the New York Associated Press in the matter of news. The Mail and Express is the best evening paper in New York; it is only two years older than THE INDEPENDENT, but has our distinguished consideration all the same.

THE following, from an exchange, may prove valuable to miners who desire to know how much ore they have in sight: One cubic foot of lead ore weighs 474 pounds; thus a vein of galena or lead ore one foot wide, six feet high and six feet long (otherwise a fathom) will produce eight tons five hundred and thirty-two pounds; or a vein one and one-half inches wide will net one ton of ore per fathom; three inches wide, two tons; six inches wide, four tons. This rule will be a safe guide to estimate by.

THE colored Cadets, Flipper and Whittaker, have certainly brought, by their conduct, severe reproaches on their race. Whittaker's case has just been finally reported on by the presiding judge of the court-martial, and the charge of mutilating his own body has been fully sustained. In Flipper's case it is plainly apparent that he has squandered the regimental funds.

SO LONG as the only great questions before Congress and the people is that of government revenues, finance and tariffs, were it not for the "cohesive power of plunder," we might hope for a complete reorganization of all present political parties.

BERTHOLD'S statue of Liberty, the gift of France to America, is finished. It will be placed on Bedloe's Island, New York harbor, and stand on a pedestal 175 feet high. The cost of the pedestal will be about $200,000.

THE statement is made that sixteen of the experts in insanity, summoned in the Guiteau case, have consulted together and agreed that the assassin is sane and legally responsible for his crime.

MOUNT WHITNEY SIGNAL STATION.

The recommendation of Gen. Hazen, chief of the Signal Service, that special stations and observations be organized for the Pacific coast, lends interest to the official orders by which the new signal station on the summit of Mt. Whitney was established the past Summer. These orders, of which a correct copy is hereby given, were copied on the top of Mt. Whitney on the 6th of September, from the official document, which was enclosed in a tin case and deposited that morning by Capt. Michaelis in the monument on the summit of our highest mountain.

CAMP FRANK THOMPSON,
SIGNAL SERVICE STATION,
Mt. Whitney, Cal., Sept. 6, 1881.

On the 16th of August, 1881, Capt. O. E. Michaelis, Ordnance Corps, U. S. A., accompanied by Sergt. J. J. Nanry, Signal Service, and S. B. Coles, Quartermaster's employe, in compliance with orders of the War Department, established a signal station on this peak, hoisted the U. S. flag officially and issued the following orders:

Order No. 1. SUMMIT OF MT. WHITNEY, Aug. 16, 1881.

In compliance with special orders No. 152, dated Adjutant General's office, Washington, July 6th, 1881, and with the instructions of Brevet Maj. Genl. W. B. Hazen, Chief Signal Officer of the army, a signal service station is hereby established on this mountain.

II. In acknowledgement of the interest shown by Mr. Frank Thompson, of Philadelphia, in the special scientific observations of Prof. S. P. Langley, the furtherance of which led to the establishment of this station, it is hereby named Camp Frank Thompson.

CAPT. O. E. MICHAELIS, Capt. of Ordnance.

Special order, No. 152.
HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
ADJT. GENL'S. OFFICE, July 6, 1881.

By direction of the Secy. of War, paragraph 4, special orders, No. 150, July 2, 1881 from this office, relating to Capt. O. E. Michaelis, Ordnance Dept., is so amended as to direct that officer to proceed from this city via Philadelphia and Pittsburg, Penn., to San Francisco, Cal., and thence via Mohave, Cal, to Mt. Whitney, Cal., and there establish a Signal Service station, under such instructions as he may receive from the Chief Signal Service officer of the Army. By command of GEN. SHERMAN.

[Signed.] R. C. DRUM, Adjt. Genl.

It is to be hoped that Congress will this Winter appropriate, according to recommendations of Capt. Michaelis and party, the small sum of $10,000 to erect a comfortable stone house on the summit and make the new trail proposed, up Lone Pine cañon some fifteen or twenty miles, to render this a permanent station the year round, in spite of the deep snows that accumulate on, and for miles around it. But to make all complete, and trails to every point of interest, Prof. Cox, of Indiana, who studied up the matter while here, says the Government should appropriate $50,000 for the purpose. Messrs. Wm. Crapo, A. H. Johnson and Wm. L. Hunter, who accompanied the expedition on the mountain, and who have always taken great interest in exploring its wonders and in practical work bringing it to the knowledge of the world, are enthusiastic supporters of the plan. Mr. Hunter, the best experienced trail builder in the State, says that he will contract for the appropriation named to construct the trail and build a sufficiently large and substantial house on the summit. To show the spirit of these gentlemen, whether or not the Government undertakes the matter of establishing a permanent signal service station, as it undoubtedly will, in time—Mr. Crapo proposes to get instruments at his own expense and determine beyond all doubt its absolute altitude. This will require an entire Summer's work, with simultaneous observations at Lone Pine and on the mountain, together with the outlay of a round sum of money for the instruments, as well as long and abstruse scientific calculations. It is said that in this particular the late work of the scientists was faulty, and in any event their determinations will not be made public for a year or two to come.

As a necessary adjunct to the regular service station, the Government will be urged to set aside a reservation extending at least ten miles north and south of Mount Whitney, about seven miles to base of Sierras, thirteen or more west, including the very grand cañon of the Kern and the isolated Kawea buttes. The name which the party have proposed for the new park is Too-man-i-go-yah, meaning something appropriate enough, probably, in Indian, but absurd as to euphony and convenience. However, Mr. J. W. A. Wright, of Fresno county, who accompanied the expedition as newspaper correspondent, says that California will have in the proposed park, a future resort, not quite equal to Yellowstone Park in extent and some of its natural features, but one of which Californians may well be proud. It would embrace our highest peaks and table-lands, one of our deepest and grandest cañons, and certainly the longest. It would embrace some of our highest falls, fine mountain streams and lakes, that can and should be stocked with fish, and some of our most extensive mountain forests. The force at Mt. Whitney should see that no bands of sheep are driven into this reservation, and that its forests be preserved from the devastating effects of mountain fires. Within this area there is no very large amount of pasturage, and plenty can be found elsewhere for sheep in our vast mountain regions. The deer, mountain sheep, or big horns, and other game, would be thus increased, in this picturesque and wild, but now dreary district, and it would be a national park worthy of our continent and our people."

RAILROAD BUILDING.

A correspondent of the Engineering Journal, writing on the present "Railroad boom" says among many other interesting things that one naturally reverts to the day, still so near that it seems but yesterday, when the stage and the emigrant team sprinkled the vast territory between the Missouri and the Pacific with a few reckless miners and enthusiastic zealots; who, if ever men felt the awe of being alone with nature, must have experienced that intimate sympathy with the earth and skies as their only companions in the presence of God, which we in our artificial life can not realize. Once having entered into fellowship with nature, the fellowship of man evidently becomes distasteful, and therefore the pioneer farmer and ranch-man shrinks away from the advancing stream of population, and the prospector wanders solitary—unless for the company of his donkey -- over the mountains from British Columbia into Sonora, in search, he thinks, of wealth, but really because he shuns the restraints of human intercourse. It is strange how readily civilized man, when placed under conditions favorable to retrogression, relapses toward the savage state! But as the railroad has driven away the buffalo and the red man, so will it extirpate these wanderers of the mountains; for, if the present rate of railroad construction be maintained, in a few years every pass of the Rocky Mountains and Sierra Nevada will be occupied by the iron rails. Not only are the old trans-continental railroad schemes, which have been competing for public favor and public lands during the past fifteen years, pushing toward fruition, but several of the Eastern lines terminating on the Missouri seem ambitious to lay their tracks up to and over the mountains; and the old lines which have heretofore worked in harmony and agreed to share the earnings from through freight are bent on finding independent outlets to the East and to the West. This intense activity, no matter whether it be the result of personal ambition, corporate bravado, or a real need, or whether it will pay the investor or not, can not but influence advantageously the interests of the miner and metallurgist. Regions hitherto practically inaccessible are being brought through railroad communication within range of systematic mining, as distinguished from mere prospect mining; and ores too poor or too refractory to be beneficiated in the localities where found can, through railroad transportation, be carried to more favorable localities for metallurgical treatment. Thanks, therefore to the intervention of the iron horse; the miner will be taken to the ores, and the ores and fuel to reduce them will be brought together; and thus during the next decade will take place an extension of mining and improvements and modifications of metallurgical processes, due to cheapening of fuel and mixture of ores, which may result in progress greater than that made during even the past decade, extraordinary as that has been.

FRED. T. FRELINGHUYSEN, who has been confirmed as Secretary of State, to succeed James G. Blaine, belongs to a family which for several generations occupied a prominent place in American history. He was born at Milltown, Somerset county, N. J., August 4, 1817. He graduated at Rutgers College in 1836, and was admitted to the Bar in 1839. From 1861 to 1866 he was Attorney General of the State. In 1856 he was appointed United States Senator to fill a vacancy, and was elected Senator in 1867 for the term which expired in 1869. In the following year he was chosen Senator for the term beginning in 1871, and re-elected in 1874. He was also a member of the famous Electoral Commission. He was offered the position of Minister to Great Britain by President Grant, but declined it. He is a Stalwart Republican.

DAVID DAVIS, the heavy-weight Senator from Illinois, has metaphorically "sat down" on all propositions looking to a partisan contest in the Senate at the present time. The committees are in the hands of Republicans and the offices in the hands of Democrats. The acting Vice-President says they shall remain this way, and, as he holds the balance of power, that settles it. The country desires this Congress to attend strictly to business, and will commend the decision of the non-partisan.

THE San Francisco Chronicle's sledge hammer blows against the Hawaiian "reciprocity" treaty and the sugar monopoly are taking effect. The papers all over the country are discussing the subject, and public opinion will finally force an abrogation of the treaty by Congress.

THE WAY OF TEXANS.

The ways of our Texan Southern brethren are a little peculiar. For instance, in their dealings with horse thieves they have a summary method. This method is not according to statute, but is very effectual. All good codes of justice are liable to abuse, however, as is proved by an incident which took place among the Texans. At Decatur, in that State, the pros and cons about the erection of a new Court House had been matters of warm discussion, and the advocates of a new building, with true Texan promptness, have burned down the old edifice. It is true that the books, papers, criminal docket and about $3,000 in cash have become cinders in the process—but what of that? Decatur must now have a new Court House, and that is one point gained. The end proposed was accomplished as thoroughly as the destruction of bed-bugs by an Irishman who burned his house down to get rid of the pest. That's a good deal like the way some men want to do business in this county.

THE New York Journal of Commerce remarks that while the manufacturers are very anxious for the protection of their manufactures, they are not at all solicitous for the men who manufacture them. They are strongly opposed to the introduction of foreign goods, but altogether in favor of the introduction of foreign goods makers. They go in for dear goods but cheap labor. They would import any number of Chinamen to work for a shilling a day, but they would not have a yard of Chinese silk imported if they could help it.

THE Eureka Sentinel has received news that ore in large quantities has been struck in the Eberhardt and Aurora mine at White Pine. If this is true it is a well-earned reward for one of the most remarkable instances of pluck in the history of mining. The property belongs to an English company, which has, under most discouraging circumstances, stuck to it with true British persistency. Ninety-nine companies out of every one hundred would, under similar conditions, have thrown up the sponge long ago.

A TRAMP attempted to bulldoze a St. Louis servant-girl into making him a cup of coffee. In the process she branded him on the cheek with a red-hot flatiron which she held in her hand. The infuriated tramp stabbed her with a dirk, but the point of the weapon was turned by the steel in the corset. The moral for the defenders of the kitchen is to have the flatirons heated and to wear corsets.

THE net that let the whales go through has caught the minnows, and in six cases true bills have been returned against persons charged with complicity in the Star Route frauds. They are not very important persons, but the principle is the same, and some interesting discoveries may be made when they are brought to trial.

BLAINE says that he proposes to attend to his private fortune, with the idea of increasing it, now that he is out of office. It would be a good plan for Mr. Blaine to commence pulling wires for 1884. The Maine statesman on one side and Allan G. Thurman on the other would make excellent opposing forces.

THE Mussel Slough settlers have made up a test case, that of the Railroad Company vs. Payot, which will be taken on appeal to the Supreme Court of the United States. The decision below was in favor of the Railroad Company, upon a verdict given under the instructions of the Court.

BARTHOLD'S famous statue of "Liberty Enlightening the World," now on exhibition in Paris, will be removed to New York city one year hence. It remains for the United States to provide a pedestal for it, which will cost $250,000.

DIED.

At Bishop Creek, Inyo county, California, December 11, 1881, RUSSELL BRIGGS, a native of Ohio, in the 38th year of his age.

At Independence, Inyo county, California, December 12, 1881, HENRY CARLOS BADGER, a native of the town of Lancaster, New York, aged 48 years.

Iowa papers please copy.

The deceased was one of the oldest and most universally respected residents of the valley. He crossed the plains in 1853, and after eight years of active life in Placer, Butte and other counties, came direct from Visalia to "Owens Valley"—since which time he has been engaged in mining in various districts, but finally, with Horace Bellows, a partner of twenty years' time, settled at Haiwai Meadows. He had been sick for two years with diabetes mellites, the most malignant form of diabetes. The immediate cause of his death was not an unusual intercurrent affection viz: a general state of congestion, manifesting itself more especially in the lungs and brain.

His mortal remains were accompanied to the grave at Camp Independence by a very large concourse, among whom were nearly all the old settlers of Southern Inyo. An incident remarkable as pathetic, was that as the cortege slowly passed the trees in the lane a large bald eagle perched upon a limb and silently watched until all had passed; an old time friend of Henry Carlos Badger said that the grand bird had seen the last journey of a man against whom no one had ever heard an ill word.

AMONG the measures introduced by the Pacific Coast delagation in the House were bills to restrict Chinese immigration by Berry, and to protect farmers from debris by Berry and Page.

RIDDLEBERGER has been nominated for United States Senator by the Virginia Readjusters.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 17.....1881

A RICH STRIKE.—No work has been done in the Eureka mine at Chrysopolis for the past two years except the regular assessment work. Two weeks ago the owner, Mr. E. M. Litchfield, of New York, ordered the assessment work done through the agency of Messrs. Harris & Rhine. The mine had been prospected by a shaft 35 feet deep, and the men in sinking from the bottom of this shaft struck a body of ore of extraordinary richness. About 600 pounds was brought into town yesterday, which will be shipped to New York. The ore is a honeycombed quartz, darkly stained by oxydized iron sulphurets. Bright free gold is plainly visible on almost every piece examined, and from appearances the ore will pay $200 or more per ton. The celebrated M. E. and expert (?) J. S. Phillips of New York, who visited Inyo something over one year ago, and reported on Chrysopolis, should be allowed to inspect this ore when it reaches New York.

POOR BOB. — Dr. George's and Hubert Gelatt's faithful work for the past five weeks in the effort to cure the broken leg of the trained colt "Bob Ingersoll" proves futile after all, through an accident. A night or two ago his hanging gave way, resulting in another fracture of the same shoulder. The animal was of blooded stock, trained to a remarkable degree of intelligence and docility. He had to be killed, though his owner says he would not have done it himself for a big pile of twenties, and all who knew "Bob" feel about the same way.

THE CEMETERY.—The crowd attending the sad obsequies of the late H. C. Badger, the other day, found upon arriving at the Camp Independence Cemetary that some of the fence surrounding it was broken down- a fact not pleasant to contemplate in any of its bearings. However, Wm. Walker of Olancha, and A. W. Eibeshutz and P. A. Chalfant have been formed a Committee to fully repair it, and it becomes a duty of our Independence citizens to stand in on the necessary expense.

GONE.—Tuesday morning P. and E. A. Reddy set out for Darwin, to look after mining matters there, and on their way to San Francisco. Judge Wells, accompanied by J. B. Hiskey, an old-timer of Esmeralda and Inyo, went northward Wednesday morning. Wm. Adams, J. J. Williams and all the Bishop Creek delegation have gone, except John Clarke, who remains under Dr. George's care on account of his broken shoulder.

THE IMPROVEMENT.—The crowd at the late trials generally commented on the decidedly improved appearance of the Court House since its repainting at the hands of the contractor, Mr. S. C. Price, and his chief assistant, Mr. John Alexander. The Board of Supervisors did a wise thing in getting that work done, but if they will now order sufficient good chairs to replace those rickety benches the improvement will be complete.

BIG.— Supt. Griswold, writing from Big Pine, reports that huge developments are being made in the Montezuma lead mine—the old Jefferson, opposite Fish Springs. He invites an inspection by "enterprising mining men." That's us, and we are going to see it soon as possible.

FOR CHRISTMAS.—The proprietor of the Miner's Home restaurant is making all sorts of preparation to accommodate any number of people on Christmas and during holiday week. Good things in the way of game, turkeys, chickens, egg-nogg, Tom & Jerry, etc., ad libitum, are being prepared for.

ABSTRACTS.—Yesterday County Clerk Crough, with the material help of Deputy S. P. Moffat, completed the abstracts of title to thirteen mining properties at Beveridge, belonging to the Keynot company, and eight mines, mill-sites and water rights belonging to Taylor, McEvoy & Co.

A CHANGE.—The big Christmas ball and supper at Lone Pine has been rearranged so as to take place on the evening of Friday, the 23d. This was done to accommodate many parties of Lone Pine, who propose to attend both that and the P. P. P. ball here on Masonic installation night.

THE COST.—The total cost to the county of the trial of Wm. Adams, Jr., foots up to $1,651 52, in items as follows: Jury, $574 50; Sheriff's fees, $183 50; Reporter's fees, $777; Clerk's fees, $22 50, and boarding jurymen, $94 12.

THE GREAT EVENT.—Cards and dancing programmes for the P. P. P. ball on the coming 27th, will be out next week. The court room will be appropriately decorated, and ample preparations made for the grand supper.

DISMISSED.—In the Superior Court, Tuesday last, the case of P. W. Forbes vs. Wm. Adams, for $40,000 damages for personal injury received, was finally dismissed, on motion of plaintiff's counsel.

CARD.—Dr. Middleton's professional card will be noted elsewhere this week. He has located at Big Pine—likes the place and the people, and the people like him.

PREACHING.—Rev. L. Reynolds will hold divine services at Camp Independence to-morrow at 11 o'clock A. M. and at the School House here in the evening.

LOCATION NOTICES.—Prospectors can obtain an improved, legal and brief location notices at this office. Price, 50 cents per half dozen.

The Trial Ended.

The case of the People v. Wm. Adams, Jr., terminated on Monday evening after a trial of four days, with a verdict of acquittal. The facts of the case are so well known to most of our readers that we shall only give a short resume thereof. The circumstances as developed on the trial were as follows: On the 7th April last the defendant Adams and the prosecuting witness P. W. Forbes were in Jack Horton's saloon at Bishop Creek. Forbes got into a quarrel with Johnny Williams, which had been provoked by the latter, threw him on the ground and was in the act of choking him when Adams interfered, and pulled off Forbes. Forbes then went over to the counter, and stood with a six-shooter in his hand, which he claimed to have taken from Williams. Adams said "put up that pistol." Forbes replied "I will not." Adams again repeated the demand, and Forbes replied "It won't hurt anybody." Adams then peremptorily demanded that Forbes should put up the pistol, saying at the same time "or you or I die right here." At the same instant Forbes' pistol went off. Adams drew a small deringer, fired and hit Forbes over the right eye. Forbes fired again but missed Adams, who thereupon left the saloon. The testimony was conflicting, but the preponderance of evidence showed that Forbes fired the first shot. The jury evidently took this view of it, and brought in a verdict of "not guilty.

Judge Wells of Aurora, who appeared with the District Attorney addressed the jury for the prosecution and made an eloquent address, which was remarkable for the spirit of liberality shown toward the defendant. P. Reddy then addressed the jury for an hour and a half and laid the whole testimony clearly and distinctly before the jury, in one of the best efforts ever heard in the Court House. One of the pleasing features of this trial was the compliment paid by Mr. Reddy to Mr. Geo. M. Gill, now of Bishop Creek, who was associated with Messrs. Reddy & Conklin for the defence. Mr. Gill is a rising practitioner and opened the argument for the defence in a straightforward and able manner.

District Attorney Laird had the closing for the prosecution, making the best argument possible under the peculiar conditions of the case and rulings. An interesting feature of the trial was the rapid proceedings, only attainable through the presence of the short-hand reporter, Mr. Clement Bennett, one of the best Court phonographers on the Coast. The writer is not satisfied with any report of the Williams and Adams cases which the limited space of THE INDEPENDENT permits, and in the foregoing has only outlined the facts as brought out in Court. Our local readers will understand the peculiar situation, and the subject may as well be dismissed one way as another.

GOLD MOUNTAIN.—At the State Line mine work is being pushed rapidly under the direction of Mr. John Farrish. The water works are approaching completion. The original amount of water has been increased from 3¾ to 8 inches. Ten miles of water pipe have been laid, including two miles of collecting pipe. There is still three miles to lay, to complete the line to the mill. The pipe is laid 2½ feet below the surface. The main pipe is 4-inch lap-molded tubing, put together with screw couplings. Sixty men are employed digging the ditch and laying the pipe. The mill is complete. At the mine the main shaft is down 250 feet, and is being pushed by three shifts of men who make three feet in 24 hours. The shaft is double compartment, with man way and cage way. It will be sunk to 300 feet before crosscutting. Nothing is known of the mine below the 80 foot level, as the sinking is being done in the foot wall. There is between 3,000 and 4,000 tons of ore on the dump, and twice as much more above the 80 foot level, to be extracted. Water tanks, store houses, and assay office are now being built, and when the water line is completed, which is the great event now looked for, the State Line Company will employ about 125 men. The mill has 40 stamps and it is proposed to raise and reduce 100 tons of ore every 24 hours.

QUAIL HUNTING. — Mountain and valley quail appear very numerous this season, affording a fine field for lots of good sportsmen. Several parties, in coming to the Court from up and down the valley, brought in big bags of this delicate game. A friendly dispute as to proficiency in shooting on the wing arose between Bill Gill, Harry Burt and Dr. Middleton, and to test the matter went into the field at Big Pine last Wednesday. Burt scored 61 birds, Gill 45 and the Doctor 33—for some of which, thanks. Our correspondent says "Big Pine against the world!"

SUICIDE.—At the Indian Queen mine, last Tuesday, John A. Meurer, a German, shot himself through the head and died some five hours afterwards. It is presumed that he shot himself with suicidal intent, though we have no particulars and no word has yet been found in his writing that would go to show it. He has been working at the mill for several years, and those who knew him say that he was a good man and know of no possible cause for the rash act.

KEYNOT. — Twelve thousand dollars in gold bullion were cleaned up on Monday last at the Taylor & McEvoy mill in Beveridge; the result of a short run on Keynot ore. Work has been suspended on the mine, pending negotiations for the sale of the property, which it is expected will be consummated within a few days. In the meantime the mill will start up and work between 200 and 300 tons of tailings which have been saved.

AT BISHOP.—An entertainment of first-class literary exercises and music will be given at Bishop Creek December 24, by the new M. E. Church people. The posters and tickets will be out Monday.

METALS, THEIR SOURCE, CHARACTER AND USES.

NO. 2—ANTIMONY.

The only useful ore of this metal is its sulphide, or gray antimony. It is of a metallic lustre, of a gray color, and forms a gray powder. Its composition is 72 antimony, and 58 sulphur. This ore melts easily, and gives off white fumes, with a strong sulphur odor. Stibinite, as it is called in mineralogy, is found in veins and masses, and also with ores of silver, lead, zinc, and iron. Stibinite is extremely fusible; the ore is reduced by simple smelting, and the crude antimony of commerce is obtained, from which pure antimony, and its pharmaceutical preparations are made. Many of the silver-lead smelting ores of the Pacific coast contains antimony, and some of them as high as 15 or 20 per cent. A portion of this is volatilized in smelting; the balance goes into the lead bullion, and is lost in refining the lead. Antimony is very brittle. It may be pulverized in a mortar. It is silver white and with a brilliant lustre. It melts at about 800 degrees, or at a dull red heat. Antimony is easily distinguished from other metals particularly in its tendency to crystallize. When the metal is melted in a pot, and suffered to cool on its surface, then the crust broken, and the interior liquid metal poured out, a mass of beautiful crystals remain in the pot. Antimony in its pure condition is not in use, but alloyed with other metals it is much employed. The alloys of antimony are of great use in the arts. Of these, type metal, an alloy of lead and antimony, is the most important. Its preparations are also used in medicine. The present market value of antimony is 14 cents per pound.

The State Mining Bureau.

We make the following extracts from a circular issued by the Mining Bureau:

"Ores are frequently sent to the Bureau to be assayed for gold, silver, lead, copper, tin, etc. The Bureau does not make commercial assays, for the reason that such a course would interfere with the business of the assayers."

"While the Mining Bureau cannot agree to furnish assays, it will determine minerals, and will make analyses of any new mineral discovery, the publication of which will be of interest to the citizens of the State generally."

"All iron ores, mineral waters, building stones, marbles, limestones, coal, coal oil, asphaltums and other useful minerals, will be analysed or examined and the results published."

"All information given by the Bureau, and all work done, will be free."

"The State Mining Bureau does not take any interest in mining property, in the sense of negotiating sales or furnishing capital."

"The Mining Bureau does not deal in mining stocks, nor will it give any quotations or advice as to their purchase or sale, but will at all times give such information as it may possess concerning the mines themselves."

Questions and Answers.

BIG PINE, Dec. 12.

Who is President of the United States? Guiteau.

What is a preacher? [Consult the Bishop Creek Times.]

What is whisky? That which makes a man steal his own blankets.

Next boy—Who advertises about Big Pine gas? Preacher Reynolds.

What are the chief productions of Wrangel Land? Ice.

What town furnishes the most jurymen? Bishop Creek.

What is an advertiser? A wise man.

Next boy—How is the world moved at present? By "cranks."

What is Geography? A description of the world by a man who never saw it.

How do we know that a fly likes raspberry jam? Because he "stays with it."

That will do for to-day. You have had a very short lesson, but it was well learned. Next time take the next column. One—two—three.

WADE.

JOHN MAGUIRE.—Elsewhere will be seen the announcement of Mr. John Maguire, to appear in his celebrated character acting, at this place on next Wednesday evening. Admirers of legitimate acting, old-time theater goers and all, will sincerely regret that the town has no place suitable for an audience, since the court room can not be had, but he will do the best possible at some place. We regard his impersonations as matchless, certainly not excelled by any artist now traveling. In a friendly note John says: "Once again I intend putting in an appearance at your hospitable town. I have a very lively remembrance of my cordial reception at Independence nearly four years ago, and look forward with very great pleasure in renewing the acquaintance and friendships I formed then with many of your people. I am sure you will be glad to know that my success has been beyond my expectations since then."

MINING DIRECTORY.—We commend, especially to our Eastern readers, a careful perusal of the advertisement of the Pacific Mining Agency (incorporated), presented in another column. The officials are well known throughout this mining section, and of the very highest standing as regards knowledge of mining, legal intelligence and thorough honesty. A crowd of matter this issue prevents THE INDEPENDENT from giving what it proposes to soon—i. e., a full statement of the incorporators' ideas, objects and plans concerning the proper development of mining properties.

THEATRICAL. — Mrs. Sara Stevens Heenan and her volunteer company are announced to give three entertainments at Bishop Creek during the holiday week.

SIX HUNDRED.—This issue rounds out the six hundredth regular weekly publication of THE INYO INDEPENDENT.

POLETA.—Superintendent W. A. Irwin came down from Bodie last Wednesday, and after visiting the mine he informed a Times reporter that they were making good progress in the tunnel, and that if the rock in the face did not continue too hard they would make the connection with the main incline by the first of next month. He says the ledge that was cut a week or two ago looks very well and that a drift will soon be run on it to ascertain its extent. In the Spring a large force of men will be put to work taking out ore and developing the mine.—Bishop Creek Times.

THE Reagan Interstate Commerce bill is the only measure which can put an end to such iniquitous bargains as that entered into by the sugar monopoly and the Central and Southern Pacific railroads, by which the latter monopoly makes it impossible to bring sugar into California so as to compete with that of the San Francisco refineries. Let the people who are interested in seeing such thieving arrangements put an end to firmly demand the passage of the Reagan bill. It is the only thing that can help them. — S. F, Chronicle.

THERE is more whisky drank in Carson in twenty-four hours than in any town of its size in the world.—Tribune. Yes? You ought to see Bodie on pay days. — Free Press. Bodie be blanked! Candelaria is the boss place for the consumption of genuine whisky all the time.—True Fissure.

You get out! Benton beats the world.

IN a few days Paul W. Bennett will leave for the East on a pleasure trip. In making the tour he will visit New York, Washington and other large cities, as well as Nova Scotia, where his aged father resides. Mr. Bennett has been on this coast many years, and this season of recreation will be full of pleasure.—Bodie Free Press.

WILL some of our exchanges inform us where the Bee Journal is published. —Bishop Creek Times.

Your query is referred to our Inyo scientific bee-keeper, Mr. Wm. Muth-Rasmussen.

W. W. BARNES announces that on the 19th instant he will issue the first number of a daily newspaper in Bodie. The new paper will be an evening one and is to be called the Evening Herald.

SENATOR MILLER has introduced his bill to make the Tulare big tree grove a public park.

SHORT LESSON FOR BORES.—He sat down in half a seat, the other half of which was occupied by a pleasant-faced young lady. His first question was: Pardon me, Miss; but is your name James? I have a cousin of that name, whom you greatly resemble. "No, sir," was the reply, "My name is not James. But pardon me, is your name Zinc or Copper?" "Zinc or Copper? No ma'am," said the astonished man. "What led you to suppose I had such names?" "Excuse me," was the quiet reply; "but I thought you must be a first cousin to brass foundry." The man fell over two seats and kicked a birdcage half way down the car, in his haste to get into the smoker, while the young lady smiled a gentle smile behind her handkerchief. It was a proof of the old adage that a witty answer turneth away bores.

LEGAL.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Omie L. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40 with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40 100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.

THOMAS PARKER.

Justice of the Peace of said Township.

REDDY & CONKLIN, Attorneys for Plaintiff.

Some Great Engineering Projects.

The shortening of commercial routes by means of ship railways and ship canals seems to be the great ambition of the engineers of to-day.

In addition to De Lesseps Ship Canal at Panama, the Eads Ship Railway at Tehuantepec, the Florida Ship Canal, the Chesapeake and Delaware Ship Canal, the Cape Cod Canal, and others in the interior of this country, there are several other important projects of like nature under way or in prospect in various parts of the world. The old project of connecting the Bay of Fundy and Baie Verte, on the Gulf of St. Lawrence, across the Isthmus of Chignecto, has lately taken new form. It is now proposed to make the connection by a ship railway eighteen miles long, thus making a short cut for navigation between the United States and the ports on the St. Lawrence Gulf and River, and saving the long and dangerous voyage around Nova Scotia.

The projector of the ship railway, Mr. H. G. C. Ketchum, writes us that the plan grew out of a desire to save lockage and a deep channel in the design of the Baie Vertes Canal. His first plan was to lift vessels by hydraulic power on pontoons and then float them through the canal. The idea then occurred that they might be lifted to the surface of the ground and hauled across the neck of land on rails. The road may be level and perfectly straight from end to end. The plan has been submitted to the Dominion Government and is favorably entertained. Mr. Ketchum has issued an interesting pamphlet relative to the project, which may be considered at greater length elsewhere.

Across the ocean the construction of the tunnel under the British Channel, connecting England with the Continent, is being prosecuted with an energy indicative of ultimate success, and thus far no obstacles have been encountered to make the undertaking a difficult or exceptionally hazardous one.

In France the connection with the Atlantic with the Mediterranean by a ship canal, to save the long and stormy voyage around the Spanish Peninsula, is under serious consideration, and the Council-General of the Seine have just adopted a resolution approving of the project.

The ship canal across the Isthmus of Corinth, in Greece, to shorten the route to Constantinople and the ports of the Black Sea, has, we believe, been definitely determined upon.

In the far East a bolder and more important project is in contemplation, with a view to shortening the commercial route to China and Japan by six hundred miles or more. At the head of the Malay Peninsula, is the Isthmus of Kraw, connecting Upper with Lower Siam; and by the cutting of a ship canal at this point, about thirty miles in length, the need of sailing around the peninsula might be avoided. At Kraw, the Malayan Peninsula, which stretches southward for five hundred miles to Singapore, is at its narrowest breadth, aad the distance across from the side of the Indian Ocean to that of the China Seas is further decreased by the existence of natural waterways for some distance inland from both shores. From side to side it is no more than fifty miles, and the Pakchan River, on the western coast, and the Htassay on the eastern, afford the ready means of further reducing it. The distance, therefore, over which it would be necessary to cut canal would probably not exceed thirty miles. The neighboring districts are known to be fertile and to contain great mineral wealth. A tin mining company has been established for more than ten years at Malewon, on the Pakchan, and gold has been found in the neighboring stream of the Lenya. So far as known the engineering difficulties are not of a stupendous character, and political drawbacks and considerations fortunately do not exist.

The French appear to have taken the lead in proposing this important commercial short-cut, and, if the opinion of the London Times is well founded, the Government of British India will not decline to actively participate in its execution.—Scientific American.

Six Hundred Doctors Assembled to Witness a Wonderful Operation.

George O. Starr sent 2312 invitations to physicians in this city and hereabouts to attend an interesting clinic by Dr. Lynn of London, at a certain number of Broadway. Some 600 doctors responded, many of them accompanied by ladies. They were ushered between the lines of living curiosities which Mr. Bunnell had collected, and into the auditorium, where Dr. Lynn said he should be happy to decapitate and otherwise dismember one or more of them, if any felt like submitting to the operation.

None responding, he said he would take a stage carpenter for his subject, and invited two of the doctors to assist him. After propounding to them an intricate question in biology, asking them if the solution was clear in their minds, and being answered by the shaking of heads, he confessed that neither was it clear in his mind, and the carpenter, who was to be his subject, was strapped against a board at the rear of the stage, a curtain being first drawn in front of him to conceal the painful operation. Then the curtain being withdrawn, Dr. Lynn then seized a heavy pruning knife, and with a neat twirl removed the left arm of the figure strapped to the board. The left leg was then sacrificed. Then a black cloth was thrown over the head, which was undoubtedly that of the stage carpenter, and when the cloth was removed the figure was headless. The Doctor offered this part of the man to any lady in the hall who would hold it while the dissection proceeded, but none volunteered. The figure pointed in mute appeal with its right hand to the place where the head ought to be, and the Doctor kindly restored the head, which smiled with gratification. The other members of the body were thrown at the stage carpenter's feet — or, more properly at his foot—and he was told to put himself together while the curtain was drawn for half a minute. At the expiration of that time he walked forth, to all appearances whole, though Dr. Lynn told the lookers on that they must not trust wholly to appearances.

At any rate, what had been done had been accomplished without loss of blood, and the assembled doctors acknowledged that this was more than they could themselves hope for in performing the amputation of a man's head, one arm and one leg. — New York Sun.

HOW TO DETECT ADULTERATED COFFEE.—Food and Health gives the following method of detecting adulterated coffee: Take a little of the coffee and press it between the thumb and fingers, or give it a squeeze in the paper in which it is bought; if genuine, it will not form a coherent mass, as coffee grains are hard and do not readily adhere to each other; but if the grains stick to each other and form a sort of "cake," we may be pretty sure of adulteration in the shape of chiccory for the grains of chiccory are softer and more open, and adhere without difficulty when squeezed. Again, if we place a few grains in a saucer and moisten them with a little cold water, chiccory will very soon become soft like breadcrumbs, while coffee will take a long time to soften. A third test: Take a wineglass or tumbler of water, and gently drop a pinch of the ground coffee on the surface of the water without stirring or agitating; genuine coffee will float for some time, while chiccory or any other soft root will soon sink; and chiccory and caramel will cause a yellowish or browning color to diffuse rapidly through the water, while pure coffee will give no sensible tint under such circumstances for a considerable length of time.

SCIENCE IN AGRICULTURE.—The last 20 years have witnessed a great change in the relations between science and agriculture. The great improvements in cultivation and farm management are the results of sound reasoning combined with arithmetical calculation, in regard to work on the farm, which rapidly is taking the place of the old-time "rule of thumb" so closely adhered to by the unprogressive. In Germany, between 100 and 200 chemists and physiologists are employed in not far from 90 experiment stations and other institutions in studying the perplexing problems of farm science. In every European country, excepting Turkey and Portugal, this work is said to be going on. Neither is America behind the times. There are various agricultural colleges in the United States and Canada, which devote especial attention to these inquiries, whose work is supplemented ably by work in medical colleges and by private investigation.

MR. A. C. BERANECK of Englewood, N. J., has recently patented an improved apparatus for registering votes. The machinery of the apparatus is connected to the door of the apartment, and each opening sets the machiniry so that a pressure of the knob or key will register one vote. The invention is ingenious and simple. Good thing, if some more ingenious apparatus is not invented to undo it.

THE enormous growth of railroad building movements in America is best shown by a published estimate stating that about 20,000 miles of railroad will be constructed during the ensuing year. The railroad has indeed become the primary agent of American civilization, and seems destined eventually to be applied to all the purposes of common roadways and public highways.

Train up a child in the way you should have gone yourself.

THERE are only two or three people now living who can successfully shake hands. There is a good deal of handshaking done through the country, especially at this season of the year, but only a very small per cent of the shakers and shakees know how to do it so as to get the entire amount of exhilaration out of it. Some grab the hand of an adversary in a quick, nervous manner that scares the victim nearly to death while others slide the cold and clammy paw at you so that you feel the same as when you drop a cold raw oyster with vinegar on it down your back. If you are shaking hands with a lady incline the head forward with a soft and graceful yet timid movement, like a boy climbing a barbed wire fence with a fifty-pound watermelon. Look gently in her eyes with a kind of pleading smile, beam on her features a bright and winsome beam, say something you have heard someone else say on similar occasions and in the meantime shake her hand in a subdued yet vigorous way, not as though you were trying to make a mash by pulverizing her fingers nor yet in too conservative a manner, allowing her hand to fall with a sickening thud when you let go. Care should be taken not to hang onto the hand more than half an hour in public, as bystanders might make remarks. This is considered quite outre and mandamus.—Boomerang.

MYRA CLARK GAINES, who claims the best part of New Orleans has "bobbed up serenely" at Washington to insist upon her rights before Congress and the Supreme Court. Mrs. Gaines deserves to be called the Great American Litigant. For forty-six years, now, in the face of difficulties that would seem insuperable to the vast majority of men, this plucky lady has fought for what she considers her own, with an energy and persistence almost unexampled. She has triumphed, too, so far as the declaration of her rights by the Supreme Court is concerned, but she has not secured possession of the property awarded to her. Her history affords an instructive lesson regarding the value of courage and perseverance in the accomplishment of any task.

GREAT bodies do not move without powerful impulse. The animus of the English, as reflected in the London journals, in regard to the Chilean sitution, is explained. An English firm has the exclusive monopoly of the nitre deposits wrested by Chili from Peru in the recent war.

"Always pay as you go," said an old man to his nephew. "But, uncle suppose I have nothing to pay with?" "Then don't go."

MERRY CHRISTMAS!

GLORY TO GOD IN THE HIGHEST, AND ON EARTH PEACE, GOOD WILL TOWARD MEN.—St. Luke, ii-14.

THE "JEANNETTE."

Intelligence has been received that two boatloads of the Jeannettes' crew had arrived at the mouth of the Lena river, in Siberia, and that the vessel was crushed in the ice in latitude 77 deg., longitude 157 deg. From the position in which the Jeannette is reported to have been crushed, it is probable that she was carried westward by the currents of the Arctic, and that her attempt to reach a high northern latitude were as fruitless as those of other vessels on the same mission. The telegram to the Secretary of State from the Charge d'Affaires at St. Petersburg states that the crew, after the closing in of the ice, embarked on three boats. These were separated by wind and fog. One of them reached the mouth of the Lena on the 19th of September. This boat was commanded by Chief Engineer Melville, and contained eleven men. Subsequently a second boat, containing Capt. De Long and Dr. Ambler and ten men, arrived at the Lena in a pitiable condition. The third boat has not been heard from. Assistance was promptly sent to De Long and his companions in Siberia, and their return to their homes in the United States may be expected at a not very remote day.

REPRESENTATIVE BERRY has introduced a bill to restrict Chinese immigration, the main features of which are as follows: It fully suspends and prohibits from and after its passage the immigration of Chinese laborers of every class and description, and provides that no Chinese subjects shall be permitted to enter the jurisdiction of the United States other than such as may be here at the time of the bill's passage and the following: Diplomatic officers proper, students coming for educational purposes, merchants, physicians and tourists with their body or household servants, all of whom must be provided with certificates from the Chinese Government in Chinese and English, fully describing them and showing that they have obtained permission of the Chinese Government, approved by the United States Consul at the port of departure. The bill agrees substantially with other bills heretofore introduced by Miller and Page.

THERE is intense excitement in Europe regarding the activity manifested by France in increasing her armament. France has ordered 900 new cannon of Scottish-American armories for the French Navy and other purposes. The French Government have requested Hotchkiss to double the capacity of his works at St. Denis. There are making several new cannon at Madgeburg. The French Government are building several new ironclads. Heavy special appportionments for ordnance have just passed the French Chamber.

THE inventor of the Keely motor is in trouble. He recently called upon his backers for money, but instead of complying as heretofore, they brought suit to compel him to explain his proceedings, apply for patents and turn over his machines. The inventor has already received $150,000 from the stockholders, but the latter know nothing of the plans of Mr. Keely, no patents having been applied for, and it is now suspected that the man is a fraud.

THE authorities predict that ex-Senator Sargent will, shortly after the holiday recess, be appointed to a place in the Cabinet, and strong indications point to the Secrtaryship of the Interior as the position to which President Arthur intends to assign him. The President's choice for the Navy Department now seems to lie between Gen. E. F. Beal and ex-Senator Boutwell, with the chances at present favoring the former, whose appointment is strongly urged by Gen. Grant.

THE scheme of Senator Blair, of New Hampshire, giving $100,000,000 for the "establishment and temporary support of common schools in the United States," reminds the New York Sun of the bill introduced into Congress many years ago by Blair when a member of the House, proposing to temper the waters of the Hudson's Bay with those of the Gulf stream.

THE Bristol Times, published at Bristol, Lincoln county, Nevada, puts in an appearance among journalistic ventures. It is lively, of course, since our old Mark Brannon is the controlling spirit of the concern. The standing editorial and local headings is "Whisky." Quite appropriate, and a fact.

INTERESTING TESTIMONY.

At Sacramento, last week, in the Gold Run mining case, being tried in the Superior Court, involving the whole "slickens" question, Hamilton Smith, President of the Miners' Association, and Superintendent of the North Bloomfield hydraulic mine, testified that at least $160,000,000 are invested in mining property in this State, $100,000,000 of which is invested in hydraulic mines. We quote: "I suppose that 99-100ths of the gold of the world has been taken out by the hydraulic process. The product of gold in California has varied. It was the least in 1877, when it was $15,237,729. It has been largest the past year. It ranges from fifteen and a quarter to twenty millions a year. It would be impossible to work these hydraalic mines by any other process than the one used at present. I know of only two or three gravel deposits that could be worked with any profit by drifting. If the Gold Run Mining Company is allowed to continue the working of this mine it will take them thirty-seven years to exhaust it. In the Bloomfield and Milton mine the expenditure for capital account has been $4,079,321; Eureka Lake Company has expended about $2,500,000; the Gold Run Company, $433,000, exclusive of interest; the Bloomfield and Milton take out annually from $700,000 to $900,000; I can tell within five or ten per cent of the amount of gold that remains in the channel of ground between the Middle and South Forks of the Yuba; there is very much more gold remaining in those channels than has been taken out; very near all the money invested in mining property in this State is California capital; the only foreign capital—and by foreign capital I mean capital from outside the United States—invested in our mines is in the following gravel mines: Bonanza, in Sierra county; Blue Tent, in Nevada county; Bird's Eye Creek, in Nevada county; and the Gold Run mine, limited, in Placer county; think there are only four gravel mines worked which are worked by parties outside of the United States, or by foreign capitalists; in quartz mines they have the Sierra Buttes, Plumas, Eureka, Placerville and one or two other small mines; there are a great many hundred gravel mines in this State; the people of the following counties depend almost entirely upon the mining industry: Inyo, Mono, Alpine, Mariposa, Tuolumne, Calaveras, El Dorado, Placer, Nevada, Plumas, Sierra, Trinity, Shasta, Del Norte and Siskyou, about one-fourth of all Butte and one third of Yuba; there is also extensive mining in Stanislaus; I have been in nearly all the counties I have mentioned, and know that in most of them the population depends entirely upon the mining industry." Further on, Mr. Smith said point blank that "in Inyo county there is not a soul that does not depend upon mining for subsistence."

Evidently, the President of the Miner's Association did not fully consider his words, or else he is ignorant of the facts. Undoubtedly much of the material prosperity of this county depends upon the mineral resources; when the mines are producing bullion the most the farms pay the best. But even the imperfect statistics of the County Assessor for 1880 present facts which will show that a great many people—vastly more than the country is now populated with—can "subsist" on the products of the soil and stock interests. The amount of land enclosed in 1880 was 16,251 acres, of which 7,100 were cultivated. Out of this 1,020 acres of wheat produced 28,714 bushels; 1,235½ acres of barley produced 24,833 bushels; oats 989½ acres, 29,922 bushels; corn 1581 acres, 33,500 bushels; beans 25½ acres, 900 bushels; potatoes 102¼ acres, 363 tons. An acre of onions produced 200 bushels. There were 4,299 acres of hay land, cutting 7,228 tons. Butter produced, 25,054 pounds; honey, 14,695 pounds. 500 gallons of wine were made and 5,310 gallons of beer. There are 5,331 trees bearing fruit, and 25 acres of vineyard. After all the principal bands of cattle had been sold there still remained in July last 7,357 head of stock, not counting 5,357 sheep and 1,456 hogs. There are three water-power grist mills, running six buhrs. They produced 4,150 barrels of flour and ground 2,933 bushels of corn. There are three water-power saw mills, which cut 400,000 feet of lumber. Eight quartz millls crushed 700 tons of ore. There are five irrigating ditches, aggregating 30 miles in length, which supplied water to 12,370 acres of land.

We presume the foregoing will explain to Mr. Smith why Inyo county is not altogether dependant upon the mining interests. The mines, however, will gain the ascendency when even one tenth of those now known are developed, stimulating all other interests, of course.

AT Sonora, on the 20th, William Minor, the stage robber, was sentenced to twenty-five years imprisonment.

THE proof that the Russian police have thus far failed to root out the Nihilists has just been given in a startling way, by the discovery that a servant in the Emperor's palace has been for several weeks depositing threatening letters in his very sleeping-chamber. It is true that the police have caught her at last, but it is evident that a Nihilist having access to the Emperor's bedroom for weeks together might easily have assassinated him had she desired to do so. As she has warned him that he was to die in a few weeks, he will no doubt feel anything but comfortable, notwithstanding the arrest of his mysterious correspondent, for he will reflect that after all her confederates are still at liberty, and that he does not know whether they are not members of his household. The recent trials have also shown that the police are not to be trusted, and that the very men who are charged with the care of the Emperor's person may be in league with the assassins. Altogether the Czar's position continues to be as precarious as ever.

AN Eastern newspaper contemporary remarks that it is the tendency of the Presidents and Governors of States to spin out their messages to an inordinate and tedious length. This is one of the principal objections urged against the message of President Arthur. The same journal very truly says: 'A crisp, compact and business-like document of two or three newspaper columns in length would be read by a thousand persons where one exceeding that extent is not read by a dozen, not even in Congress." In this practical age, when the newspaper is the instructor as to current events, the reader, in most instances, has time only to glance at the news, and would rather have it done up in compact style than elaborated, when the subject will permit of its condensation.

THE new Hamilton reduction process, which has been so extensively advertised in the East, has been tried and does not seem to have proved a success. Mr. Hamilton undertook to reduce ores at a cost of $1 per ton, but it now seems doubtful whether he can reduce them at all. These attempts to discover a new, cheap and practical reduction process are all to be commended, for they will lead sooner or later to the invention of the right thing.—Philadelphia Bullion Miner.

The paper quoted above also publishes an extract from the Denver (Col.) Tribune, detailing the experiments made by some fool or other there, where a company "had adopted the Robertson electric process." The way Eastern folk talk about "new processes" for reducing ores to bullion is at least refreshing to practical men on this Coast, as illustrating the fact that the Fool Killer has not got that far on his rounds.

THE Democratic journals on the other side of the Sierra are already discussing the subject of the next Democratic nominee for Congressman for this District. The Mariposa Herald sums up the general expression of the District press of that party by saying that "Mr. Leach, the defeated candidate at both elections, is intensely popular with the young men of the District," and that he "would be the choice of many if the treacherous deserters who defeated him before have exhausted their jealousies." That journal, however, seems to doubt the ability of its party to elect Mr. Leach, but thinks that B. D. Murphy of San Jose, or R. F. Del Valle of Los Angeles could easily be elected.

THE Guiteau trial continues in the same groove, that has characterized it from the beginning. Sensational stories begin to appear about some of the jurors being disqualified, that his brother-in-law knew he intended killing the President before the deed was committed and that Guiteau's letter to Col. Corkhill are in the same hand writing as that of the Morey letters. It will be a good thing when this remarkable trial comes to an end. The miserable wretch has occupied pnblic attention long enough.

As France has no longer any use for her crown jewels, a Committee of the French Chambers has recommended the disposal of such as were not presents from foreign monarchs and have no historical value. The Committee find there are jewels which do not come under these heads worth $2,400,000, which might be sold. The Regent diamond is, however, to be retained.

THE Carson and Colorado Railroad was completed to Bellevillo on the 20th, and when the construction train ran in it was greeted with cheers and the blowing of the mill whistles, and general enthusiasm prevailed. The next point to be reached is Candelaria, some twelve miles southward and this way.

THE proprietor of the Gold Hill News, has leased his paper to an association of printers, who will conduct it on the co-operation plan. Alfred Doten, the former editor, retires from the paper.

THE portrait of Garfield, which is hereafter to be on the five-cent postage tamps, is a striking likeness.

THE Indian Princess Winnemucca, of Nevada, was united in the bonds of matrimony to L. H. Hopkins in the Russ House, San Francisco, last Monday night. Mr. Hopkins was in the United States army, and only arrived in that city from Arizona on the 30th ult. The bridegroom informed the reporter of the Nevada State Journal that as far back as 1879, during the Bannock campaign, he first saw the Princess and was smitten by her charms. Since that time a mutual feeling has inspired them, and the opportunity presenting itself, they resolved never to be separated again. Dr. Beers was the officiating minister. Princess Winnemucca Hopkins and Mr. Hopkins will take their departure for the East at an early date. The Princess Sarah was a good girl. She liked the whites and the whites liked her. She has quite a fancy for Uncle Sam's blue coats. The Virginia Enterprise says: "The Princess Sarah Winnemucca continues to marry. She seems to have a weakness for soldiers. She married another soldier at the Russ House, San Francisco, last Monday night. The Princess Sarah is becoming somewhat aged, but she is still enthusiastic."

IT seems as if the number of those to whom Senator Edmund's remark will apply, viz.: that have "drawn a prize in the lottery of assassination" is not confined to men in the immediate line of succession. Congress is asked to appropriate $100,000 to cover the ordinary expenses of President Garfield's illness. Of this sum $75,000 is expected to go to three physicians, Doctors Bliss, Agnew and Hamilton. With well assumed gravity Bliss declined to take "a dollar" if the money should have to come from the widow of the late President — knowing well meanwhile and having the fullest semi-official assurance that the expenses would be paid by a Congressional appropriation. There is a strong odor of cundurango about this display of magnanimity. If this service should be valued in proportion to the quantity of professional intelligence manifested in the treatment of the patient as evidenced by the post-mortem examination, the sum of one thousand dollars divided among the whole corps would be a generous compensation with, perhaps, an extra allowance to Dr. Bliss for clerical labor in making out and signing bulletins.

NEARLY $100,000,000 of silver dollars have been coined under the present law, of which about $40,000,000 are in actual circulation. This circumstance shows that the silver dollar is a favorite with the people, and were it not for the circulation of small bank notes, no trouble would arise from the coinage of silver dollars for several years to come. Congress ought, by law, to prohibit the circulation of notes for less than ten dollars, when a large amount of silver dollars would take their place. The smallest denomination of Bank of England notes is five pounds sterling, nearly twenty-five dollars, and the smallest by the Bank of France is now fifty francs, nearly ten dollars.

THE New York Herald has the following: "Albuquerque, New Mexico, has a greatly respected Justice of the Peace. An illustration of his method of justice is commended to Justices in other far West towns. He said to a Mexican: 'Ye are charged with stealing canned goods, fwhat have ye to say?' The Mexican replied: 'Quien sabe.' 'Well,' said the Judge, 'I'll thrust the harpoon of Justice into yez, and send yez up for ninety days, till yez maybe can sabe. Nixt!'"

SENATOR FARLEY has introduced a bill granting to the State of California five per cent. of the net proceeds of all sales which have been or may be made of public lands at California, the money to be dedicated to the support of public or common schools. As California is the only public land State that has not received anything from the sale of public lands, as a simple matter of justice, his bill should be passed without opposition.

IT has leaked out that the Hamilton process, about which so much has been said and which was expected to revolutionize the amalgamation of gold and silver ores, has been tried in New York and did not accomplish what was expected of it. It was claimed that ores could be reduced by it at one dollar per ton, but the experiment is said to have proved that it could not reduce ores at any price.

THE California Southern Railroad will be completed to a point at or near Colton, where it will make connection with the Southern Pacific Railroad, about the first of March next. This will give the people of San Diego all-rail connection with the East. Forty-two miles of the road are constructed, and work is going on rapidly.

ALTHOUGH the list is not yet fully completed in all its details, it is practically certain that Congressman Page will be made Chairman of the Committee on Commerce, and that Pacheco will become Chairman of the Committee on Private Land Claims.

Metallurgical Centers.

In previous numbers the Mining and Scientific Press has advocated the establishment of metallurgical centers where ores which we term rebellious could be worked in quantity with the advantage of being able to mix them with freer ores. Of course, in such cases it would be necessary to have managers with special knowledge and of great experience in the treatment of ores, and everything would have to be on a large scale.

Older countries have these facilities, and, now that our means of transportation are rapidly increasing there is no reason that we should not also have them here. It only needs men of capital to take hold of it to assist very greatly in the development of our mining resources and at the same time to make money for themselves.

In Australia efforts are being made for the formation of such centers. A Board appointed at Victoria, N. S. W., to report on the methods of treating pyrites, and pyritous vein stuffs, in discussing the subject, say in their report: "We are fully of the opinion that the establishment of large central works for the treatment of pyrite on the most thorough and approved system would be a very great advantage in every respect. Such works would give rise to many new industries, besides tending to the production of large quantities of gold. It would be necessary to establish works on situations easily accessible to railroad communications from the Gold Fields, where the supply of raw pyrites could be regularly and easily obtained. There would be no objection to the occupation by such establishments of advantageous sites on the ground of injury to public health, as the fumes given off in the process of roasting pyrites would be condensed for the purpose of securing the sulphur and arsenic. "We said that more than 72,000 tons of pyrites and pyritous ores are treated in Victoria every year, and the Board says "tens of thousands of pounds are annually lost to the colony by the non-existence of such establishments as are advocated."

The conditions here are the same, and the necessities the same. With a sure market for all classes of ores here, many mines would be worked on this coast which are now idle. Men who cannot afford to run metallurgical works in connection with their mines if their ore could be sold, or could be sent to reliable works for beneficiation.—S. F. Mining Press.

The idea that the sooner the mountains are exhausted of their minerals the better, is erroneous. Up in these foothills mining and farming—especially fruit raising—go together. Cabbage grew on Allison Ranch while over $6,000,000 in gold was being taken out. Orchards flourish there, and will while more millions of gold will be taken out from under the roots of the trees. Fruit trees flourish above and over the Eureka ledge on which the Idaho mine is now working. The finest of apples are raised on top of the ground where runs the Derbec gravel lead. This foothill country may be said to have its bread buttered on both sides—fruits above and gold below. And gold and its production gives the stimulus to the commerce, trade and prosperity of the world. It would do the foothills no good to stop gold mining, and no such idea will be entertained here for centuries yet to come. With mining going on and giving us the best home market, we foothillers can still have orchards, vineyards and contentment.—Grass Valley Tidings.

THE yarn that Thomas Nast lost $40,000 in a Colorado mine is being industriously circulated by unreliable newspapers all over the country. Mr. Nast was in Colorado several weeks ago on a pleasure trip. He lost no money in any mining venture here. What money he lost, if any, was in poker, the national bird of the untrammeled West. Mr. Nast is a tolerably fly poker player himself, but he doesn't carry enough cold steel about his person to make him sure to win. — Denver Tribune.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 24.....1881

AN INDIAN KILLED.—At the Indian rancheria to the west of Shepherd's ranch, on George's Creek, an Indian known as "Saw Mill Jim" received his everlasting quietus at the hands of a squaw named Sallie. John Shepherd, who is a general major domo amongst the George's Creek tribe, has looked the matter up and passed judgment to the effect that it was all through a drunken row and that the squaw was justifiable, generally speaking. "Jim," the deceased aborigine, has been working some land for the Shepherd's, and since leaving the Black Rock saw mill had come to be considered the best Indian farmer in the country, though by others he was known to be a bad character, having at Fish Springs engaged in the murder of an Indian himself some years ago. It appears that he was about killing Julia, his wife, when Sallie interfered with a club, with results fatal to the said "Saw Mill Jim."

THE RACE.—The names of horses entered in the Bishop Creek race were: Brown Abby, Black Harry, Brown Frank and Black Jack. In the pool-selling Brown Frank led, Brown Abby selling second. In the choice for positions Brown Frank got the inside track, Black Jack second, Brown Abby third and Black Harry on the outside. About $350 worth of pools were sold, bids not being lively. After several false starts the horses started; the start was very poor, Brown Frank and Black Harry being about 15 feet ahead of the second pair, Brown Abby and Black Jack. Brown Abby immediately caught up, took the lead and kept it to the end, winning by at least twenty yards clear daylight, though the Judges said she won by seven and a half feet. The time reported was 51¼ seconds, half mile.

THE KEYNOT.—From points culled from private letters it may be safely stated that the Keynot mining transfer will shortly be accomplished. The principal parties interested are in San Francisco, and the only hitch seems to be in regard to the exact number of feet held in the mines by the Mexicans severally, which difficulty will doubtless be straightened out. Prot. Cox and Peter Taylor are reported to be doing good work for the mining interests of this county, especially in calling the attention of the builders of the C. & C. Railroad to the necessity of pushing the railroad forward.

INSANE. — On Wednesday last, on complaint of Mrs. M. Lewis, contractor for the care of the county's indigent sick, Henry Ashley was examined before the Superior Judge, and committed to the Stockton Asylum for the insane. Drs. Colleau and George heard the evidence of Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Boyd, the witnesses, and certified to the commitment. It appears Ashley's hallucination is on mining matters, and, as shown, general imbecility and partial paralysis resulting from intemperance and syphilis.

REPORT.—Following is the report of Big Pine school for the school month beginning November 21 and ending December 16, 1881: No. enrolled during month, 49; average No. belonging, 38; average daily attendance, 37; percentage of attendance, 96. The pupils are respectful, and their parents give encouragement. I desire also to express my thanks to the Trustees, for their prompt attention to the wants of the school. CRITTENDEN HAMPTON, Teacher.

LOCATED.—Hon. Jos. Wasson writes that he is now "comfortably located" at 112 West 28th street, New York City, where he purposes to remain until he knows the result of his Mexican mission. In his letters Joe is severe on San Franciso, it having lost prestige as a mining center; rather praises the enterprise of the average New Yorker, and is especially confident of enlisting all the capital required to open out his Mexican bonanzas should it become necessary for him to go to London.

MAGUIRE. — The small number of people who attended the entertainment of the veteran artist John Maguire, the other night, went away dissatisfied—because he wonldn't stay another night, when the entire population would have turned out to see him and enjoy his inimitable performance. He is the greatest one-man show in America.

AT WORK.—Supt. A. Wingard arrived from San Francisco last week, and has put a force of men at work on the Green Monster mine, across the river from this place. It is not merely "assessment work," as the mine was patented some years ago, and some important developments may be looked for.

FIRE.—About 2 o'clock in the afternoon of the 20th, the house belonging to Chris. Eisele, Bishop Creek, was destroyed by fire, including all its contents. Loss, about $1,200. We have no particulars as to the cause, further than "it is supposed that the stove fell down."

NEW YEAR BALL.—Lone Piners are preparing for a grand ball and supper at the Whitney House, on next Thursday evening. It will doubtless be a highly successful affair. Consult the advertisement elsewhere for particulars.

HOLIDAY GOODS.—Though times are dull, all the stores present such a show of holiday goods as will satisfy the demands of all. The displays at Harris & Rhine's, Hardy's, Rothchilds & Co.'s and L. Wood's are all fine.

GOOD.—The old Independence band —Geo. M. Gill, Wm. F. Matlack and W. W. Huff — has very kindly consented to play for the ball at the Court House next Tuesday evening. The O. R. V. Council of P. P. P. is in luck.

Foot Pads Abroad.

At the usual hour, and about the same old place just this side the town of Bishop, the south bound stage was robbed of the express box in regular road agent fashion. On demand the driver promptly stopped, while the muscular seeker after wealth plied an axe and appropriated the contents. On this occasion, last Tuesday morning, the highwayman seems to have had his trouble for nothing; at least, he left the way-bill, pouch and letters with the broken box on the road, and the express agents state that there was no money in it. Yesterday morning, however, near the same place, a haul was made and the sum of $250 realized. The large sum of tax-money being sent from Bishop did not happen to be aboard, but came through to-day safe enough. Sam Crossen was driving, accompanied by Johnny Williams and another passenger. Sam. Newland, employed on the road, had come from Fish Slough, and while the mail was being changed at Bishop started ahead on foot, and was in position to hear the robber's demand and the breaking out of the box. He says that his presence there must have been unknown to the highwayman, and that he could have remained and followed him up. But he didn't, being unarmed and having such business here that he got on the stage again and came through. Mr. Newland gave the alarm at Watson's, though on the previous occasion the driver merely made incidental mention of the fact that he had "lost the box." A little energetic work by some of Wells Fargo & Co's. detectives would be in order around Bishop Creek.

WAUCOBA.—Mr. W. L. Fuller received orders on Monday last to take a force of men and commence active operations at once upon the Waucoba District series of mines, belonging to the Waucoba Mining Company of New York, of which Col. Hewston, of the Selby Reduction Works of San Francisco, is President. Mr. Fuller has been here some time awaiting the above order, which for some reason has been held back longer than he expected. The company is a strong one, and there is good reason to expect that the work now begun mainly for assessment purposes will be continued right along to a perfect development of the property, which embraces a number of as promising mines as there is in the county, besides a water-right of great value.

WATER TURNED ON.—The new water pipes at Lone Pine were, on Thursday, tested and the water run into town through the pipes for the first time. Everything is reported to have worked satisfactorily, much to the credit oi County Surveyor Seeley's engineering. The only real discouragement about it was when Charley Begole undertook to shut the outpour off with a wooden plug. He got raised about fifteen feet in the air, and was picked up a much wetter and perhaps wiser man.

GONE BELOW.—Supt. J. H. Holt, of the Rex Montis, has gone to San Francisco on business pertaining to the Rex Montis mill and series of mines, and the Independence tunnel.

RUNNING.—The Modock furnaces at Lookout are in active operation, under the management of Supt. Thomas, putting out bullion worth from $600 to $700 per ton.

NOT VERY BAD.—At an examination held as to the sanity of a certain person not long since, the question was asked: "Does he have rational intervals?" Prompt was the reply of the witness: "Yes, sir, but not very bad."

STATED MEETING. — The Masonic Lodge will hold a stated meeting next Saturday night.

THE Arcata Ledger says: We have spoken from time to time during the Summer and Fall of the blight in potatoes and the partial failure of the crop. Digging has now advanced far enough for us to tell pretty nearly what the crop will amount to. The increase is less than usual, and the crop of reds about one-fourth of the average yield, when no blight or frost occurs. The peachblows blighted but little, and are turning out tolerably well. Seventy sacks to the acre is about the largest turn out we have heard for reds, while from fifteen to twenty-five sacks is not uncommon, and some entire fields will not be harvested at all.

THE Salt Lake Tribune says, and says rightly, that "the locomotive is the 'modern evangel' of civilization and of commerce. Despite the avarice and cruelty of its masters, it has been and is a beneficent Genii to the people of this country. Its headlight has given a glory to the wilderness, its scream has hushed the wild cries of the mountain fastnesses, the wild man and the wild beast together retire before it, and along its track there are kindled the fires of a new civilization."

REPORTS up to last Saturday give assurance that the Veteran's Home movement will be a marked success. It is now believed that within the next three months the subscriptions will aggregate enough to erect a splendid home, and that the veteran soldier will have a comfortable place to rest himself on his final journey toward the grave.

THE progress made on the Cortez, Centennial, Eva Con., Thanksgiving and the various other mines that are being developed in our camp, is very encouraging, and the indications demonstrate the fact that Aurora must inevitably come to the front as a bullion-producing camp.—Aurora Herald.

WESTERN UNION wires are 352,171 miles long, and Dr. Green, President of the company, says the net earnings will be more than six per cent on $100,000,000. That means at least 18 per cent. on the cost of the lines.

The Yosemite Railroad.

The Mariposa Herald has been interviewing L. F. Warner, chief of a corps of civil engineers now making a reconnoissance to obtain a general idea of the topography of the country from the lower foothills of the western slope up to Yosemite. Mr. Warner informed the reporter that himself and corps of assistants were there in the interest of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, which company designs building, at as early a day as possible, a branch railroad from some point on the valley road, probably near Merced, through to Yosemite and possibly to Mono; that a construction company under the name of the "Modesto, Mariposa and Mono Company" had already been organized to build the road, and that Jay Gould has abandoned the project of building a road from Minturn across to Utah and has withdrawn his surveyors.

Jay Gould's formidable ("Summer") display of engineer corps all along the line from Frisco, Utah, to Deadman's Pass of the Sierra in this county, appears to have been simply a menace to force the Central Pacific into a compromise whereby the Union Pacific could secure the lion's share of overland freight tariff, for almost simultaneous with the telegraphic announcement that Gould had secured satisfactory terms from the C. P. his surveyors disappeared from the southern and southwestern portion of this county. About the same time, too, the telegraph announced that the Atlantic and Pacific (35th parallel) Railway people had determined to divert their road from the course at first determined upon, by turning to the northward at or before reaching the Colorado river coming west, and in order to avoid the Colorado desert would follow up the eastern slope of the Sierra Nevada range of mountains. It may be that the Central Pacific people are now hurrying up to appropriate the lower pass in this portion of the range (Tioga Meadows, leading over from Tuolumne Meadows to Lee Vining creek), with the intention of pushing on through the rich mineral and agricultural regions of Mono and Inyo counties and forming a connection south with the Atlantic and Pacific and effecting an arrangement with the latter whereby they (the C. P. folks) will come in for a good slice of the overland freight and passenger traffic by that line- thus giving them control of the Pacific end of all the overland railroads terminating at the Bay of San Francisco.

Such a railroad as that outlined—from Merced to Yosemite, thence across to and up the Tuolumne river to Tioga Meadows, down Lee Vining creek and across the southern end of Mono Lake Valley—would be of incalculable benefit to the mining interests of this county, and would at once give a tremendous impetus to mining operations in Homer, Tioga, Jordan, Castle Peak and Prescott districts. And it now seems almost certain that such a road will be built at as early a day as it is possible to carry out the work of construction.—Homer Index.

JOHN RICHARDS lectured, in San Francisco, before the Class in Mechanics of the Institute of Navigation, on "Gauging and Measuring Implements and Quartz Mills." The lecturer's remarks regarding quartz mills were especially interesting, as it is his opinion, after a thorough study of the question, that the general theory prevailing in the battery quartz mills, common on this coast, is the one in which quartz mills will always be constructed. He gave little favor to the various devices for crushing quartz by rollers, which he said were not new inventions, and that rollers have given way in Europe to stamp mills where the latter have been introduced. The first quartz ever worked for the precious metals it contained was doubtless powdered by hammers. The quartz worked to-day is powdered by hammers, for a stamp battery is but a lot of big hammers; and so for all time it will be found that economy in the application of power to this purpose will be observed by the use of percussive force.

DEPUTY District Attorney R. L. Peterson of Bodie flatly accuses District Attorney Wm. O. Parker of Bridgeport of blackmailing and receiving a bribe, in connection with the recent attempts to enforce the Sunday law, the charge being embodied in an open letter published in the Free Press of last Tuesday. In the next day's edition of the same journal Mr. Parker published a card, in which he says: "I never was, and am not now, given to newspaper controversies, but when the proper time comes I can clear my skirts of any charge made against me by R. L. Peterson." It appears by Judge Peterson's open letter that he himself was very strongly suspected of having gone to Aurora and remained away, for a consideration, until one of the Sunday law cases he was prosecuting had gone by default and the defendant had been discharged for lack of prosecution. — Homer Index.

THERE are about 250 widows on the tax roll in this county, and probably as many more not on said roll. A mining town is equal to, if not a little ahead of a sea coast fishing village as regards widows and orphans to be found among its population. The "dreadful trade" of the samphire gatherer has never made one-thousandth part of the widows and orphans that have been made by either the trade of fisherman or miner.—Virginia Enterprise.

THE May Lundy mine is virtually closed down, the force having been reduced to two men and a foreman—just enough to take care of one another and guard the gold that glitters in almost every ore breast throughout its numerous drifts, cross-cuts, stopes and winzes. The mine is said, by those familiar with its interior excavations, to look remarkably well throughout, and to offer the greatest encouragement for extensive prospecting and thorough opening during the present Winter.—Homer Index.

THE Guiteau trial was adjourned over two days on account of the death and funeral of the wife of one of the jurors. It is probable that it will drag itself along for some time into the new year.

The Electric Light in San Jose.

The electric light tower in San Jose has at length been completed, and the light has been tried. The accounts of the result are by no means accordant, but we are satisfied that those who represent it as a practical success are the most trustworthy. The tower is built of iron gas pipe, and is two hundred feet high, with a span of seventy-five feet. The lights, four in number, give in combination an illumination of sixteen thousand candle power. It is stated that at the distance of a mile the light throws a distinct shadow, and that at the distance of half a mile it is equal to the effect of the half moon. Many illustrations of its power are given by the Mercury, whose editor, Mr. J. J. Owens, has been the chief projector and supporter of the new plan of lighting. He has been so cautious in his claims for the tower, moreover, that the actual effect appears to have surpassed expectation. He has never pretended that one such tower would light the whole city, but asserts that at least three will be necessary. The present indications are that the San Jose electric tower will solve the problem of city illumination, and that the authorities of San Jose will purchase it, and erect as many more as are required to complete the system. It is needless to say that the success of the experiment at San Jose must cause it to be introduced in other places, and that it may thus before long be adopted to the exclusion of gas in all the more important municipalities on the coast.

POLETA.—What may be considered a new and rich strike was made last Monday in the Poleta tunnel. A ledge 2½ feet wide of ore was cut through, and upon horning out some of it (which was done in the presence of a Times reporter), it was found to be very rich, the whole bottom of the horn being covered with fine gold. Mr. Ford, the foreman, says this new find is the main ledge, which some time ago was reported lost. He is well pleased with this new strike, and well he might be. For the past week the nature of the ground has been of a more favorable character, and if it does not change, connection will be made with the main incline by the first of the month. The Times is not at liberty to state all it knows about this valuable mine, but in the Spring Bishop Creek will experience a boom such as it has never had before.

MEXICAN.—A representative of the Times visited the Mexican mine last Wednesday and was well pleased with its general appearance and future prospects. It is undoubtedly a mine—a big mine, and ere long the public will be made aware of the fact. The shaft has been sunk to a depth of 35 feet, and the ledge in the bottom is four feet wide of ore that will mill on an average $50 per ton. The owners are putting up an arastra and in a few days they will commence grinding the ore they have on the dump.—Bishop Creek Times.

THE AZTECS.— Prof. Stephenson, of the Hayden Surveying party in New Mexico, is charged by a Chicago paper with describing the Aztecs as an extinct race that never existed. He says they are a myth, and that the tribe known as the Cliff-dwellers are to be credited with all the romance attached to the Aztec name. New Mexico is full of their buried towns and cities. During his Summer's work in New Mexico Prof. Stephenson made a number of valuable collections, including skeletons and remains of extinct animals. Among his trophies are two Gods of Egyptian character, with finely-cut features, outstretched wings, and traces of paint on their faces. The Professor brought away specimens of pottery bearing a close resemblance to that unearthed in the ruins of the Old World, and also secured the secret of its manufacture from the Indians, who still make it in New Mexico.

NARROW gauge railroads a few years ago were unknown in Texas. That State now possesses 900 miles of these roads, is building as many more, and has in prospect innumerable other lines.

THE Cincinnati Gazette thinks it probable that worthy soldiers get as much as ten per cent of the money paid out every year for pensions.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 24.....1881

WE are not at all surprised to learn that the Pacific coast members of Congress should be dissatisfied with President Arthur's utterances in his message on the Chinese and silver questions. As to the first he is as non-committal as possible, and his only care seems to be that the "interest and susceptibilities" of the Chinese Government shall be regarded by Congress, He is not at all non-committal as to silver coinage. Indeed he is more outspoken in that regard than on almost any point touched on in his long message. He bluntly recommends that the coinage of the silver dollar be stopped and silver certificates be withdrawn. Notwithstanding Senator Jones's long and close intimacy with Mr. Arthur, he seems not to have had the slightest influence upon Mr. Arthur's views on the Chinese problem, nor in regard to the position that silver ought to occupy in the currency.

LEGAL.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Omie I. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40, with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40-100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.

THOMAS PARKER,

Justice of the Peace of said Township.

THE OLD YEAR.

"I'm feeble now," the Old Year said,
Don't count me loss, when I am dead.

Don't scorn me though my beard is white,
With honest age with heaven's light.

I lived an honest life and so,
The Lord now calls and I must go.

I saw the Spring's new grasses wave,
Over many a lonely grave.

Then all was joyous all was light,
All save a few who felt the blight

Of death within their cherished band,
Yet powerless to stay the hand.

I saw the Summer grow and yield,
The golden harvest of the field,

And knew each bearded grain that fell,
Had filled their Master's purpose well.

I saw the crimson Autumn leaves,
Roll down in splendor from the eves.

The leaf's last glory is its best,
Hence like the sun, it sinks to rest.

Then Winter came and bore me down,
With ice and snow, but not a frown.

Has clouded yet my aged brow,
For I am happy even now.

But I must go without a tear,
The bright New Year will soon be here.

'Tis midnight—Hark! I hear a bell;
I faint, I die, Oh World, farewell.

WADE.

The Eye of Allah.

There was on exhibition in the store of a jeweler in Wall street, New York, recently, an opal that, in addition to being remarkable for its size and brilliancy, has a notable history. It is called the "Eye of Allah," and once belonged to Nadir Shah, one of the most celebrated of Persian monarchs. The opal is set in a plain gold locket and surrounded by twenty-eight diamonds. It is about the size of an ordinary robin's egg, but is flatter in shape than an egg. When held in the light of the sun or under artificial light it reflects all the colors of the rainbow and presents a peculiarly dazzling appearance. The owner of the stone said to a reporter of the New York Star:

This opal was purchased unset in Paris for $1,200, which I consider about half of its real value. Its history dates back to the time when Persia was in her glory. It was purchased by Nadir Shuh for one of his favorite wives. The lady wearied of it and the monarch gave it to a Greek merchant in return for a favor. The merchant kept the opal until he died, and then it was offered for sale. The jewel was then purchased by Catherine II, of Russia, who gave it to a court favorite. The last mentioned owner became pressed for money and sold the opal to obtain the means wherewith to pay his debts. It finally found its way to Paris, where it was secured by an agent for the present owner."

"Are you certain that the history of the stone is authentic?"

"Oh, yes," was the reply; "the record is from perfectly reliable sources. The 'Eye of Allah' is frequently referred to in European libraries as one of the noted jewels of history. I would not hesitate to wager my head that the opal is just what it is represented to be—that is, if there is any truth in recorded history."

"What do you intend doing with your treasure?"

"I am in hopes that some wealthy person will purchase it."

"Then you do not intend to wear it yourself?"

"Not much. You see, I have secured it for speculation. Perhaps Queen Victoria will buy it. I have had some correspondence with her representative on the subject."

SARAH BERNHARDT is studying English, with a view of visiting the United States and playing Shaksperian characters. Her accent and rendition will probably be something after the fashion of the Frenchman who essayed to play Richard III, and who rendered the lines "Now is the Winter of our discontent, made glorious Summer by this sun of York," thus: "Now is the wintatre of our deescontan, made clorious summaire by zee son of a gun from New York."

The California Central.

Much interest is being manifested in the progress of the California railroad by the people of Nevada. The Pioche Record has the following relative to the survey just competed by the Wilkes party:

Major Edmund Wilkes has completed the survey of the California Central railroad from Crystal Springs to Columbus, in the western part of the State. We learn the following particulars in regard to the route surveyed from Wm. Butterfield; who was a member of the party and has just returned. The surveyors started from Crystal Springs, Pahranagat Valley, then crossed the Pahranagat range into Tem Piute valley, proceeding in a northwesterly direction up the valley and crossing the Tem Piute range at a low place between Tem Piute Peak and the town of the same name, into the Penoya valley, and thence to the Reveille range. From this point the road turns and runs due west and crosses the north end of Ralston Desert into Clayton valley, and the north end of Lone Mountain, then across the lower end of San Antonia valley, proceeding on to within four miles of Columbus, where the Gates survey was met. The distance from Crystal Springs to Columbus is two hundred miles and affords great facilities for the construction of the road, requiring very little grading over the most of it. Crossing the Pahranagat range is the most expensive piece of work to be accomplished, as at this point a tunnel 2,000 feet in length will have to be run through into the Tem Piute valley. The next heavy piece of grading to be done is crossing the Karwich range in Nye county, where a cut fifty feet in depth will have to be run. Crossing the Ralston Desert there is a stretch of forty-five miles that requires little or no grading, the ground being a hard dry cement and the deepest cut or fill to be made will not exceed five feet in depth. Both water and wood are scarce along the route, the surveyors at one point having to haul water fifty miles, and were frequently compelled to haul wood with which to cook, the country being so barren that even sagebrush would not grow there. At the Karwich range there is some timber—a little more than enough to swear by. The country along the route abounds with dry lakes, and their magnifying propensities are both wonderful and grand. As an illustration of this, he says he was the last flag man, and the cement on the bottom of the dry lake being so hard that the first flag who would often be off from 2,000 to 3,000 feet, was unable to stick the end of his staff in the ground, and at that little distance the little flag appeared about four feet thick. The mules and wagons appeared immense in the distance. The bottom of these lakes are so hard that a loaded wagon weighing three tons will hardly make a dent in the ground while passing over them. Major Wilkes will return to Bullionville in a few days and will then proceed to finish his survey from that point to Iron City, Utah.

High Time That He Declared His Intentions.

Clara Bell thus replies to an "Anxious Girl:" You say that a young man kissed you, ostensibly in thoughtless fun, but that you suspect he loves you, "because his lips somehow didn't feel merely casual." Well you must trust your own instinct in a matter so delicate as the true sentimental duality of a kiss. Probably you intend to convey that the kiss was a clingier, so to put it, than such simple touches of the lips as constitute unsentimental kisses. High medical authority says that the lips owe their extremely red color to the thinness of the covering membrane, and their sensitiveness to an abundant supply of minute nervous fibres. Thus, you see, I am able to instruct you why lips are passion's own dwelling-place; but how can I tell you exactly the nature of a kiss which I not only felt not, but didn't even see? Seriously, my dear girl, if the fellow has begun to kiss you in a way that does not strike you as "merely casual," it is time to check his advances until he declares his intentions.

CONGRESSMAN PAGE answers the Sacramento criticisms of his debris bill by stating that his object in asking for an appropriation of $500,000, instead of from $5,000,000 to $20,000,000 which the Sacramento press demand, it would be impossible to secure its passage. Slickens may be a very absorbing question to Sacramento, but there are Representatives in Congress so ignorant and oblivious to the existence of such a place as Sacramento that they do not understand the subject, and after it was explained to them would not appreciate its importance sufficiently to induce them to vote for a $20,000,000 appropriation to remedy the slickens evil. If Page gets an appropriation of $500,000 he will be doing very well for a starter, and subsequent Congresses will probably appropriate sufficient to complete the work which can be inaugurated under the Page bill.

Sir Garnet Wolseley, in a letter to Mr. Massey says: "I am one of those who have always felt that anything great done by our cousins on the other side of the Atlantic is a family achievement. I only wish more Americans would come here, and more Englishmen travel in the United States, for I am certain we have only to know one another well to join hands on all occasions as members of the same clan, the same family. If all the English speaking provinces in the world were joined together in one confederation, no Bismarck or King dare fire a shot in any part of the world."

THE Virginia Enterprise has the following: It now appears probable that James Rowe, who was so fearfully injured by the explosion in the Foreman shaft, will get well. Both of his arms been amputated, and the sight of both eyes appear to be gone. His body was perforated in hundreds of places by small pieces of rock: yet with all this the man is steadily improving. The fragments of rock blown into the man's body have not been dug out with instruments, but have been left to work out of themselves, and daily, pieces of gravel are coming to the surface in one place or another. Mr. Rowe does not yet know that both arms are gone. He still thinks he has one arm left. Yesterday Dr. Webber, County Physician, asked him if he would not like to change his position and rest on his side for a time. He said he would like it very much. "But," said he, "you know, Doctor, I must be very careful of the hand and arm left me. I am afraid if I should change my position it would bring a strain on that arm before it is sufficiently strong to bear it." The doctor had not the heart to tell the man that he was armless, and only said: "Very well, Jemmy; make yourself as comfortable as you can, and whenever you feel like being turned let me know."

H. H. RIDDLEBERGER was elected to the United States Senate at Richmond, Va., December 21, to succeed John W. Johnson. A strict party vote was given for each of the candidates in the House. The Democrats made several unsuccessful attempts to force the Readjusters to an avowal as to which party in the Senate Riddleberger would support when he gets there. It was confessed that Riddleberger was unpledged. The Republicans said they had no sort of understanding with him as to which national party he would affiliate with in the Senate.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY
JAMES E. PARKER.

1882.

Happy New Year! And don't forget to fix your calenders and dates to correspond with the above—1882. You are a year older than last New Year day, and ought not to make the same mistakes the year following this one. There may be lots of new errors, and perhaps some of the old will creep in. Reform.- Do your work honestly, treat everybody right and vote the best ticket. If you are married don't do so any more; if you are not, do as you please about it. Wedding notices free. Birth notices same price. Lastly, but not least, if you owe the printer, pay up!

THERE appears to be a general agreement on both sides the Senate Chamber that the law of 1792 providing for the succession to the Executive office in case of the death of both the President and Vice-President is seriously defective. This was the view taken by all who participated in the debate lately. Many complications and uncertainties were pointed out as likely to be developed in case the law should come into action. Thus, it is not settled whether a President of the Senate or a Speaker of the House succeeding to the Presidency must abandon his original position or can continue to discharge its functions while acting as Chief Magistrate, and wield both executive and legislative powers at the same time. Nor is it certain whether the Senate could not change the President any day by electing a new presiding officer in case its President pro tem. were called to the White House. Furthermore, a man may be eligible to be President of the Senate or Speaker of the House but ineligible to be President of the United States by reason of alienage or non-age. Nor is it determined what constitutes inability or whether the functions of the Presidency can be resumed after they have been turned over to the Vice-President, or other official in the line of succession, by reason of inability. In fact, the whole matter is left in confusion by the existing law. There can be no better time than the present session of Congress to clear up the muddle by new and explicit enactments.

THE ordinary receipts of the Government for the last fiscal year were a little over $360,000,000. For the current fiscal year, based on the actual receipts for the first quarter it is estimated that a revenue of $400,000,000 will be collected. An equal amount is also anticipated for the following year. In view of these facts and the lessened demands for public interest, the Secretary of the Treasury suggests the abolition of certain internal revenue taxes, such as those on bank checks and deposits, matches and proprietary stamps, and a modification of the tariff.

THE Sunday law question is at a standstill. Those who would see it enforced are waiting for the ruling of the Supreme Court in bank. The Chief Justice gave his opinion that it is constitutional, but that is not satisfactory to the public; hence the court has been appealed to in bank. If the Court shall agree with the Chief Justice many persons will voluntarily obey it, and an effort will be made to enforce the observance upon those who revolt. An opinion may be looked for soon after the holidays, if it shall not come before, and until then there will be peace.

THE whole united kingdom of Great Britain seems likely to partake of the land agitation which has so long convulsed Ireland. A very significant sign of the times was the general meeting held at Scotland early in this month, at the city of Aberdeen, attended by 2,000 delegates, representing 40,000 farmers. Resolutions were passed looking to great modifications of the laws and regulations concerning rents, improvements, etc., invoking a general remodeling of all the existing arrangements in these respects.

REGULAR passenger trains are now running over the Utah & Northern railroad from Ogden, Utah, to Butte, Montana. This railroad ought to do a great deal for the development of Montana, which is a rich and extensive mineral region. Lack of cheap and rapid communication has heretofore been the greatest drawback to the progress of the Territory.

SPEAKER KEIFER has decided in favor of Campbell's admission as Delegate from Utah. This is a severe blow at polygamy, coming, as it does, closely upon the paragraph in the President's message relative to the Church of the Latter Day Saints, and is hailed with joy by every right thinking man in the Union.

TO BE SOLD.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found a copy of an advertisement, or poster, ordering the sale of all the buildings at Camp Independence. This means, of course, the abandonment of the Post for military purposes. It also means that the lands pertaining to the same are to revert to the public domain, and without special provisions in favor of the rights of the settlers, notwithstanding the efforts that have from time to time been made to secure them in that right. It likewise means that this benificent Government would rather destroy twenty or thirty thousand dollars worth of its property than to give a cent's worth in the cause of education.

Some seven years ago Senator Hagar introduced a bill into the United States Senate for the relief of the Camp Independence settlers—that is to give them the preferred right to purchase their homes. Nothing came of it. Later, Representative Houghton introduced in the House a similar bill, but in the special interest of two or three individuals. But previous to this the Land Commissioner had affirmed Earl's pre-emption claim and the McLaughlin school land location, this last covering the tract whereon the Post buildings stand. The Secretary of War denied both, and thereby prevented the McLaughlin claim from gobbling up the buildings, land and all, including, if we are not much in error, the claims of some of the adjacent settlers. Subsequently, and some four years ago, the people of Inyo and Mono counties petitioned Congress first, to give the several Camp Independence settlers the preferred right of purchase, as provided in Hagar's bill, and, secondly, to donate the said counties the buildings and the 120 acres reserved to them, for high school purposes. This petition set forth the leading fact that this isolated portion of the State greatly needed such aid in that cause, inasmuch as it is situate hundreds of miles from any existing institution of the kind. In short, that the peculiar geographical and other conditions gave special force to our prayer for such aid, and more especially when considered in reference to quite a number of precedents wherein Congress had in other States and Territories granted land and buildings for exactly similar educational purchases.

Mr. Pacheco introduced a bill providing for both the above purposes. The bill came to a quiet death in the hands of the committee. (You see Congress was making Presidents in those days and positively had no time whatever for anything else.) The two sessions of that Congress, as well as the preceding one, were devoted assiduously to the President manufacturing business, and while that was on hands no one expected anything legitimate in the way of general or special legislation, save when strong pressure was brought to bear in favor of some job.

During that period occurred the only instance on record, barring the Chinaman business, wherein the California delegation united to accomplish any result, for or against this Eastern slope or sagebrush region. Their joint efforts in that instance were all the more zealous and effective because of their complete ignorance of the rights of the case. This was before the General Land Commissioner and not in Congress, else they wouldn't have accomplished anything, and it was to procure the removal of the United States Land Office from a central location in this land district to one of its extreme corners; from the midst of the only permanently peopled portion of said district to what (so far as any living man could then say) was a mere ephemeral mining town. That the said town has not proved a city of to-day and a deserted village of to-morrow, as hundreds of others of equal primary importance have done before it, does not mitigate the meanness of that joint stock job in the slightest degree; nor does the additional fact that the said removal has not materially damaged the general interests of the district. It has turned out well enough, but it was a project begotten of rascality and perpetrated in ignorance, for be it known that not one of the entire gang of Representatives and Senators, comprising five out of six of the State delegation, ever set foot within the lines of the land district, or knew anything whatever about it, except by hearsay; had probably never traced its lines on the map, else the apparent unreasonableness of the operation would at least have caused some of the lot to inquire into it before "concurring." That time our delegation had some influence before a Department officer. For once they were nearly a unit in an effort to accomplish what on its face if not in fact, was an unjust, or at least an uncalled for operation. That was the only time they as a body ever interested themselves in even departmental legislation affecting the interests of this eastern slope.

During all these years they have all had the opportunity to do something of permanent good for this region, no harm to any portion of it, not the slightest injury to any other district or State, no injury or loss whatever to the general Government. This was in aiding to procure the grant as provided for in Pacheco's bill. But it does not seem that either Mr. Pacheco, whose special province it is to look after the matter, nor his colleagues combined, have influence enough to bring his bill to a vote or to prevail on Mr. Secretary of War to stay his departmental routine order even a few weeks to see if such action is possible.

In the face of all the facts it strikes us that either Mr. Secretary Lincoln is profoundly ignorant of the proposed action, and therefore Mr. Pacheco has been very remiss in his duty in not enlightening him on the subject, else that Mr. Lincoln is treating Congress, who has the matter in hand, very cavilierly, Mr. Pacheco with positive disrespect, the people of these two counties discourteously, likewise our two different California legislatures, which severally passed resolutions strongly urging the aforesaid grant.

All that the people of these two counties ask now is that Mr. Pacheco's bill be brought to a vote, before such a vote becomes a farce by the premature order to sell out the whole business.

If Mr. Pacheco, aided by his party colleagues, has not influence enough to obtain at least a few weeks postponement of the job, with the above object in view, he certainly has not influence enough to ever get back to Congress again from a district as close as this. Not that the matter in question is of so much importance in itself, especially among the genus cow-county voter on the other side of the mountains; but Mr. P.'s failure to accomplish such a comparatively trifling result, is susceptible of a capital letter display that will be exceedingly fatal to his future political aspirations.

The buildings and grounds would have a money value of many thousand dollars to this section if devoted to educational purposes. We will venture to say that Mr. Lincoln will not realize ten hundred dollars for the entire outfit if sold and removed pursuant to his present order. Mr. Lincoln may be a consolidated Mede and Persian in carrying out his edicts, but it is to be hoped he is not in matters of this kind, when their execution is to his department a matter of such utter insignificance, yet of such material importance in other respects and to other people.

THE English papers do not like the course Mr. Blaine has pursued in relation to the affairs of the warring of the South American Republics. They object to the idea which underlies his letters, that European powers should cease their efforts to influence the destinies of American Nations, and that the great Republic of America has a paramount interest in the welfare of her sister Republics on this Continent, and a better right than England to be consulted about their affairs. Mr. Blaine's doctrine is no new invention, however. It has always been held by American statesmen, and has been more than once applied when we were not in nearly as good condition to enforce it as we are now. The South American Republics are our foster children. When they freed themselves from Spain they modelled their constitutions upon ours and sought our protection. If their quarrels needs arbitration, they naturally turn to us rather than to any of the monarchies of Europe. The attempt of any European nation to settle their difficulties and shape their boundaries would be unwelcome to them and would be justly resented by us.

THE tunnel under the English channel is making substantial progress. On the French side a distance of 1,800 meters in all, which are something more than one-tenth of the entire distance to be placed. It is believed that if the required $100,000,000 can be raised, the work might be finished in a comparatively short time. One estimate is that the tunnel could be made fit for traffic in four years.

GOV. ST. JOHN, of Kansas, at least has the appearance of earnestness in his efforts to enforce the prohibitory liquor law. In a proclamation issued on the 11th instant he offered rewards aggregating $1,800 for the arrest and conviction of persons violating the law, and the arrest and conviction of City marshalls, policemen, sheriffs, constables, prosecuting attorneys failing to perform their duties under the law.

THE Guiteau trial has dragged its weary length along so far that the public has become as much disgusted with the matter as they are with the detestable wretch himself. However, he has been getting some blows which have effectually exploded his defence — insanity — and there seems no doubt of his ultimate "removal," by regular hanging, per verdict of jury.

Trustworthiness in Mining.

Just about a year and a half ago ex-Governor Latham, of California, President of the Mining Trust Company, delivered an address at the opening of the American Mining Stock Exchange in this city. He reminded his hearers that no such industry as mining can be fostered in a great city without having a central market, where stock sales can be daily cleared, dividends can be paid, and stocks can be registered. He declared the object of the new Exchange to be mainly to supply this need, but added that "we purpose to loan capital such as we have and command upon mining stocks, according to their market value." A still more interesting remark of his was, that notwithstanding the fact that several mining companies were then disbursing over a million per month in dividends, in this city alone, it was utterly impossible to borrow a dollar upon mining shares. Of course, he meant of usual and regular lenders. The bank, he said, replies to all applications that they know nothing at all about the shares, and that there existed no means of getting trustworthy information on the subject. He also made the prediction that within twelve months the regular dividend payments in this city would be not less than $25,000,000 a year.

How far these promises have been realized, we do not say, but that the necessity for the reforms outlined is imperative everybody must admit. Mining has been in fact full of disappointments and even spotted with fraud. And yet the very fact which helps make it attractive — that while other enterprises produce what sells for money, mining produces the money itself—is one which permits the business to have a substantial and honest character. Mining, as ordinarily understood, relates only to the precions metals; the homely ones, iron, copper and lead, are thought about little, and are reckoned soft and plodding industries, like potato-digging. The possibilities of great strikes which occur in gold and silver mining have given it its speculative and uncertain character, yet there is no business essentially more substantial and business like in its character. There may be tons of rich ore which will not pay for taking out. The work is, first to find where the ore is, next, to get it out economically; next, to reduce it in like manner. There is no occupation which calls more for scientific knowledge, good management and honest dealing, than this does, and none that will repay them better. In at least the locating and working there has been vast improvement; that this has extended to the honesty of dealing is just what the public most need to be convinced. Those who judge mining to be cheating generalize from the data which may have existed once and forget the vast improvements made and to be made in both getting out ore and reducing it. But nothing can take the place of confidence, and it is unjust that the really valuable properties should suffer for the frauds. The way to clear the former and teach discrimination is by a consistent and persistent course of visibly aboveboard dealing, the corner stone of that being publicity and easily obtained and trustworthy information. The indispensible trust must be cultivated. — N. Y. Stockholder.

The Largest Railroad in the World.

Mr. Andrew Onderdonk, the contractor of the Canadian Pacific Railway in British Columbia, and his wife, are at the Southern. As much as has been said in American journals about this great Northern route, an interview with Mr. Onderdonk by a Republican reporter will be found vastly interesting at this time. Mr. Onderdonk says that the road is being built by a syndicate of capitalists who have been subsidized by the Canadian Government.

The road, when completed, will be 4,500 miles long, from Halifax, Nova Scotia, to Burrard Inlet, on the Pacific coast, it being the longest continuous line under the control of one corporation in the world. About 500 miles are built in Manitoba, and 100 miles in British Columbia. About 1,500 miles of it in the eastern province of Canada is already built and in the hands of the Dominion Government, and known as the Canada Central and International Railway. The balance is under construction by this syndicate. Mr. Onderdonk's contract is for that portion of this transcontinental route in British Columbia. The value of the lines already constructed and belonging to the Government is about $50,000,000, and that under contract outside of the syndicate $30,000,000, and on the portion that the syndicate are to complete they receive twenty-five million acres of land. The road will be completed in about seven years. That portion in British Columbia is the most costly and difficult portion of the road, on account of the mountainous and rocky character of the country. As an instance, Mr. Onderdonk mentions that there are twenty-five miles of it between Yale and Boston bar in which there are twenty-five tunnels to be constructed, most of which are already completed. The wheat country in the northwest territory of Manitoba is superior to any other wheat-growing country in the world, the average yield being 60 bushels to the acre. Mr. Onderdonk says it promises to be the granary of the world. This transcontinental railway was conceived as a national enterprise, and to bind together the different provinces of the dominion whose only means of communication at present is by the railways in the United States. After the Government had made the exploration and surveys, they discovered that the value of the lands was so much greater than they had anticipated that the attention of capitalists was drawn to the fact, and after an investigation of the matter they made a proposition to the Government to construct and operate the road as a paying commercial enterprise, and when the road is completed it is to be turned over to the syndicate, who will operate it for their own profit. — Missouri Republican.

LETTER FROM LUNDY.

LUNDY, Dec. 26, 1881.

Procrastination was invented by man, then man proceeded to brand it as a debased thief. If there was no wrong where would the pleasures of right come in? The keen enjoyment of scratching is a recompense for having the itch. Had I been prompt in my correspondence your supply of expletives would have become rusty, and you would have an awkward time of it when necessity called for an appropriate expression. While we have explicicit faith in the future of our little camp, and our industries (?), Mill Creek Macawbers smilingly cook their beans, and calmly wait the Spring to turn up something new. We frequently discuss the interests of Inyo, your vast mineral resources, and long for the time when you will wisely reduce the price of whisky and your high freight tariff, and give us an opportunity to bring some of our unused capital into the land of flowers and pretty girls.

OUR MINES

In many particulars bear a strong semblance to the gold producing portions of Inyo, but the fact is very apparent that your rich lodes are richer, and your low grade ore deposits are ten times greater, than anything ever discovered in all this region, north, east, west or immediately south. This may be a bold assertion, but when one has eyes why not see, and without bias or prejudice? For instance, suppose you could transfer that immense deposit of low grade ore at the Eclipse mine to Mono county—your fortune would be a matter of two weeks consideration, or the time of a 60-day bond. Such veins as worked at the Keynot and other mines in Beveridge district would closet you with the big guns of San Francisco in less time than it takes to tell it. All-important Bodie, with her single dividend paying mine, and her business element, whose sole object seems to be to slaughter their neighbors by opposition and then suicide, would bow down meek and lowly to your superiority. But not to digress, I only wanted to tell you that after a manner we have as fine prospects as any one-horse camp on the coast—Bodie included. The May Lundy is a good property. The only drawback seems to be the dissatisfaction among some of its principal owners—be it known that it is worked and owned by a private syndicate of Eastern men, including two or three California men—and their modus operandi savors slightly of freeze out. Their mill should be 30 or 40 stamp capacity, instead of ten, and should be situated in Lake cañon, at the foot of their first or mine tramway, about 4,000 feet higher than town or the present location. Ore enough then could be stored to run the mill constantly. As at present working the supply of ore will only hold out till about the 15th of February, when there will be a long season of inactivity and absconding of impecunious landlords. The wagon road grade to Lake cañon cost $12,000 and over this ore is hauled when it should be bullion. May Lundy ore is supposed to be worth $60 per ton—at least that which is assorted for the mill—however it is evident that a great deal of $25 ore finds its way down. What is called the reduction works is really a set of arastras, inclosed in a very pretentions building run by water power—not the building but the Spanish stamps. Several arastras were run in Lake cañon during the Summer on ore from private ledges of more or less note. Some of these paid very well—one in particular, which was engineered by a busted editor, paid a season's grub for said orphan, and was run on ore which was stripped from the May Lundy ledge by an Eastern superintendent, and blown clear out of the country by so doing. It proved to be rich rock. The size of all the ore veins in this country are small, but quite rich, and their directions are like chess boards, for they cross and recross each other as depth is attained. What is called the Clifton is a fair piece of property and the final sale of it will occur about the 31st instant. This will add a new mill and will probably work more capital than all the rest of the mines, as the company is composed of California men. In the consummaiton of the sale Charley Dale, our old time Inyoite, figured as agent and expert for the purchasers. Many other valuable properties I leave out of the category, for the reason that in case they are of the kind to be criticised the owners will get mad, and the undersigned is not paid for good reports of valuable ones. This stretch of conscience is not intended for the perusal of noted literary sharps of neighboring towns.

No social gossip worthy of mention, and the town cannot boast of a single organization, but there is talk of a Three P. institution. It can be made up of timber equal in excellence to that of Independence.

The hardest winds ever known exist here at times, and after blanching the cheeks of our good people, exhausts it might on the average Bodieite and retires crestfallen. INNOCENT.

IN the case of the Bodie Tunnel and Mining Company vs. the Bechtel and Tioga Consolidated Mining companies the Secretary of the Interior decided that, as the tunnel company filed no adverse claim, it had no right to object to the issue of patents to the Tioga and Bechtel companies, except as a protestant to show that the latter companies had not proceeded according to law in the matter of their applications for patents, and that it could not settle up its tunnel claim in the department against the Bechtel and Tioga companies' claims as rights to patents. The Secretary held that generally there can be no such thing as a contest before the Land Department as between two mining claimants for the same tract of land. Such claims, being adverse, can only be adjudicated in the courts.

THE roughs of Tombstone district continue to give trouble. One night last week they attempted to assassinate John P. Clum, Mayor of Tombstone, who chanced to be a passenger on the Benson stage. Other lives have been threatened.

Marching Through Georgia.

Gen. Sherman wept the other day, after hearing "Marching through Georgia" played at a banquet. His neighbor, Gen. Grant, asked him: "Wherefore dost thou weep?" The General answered: "I never was so all fired sorry I marched through Georgia as I have been in the last five years. Georgia, be darned. The people are good enough, but I'm listening to that tune for the 3,475,856th time. How would you like, Ulysses," he continued, "to hear that infernal melody over three million times? They have socked it to me from Maine to Texas, and from Florida to Toronto," and here he wept afresh. But Gen. Grant quietly patted the little hero on the back, and said: "Sherry, it is only one of the penalties of greatness. I suffer worse than you do—I've had seven million cigars given to me because people think I like to smoke, 824 bull pups, and more horses than I can count. Sherry," continued the General, "whenever I see a horse, a cigar or a bull pup, I feel just as badly as you do, but I never give way to my feelings. I—I sell 'em." "Yes," answered Sherman between his sobs, "You can sell cigars, bull pups and horses, but I can't sell that damned tune for five cents. — Unknown liar of the New Orleans Times.

ASSAYING AND METALLURGY.

MINING OFFICE.

HAVING SPENT THE PAST THREE YEARS in making examinations,

ASSAYING AND TESTING ORES,

From all the mines and mining claims of importance and value now known in Inyo county, I am prepared to promise reliable information to parties at a distance concerning any mining property in Inyo. Reliable assays of all kinds of ores made as usual, with promptness and dispatch. Advice given on the working of ores. Mines examined and reported upon. Correspondence solicited.

INYO INDEPENDENT.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:
SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31.....1881

The Company's Teams Hauled Off.

MOJAVE, Cal., Dec. 27.

ED. INDEPENDENT — Owing to the railroad being built to Belleville, the Bishop Creek and Big Pine freight will necessarily come that way, and the freight which will come here for Independence and Lone Pine will not justify us in continuing in this line of business, here at least. We would have to wait too long for a load, and we could not do justice to the merchants at either place, so we have concluded to draw off. I wish you would take out our advertisement of freighting, which is in your paper, and oblige,

Yours Respectfully,

A. E. LOTT, Agent C. G. F. Co.

The above item is an interesting one, in several bearings. Messrs. Harris & Rhine have received from Mr. Lott notification that Supt. Nadeau has ordered the teams off this route, giving shippers thirty days notice to that effect. The company, which has until quite lately enjoyed a monopoly of the transportation business of this country, was organized in 1873, we believe, by a combination between R. Nadeau and M. W. Belshaw, who purchased several independent teams then on the road. When Cerro Gordo and Swansea's bullion output was at its greatest, a 14, 16 or 18-animal team arrived and departed from the Cartago landing every day. These connected with the steamer Bessie Brady with regular teams on the north and east side of the lake. The receipts of freights became absolutely regular, at lower and never exorbitant rates. A line of water and feeding stations were established, at a heavy expense. At first teams run to Los Angeles, connecting with the railroad at San Pedro, thence the bullion went by steamer to San Francisco. As the S. P. Railroad progressed the line connected with Bakersfield and other points until Mojave was reached, where all the freight for this country is put on teams now. The C. G. Freighting Co. had pretty much all the business of the flush days of Panamint, Darwin and Lookout. As indicated in the letter above, the incoming railroad from the north will control the transportation business of Bishop Creek and Big Pine—possibly so far as this point—but perhaps because the Company have not had the moving of late bullion from Darwin and Lookout has something to do with the withdrawal of their remaining teams from the road. But five or six, only, have been on the route for some months past, and these will be transferred to Arizona, where the Company has some thirty or thirty-five teams now working. There are plenty of freight teams owned by individuals in the valley ready to take their places, and many claim that the change will result to the advantage of local business generally—which is a matter of considerable doubt.

AT THE BLANEY.—Among the guests registered at the Blaney House the past week were: Geo. H. Shedd, Wm. Barrows, M. Ambler, W. H. Walker, John Jones, Mrs. M. A. Jones, R. Hessian, Jr., and Miss Mary Hessian, A. Cazeaux, John Lucas, Chas. Hollenbeck, J. R. Hughes, Thos. Ferguson, Henry Giles, J. J. Moore and wife, Dr. S. A. Middleton and wife, M. Lasky, Henry Mack, W. B. Harvey, Mr. Beryessa, A. C. Harvey and wife, Jas. Jones and wife, A. H. Wemple and wife, Miss Frazer, Mrs. J. P. Taylor, Ben Williams, Miss Fannie Yandell, —— Cook and wife, R. Van Dyke, Chas. McEvoy, J. Wal. Phillips, W. H. Ryan, Miss Sadie Smith, A. Chabanas, W. W. Yandell.

'GWINE AWAY TO LEAVE US.—Mr. P. A. Chalfant, a '49er who has never before in his life been fixed to one location so long as he has to this—because he couldn't help himself, on account of having a country newspaper on hand—starts out next Monday or Tuesday for some point unknown (to the writer) in the great Territory of Arizona. He will be gone a month or more as the case may be, on a visit of inspection and speculation, his family remaining here, while he meets a brother and brother-in-law there. THE INDEPENDENT readers will hear from him from time to time during his absence.

INSTALLATION.—The following officers were installed on the evening of the 27th (St. John's Day) by Inyo Lodge, No. 221, F. & A. M., to serve for the ensuing year, by Alvah Russell Conklin, P. M., assisted by William Walker, Acting M.: James William Smith, W. M.; George Washington Brady, S. W.; Helaire Philibert Cartier, J. W.; John Clemence Irwin, T.; John Washington Peirce Laird, S.; Alvah Russell Conklin, S. D.; William Henry George, J. D.; Webster Hilton Walker and William Buchanan Harvey, Stewards; Thomas Parker, Tyler.

A TREAT.—On Christmas William Hamilton—our well and widely known stage man—perpetrated something characteristic of his thoughtfulness and liberality toward several good people of this isolated region. Several sacks of oysters, great big fellows in shell, accompanied with limes and a regular oyster-knife in each package, came through by his stages, packed in ice. To say that his compliment was appreciated by all and that the bivalves were very thoroughly enjoyed is but a mild way of putting it.

MINING OFFICE.—The special attention of our prospectors and Eastern mining men is directed to the new advertisement of Mr. S. D. Woodhull, of the Independence Assay Office. We have become pretty well acquainted with the workings of his office, and can thoroughly indorse all his work, as for accuracy and unquestioned honesty clear through.

THE LIST. — As the Government of the United States is altogether too poor to pay for a regular advertisement in relation to the matter, out of charity we append the following copy of the poster announcing the sale of Camp Independence buildings. If it does come to a sale those proposing to buy might cut out this item for reference: "Sale of Government buildings. Headquarters Military Division of the Pacific and Department of California. Presido of San Francisco, Cal., December 23, '81. By authority of the Secretary of War, I will sell at public auction, on the premises, February 8, 1882, at 11 o'clock, A. M., the following described Government Buildings and property at Camp Independence, Cal.: 1. Captain's Quarters. Main building 30x40 feet, of redwood lumber; kitchen 16x30 feet, of valley lumber. 2. Surgeon's Quarters. Main building 30x36 feet, of redwood lumber; kitchen 12x24 of valley lamber. 3. Lieutenant's Quarters. Main building 30x36 feet, of redwood lumber; kitchen 12x22 feet, of valley lumber. 4. Hospital. Main building 34x40 feet, of redwood lumber; kitchen 14x30, and dead-house adjacent 14x30, of valley lumber. 5. Barracks. Main building 30x165 feet, and kitchen 20x50 feet, of valley lumber. 6, 7, 8, 9. Laundresses' Quarters. Four sets,—each 16x30 feet, of valley lumber. 10. Bake-House. 16x24 feet, of valley lumber. 11. Carpenter's Shop. 16x30 feet, of valley lumber. 12. Blacksmith Shop. Of valley lumber. 13. Guard House. 16x24 feet, of valley lumber. 14. Corral with shed roof. 16x150 ft, of valley lumber. Miscellaneous lot of lumber in roofs and partitions in adobe buildings, viz.: Commanding Officer's office and two store-houses. 16. One hydraulic Ram. 17. One reel rubber hose. Terms cash in U. S. currency or coin, at time of sale. After the sale a reasonable time will be fixed and allowed in which to remove the buildings and property from the Military Reservation. R. N. BATCHELDER, Quartermaster, U. S. Army, Acting Chief Quartermaster."

SWANSEA DISTRICT. — The Indiana, better known as the Boley & Tuttle mine, is being worked on tribute by Mr. C. J. Johnson, Harris & Rhine having control of the property. The vein is narrow, but of extraordinary richness. An average sample of the ore being taken out was brought to town during the week, and for silver ore it beats anything we have seen for a long time. The ore contains some rich lead carbonates, and much of it is coated with horn silver. Samples assayed by Mr. Woodhull gives from 1,000 to 2,500 ounces of silver per ton. The first ten tons of ore taken out of the mine was shipped to San Francisco; the average assay of which was $505 per ton. About $8,000 worth of ore had been taken out previous to the commencement of the present work.

PRESENTATION. — At the Masonic installation Judge A. R. Conklin, Deputy Grand Lecturer for Inyo and Mono, was presented with a magnificent Masonic Past Master's jewel. The square and compass, pendant by a purple ribbon from two gold plates, are of massive, solid gold, beautifully inlaid with enamel and set with a turquois. In the center is a many-pointed star, relieved with a heavy setting of yellow or "old gold." Around the compass points is a section of a circle, representing a gauge, upon which is the appropriate engraving.

AT WORK.—Mark Hoff, with some five or six men, has opened out a splendid body of ore in a regular and continuous ledge of two to four feet in width, in the old Oceola mine, situated on the "Belmont side," Cerro Gordo. This is the rich silver ore which characterized the district years ago, and which would have made fortunes for the owners had there been any competition among ore-buyers or reduction works, instead of outright robbery.

FLAGSTAFF.—This mine, which is on the same mineral belt, and supposed to be on the same vein as the Indiana, Swansea District, is now being worked by sinking from the botton of the old shaft, which is 140 feet deep. About twenty tons of ore was taken out in sinking the shaft, which averaged 300 ounces of silver per ton. Samples sent to the Independence assay office and taken out since the new work commenced fully comes up to the above figures.

THE P. P. P. BALL.—The ball at the Court House last Tuesday evening, under the auspices of the O. R. V. Council P. P. P. has been generally pronounced a decided success, as to numbers in attendance, the most perfect orderliness, good old-time music (or by old-timers) and the fullest enjoyment of all.

LOCATIONS.—Judging from the number of blank location notices demanded from this office there will be some active work going on in the matter of relocations, to-morrow and next day. One being Sunday and the next a legal holiday—will that affect anything?

AT LONE PINE.—Those who have returned from the ball and supper at the Whitney House last night are enthusiastic in their description of the affair. They say that for management, supper and never-let-up dancing that our neighbors can discount this burg.

AT BEVERIDGE.—W. H. Smiih, the noted mining expert, is again over at Beveridge District. He is accompanied this time by H. Donnelly, an equally prominent mining man. The Keynot is presumed to be the object of their attentions.

EXHIBITION.—The concert given last Saturday evening at the M. E. Church, Bishop Creek, was well attended, the whole affair reflecting great credit upon the superior management of Mr. and Mrs. Willis and the skill of the participants.

TO-NIGHT. — Stated meeting of the Masonic Lodge this evening.

BISHOP CREEK ITEMS.

[From the Times of Saturday last.]

POLETA. — Very fast progress has been made in the tunnel and it is confidently expected to make connection within the next two or three days with the main incline. The 2½ foot ledge of rich ore that was struck last week prospects as well as ever, and appears to be widening. It continues in the face of the tunnel, and being of a softer nature than the rock heretofore encountered, much faster progress is being made.

J. G. Burchim, one of the wealthiest ranchers and stock raisers in Round Valley, will shortly leave for San Francisco, where he intends to buy a home and reside in the future.

Willie Chalfant, son of P. A. Chalfant, formerly of the INYO INDEPENDENT, has been visiting friends in Bishop Creek the past few days and will remain until after the holidays.

A pigeon shooting match will take place in Bishop Creek on New Years for a purse of $25.

A. K. Briggs has returned from San Francisco, where he has been purchasing a large stock of general merchandise.

Brown Abby is "cock of the walk." Anybody owning a horse that can beat her can win a great deal of money.

John Clarke's collar bone is getting along finely. He says he will be all right in a short time.

LATER. — Fresh arrivals from Lone Pine, who danced until six o'clock this morning, aver that the grand success, generally, of the ball last night was calculated to make Independence ball managers ashamed of themselves. All hands are delighted with the affair.

COURT. — The January term of the Superior Court will be called on Tuesday next. So for as learned there are no cases to come up, except the one of the People vs. Hank Lufkin, charged with "assault with a deadly weapon."

TO STOCKTON. — Under Sheriff Stevens left Thursday morning with Henry Ashley in charge, taking him to the insane asylum at Stockton.

THE Washington Hotel, at the corner of Broadway and Battery place, New York, which was recently purchased by Cyrus W. Field, was closed December 20th, and the work of tearing it down will be begun immediately. It has been used as a public house for 125 years, and its registers contain the names of George Washington, Thomas Jefferson, Gen. Lafayette, Alexander Hamilton, Robert Morris, Aaron Burr, John Hancock and scores of others who were identified with the early history of the American Republic. The old furniture will be sold at auction.

THERE are one hundred and fifty places in the gift of the four officers of the House of Representatives and seven hundred and thirty Ohio men are on the ground applying for them. The Ohio man still sarvives, notwithstanding that, through the work of a bullet, this is not an Ohio Administration. But Ohio captured the Speakership and it is not impossible that the one hundred and fifty places in question may be accorded to Ohio men. Already this country is spoken of abroad as the United States of Ohio.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

The Pacific Coast Recognized.

Senator Miller gets some high places on the Senate Committees. He is Chairman of the Committee on Revision of Laws, and a member of the Committees on Foreign Relations, Naval Affairs, Mines and Mining, and Epidemic Diseases. His position on the Committee on Foreign Relations will give him great influence in the matter of the Chinese bill.

Jones, of Nevada, is on the Finance, Commerce, Mines and Mining, Civil Service, and Contingent Expenses Committees. His being on the Committee on Finance will give him an excellent opportunity to enlighten the members of the Committee on the silver question.

Fair of Nevada, although a Democrat, is on three important committees—Mines and Mining, Claims and Education, and Labor. There is a special appropriateness in placing him on the Mining Committee.

For the first time in the history of Congress the Senate Committee on Mines and Mining is composed of men who have had practical experience in mining and are conversant with the subject. It is composed of Hill, Jones, Miller, Van Wyck, Fair, Hampton and Camden.

It is a gratifying fact that the Committee on Foreign Relations, before whom the Chinese bill will come, is composed of Western and Southern men, with one exception. It consists of Windom of Minnesota (Chairman), Miller of California, Ferry of Michigan, Edmunds of Vermont, Lapham of New York, Johnston of Virginia, Morgan of Louisiana, Hill of Georgia, and Pendleton of Ohio. We can expect more sympathy in this matter from Western and Southern men than from Senators from the New England and Middle States.—Stock Report.

LIEUT. CONDER of the British Palestine exploring party has taken his surveying party back to Jerusalem for the winter, bringing with him the results of his first campaign across the Jordan. Over 600 names have been collected, and more than 200 ruins have been examined, some 400 cromlechs have been found, and plans, sketches and photographs have been taken. In addition to the cromlechs, several menhirs or standing stones have been found, and ancient stone circles in connection with both classes of monuments. Among the sites explored are Heshbon, Eleahlah, Madeba, Baal-Meon, Nebo and Pisgah, the hot springs of Callirrhoe Rabboth, Ammian and the Jordan Valley. Lieut. Conder reports that he has found the place of the worship of Baal Peor and the site of Bamoth Baal; that he has an important suggestion to make as to the "Bedstead" of Og; that he has discovered the method by which the enormous stones used at Alek el Emir were brought up from the quarries; that he has found a Sassanian building at Amman, which seems likely to illustrate in an interesting manner the architecture of the Kubbet-es-Sakhra at Jerusalem.

THE Grass Valley Union says that the man lynched at Austin on the 14th instant, for a cowardly assassination, was raised in Grass Valley, and named Richard Jennings. A gentleman of Carson, who knew the strangled, informs the Appeal that at ten years of age Jennings made his debut as a grand larcenist, by stealing a horse from a teamster who kindly permitted him to ride it. For some other crime he was sent to the Reform School at Marysville, but he soon demoralized that institution in such a degree that it was deemed advisable to send him adrift. Before he reached his fifteenth year he had become familiar with the interior of any number of jails for various well executed exploits which are not taught in Sunday schools. At the period of his timely taking off, Jennings could not have been more than thirty years old. His unexpected exit from this sphere will have the effect of reducing the expenses of Lander county for the current fiscal year.

SEVERAL gamblers of Indianapolis made a great deal of money by sending out a confederate to form the acquaintance of poker players, and tell them that he knew a man who had $5,000 that might be won at the game. His proposition was to sit at the back of the victim while the play was going on, and "telegraph" his hands by means of prearranged signals. If the dupe agreed to this scheme, he was allowed to win several hundred dollars, but eventually, when a big stake was on the table, he lost all that and all that he could be induced to put up besides by betting on four of a kind against a straight flush. A reporter of the Cincinnati Enquirer distinguished himself by stopping just in time to save $300 in winnings, and then delivered the swindlers over to the police, who had been previously notified.

SENATOR Miller has introduced a bill to incorporate the Nicaragua Canal Company. The object of the company is to build a canal across the Isthmus of Darien by the Nicaragua route, which, it is claimed, is much more practicable than the Panama route. The names connected with the enterprise are, some of them, among the most solid in the United States and in themselves represent an amount of capital sufficient to insure the completion of the canal.

THE Government is to fit out an expedition to proceed to Samana Bay for the purpose of making surveys and locating a site for a coaling station. Is this an entering wedge for the revival of Grant's scheme for the annexation of San Domingo, which was founded on the pretext that we needed a coaling station on Samana Bay.

JOHN SHERMAN will have to build his fence very high and crouch very low behind it to escape the raid that will be made on his Treasury record by the Democrats in connection with the Contingent fund.

LEGAL.

SUMMONS.

IN THE JUSTICE'S COURT OF THIRD Township, in the County of Inyo, State of California. Ossie I. Mairs, Plaintiff, v. Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants.

The People of the State of California send greeting to Caspar Cohn and Meyer Cohn, Defendants:

You are hereby required to appear in an action brought against you by the above named Plaintiff, in the Justice's Court of Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, and to answer before the Justice at his office in said Township, the complaint filed therein, within five days (exclusive of the day of service), after the service on you of this summons—if served within the Township in which this action is brought; or, if served out of said Township, but in said County, within ten days; or, within twenty days if served elsewhere.

The said action is brought to recover judgment in favor of Plaintiff and against Defendants upon a promissory note, dated Independence, California, January 10th, 1879, given to Reddy & Conklin by Defendants, and by said Reddy & Conklin assigned and endorsed to Plaintiff; said note being for the sum of $182 40, with interest thereon at the rate of two per cent. per month from date until paid, together with costs of suit, all of which will more fully appear by the complaint filed herein, to which reference is hereby made. And you are hereby notified that if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint, as above required, said Plaintiff will take judgment against you for the sum of $182 40-100 and all interest thereon, together with costs of suit.

Make legal service and due return hereof.

Given under my hand this Fourth day of November, 1881.
